Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Fools!" he storms, grinding his teeth. "Idiots! I will to the governor so soon as this cursed uproar ceases. The king shall hear of it!"

In his stronghold on Palace street the royal governor sits glowering. His fening to the hum. He has the powder. Let the rebels rave. In the night he has converted his palace into a fort. Cannon look from the windows. Rows of muskets are lying on the floor to arm the household.

The council, hurriedly summoned, is met in the library—a few smiling, Colonel Byrd wavering, some indignant. At the indignant ones the governor rages like a wild beast, vowing that if violence be offered him by the people he will proclaim freedom to the slaves and lay Williamsburg in ashes.

The streets are in a boil. Betsy, who has wept an hour for Anne's sake, looks on from the Byrd porch, while her mother, having heard of the defection of Francis, watches red eyed behind her bedroom curtains.

The crowd has centered opposite in the wide square at the foot of Palace street. There are cries: "The palace!" "To the palace!" The mass moves restlessly as if meditating an attack. Slower counsel prevails. There is a bubbub of talk.

Then a delegation is sent to the palace to demand the powder. Betsy sees them, four grave men, start from the crowd, go up the street, pass the guards, enter the door. There is a wait.

They return with their news. The wily earl has smoothed his rage, has heard them with courtesy. He has received the report that the slaves are about to rise in an adjoining county. If the powder be needed at Williamsburg he pledges his honor it shall be returned "in half an hour." The delegation has seen the muskets. The crowd smolders—is nonplused.

The earl looks through an upper window and rubs his hands. These Virginians are no match for him.

Ah, the end is not yet. He has still to reckon with a sallow man who sits in the upper room at Alberti's.

This man is to ride like a whirlwind to New Castle, make a fiery appeal to the Hanover volunteers and to march back to Williamsburg at the head of 5,000 men with arms in their hands.

Before they reach the town a spark flies along the angry streets that turns them to a flame. It is the news of the battle of Lexington!

And when Patrick Henry marches into Duke of Gloucester street, John Murray, earl of Dunmore, you pay for that powder!

CHAPTER XIII.

THE shadow of Anne's grief hung heavy over Gladden Hall a few days later, where Henry and Colonel Tilliston sat alone in the library conversing. It was the eve of the former's departure for the Second congress.

"Patrick," the colonel came out squarely, "what make you of this arrest of La Trouerie?"

"There is something wrong, colonel," he answered, "and 'twill out. Mark me, that young man in no charlatan. I would stake my soul he is not of low character. You are judge enough of human nature to know that."

"Guy was on the ship. Besides, he admitted it himself when he was seized at the Raleigh."

Henry leaped from his seat with an exclamation.

"Granted he is not the marquis, the man is no impostor. I want nothing but that night at the King's Arms in Winchester to convince me of that. My God, you should have seen him fight Guy! Hang your marquises! Armand is a man, I tell you! What was there to gain by a vulgar masquerade?"

Rashleigh at this juncture entered, bearing a salver.

"Letter for Mars' Henry," said he. "Mars' Randolph's Ebenezer fotch it ober arter him fum Williamsburg dis mawnin'."

"Why," said Henry, breaking the seal, "'tis from Dr. Franklin. Business of the colonies surely. Stay—you shall hear it:

"London, Jan. 10, 175—.

"Sir: Dr. Craik, who needs no introduction to you, on his return to Virginia will see that this reaches your hand. It will inform you that M. de Penet is arrived from Philadelphia. He astonished me much when he told me that it was too discreetly doubted in the colonies as to the disposition of the court of France with regard to us. The English court here has little of this doubt; indeed there has been actual trepidation. The good news I send by this letter will show you that there was abundant ground for such fears. Not only have king Louis and M. Turgot, his minister of finance, considered together by what means they might assist so unhappy and interesting a people but I have just learned that a nobleman of great family connection and great wealth lately sailed for your colonies, an officer in the flower of his age, who has already proved his talents in Corsica. I am informed by our co-worker Beaumarchais, who is now here at the town house of Lord Mayor Wilkes in Prince's Court, that this gentleman's judgment is much valued at Marseilles, and increase the state of the cause in Virginia (which the king deems most important of the southern colonies) seems to warrant he will doubtless be commissioned to make certain representations touching aid and comfort to come from France in the event of united hostilities. I am satisfied that any civilities and respect that may be shown M. the Marquis de la Trouerie will be serviceable to our affairs. His mission is, of course, secret. I shall inform no one else of this, trusting the information to your whole discretion. I have the honor to be, sir, your most obedient servant.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are onhanding in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that our laborers we employ produce larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $1mper is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Proper Medicine For The Blood

Drives Away That Tired Feeling; Makes You Feel Brisk.

To every one is sure to come that tired, exhausted feeling.

When the blood is weak, thin and debilitated, circulation is slow, and in consequence the system is congested with poisons and wastes that should be driven off.

The sensible person acts on the teachings of experience and cleanses his system with a course of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

No medicine can be more certain to quickly cure. Convenient to take, just one pill at bedtime; safe, because entirely vegetable; unfailing, because proved by thousands that Dr. Hamilton's Pills set you up in a few days.

From Cheboque Pt., N.S., comes the following from Mrs. W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings under my eyes. I really felt as if the charm of life had left me and when springtime arrived I was in the "Blues." I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and got five boxes at once.

"Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenance and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kington, Ont.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Mr. Whitten Stepped on Nail.

Mr. Whitten, one of the well-known buyers on the local cheese board, was not present yesterday, having met with an accident a few days ago, by stepping on a rusty nail and thus sustaining a very painful injury.

150 Excursionists in Town.

The steamer Monarch arrived in the city yesterday morning from Harwood, with about 150 members of the Omemee Methodist Sunday school, of which Mr. William McBride is superintendent. The visitors spent a delightful day in the city, and left for home during the afternoon at four o'clock. It was their intention to have taken a trip over the lift lock but they were prevented, owing to the lock being closed.

If you Stomach is Weak,
If your Food distresses you,
If you are Weak and Nervous,
Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative one month and see what it does for you. Sold by J. H. Tully.

Stores Did Not Close Yesterday.

Yesterday the George street shops did not close, as heretofore, during the decoration day celebrations. Col. Miller, when asked about this by The Times, said the Oddfellows did not ask the storekeepers to close this year, as, in past decoration day parades, some of the merchants locked up their places of business, and some did not, thus placing the former in an unfair position, as regarded their customers.

New Watering Cart in Use.

Yesterday the fine new iron watering cart was put into service after a thorough test as to working of the valves, sprays, etc., by Mr. Parnell the driver, and other members of the fire brigade. The new wagon does its work well and can have the amount of water discharged regulated in an instant. Let us hope that the streets will now be kept in proper shape and that some of the foundationless (in many cases) reports that have come in, will be locked up for good.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—All Saints' Dramatic Club met last night.

—Two new members were initiated at the Elks' meeting on Tuesday night.

—Preparatory communion service will be held in St. Andrew's church tomorrow evening.

—The annual picnic of Rev. Father Keilty will be held in Douro today. A large number of citizens will attend as usual.

—This is the day of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild's annual excursion to Stony Lake. A large attendance is expected.

—The Sunday school officers and teachers of Mark street church met yesterday evening to decide upon the date for the annual picnic.

—After July 1st, Mr. A. W. Crossman will close his dry goods establishment every Thursday at one o'clock until 1st September.

—A petition circulated yesterday among the local merchants for a half holiday every Thursday during July and August was well signed.

—Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Plainfield, N.J., who is spending his holidays in the city, will preach in St. Luke's church next Sunday evening.

—The bugle band of the 57th Regiment will practice tonight at 7.30 o'clock, instead of on Friday night. Sergeant Cookson wishes everyone to be present.

—The closing exercises of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music was held in the Grand Opera house yesterday evening. A fine program was presented.

—Mr. Norman Brown, of the Bank of Montreal, Peterborough, returned Monday last, after spending a pleasant two weeks' vacation with parents and friends in Lindsay.—Lindsay Post.

—Two trainloads a day of flat cars are drawing clay from Little Lake to Lakefield for the Portland Cement Company. Freight traffic on the Lakefield branch is very heavy at present.

—Are those played out circus bills going to hang on the street car wires to demonstrate all summer to our American visitors that Peterborough once had a circus and has erected a perpetual monument to commemorate the fact?

The disgusting discharges from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Such soothing antiseptic agents as Eucalyptus, Thymol, Wild Indigo, etc., have been incorporated into a snow white cream making a catarrhal balm unexcelled. Sold by J. H. Tully.

—Today at 12 o'clock a parade will pass through the principal streets starting from O'Brien's cigar store. A number of boys, dressed in sailor suits, will advertise British Navy Tobacco, and will distribute free samples.

—We understand that as Mr. E. J. H——— the local champion skater passes along George street, and sees that washed-out figure right laundry array on the street car wires he involuntarily twists his body as though on the ice.

—The present General shed sheds, which are on ground where the first school in Peterborough, was built in 1826, are doomed. The Board of Education have decided to remove these play sheds and the ground for other purposes.

Lakefield Cement Co. in a Snare

It now seems as though the action of the Lakefield council in not giving the Lakefield Portland Cement Co's. bylaw re. closing of the east portion of Dublin street, its third reading, as agreed to at a previous meeting, and in the face of a well signed petition for the closing of the said portion of the street is causing much discussion among the business men of the village. Acting on the promise of the council for the passing of the bylaw, Mr. Butchart, superintendent of the Cement Company, has had material placed on the ground, and considerable progress had already been made in the way of construction, but the refusal to give the bylaw its third reading has compelled Mr. Buchart to discontinue work on their building.

The feelings of the villagers on this subject, it is said, are running high. In fact some of the councillors may be asked to resign.

There is some talk of an indignation meeting being called in the near future.

DON'T DOSE THE STOMACH

Cured Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei.

There is one treatment for nasal catarrh which is based upon common sense, and at the same time, is thoroughly scientific.

Hyomei is not a cure-all; it is a specific for the cure of catarrhal troubles. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the aromatic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote part of the nose, throat, and lungs, healing all inflammation and killing the catarrhal germ wherever present. The complete Hyomei outfit sells for $1, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life-time, and if more Hyomei is needed, extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that treats this disease without stomach dosing, applying the medication and healing where the germs are present.

Do not dose the stomach to cure nasal catarrh; breathe Hyomei.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Local Soldiers Having Good Time

Over Four Thousand Men in Camp at Cobourg.

The white city at Cobourg is now a hive of military energy and fun combined. The local troops report that whilst there is a good deal of work to be done they are having a good time.

The camp is on the west side of D'Arcy street, and including the Agricultural grounds, in all 300 acres. The new armory recently constructed at Cobourg has been a lively place the past few days. The 40th Regiment has now joined the camp.

Lieut.-Col. W. H. Floyd is the officer commanding the 14th Midland Field Battery, Major Mulholland commanding, has also settled down. The 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, Lieut.-Col. W. W. Brown, officer commanding, composed of four squadrons of 75 men each, has also put in an appearance. The Bowmanville and Colborne companies rode the distance from Bowmanville, some 30 miles. The artillerymen of the 24th Battery came in good shape, commanded by Major T. W. H. Young. The 45th Regiment of Victoria County, as commanded by Lieut.-Col. Silvester, Major Staples being second in command. The Kingston companies have also arrived. The Kingston and Frontenac corps of the Cobourg camp are:—The Army Medical Corps, the Army Service Corps, the 4th Hussars, the 47th Regiment and the Royal Engineers, besides a fatigue party of 25 men from the R.C.H.A. The full camp, it is expected, will include 4,000 men and 1,000 horses.

Col. Gordon is the district officer commanding, Lieut.-Col. N. F. Macnachtan is brigade commander of all the batteries; Capt. Mundell, of Kingston district, signaling officer, and Capt. Dawson, musketry instructor.

Water Users Are Given Advice

By request we republish the bylaws regulating the use of city water during specified hours. The commissioners are about to go gunning after those neglecting the same.

The two clauses are as follows:

Clause 13, Water Commissioners' Bylaws—Portions of days limited for lawns, etc. No person or persons shall be allowed to sprinkle or use in any manner whatever the water supplied by the water commissioners, for lawns, gardens, grass plots, boulevards, or grounds of any description, except between the hours of 5 and 9 o'clock a.m. and 4 and 9 o'clock p.m.

In the case of persons paying an additional rate of 20 per cent. for lawn taps, a special permit may be obtained to water at all hours.

Clause 18—The washing of windows with hose between the hours of 8 o'clock in the morning, and 5 o'clock in the afternoon is prohibited.

To Assassinate The President

Portland, Ore., June 21.—Statements made by Walter Scalaszkiwcz, formerly president of the Polish National Society, seems to confirm a recent report that this city harbors an anarchistic society which contemplates the assassination of President Roosevelt. Scalaszkiwcz's statements were made to the police yesterday, while he was securing warrants for several members of the society, who, he alleges, attacked and beat him Sunday night for objecting to an alleged misuse of the society's funds. Scalaszkiwcz states that there are about eighty anarchists in the city, and that they hold regular meetings at places north-east of Portland.

Quebec Militia Camp Next Week.

Quebec, June 21.—The opening of the annual military camp for this district will take place at St. Joseph de Levis this day week. The ordnance department has its hands full making preparations for the reception of the troops in camp.

Bad Stomach Makes Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. . . . It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs; especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach), it is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric acidity. It is useful in chronic intestinal dyspepsia, especially the flatulent variety, and in certain forms of chronic constipation, stimulating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

When combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Blood-root and Mandrake root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Robert A. Hare, M. D., of Medical Department, University of Pa.; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Medical Department, University of New York; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., and Prof. John King, M. D., Authors of the American Dispensatory, and scores of others among the leading medical men of our land.

Who can doubt the curative virtues of a medicine the ingredients of which have such a professional endorsement?

Constipation cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One or two a dose.

An Attempted Murder.

The little country hamlet of Baillieboro, has had a real sensation. It seems that last Sunday, the Rev. E. R. Nicholls, Baptist pastor at that village, was driving to Bewdley, a man rushed out of the thick woods and stabbed him twice with a knife just below the shoulder. When the villian made his cowardly attack, Mr. Nicholls' horse took fright, and ran away. The wounded man does not know by whom or why this attempt on his life was made. Mr. Nicholls is a young married man and cannot account for this attempt on his life.

THE ONTARIO BANK

49th Annual Report

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Ontario Bank was held at the Head Office, Toronto, on Tuesday, June 19th, 1906, at 12 o'clock noon.

Among those present were: G. R. R. Cockburn, Henry Lownds, Donald Mackay, John Flett, Barlow Cumberland, Thomas Walmsley, R. Grass, T. H. Bull, Hon. R. Harcourt, R. D. Perry, R. Mulholland, Cephas Goode, F. B. Polson, J. K. Macdonald, and others.

On motion Mr. Geo. R. R. Cockburn was called to the chair, and Mr. McGill was requested to act as Secretary.

Messrs. J. K. Macdonald and Henry Lownds were appointed Scrutineers.

At the request of the Chairman, the Secretary read the following report.

Last night a pretty but quietly celebrated wedding was celebrated by Rev. J. G. Potter, at the residence of Dr. Wightman, when Miss Edith McKee, daughter of the late Mr. Robert B. McKee, became the bride of Mr. Theodora McWilliams.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, but was rendered most interesting owing to the popularity of both of the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams will remain in the city for a few days when they will go to French River. Mr. McWilliams, the groom, has a responsible position with the Ontario Lumber Co. The Times joins their many friends in wishing the happy couple a long and prosperous matrimonial career.

The Outfall Sewer Has Been Well Done

Prominent Civic Officials Inspect Contractor Bogue's Great Work and Comment Favourably Thereon.

Yesterday saw the final inspection and consequent approval of the splendid work done by Contractor James Bogue on the outfall sewer.

The sewer which extends from Hunter street east to the Little Lake, through our recently acquired east ward, is one of the most modern and servic operations and is due to the city fathers of Peterborough.

The final inspection was made on the occasion deserved almost a public function, as among those present were Mayor Ross, Ald. Hicks, chairman of Board of Works; City Engineer T. A. S. Hay, Superintendent Henderson, of waterworks, Engineer S. Belcher, Inspector Burdett of Toronto, Contractor John Robson, Contractor Jas. Bogue and other leading citizens.

Mr. Henderson, as well as the other officials, found the outfall sewer in first-class shape, and everything was done in a way that would satisfy the most exacting and expert critic.

The sedimentation tank, situated near Miss Kelly's residence on Elizabeth street, was thoroughly inspected and was universally regarded as a triumph of modern engineering skill; the work was found to have been done in a most workmanlike and satisfactory manner. This sedimentation tank, it might be explained is intended to catch and retain any solid or insoluble matter passing through the sewer and thus prevent pollution of the Little Lake. Any substance remaining in this tank will eventually be removed or destroyed by chemical action.

To test the outfall sewer several hydrants, connected therewith by fire hose, poured their contents into it, and it was found that the sewer worked as well as could be desired.

After the official inspection had been completed, those present by the invitation of Mr. Bogue, partook of refreshments on the lawn near the sedimentation tank, as a guest of this gentleman, and a very pleasant time was spent, all present congratulating their host on the splendid job he had completed.

Now that the outfall sewer has been completed, the east Hunter street sewer, in process of completion by Contractor John Robson, will be connected with it. This will give the east ward a system of sewerage equal to what the most exacting could desire. Mr. Robson, whose work always has been above criticism, has pushed his contract ahead very [illegible] and expects, within two or three days to have it finished, and the street levelled to its original formation.

After all the difficulties that Mr. Bogue's contract have given both to, as regards drawbacks in payment, through no fault of the contractor, it is pleasing to note that his work has been found most satisfactory and up to that of former work done by the same gentleman.

BOARD OF WORKS MEET

Electrical Wiring System of City Will be Inspected--More Cement Crossings.

The Board of Works of the City Council, met last night, when there were present, Chairman Ald. Hicks, and Ald McIntyre, Adams, Wilson, Elliott and Graham.

TO SAFEGUARD THE PUBLIC.

The chairman was authorized to arranged with Mr. Heathcot, to cooperate with Mr. Aitkins of Toronto, in examining the electrical wire and pole system of the city, and execute any detail work found necessary in connection therewith.

CEMENT CROSSINGS.

The engineer reported that cement crossings had been constructed at a total cost of $6385. The Board decides to build two more crossings on McDonnel streets, one east of Stewart street, and one west of Aylmer street.

SANITARY MEASURES.

The Board discussed several proposed areas within which sewer connections shall be enforced, but nothing definite was arrived at.

The Board then adjourned.

Lady Run Over on Gravel Road

Lady Trying to Control Frightened Horse Loses Diamond Ring.

Yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock two ladies with a child in the buggy with them drove out the "Gravel Road," a little past Mr. G. W. Hatton's residence, one of them with the child got out to pick some daisies by the roadside.

A passing cow frightened the horse which started to run away. The lady remaining in the rig could not quite control the horse. As the daisy pickers tried to get into the buggy, both fell before the vehicle and the wheels passed over the lady's back and also went over one of the little girl's legs. The weight of the rig and its occupant, however was not sufficient to break any bones of those run over. As the lady in the buggy was trying to control the frightened steed, the rings pulled a diamond ring from one of her fingers, the ring being only found after a deligent and close search.

Our Local Fair Should Be Held

Why the Fair of Last Year Did Not Pay.

What is the real trouble about our local fair? Surely with proper management and a sufficiency of good attractions economically administered should enable the fair directors to hold this great autumn entertainment which is one of Peterborough's best advertisements. One thing that possibly tended towards the local fair's lack of patronage last fall, was economy in the use of space in the local papers. To interest the general public, printers' ink, and newspaper space must be employed. Otherwise you may have the finest show in the land, but outside those directly concerned in getting the show up, very few know about the parsimony in printing means paucity in proceeds.

Get Interested In Cobalt

Rare Chance to Secure Stock In Proven Mine.

As is well known, the underground treasures of the Cobalt region are not as yet half exploited. Cobalt is perhaps the wealthiest spot, by the gift of nature, on the world's surface.

Cobalt is the present and, more especially, the coming source of the world's supply of silver.

Now is the time to get an interest in the wealth that is being and will be dug from the rich silver laden rock of Cobalt. Many a man is today keeping his capital tied up in investments that are not one whit safer than a proven silver mine, who a year or two from now will see his more enterprising neighbor reaping golden harvests on investments in Cobalt.

"The Buffalo Mines," known also as the Denison or Buffalo Mine, own 40 acres adjoining the town of Cobalt. This is no wild-cat prospect, as two shafts have been sunk 50 to 60 feet, and the company has now 280 feet of tunnelling all in pay ore, already completed. There are nine well defined veins already disclosed on the property.

Shipments have been made to the Selbach Smelting & Refining Co., of Newark, N. J., and to the Delmar Copper Refining Co., of Chrome, N. J. In the first shipment twenty tons of ore produced $20,000 net.

One important feature to thoroughly investigate in mining or other stocks, is to study the personel of the directorate. On the directorate of the Buffalo Mines are many of Canada's leading financiers, as well as Americans of national reputation.

For a limited time only, stock in the Buffalo Mines, and which carries no personal liability, is offered at par value, viz., $1 per share. In all probability this stock within a year will be selling at from $50 to $60 per share.

For particulars address Messrs. A. E. Osler & Co., 43 Victoria street, Toronto, Ont.

To Take Observation on Both Sides.

Albany, N. Y., June 22.—Dr. Lewis Boss, M.A., with Mead L. Simmor and John A. O'Connell, two of the Union College class of 1906, will leave in two years to cross the equator to continue experiments which they have already begun here at Dudley Observatory, of which Dr. Boss is director.

Died While Enjoying a Drive.

Woodstock, N. B., June 22.—Miss Mabel Van Wart, a young lady, 18 years of age, died very suddenly while out driving with a gentleman friend, while crossing a bridge she fell over dead. She was taken to a doctor's office, but life was found to be extinct. The young lady was just convalescent after lung fever.

British Officer to Inspect Meat.

London, June 22.—Lieut.-Col. Percy Eyre Hobbs, chief instructor of the army service corps school of instruction, at Aldershot, sailed from Liverpool yesterday for New York on the steamer Carmania. Lieut.-Col. Hobbs has been selected by War Secretary Haldane to inspect the meat intended for the use of the British army.

Died Leaving Two Wives.

New York, June 22.—By the death of Michael J. Fogarty, a successful railway contractor at Plainfield, N. J., it was discovered that for the past eighteen years he had one wife in Jersey City, while he had a wife in Philadelphia, living with his aged mother and his son.

His death occurred suddenly while he was on a visit to Plainfield, with the Jersey City wife. She knew some of his business connections in Philadelphia, and through them summoned her mother-in-law, who brought along Fogarty's first wife and his son. The Philadelphia wife sympathizes very much with the woman from Jersey City, whose marriage to Fogarty dates two years less than her own. It is even believed that she will consent to an amicable settlement of the estate with the woman who has believed herself a wife all these years, and is now prostrated at the terrible situation in which she finds herself.

R. O'Brien Has His Skull Broken

10-Year-Old Boy Kicked by Horse in the Head.

Yesterday as Raymond O'Brien, ten years old, of Driscoll Terrace, east ward, was leading a horse to pasture, the animal which had been ill for some time, took fright at a car on the tracks near McAllister's mill.

Suddenly the animal rushed forward and the boy tried to hold the rope attached to its halter.

Unfortunately little O'Brien in his anxiety to retain hold of the horse, and thus dragged by the rope, received a severe kick on the head by one of the horse's hind feet. His skull was fractured. It is hoped that little O'Brien will survive the blow, which was a serious one.

Peterborough Lady Visits Europe

Miss Halliday will Sail for Home on June 29th.

Yesterday a letter was received by her relatives, stating that Miss Amy Halliday, B.A., who for some months past, has been spending a pleasant visit in Great Britain, Ireland and continental Europe, with Mr. R. M. Dennistoun's family party.

Miss Halliday has seen the sights of Paris, Brussels, and other famous European cities, and notes that her present trip has been not only instructive but most pleasant.

A few days before writing this young lady, whilst visiting Westminster Abbey, had her thoughts suddenly taken from the sights of that venerable edifice to friends at home. It seems that without looking for such a link to acquaintances in Peterborough she, while looking through the south cloister of the Abbey suddenly found herself standing beside the tomb of Muzio Clementi, the great composer, and who, as described on the stone covering his remains, was entitled "The father of the piano-forte." As is known to some of our readers, descendants of this celebrated musician now reside in Peterborough.

Miss Halliday, who, in addition to many of the leading cities of Europe, has thoroughly seen the principal sights of Ireland, including Blarney Castle, and Scotland, will sail for home per the new C.P.R. steamer Empress of Ireland.

Disappeared Last Autumn.

Sandwich, June 22.—A body found in the river here on Saturday is believed to be that of Mike Bruce, of Windsor, who disappeared last autumn.

To Build New Niagara Bridge.

Ottawa, June 22.—The trans-Niagara Bridge Company, an enterprise which plans the bridging of the Niagara River within 1,000 feet north of the upper steel arch bridge near the falls, had its bill reported by the Railway committee yesterday morning. The incorporators are Frederick Nicholls, H. G. Nicholls, E. R. Wood, Sir H. M. Pellatt and A. H. Boyce, of Toronto. A clause was added subjecting the tolls to the Railway commission.

Meningitis Cured by Hot Baths.

New York, June 22.—Cerebro-spinal meningitis, which is fatal in seventy to seventy-five cases in a hundred, is yielding in ten cases out of twelve at the Long Island Hospital, to treatment consisting of baths at 110 degrees for fifteen minutes in the day. Vigorous rubbing is employed during the bath to relieve its depressing effect. The drug treatment, consisting of secale corutum, equalizes circulation.

Bertha Krupp's Income.

London, June 22.—The yearly income of Bertha Krupp, who inherited the famous iron works at Essen, Germany, is steadily increasing. It having amounted in 1905 to about $5,000,000. Miss Krupp manages her great properties with remarkable ability. Her business is expanding, and the number of those dependent on her for employment and subsistence is now fully 30,000. To protect the works she has a small army of 900 men, armed, and under strict military discipline. She also has police and a secret service. Her engagement was recently announced to the secretary of the German embassy at the Vatican.

Special Day at Trin. College School

Rev. Canon Davidson to Speak at Port Hope.

One of the main features of interest in the proceedings of Trinity College School, Port Hope, is the annual speech day, which this year is held on Thursday, June 28th.

On the preceding day at 11.30 the annual cricket match with T.C.S. Old Boys will take place, and at four p.m., tea will be served in the gymnasium.

The program for speech day is as follows,

7.45 a.m.—Celebration of Holy Communion in the school chapel.
10.30 a.m.—Arrival of special train from Toronto.
11 a.m.—Service in the School chapel.

The preacher at this service will be Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's, Peterborough. At this service the stained glass window in memory of the late Edward Martin and the Old Boys' South African War memorial window will be dedicated.

12.15—Distribution of prizes in the gymnasium.
1.30 — Luncheon for out-of-town guests.

No doubt a number from this city will attend the speech day.

Chooses Canadian Route.

Ottawa, June 22. — Consul-General Nosse has been informed that Baron Komura, the great Japanese statesman, who negotiated the peace treaty, will sail from Yokohama for England by the Canadian Pacific Railway steamship, Empress of Japan, on July 7th. His choice of the Canadian route is regarded as an appreciation of the compliment paid him when he was invited to visit Canada at the conclusion of the peace negotiations. He goes to England as ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Judge Called Man Blatherskite

Toronto, June 22.—Local option was carried in Pickering Township on New Year's Day last, and yesterday, before Chief Justice Meredith, Mr. DuVernet asked that the bylaw be quashed. Mr. DuVernet, who appeared for John N. Gerrow, the only hotel keeper in Pickering Village, charged corruption on the part of certain workers for the bylaw.

Mr. DuVernet read from a statement made by William E. Vanstone a cattle-drover. Vanstone says that he worked for the bylaw, taking what he terms the whiskey end, "I spent my own money," he says. "Going into a bar, I would say, 'I want you boys to vote for the bylaw, come and have a drink.'"

Mr. DuVernet also quoted Pickering's Reeve as saying that Vanstone did much to carry the bylaw.

"I think," remarked his Lordship, "that this man, Vanstone, is a good deal of what is known as a blatherskite. His own evidence shows that."

The Court did not seem to think that the bylaw should be quashed, unless widespread corruption were shown. In the present instance Vanstone had used his own money.

Quebec Members in Arms Against Bill

Fighting the Measure at Every Stage---Arctic Committee Refuses Independent Experts to Examine Supplies.

Ottawa, June 21.—Through a stifling morning, a long and sweltering afternoon, and a long and sweltering night the devoted Commons toiled diligently at the Lord's Day bill, which Mr. Fitzpatrick left as a legacy to the Government. The bill made slow progress of it was all but becalmed and rolled heavily in a ground-swell of cross-currents—Quebec members distaste for what they construed to be an invasion of their Provincial rights, and for what they looked upon as the Ontario idea of Sabbath keeping, and the practical reluctances of many special interests. At the outset Mr. Bourassa—whose special excellence is that he rejoices in blurting out, often with a very keen wit, the things that the ordinary man thinks, but takes good care not to utter aloud—took the field against the bill with all the arguments which opponents of the bill usually are content to impart in the lobbies. That was in the morning sitting. Early in the afternoon Mr. Piche, the member for ste. Mary's division, Montreal, argued, first in French, then in English, that the measure trespassed on Provincial Rights. It proposed interfering with the rights of property and civil rights, matters reserved to the Provinces.

SUBJECT TO PROVINCIAL LAWS.

Mr. Aylesworth replied in a technical legal argument, contending that criminal law interfered to some extent with these same subjects, and yet was under Federal authority. In reply to a question by Mr. Gallihar, Yale-Cariboo, whether it could not be left to each Province to say whether the Federal Sunday law should come into effect, Mr. Aylesworth said that such an innovation would be unique and inadvisable. Mr. Piche followed up his speech with an amendment that this law be subject not only, as already stipulated, to existing Provincial laws, but to future Provincial laws. Mr. Bourassa supported this. The Premier pronounced against this, and after some discussion Mr. Pichie's amendment secured only six votes, all French Canadian.

WON'T HAVE EXPERT ADVICE.

While the Lord's Day Bill was making heavy weather of it in the Chamber, Mr. Northrup and his fellow-Conservatives were fighting the Liberals in the Arctic Committee. The committee was given remarkably restricted powers at the outset, but it none the less was commissioned to look into the charges of excessive prices paid for supplies. Despite this the majority on the committee voted down a proposal to appoint independent experts to examine and get samples of the supplies. The strange thing about this is that in the plain ordinary Public Accounts Committee the services of experts can be and have been obtained. The refusal will not do the Government much good. Being in a mood for refusal, the majority went on and declined to allow witnesses to be called who might possibly impeach the character of one of the Government officials.

In yesterday's proceedings, J. H. Semple's evidence brought out a statement that a quantity of goods, the value of which he placed at $10,000, had been wasted by breakage, bad packing, etc. When cause was pointed, Mr. Northrup described this as evidence that the statement of supplies furnished by the Department had been absolutely incorrect. So far, he said, the witnesses examined had been friendly to the Government, and were interested parties, now, they wanted outside witnesses. Mr. Bennett moved for the appointment of an accountant, Mr. Northrup seconded and Mr. Currell opposed. Mr. Northrup said that only a few hours previously he had found item after item of the statement to be incorrect.

TWO CREWS PERISHED.

St. John's, Nfld., June 22. — The wreck of the schooners Blossom and Reindeer was reported yesterday, portions of their hulls being found along the coast. The vessels went to pieces during the last week's hurricane, and it is feared their crews perished. Incoming vessels yesterday brought to port many fishermen who were picked up from drifting boats during the storm.

MACDONELL, McMASTER, GEARY, & BARTON, Toronto, Ont.

PROPERTY—Consists of 40 acres adjoining the Town of Cobalt. Adjoining the property on the north-east is the celebrated TRETHEWAY MINE, on the south-west the TEMISKAMING & HUDSON BAY, and to the south across the railway is the McKINLEY-DARRAGH, all producing shipping mines, and amongst the most valuable in the camp.

VEINS—Nine well-defined veins have been disclosed, one of which has been stripped on the surface for over 600 feet.

DEVELOPMENT—Two shafts have been sunk to a depth of fifty and sixty feet, respectively; 280 feet of tunnelling, all in pay ore, has been done.

EQUIPMENT—A complete mining plant has been installed. The Buffalo mine is considered one of the best equipped mines in the camp.

SHIPMENTS—Shipments have been made to the Selbach Smelting & Refining Co., of Newark, N. J., and to the Delmar Copper Refining Co., of Chrome, N. J. Out of the first shipment TWENTY TONS OF ORE PRODUCED $20,000 NET. FIVE CARS have been shipped since the first of May, 1906.

ORE—Mr. Charles L. Denison, President of the Company, estimates there is $75,000 worth of ore on the dump, which is being assorted and bagged for shipment.

VALUE OF ORE—We personally have had an assay made by Messrs. Thos. Heys & Son, of Toronto, of the ore taken from the sixty-foot level. This assayed $2563 of SILVER TO THE TON.

The following letter, written by Mr. Thomas R. Jones, Superintendent of the Mine, to Mr. Charles L. Denison, bears out the statement that this is a producing and shipping mine:

Charles L. Denison, Esq., (Copy.) Cobalt, Ont., April 24, 1906.
149 Liberty street,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of enquiry as to the quantity of ore on hand for shipment, will say that we will have a thirty-ton car of No. 1 ore, which would run from $1,000 to $2,000 PER TON, ready in less than ten days. Two, or perhaps three, cars of No. 2 ore, running over $400, and two cars of No. 3 ore, running over $150. We are sacking these now, and making preparations to move same for shipment.

As to our estimate of future production, based on thirty days from this date, we expect to hoist and ship monthly approximately the following tonnage: 30 tons No. 1 ore, which will average $1,000 to $2,000 per ton; 120 tons No. 2 ore, including middlings, which will run $300 or more per ton; 75-100 tons No. 3 ore, which will average $150 per ton; 500 tons mill rock, $40 per ton or better.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) Thomas R. Jones, Supt.

The above estimate, if realized, means that the Company can easily pay dividends of over 25 PER CENT. per annum.

The directors are all men well known and successful in the business world, and have every confidence in the property and its future.

We offer for sale a limited quantity of this stock at par. Cheques may be made payable at par, Toronto, and may be made payable to us or to the Imperial Trusts Company, Toronto. Applications for the purchase of shares will be filled in the order of their receipt, and the right is reserved of increasing at any time, without notice, the price of the stock, or withdrawing same from the market.

Pamphlet containing full information regarding the Company may be had upon application to

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to brace up with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but it's uselessness is plain to everyone.

Better follow Nature's plan; it's always a sure one.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic 'Ferrozone' which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie E. Hislop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from E. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

NOT MUCH OF AN EARTHQUAKE

Possibly with the purpose of reassuring capitalists doubtful as to the safety of building investments in San Francisco, the California press is now pointing out that the San Francisco earthquake wasn't much of an earthquake after all and didn't, of itself, do any enormous amount of damage.

They say, truly, that in seismic classification it ranks only as a third-class earthquake. The only first-class earthquake known to have afflicted this continent occurred in 1811 in the central Mississippi basin—near the geographical center of the continent. It lasted fifty-four days. Square miles of the earth's surface dropped from thirty to fifty feet. The San Francisco quake was a small affair compared to this. It caused a comparatively trifling loss of human life—for an earthquake. Even in the United States it ranks far down in the list of earthquakes in the matter of fatalities. If all the 353 sudden deaths in San Francisco on earthquake day are attributed to the earthquake the "butcher bill" was far lower than that of more than fifty previous earthquakes. The Iroquois theater fire in Chicago killed more than twice as many people as the San Francisco earthquake; the General Slocum disaster in New York killed three times as many. Even in the matter of property loss it was not an especially destructive earthquake—less destructive in proportion than the Charleston earthquake, which destroyed or made useless seven-eighths of the buildings of that city. The devastation of San Francisco was 10 per cent. earthquake and 90 per cent. fire. Earthquake and fire together damaged San Francisco, in proportion, less than fire alone damaged Chicago in 1871. The San Francisco fire was due to the crossing of electric wires. The falling down of a single house in any American city large enough to furnish as much food for the flames as San Francisco, might have caused an equally disastrous "crossed wires" fire.

There is a summary of the capital-reassuring argument of the coast newspapers. Spite of all the comparisons there is no denying that the San Francisco earthquake was quite serious enough for all ordinary use. But the newspapers have made their point by largely suggesting that the man who would hesitate to build in San Francisco for fear of earthquakes, and would build without the least thought of earthquakes on the Atlantic coast, or in the central Mississippi basin, is a man whose business decisions are guided rather by his prejudices than by his reason.

WANT RELIGIOUS TEACHING

Nelson, B.C., June 20.—At the Synod of the Anglican diocese of Kootenay a resolution, passed on the initiative of Bishop Dart, called for the religious instruction of pupils in the public schools by qualified teachers, Bishop Dart declaring that he would rather have no teaching at all than the reading of the Bible by an unqualified teacher. One of the lay delegates, Geo. Johnstone, of Nelson, said that he placed the materialism of the country to the defective religious teaching, or lack of it, in the public schools.

Conditions Are Bad.

Brandon, June 20.—Travellers report a terrible state of affairs in the Grand Trunk Pacific construction camps in Miniota district. Smallpox and black diphtheria have appeared among the men, and one man suffering from smallpox has been sent into Winnipeg for treatment. A man from the same camp was sent away on the train because he had black diphtheria, but a few miles from the camp he was unloaded after suffering great agony. Health authorities are investigating.

Villainous Attempt at Murder.

Glens Falls, N.Y., June 21.—The local police are searching the countryside for the perpetrators of a dastardly outrage. Benjamin Scott, a boy of 10 years old, was found by a track-walker tied down to the tracks of the Delaware and Hudson Railway. He could not tell how long he had been there, but told of two young men having waved him when nearing his home at Fort Edward. He was released just a few minutes before a train came along.

Dead Within Mile of Home.

Broadview, Sask., June 20.—Mrs. Harry Long, of Binzel, Yorkton district, lost her way while looking for cows last week. Her body was found five days later within a mile of her own home. German neighbors heard her cries, but thought they came from boys playing. Her two children were alone without food for five days.

British Columbia Politics.

Toronto, June 21.—A Victoria special to a local paper says there is a very circumstantial rumor in circulation to the effect that the Governor has intimated to the Premier that he cannot continue to accept advice from one of the members of the Cabinet. Signs are multiplying, the dispatch adds, that a general election in British Columbia is not very far off.

Poisoned by Bologna Sausage.

Little Rock, Ark., June 21.—J. B. Aremore and two children, Emma, aged 5 years, and James, aged 18 months, died yesterday of ptomaine poisoning. They had eaten bologna sausage. A daughter, aged 7 years, is at the point of death. The mother ate none of the sausage, and is not affected.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Sharbot Lake Murder.

Kingston, June 20.—It seems that Chief of Police White, of Perth, came here and interviewed Badore in the penitentiary, in regard to the story that two boys, Babcock and Murtin, of Sharbot Lake, were not drowned four years ago, but murdered. Badore stated that the boys were murdered, and that he might be induced to give the police a tip as to who committed the deed. He denied that he was one of the murderers. He told of the spot where the bodies had been buried, and where bones have since been found.

Volcano Has New Mouth.

Tokio, June 20.—A fresh crater has been formed on Mount Aso, on Kinshiu, the southernmost of three principal islands of Japan. It is emitting smoke and a rumbling sound, but no damage has been reported. Uneasiness, however, prevails in the vicinity of the volcano.

face. When he had finished he looked up with an expression of mingled satisfaction and puzzlement.

"Marquis de la Trouerie!" Colonel Tillotson exclaimed. "Armand's master, then, was the messenger of France! And he is doubtless in Virginia now. But how dares the secretary pose as his master?"

"Because the marquis is dead!" fell a heavy voice behind them.

The host got up frowning.

"Captain Jarrat," said he brusquely, "I like not well these soft footed intrusions. Nor, if I may say it, do I like the dress you wear. Times are come when I no longer welcome a coat of that color in my house."

A smoldering red rose to Jarrat's cheek, but he spoke evenly. "I should beg pardon, colonel, for an unceremonious intrusion into a conversation. Rashleigh let me in."

"Curse Rashleigh!" said the colonel unmistakably.

"I rode to inquire for Miss Tillotson," the visitor continued, "but since I am unwelcome, why, I will betake myself home again."

"One moment, colonel," interposed Henry. "Captain, we spoke of a gentleman as you entered. May I ask what basis you have for your information?"

Jarrat took out his pocketbook, drew forth a yellow paper and handed it to Henry. "The Marquis de la Trouerie died en route to these colonies and was buried at sea. There is the leaf from the logbook of the Two Sisters recounting the unhappy incident. The news of his death was suppressed in British interest."

"And the secretary?" Henry's voice was calm.

"The incident is now closed, gentlemen, and I violate no confidence. He was bought by the earl for services."

"My God!" ejaculated Colonel Tillotson. "Are we never to know truth in this world? He was not an impostor and a charlatan. No. He was a British spy!"

"Why, then," interrogated Henry, "did Dunmore expose him?"

"I exposed him."

"You!" the colonel cried.

"I had crossed on the same ship and recognized him at Williamsburg. Discovering the true state of affairs, can you wonder, Colonel Tillotson, at my concern for the intimacy which I saw growing between your niece and this person? I think," he said, masking a glowworm gleam in his eyes, "that my feeling for Mistress Tillotson is not misunderstood by you. I knew Lord Dunmore's plan, and I could not openly tell you the truth. Is it a wonder I forgot that I was a king's man? I did the one thing left to me. I set afloat such suspicions that the governor, to save his own repute with Williamsburg, was compelled to sacrifice his minion, to himself, expose the imposture and to cry himself also deceived. I tell you thus much in confidence. Believe me, sir, I steered the best I knew between the hurt of a lady whom I honor and the governor's displeasure. It was the Scylla of duty and the Charybdis of love. Colonel, I love your niece, and I would not see her suffer humiliation."

"Because the marquis is dead!"

Colonel Tillotson rose and paced up and down the floor, plucking at the side curls of his wig.

"And if what you tell us is true," he said, meditating, "I have done you wrong. I am not overkind to your colors, but I have a respect for honest loyalty. God knows 'tis scarce enough. Mayhap I have been unjust. Will you be seated?"

Jarrat sat down, his watchful eyes tweeing about the room, something strangely like expectancy in them.

The colonel rang for his major domo.

"Rashleigh," said he soberly, "ask your Mis' Anne to come to the library. And admit no one—no one. Do you hear?"

"Yas, marse; yas, suh! Nuttin' but er grabeyard ha'nt gwineter git by dat do'."

"Poor child!" Henry's tone was pitiful. "You mean to tell her? At least wait till your wife is returned."

"The sooner she hears some things the better for her. She has her share of pride; never fear."

"The day I was last here, sir," observed Jarrat, "she boasted she would wed him as he were a laborer in your fields."

"Aye, maybe, but not if he were a conspirer against her country. My niece is a daughter of Virginia, sir." And the master of Gadden Hall noisily took snuff to cover his feelings. Henry's face was like a sphinx.

While they waited came a clatter of hoofs outside. A moment later the hall door was flung open, and Rashleigh was heard in excited jabbering. The colonel repeated an objurgation.

The next instant he jumped to his feet, and Jarrat started as if at an apparition. Armand stood on the threshold, mud splashed and pale.

The newcomer's look ignored the captain. He bowed to Colonel Tillotson and addressed himself to Henry:

"Monsieur, I come to warn you that a detachment of Dunmore's men is on its way hither from Yorktown to seize your person."

"The deuce!" shot out the colonel like a javelin. "I thought the price the earl put on you, Patrick, was but brag. He dares violate my house, then. Mount at once and away by the north road."

Henry's gaze had seemed to dart and play about the young Frenchman's face like yellow summer lightning. "And what would the governor with me this time?"

"To transport you to trial for high treason. It was plotted this day aboard the Fowey."

"From which you are escaped?"

"Yes, monsieur."

Jarrat's voice entered: "To attack the residence of a Virginian gentleman without crown warrant is not so ready a thing even for a royal governor, but a man may disappear by night from a lonely road and who to blame? Our fleeing marquis, with his nose for delicate deceits, is a likely catspaw. I swear such overt folly of Dunmore's will yet drive me into Whiggery!"

Colonel Tillotson paused in perplexity, but Henry looked at the speaker with a gaze keen and inscrutable as an

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, etc., etc., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 5c per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appliances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 18 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $225,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and to all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

He is Correct

Dr. Hamilton Proves That Piles Are Caused by Constipation and Strong Catharties

Knowing the frequency with which people suffer from this ailment, Dr. Hamilton made an exhaustive study into the cause of piles.

He found that the lower part of the bowels is like a network of blood-vessels, and if subjected to persistent pressure, a section will bulge out and form what is commonly known as piles.

The only effective mode of curing this trouble is the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which can be taken before retiring. Next day will bring wonderful relief.

"I suffered up to about the limit of human endurance with piles," writes Miss Lueders, from Cornwall, Ont. "I was employed in a factory here, but for a while had to give up work till I got better of this trouble. I read in the Montreal Herald about Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and after using them for two weeks was cured. I can recommend these pills very highly, there are none better. They at once relieve and prevent a constipated condition of the bowels, and from my experience can be depended upon as a perfect safeguard against piles. Dr Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, I am sure would be a benefit to every girl or woman.'

Take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and your system will be regenerated, revitalized, and made proof against disease.

Good for men, excellent for women, and most effective for children. All ages and both sexes find Dr. Hamilton's Pills a marvelous medicine. Although active, they do not gripe or cause inconvenience, still they cleanse and purify the system, thereby maintaining a high standard of health. Sold by all dealers, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail, from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

By The Times Man on the Street

—Many citizens drove out yesterday to the Douro picnic.

—The Board of Works met last night to finish general business.

—A special practice of All Saints' choir was held last night in the church.

—The Children's Aid Society desire to acknowledge a gift of $4 from "C.D."

—A special meeting of the city council has been called for Monday night to take up general business.

—The Finance Committee will meet tonight to close up the business before the council meeting on Monday night.

—Mr J. M. Brooks, proprietor of the Palace Hotel, has been reelected second vice-president of the Licensed Holders' Protective Association.

—An interesting program of songs, recitations, drills, etc., was rendered by the Band of Love at the Salvation Army hall yesterday evening.

—Mr. J. J. MacPherson, yesterday completed the brick work for the new office of the Peterborough Cereal Co. "Mac" is one of our local hustling hustlers.

—Mr. John Green, barrister, left yesterday for Gore's Landing to make full arrangements for the annual outing of the doctors and lawyers, which will be held on Tuesday next.

—The two composite companies from the 57th Regiment, who will spend four days in camp at Cobourg, will leave Peterborough on Tuesday morning next at 7.30 o'clock per G.T.R.

—The marriage of Nellie, eldest daughter of the late Wm. R. Thompson, and Mrs. Thompson, to Mr. Donald Potter, is announced to take place quietly on Wednesday, June 27th.

—H. B. Spotton, principal of the Harbord Collegiate Institute, Toronto, since 1892, and a native of Port Hope, has been appointed inspector of high schools to succeed John E. Hodgson, who has resigned.

—A lot of stone has been delivered at the site of the new fire hall and yesterday men were busy getting everything ready for the stone masons to start this morning. Another carload of stone will arrive today.

—The iron moulders and core makers of Toronto will run an excursion to the city on Saturday. The 57th Regiment band has been engaged and there will be an interesting program of sports and games at the Oval.

—Is it fair to drop the fair? Surely the fair sex, with their proverbial powers could help make the fair work for fair, and the fares of the street railway should authorize that company to act fair as they generally do.

—The barristers of the city will entertain the doctors to a trip down the river to Gore's Landing on Tuesday afternoon next in the Water Lily. One of the features of the trip will be a baseball match between the physicians and lawyers.

—A branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific is to run to Orillia. The town it is claimed, will be the southern terminus of the branch, which will be about 300 miles long, running through Sudbury and tapping the main branch north of there.

—The annual picnic of St. Andrew's Church Young Men's Guild was held yesterday to Stony Lake. About 200 persons left yesterday morning by the G.T.R., and at Lakefield the steamer Stony Lake was taken for a trip up the lakes.

—Messrs. Coleman Bros., of 426 George street, yesterday finished a contract for painting that double residence, 451 to 453 Water street. These young men, who have served their apprenticeship to the trade in England, are now kept busy with contracts extending all over the country.

Marriage of Local Interest

The many friends of Dr. Anderson in Peterborough, will read with interest the following despatch:

Atlantic City, N.J., June 19.—The marriage took place here on Saturday evening last of Miss Gertrude A. Bell, daughter of Mrs. S. S. Shedd, Washington, D.C., to Dr Duncan Anderson, of Toronto. Owing to the illness of the bride's mother only immediate relatives were present.

Upon their return to this city they will take up their residence at 241 Wellesley.

Bicyclist in a Collision

What might have been a very serious accident occurred yesterday. While on the way home to dinner at noon yesterday, a young man employed in the Armature Department of the C.G.E. works, had the misfortune to collide with a horse and buggy on the corner of King and Bethune streets.

It seems that the man in charge of and driving the horse and rig tried to cross over the railroad track before a moving train, and the young man, who rounded the corner at full speed, did not have time to stop or turn aside and collided with the buggy. Fortunately the wheelman came out of the affair, with only a few scratches, but his wheel was badly damaged.

—M. C. Spalding, Toronto, is calling upon the local grocers, renewing orders for McCormack's of London, biscuits.

—Mr Walter Snooker, city bill poster, has moved from No. 16 Albert street, to his fine new house recently erected on Homewood avenue.

—Miss Margaret Brooks, who has been studying the profession of nursing in a leading Rochester hospital, is home for her holidays, and is staying with her parents at the Palace Hotel.

A Local Girl In Trouble

Ethel Cunningham in Toronto Hospital as Result of Her Acts.

A Toronto paper yesterday when speaking of a former employe of the Cavanagh House, viz., Miss Ethel Cunningham, who is now in the Toronto General Hospital, said:

"Stealing away from the prayer meeting in progress at the Haven, Seaton street, on Tuesday night, Ethel Cunningham, an inmate, went to the top flat, where she built a bonfire of clothing she found there. Fortunately the blaze was discovered in time, and practically no damage was done to the building. Her conduct was brought to the attention of the morality department yesterday morning, and Policeman George Chapman despatched the patrol wagon to the Haven for the young woman. Seeing the policeman coming, she opened a window on the third floor and leaped to the ground below. Her right leg was badly injured by the fall, and the policemen found it necessary to remove her to the General Hospital. Ethel Cunningham is 23 years old, and came here only a few days ago from Peterborough."

What the Local Regt. May Expect

The Brantford Courier, under the heading, "A Military Day," says that a splendid parade of the Dufferin Rifles was held on Monday night.

Col. Cameron gave a brief outline of what will be done during the visit of the 57th Regiment of Peterborough.

On Sunday before the holiday the regiment will parade at 8.30, and in company with the visiting regiment will attend divine service at 9.30, which will last forty minutes, thus giving the men a chance to attend any other church they wish in afterwards. After the evening church service the Peterborough Regiment band will give a sacred concert in Agricultural Park, where their regiment will camp.

On Monday morning the Dufferin Rifles will parade at 12.30 at the armories, and will march to the Agricultural Park and there join the visiting regiment. After a short street parade they will return to the park where the match past, trooping the colors and other military manoeuvers will take place, which will be followed by a baseball match between the Dufferin Rifles and the Waterous teams.

Local Lands Are More Valuable

It seems as though the new carpet works will turn out a blessing not only for the whole city, but especially for those owning land in the vicinity of the factory.

Land is rapidly increasing in value on Lansdowne avenue, Gladstone avenue, Ware and other streets, and within the past few weeks has advanced fully $5 per foot frontage.

A little over two years ago, Mr. Harry Rush bought the ten acres located at the corner of Lansdowne avenue and Lock streets, just opposite the exhibition grounds. It is stated that he paid $2,400 for the property and that he was recently offered $8500 for the real estate but declined.

A gentleman who owns considerable property on Ware street, stated yesterday that the price in lots had gone up five dollars per foot frontage during the past few weeks.

The work on the Brinton carpet company's factory is going ahead rapidly, and a large number of men are employed.

Lakefield Will Celebrate.

Lakefield is ambitious as to celebration of Dominion Day, and will have a great time on July 2nd. Large bills are now out advertising a schedule of their sports, which include a football match between the Quakers of this city, and the village pigskin pushers. Addresses are also included by Messrs. Hon. J. R. Stratton, T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Jas. Kendry, ex-M.P. There will also be a good tug-of-war and other sports, which will make the event well worth taking in.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday's police court was visited by several aged past grand master of the "Sons of Ease."

The dog case, in which, as noted in yesterday's issue, a lady's dog had bitten a baby, the father of the child had a man present, who gave testimony as to the dog's character. He said that as he was passing along the street the dog flew at him, snapping at his heels. Chief Rouzel remarked he had heard that the dog had flown at Mr. Sheehy and Mr. Ferguson.

The magistrate made an order for the animal's execution.

The next case was that of an Italian, named Camille Deluke, charged with not having his rear premises cleaned out as required by the city bylaw. Two dollars and $2.60 costs to be paid forthwith.

D. Luke, who was not present at his trial, turned up afterwards, and squared his account with the police authorities. He will, if his premises are not cleaned out forthwith, have another interview with the police magistrate.

Improvements In National

Work on This Hotel is Being Rapidly Pushed Forward.

The improvements at the National Hotel are being rapidly pushed through. Mr. Lawless expects to have his handsome new dining room ready for occupation in about ten days. When the present improvements are finished, the National Hotel will bear favorable comparison with any hotel in a city of under 100,000 population on the continent.

Mr. Lawless has spared neither time, money nor trouble to have his hotel strictly up-to-date, and has exhibited great taste and judgment in the improvements.

The toilet room alone has cost some $2,000 and is one of the finest in Canada.

Douro Picnic a Great Success

Rev. Father Kielty's Picnic Attended by a Great Assemblage.

A large number of local citizens yesterday, as usual, took in the Douro picnic. The Douro picnic, like that held yearly in Emismore, is always well patronized by our citizens. Father Kielty the parish priest of that township always manages, not only to have an attractive program at his picnic, but, with his true Irish hospitality makes all those attending, irrespective of politics or creed, enjoy themselves to the utmost.

The weather yesterday was all that could be discovered, and the beautiful grove, in which the Douro picnic is held was filled by an immense crowd of the rev. gentleman's personal and parishional friends. The games were above the average and the dancing whilst not literally "out of sight," in fact the contrary, was enjoyed by the many hundred present.

The Times extends its congratulations to Father Kielty over the great success of his annual entertainment which was certainly a great success.

Brave Deed Done at Young's Point

Mr. Fred Darcy Succeeds in Preventing Horses Falling Into the Locks.

On Wednesday last Mr. Fred Darcy, who was the means of saving a team of horses from destruction and also, in all probability, of saving several human lives.

It seems that the team in question, belongs to Mr. John Lang, of Young's Point. The horses seeing taken fright at something were dashing wildly towards the locks in which was the steamer Sovereign passing through. Mr. Darcy with great pluck and presence of mind rushed to the flying horses, and succeeded in stopping them. Had they fallen into the lock and upon this steamer, the consequences are too serious to easily be contemplated. This act not only saved the horses but in all probability several human lives.

Weak Kidneys Bright's Disease and Diabetes

Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative to Cure the Cause, If You Suffer From These Symptoms.

Here are the symptoms of Kidney complaints: Urine laden with sediment, brick dust in urine, highly colored urine, greasy froth or bloom in it, stringy mucous in urine, unusual desire to urinate, pain in passing water, pain in the back and over the kidneys, hot, dry and itching skin, hair dry and brittle, painful joints, legs feel heavy, sleeplessness, dullness, loss of weight, chilly sensations, loss of memory, general debility, irregular heart, disorders of eyesight, trouble with hearing, scanty skin, fever, shifting from one foot to the other in standing. An improper or treacherous kidney often worse than none. Most Kidney medicines get their effect from Swedish called diuretics. These are practically kidney physics, acting as cathartics act on the bowels. They excite the kidneys to unusual action, they cause over strain. These diuretic remedies are themselves the frequent cause of serious kidney disease. Don't try to doctor the kidneys themselves, for you will only harm them. Their only strength is nerve power. Dr. Shoop's Restorative vitalizes the nerves that operate the Kidneys. Sold by

DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true.

"Favorite Prescription," too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities praising the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicines put up for sale through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than any amount of so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously haunted before the public, in favor of the alcoholic compounds.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodical headaches, backaches, bearing-down distress, tenderness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms.

Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing as above. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questionings and personal "examinations" are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of sufficient in one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only, or 21 cents for a copy in flexible paper covers, or 50 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative, two or three cathartic.

SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore;—containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Two City Committees In Session Last Night

Locations for 25 Fire Alarm Boxes Approved of---$100 for Salvation Army Band---Tax Collector's Salary Increased.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council met last night when there were present, Chairman Ald. Frank Adams, Ald. Wilson Elliott, Hall, Dunsin Nixon and Mayor Beat.

The Board took up the application of Walter and R. Parnell, drivers in the Fire Department. While the Board agreed that these men are deserving an increase over their present salary of $475 a year, they thought it better to let this matter stand until the new Fire Hall is constructed, when the whole fire protection system may have to be reorganized.

The application of Fire Chief Ruthe erford for a bicycle to use when on service, was left in abeyance for the present.

The Board approved of the fire locations made by a special committee of the fire alarm boxes, 38 of which locations will be entirely new. These boxes will be distributed throughout the city to the best advantage.

What alarm system will be installed, has not yet been decided on. The Gamewell system of New York, has already been tested here, and the Anderson people of Toronto, will be asked to submit to the corporation a sample of their alarm boxes.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee of the City Council met at 8.30, when there were present, Chairman Ald. Wilson, and Aldermen Adams, Elliott, Wilson, Hall and his Worship Mayor Beat.

The matter of issuing debentures at 4 1-2 per cent., payable in equal annual installments on both principal and interest, was referred to the mayor and the Finance Committee.

The committee will recommend that the Salvation Army band be given a grant of $100, on motion of Ald Hall, seconded by Ald. Elliott.

Ald. Hall remarked that the Salvation Army Band is an excellent one, and deserves liberal recognition by the city. He regretted that the estimates already struck, would not permit of this.

Ald. Wilson concurred in Ald. Hall's opinion.

Tax Collector W. J. Green, is asking that his remuneration be changed from a straight salary of $850 to a commission of one per cent. on actual cash collections. He also asked that his appointment be made permanent.

The committee did not approve of the change in method of payment asked for by Mr. Green, but agreed that his position should be permanent.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald Elliott,—That W. J. Green be appointed tax collector, his office to be permanent at the pleasure of the council, and that his salary be increased to $1,000 a year, and sum to cover his expenses and assistance.—Carried.

City Treasurer Felix Brownscombe's application for an increase of salary was next taken up. He at present gets $700 from the city and $700 from the water commissioners. Out of this amount he pays for his own assistance which comprises two girls.

This question was left in abeyance although it was generally conceded that the treasurer should get an increase. His Worship thought that both officials, the clerk and the treasurer should be treated alike in the way of an increase of salary.

Change in Local Officers at Cobourg

A change will likely be made in the officers commanding the composite companies to go to Cobourg on Tuesday. Capt. Bennett will go alone as adjutant and Capt. McLean, who as previously arranged was to have acted as lieutenant, will be in command of one company. Capt. McWilliams will have charge of the other company.

LACROSSE.

There should be a large turnout at Riverside Park this afternoon to see the Shamrocks trim the Oshawa team. It will be a fast game, and it takes a close player to know which side to back. Our one best bet is the Shamrocks.

• • • •

The team that will represent the Shamrocks in their game with Oshawa this afternoon at three o'clock, at Riverside Park will be picked from the following players: Gilman, O'Leary, McPherson, Dobson J. McNichol Bassett, Miller, Jack McNichol, Ousey, Feeney, Saunders, Tuckey, McFadden, Doris, Devlin and Symour.

• • • •

The N.L.L. games scheduled for today are: Capitals at Tecumseh, Shamrocks at Nationals.

• • • •

GOLF

Mr. Fitzgerald, of Bristol, Eng., has been engaged by the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, and will act as "pro" for the next few weeks.

FOOTBALL.

The Quaker intermediates will go to Bowmanville today to meet the team of that place in the first of the series matches for the Stratton cup, but to mention the intermediate championship.

The boys will leave here at 11.15 this morning. The following will represent the Quakers:—

Goal—McFadden.
Backs—Doris and Evans.
Halves—Best, Fitzgerald, and Archibald.
Forwards — Boyeott, Armstrong, Baker, Clough and Huston.

The Quakers will make a great effort to win. Mr. Sherrier, of Omemee will referee the game.

New Fire-Brigade Horse Here.

Yesterday the splendid new chestnut horse for use of the local fire brigade purchased a few miles north of Lakefield, arrived in the city. Chief Rutherford in buying this horse has made an excellent purchase. The horse is only four years old and weighs 1313 pounds. It is a well colored chestnut and is, by its formation admirably adapted to the purpose required. It will at once be placed in the fire brigade stable, and he used to relieve the now over-worked city horses in watering the street and for general fire purposes.

Str. Monarch Brings Visitors

Yesterday morning the steamer Monarch brought about 150 excursionists to the city from down the river. The excursion was under the auspices of the Union Methodist Sunday school of Bethany and Fenelon, and the following committee were in charge: Messrs. C. Telling, R. Rolls, J. Sill, T. R. Blacklin, and Rev. Mr. Dupras, pastor of the Bethany Methodist church. All present were loud in their expression of pleasure as to the day spent, and left for home during the afternoon.

Did Not Know "Oui" From "Non"

Bryson, Que., June 23.—As a rule a knowledge of the French language to an English-speaking person is regarded as an advantage, but the lack of its knowledge proved a distinct advantage here yesterday to John R. McNichol, of Toronto.

It was well for Mr. McNichol that he did not know "oui" from "non," otherwise he would have been committed to prison for contempt of court.

A man with a number of other witnesses McNichol was instructed to leave the court chamber when the case of Fagi vs. Perreault, in which he was to give evidence, was tried. He left the chamber with the others, loitered around the doorway of the chamber, and seemed to listen and understand what was going on within.

When McNichol was called to give his right to affirm was challenged by Rollard Miller, counsel for the opposing side on the ground that he had surreptitiously made himself acquainted with the evidence already given.

The court at once took a serious view of this conduct on the part of Mr. McNichol, and matters were looking pretty bad for him until interrogated as to his knowledge of French in which the evidence of the previous witnesses was given.

He replied that his ignorance of the language was complete, that he had come from Toronto, and never having heard French spoken in a court of justice before, he simply listened at the door, through curiosity, without any idea whatever of understanding what was being said.

This circumstances saved Mr. McNichol from some sort of a penalty, and he was allowed to give evidence, although reminded of the indiscreetness of his conduct.

Shut Down on United States Goods

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—W. R. Corwin secretary of the New York Committee of the American Reciprocal League, which advocates reciprocal tariff trade relations with all countries, but especially with Canada, gave an address before the Board of Commerce last night. He showed by statistics that the markets of the world are gradually being closed against the United States. He strongly advocated closer trade relations with Canada, and showed that as a result of our commercial warfare with that country our manufacturers have been forced to establish in Canada mills and factories financed by American capital for the purpose of making articles manufactured in this country, and that there have been over 130 of such industries established in Canada within the last few years, employing something like 40,000 skilled laborers.

Local Lawyer Misses His Boat

Mr. Green is Marooned for Night at Gore's Landing.

On Thursday, Mr. John Green, ex-president of the Peterborough Law society, with the interest he has always taken both in legal and law matters in this city (nothing meant by the difference) on Thursday took the good steamship Water Lily to Rice Lake to make arrangements and to dinner, etc. for the lawyers' excursion next Tuesday.

This well known member of the local bar took the steamer as stated to Harwood in his endeavor to complete arrangements, whereby the lawyers' picnic would be a success. Mr. Green overlooked the departure of the steamer.

By the time the Water Lily after recrossing Rice Lake, had got to Jubilee Point, and had taken up the L.A.S. Dramatic Club, who had dropped off there, some of the L.A.S. members noticed that Mr. Green, who came down in the boat with them, was not aboard. The Water Lily, plowing her way through the beauties of the lower Otonabee, got as far as "Wedlocks," before Capt. White, the owner, was aware that Mr Green had been left behind.

With this proverbial good nature, Capt White at once gave the necessary orders for shifting the vessel's course. The wheelsman who is "Widlock's was directing the good ship's route N. by N.N.W., half W., was directed to turn the Water Lily entirely about and steer S. by S.S.E. half E. and keep her prow direct towards Harwood docks.

On arrival at Harwood the Water Lily's officers made immediate enquiries as to the missing barrister. A small boy, hearing the questions, said "Why that gent set out 15 minutes ago to walk to Gore's Landing."

As the steamer had lost nothing an hour on her return trip and was compelled to return the L.A.S. excursionists, she could no make the port of Gores Landing and wait for Mr. Green's arrival, so her course was once more shaped towards the delta of the Otonabee and the city.

If Mr Green had not arrived home last night, it is possible a George Gordon Bennett relief expedition may be organized to search for this honored member of the local bar.

The New Grand Opera House

Local Theatre Safe and Substantial in Every Respect.

Some weeks ago a reference was made in these columns to the new Opera House. One of The Times representatives made an examination of the Grand Opera House and The Times now desires to report that any former statements made in this paper, in which it was alleged that the Opera House was in an unsafe condition or showed any signs of not being carefully and substantially constructed, were incorrect and misleading. This no doubt will at once remove any feeling that may exist in the public mind that the building is or was in any way unsafe to the public who might attend thereat.

Further, The Times has enquired of a number of the leading contractors and building experts in this city as to their opinion, and the unanimous findings of these men has been that the building is perfectly safe and has always been so, and there has never been at any time the slightest ground for any opinion to the contrary.

In our former article we believe we did Mr. Bradburn an injustice from the fact that certain allegations and statements were published reflecting upon the Opera House and without sufficient investigation being made previously to warrant such publication. In justice to ourselves, however, we might say that the article which was printed and which mentioned the top of the north wall of the theatre as being somewhat out of repair, was inserted in the paper by one of the members of our staff without our knowledge or consent, and we take this opportunity to explain our position in the matter.

Upon the opinions we have obtained and upon the investigation of one of our representatives, of the theatre itself, we are pleased to be able to authoritively correct any idea that may exist in the public mind that the theatre is in the slightest way unsafe, and can assure our readers that we believe this Opera House containing more exits to be used in case of fire or panic than any other play-house of its seating capacity in the province.

While we are discussing this subject we may also add that The Times has been shown a number of affidavits made by theatre managers and owners of theatres in the different cities and towns in Ontario regarding the prices of admission charged the public at their various theatres, which shows that the average prices of admission charged at the Grand Opera House here during the last theatrical season were lower than the prices of admission charged at opera houses in the following cities during the same theatrical season: St. Catherines, Ottawa, Woodstock, Kingston and London, and the prices for the same plays or operas are identically the same as are charged in the City of Toronto, when such plays or operas are presented there.

Farmers Take Horse Off Road

Smithtown Farmers Unbitch Horse When Local Auto Approached.

Yesterday as the local owner of an automobile was chug-chugging his way in from Chemong Lake, he had an experience that was to say the least amusing. As his auto was coming towards town at about 15-mile gait, Mr. ——— saw a farmer's cart approaching in the cart were two dwellers of Smithtown. When they saw the auto nearing them, each began to frantically wave hands, arms, handkerchiefs, etc. to impel the chauffer to stop. The owner of the auto looked at the horse which he declares has passed the half century mark in its existence. He at once brought his auto to a standstill. The farmers with every show of excitement unharnessed the horse, pushed the vehicle carefully off the road and, once on each side of the horse off the beaten track. The animal made only one sign of unusual excitement, viz., to get at the grass on the side of the road. As "Dixie" says the horse was keen after grass but blind to his auto.

Farmer Has an Exciting Time

His Horse Takes Fright at Steam Roller.

Yesterday morning Mr. Andrew Miller, a farmer from near Young's Point, had an exciting experience in coming to town and did not like some of the modern appliances connected with city regime.

As he drove south along Water St. his horse took fright at a passing street car, and gave him some subject for thought. To escape the car, Mr. Miller turned his horse down one of the streets leading to George street. When he reached this thoroughfare, his troubles were augmented. The steam road roller at work on George street, caused the horse to become fractious, and it was only the good driving of the driver that prevented the horse from making for parts unknown.

As Mr. Miller entered further into the heart of the city, a number of gravel wagons frightened the horse. This led Mr. Miller to think that George street was too hot for him, and he turned over to Water street where another car scared the animals which had been raised among the sylvan dells and mosquito populated wilds of country life. Fortunately Mr. Miller's good management prevented the horse from getting away.

Benediction Service at St. Peter's.

Yesterday afternoon St. Peter's Cathedral was appropriately decorated with candles and otherwise for the "Benediction Service." Rev. Father McColl officiated at this service, which was well attended and most impressive.

Underground Work to Be Begun at Once

Bell Telephone Company to Commence Laying Conduits Within Ten Days' Time.

Our readers will remember that the City Council, for reasons that seem inexplicable to those following city administration in other towns and cities, have declined and still decline over the offer made by the Bell Telephone Co. to relieve the streets of this city of their unsightly and dangerous forests of poles, by placing their wires underground.

The action of our City Fathers in this matter is hard to understand. In many towns both pressure and rebukes have been brought to bear on telegraph and telephone companies to induce them to bury their wires. Some weeks ago the Bell Co., never anticipating that their offer to place wires underground, and remove their poles, would meet with aught but prompt acceptance by the civic authorities, brought a gang of men, with tools and appliances, to the city to proceed with this welcome work. However, as above noted, the Council showed much apathy, and more disregard to the company's offer. Consequently the men and appliances were sent to Niagara Falls and other towns, seemingly more modern in their ideas.

Now that the Council seems to turn a deaf ear to an offer that will redound to the city's welfare, the Bell Co. have decided, under the powers and privileges granted in their charter, to proceed with the work, and will place their wires underground with all speed and thus remove a large percentage of their poles from our principal streets.

Yesterday the following letter was sent by the Company to Mayor Beat:—

Peterborough, June 23rd, 1906.

To His Worship the Mayor and the Members of the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough.

Gentlemen.—With reference to our letter of April 25th we beg to inform you, that no change has been taken, that we will proceed with the work of laying conduits within ten days, on George street between Brock and Stenbrooke, and we would be pleased if you would direct the officer to be present to locate, direct and supervise the work.

We are, gentlemen, yours respectfully,

THE BELL TELEPHONE CO. OF CANADA, LTD.
(Sgd.) F. W. DOAN,
Local Manager.

This work will not only be of great advantage to the city in getting rid of the poles through the streets, and ensure a better telephone service, but will also involve the expenditure of a large sum in wages and supplies purchased here.

The Council Inspect Keene Bridge

Members Take a Trip Down the River to Keene.

The members of the County Council took a trip yesterday down the rives and over Little Lake to Keene, where they inspected the site of the proposed new bridge which is now being erected over the river at this place. The government having raised the water at Hastings, it has, it is claimed, thus widened the channel at Keene, entailing greater cost in the construction of the proposed bridge. It was with a view of looking into this feature of the case, that the council visited the spot.

The council were accompanied by Messrs. E. A. Peck, county solicitor; J. E. Belcher, county engineer, E. M. Elliott, county clerk; Wm. Anderson, M.P.P.; J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent valley canal, and others.

The trim little craft "Rob Roy," under the command of Capt. R. M. Roy, was placed at the disposal of the party by Mr. McClellan, and carried them to their destination and home again without mishap.

It is understood that representatives will be made to the government regarding the matter, and an effort made to secure a grant to cover the extra cost of the bridge on account of the high water.

MACDONELL, McMASTER, OEARY, & BARTON, Toronto, Ont.

PROPERTY—Consists of 40 acres adjoining the Town of Cobalt, Adjoining the property on the north-east is the celebrated TRETHEWAY MINE, on the south-west the TEMISKAMING & HUDSON BAY, and to the south across the railway is the McKINLEY-DARRAGH, all producing shipping mines, and amongst the most valuable in the camp.

VEINS—Nine well-defined veins have been disclosed, one of which has been stripped on the surface for over 600 feet.

DEVELOPMENT—Two shafts have been sunk to a depth of fifty and sixty feet, respectively; 180 feet of tunnelling, all in pay ore, has been done.

EQUIPMENT—A complete mining plant has been installed. The Buffalo mine is considered one of the best equipped mines in the camp.

SHIPMENTS—Shipments have been made to the Belbach Smelting & Refining Co., of Newark, N. J., and to the Delamar Copper Refining Co., of Chrome, N. J. Out of the first shipment TWENTY TONS OF ORE PRODUCED $20,000 NET. FIVE CARS have been shipped since the first of May, 1906.

ORE—Mr. Charles L. Denison, President of the Company, estimates there is $75,000 worth of ore on the dump which is being assorted and bagged for shipment.

VALUE OF ORE—We personally have had an assay made by Messrs. Thos. Heys & Son, of Toronto, of the ore taken from the sixty-foot level. This assayed $2542 of SILVER TO THE TON.

The following letter, written by Mr. Thomas R. Jones, Superintendent of the Mine, to Mr. Charles L. Denison, bears out the statement that this is a producing and shipping mine:

Charles L. Denison, Esq., (Copy.) Cobalt, Ont., April 24, 1906.
149 Liberty street,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of enquiry as to the quantity of ore on hand for shipment, will say that we will have a thirty-ton car of No. 1 ore, which would run from $1,000 to $2,000 PER TON, ready in less than ten days. Two, or perhaps three cars of No. 2 ore, running over $500, and two cars of No. 4 ore, running over $150. We are sacking these now, and making preparations to move same for shipment.

As to our estimate of future production, based on thirty days from this date, we expect to hoist and ship monthly, approximately the following tonnage: 30 tons No. 1 ore, which will average $1,000 to $2,000 per ton; 120 tons No. 2 ore, including middlings, which will run $500 or more per ton; 75-100 tons No. 3 ore, which will average $150 per ton; 500 tons mill rock, $40 per ton or better.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) Thomas R. Jones, Supt.

The above estimate, if realized, means that the Company can easily pay dividends of over 30 PER CENT. per annum.

The directors are all men well known and successful in the business world, and have every confidence in the property and its future.

We offer for sale a limited quantity of this stock at par. Cheques may be made payable at par, Toronto, and may be made payable to us or to the Imperial Trusts Company, Toronto. Applications for the purchase of shares will be filled in the order of their receipt, and the right is reserved of increasing at any time, without notice, the price of the stock, or withdrawing same from the market.

Pamphlet containing full information regarding the Company may be had upon application to

HUMANITIES OF WAR

War has its humanities as well as tragedies, and the effort to be made by the Red Cross convention, now in session at Geneva, to humanize war as far as possible is a matter of supreme importance to the thirty-seven nations which have sent delegates to the conference.

The work of the Red Cross is of such a noble character, and extends over so much territory, that every nation applauds it, and desires to have the powers and privileges of the societies enlarged as much as possible.

This society had its inception in the mind of M. Henri Dunant, a Swiss gentleman, who returned from the terrible carnage at the battle of Solferino, in 1859, determined to do everything in his power to reduce the horrors of war. M. Dunant was ably seconded in his views by M. Gustave Moynier and Dr. Louis Appia of Geneva.

An international public conference was called at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1863, which, though it had not an official character, brought together representatives from a number of governments. At this conference a treaty was drawn, afterwards remodelled and improved, which many governments soon signed.

The treaty provided for the neutrality of all sanitary supplies, ambulances, surgeons, nurses, attendants and sick or wounded men and their safe conduct when they bore the sign of the organization, viz., the Red Cross.

Although the convention which originated the convention was necessarily international, the societies themselves are entirely national and independent, each one governing itself and making its own laws according to the genius of its nationality and needs. It was necessary for recognizance and safety, and for carrying out the general provisions of the treaty, that a uniform badge should be agreed upon. The Swiss colors being a white cross on a red ground, the badge chosen was this arrangement of colors reversed.

There are no "members of the Red Cross," but only members of societies whose sign it is. There is no "Order of the Red Cross." The relief societies use, each according to its convenience, whatever methods seem best suited to prepare in times of peace for the necessities of sanitary service in times of war. They gather and store gifts of money and supplies; arrange hospitals, ambulances, methods of transportation of wounded men, bureaus of information, correspondence, etc. All that the most ingenious philanthropy could devise and execute has been attempted in this direction.

The present conference will undertake to make amendments to the original Red Cross treaty, whereby there can be a proper revision of humane activities for the relief and protection of the wounded, so as to adapt the charter to existing methods of warfare and surgical practice. It is believed that better work can be accomplished hereafter when a new agreement between commanders is based on the actual range of artillery, the extent of the theatre of operations and the modern practice of rapid deliveries of wounded and disabled, stage by stage, from the fighting line to field hospitals in the rear.

The former arrangements for the protection of disabled soldiers have been seriously impaired by the changes in war tactics. It is recalled that the original Geneva convention was designed for wars like the Crimea, when the distances between firing lines were comparatively short, and artillery and small arms were of limited range, and not for campaigns like that in Manchuria, where the battlefields were immense and incumbered with entrenchments and wire entanglements.

Another important matter requiring action by the conference relates to the application of humane principles of warfare to naval operations, especially the neutralization of boats employed for rescue. This subject appears to have given rise to many differences of opinion in the past, but it is likely that after extended debate some code will be generally accepted, and it certainly should.

THE BEST FRIENDS OF PE-RU-NA ARE THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

When Sickness Comes to the Little Ones

It Is the Mother Who Chiefly Suffers.

She suffers even more than the child who happens to be sick.

Her sympathy is deeper than that of any other member of the family.

The mothers look forward with dread to the torrid heat of summer, thinking of their children and the many liabilities to disease that are before them.

Spring and summer are sure to bring ailments, especially among the little folks.

It does not take a mother very long to discover that Peruna is the best friend she has in times of illness among the children.

The doctors may come and go with their different theories and constant change of remedies.

The doctor of years ago gave entirely different remedies than he does today.

Each year finds some change in his prescriptions and in the drugs he relies upon.

A Multitude of Mothers

Have discovered that Peruna is the stand-by, and that in all the ailments of spring and summer to which the children are subjected, Peruna is the remedy that will most quickly relieve.

Whether it is spring fever or stomach derangement, whether it is indigestion or bowel disease, a catarrhal congestion of the mucous surfaces is the cause.

Peruna quickly relieves this condition of the mucous membranes. Its operation is prompt, the children do not dislike to take the medicine, it has no deleterious effects in any part of the body.

It simply removes the cause of the disagreeable symptoms and restores the health.

Peruna is not a physic. Peruna is not a nervine nor a narcotic. Peruna does not produce any drug habit, however long it may be taken. Peruna is not a stimulant.

Peruna is a specific remedy for all catarrhal ailments of winter and summer, acute or chronic.

The mothers all over the United States are the best friends that Peruna has.

The Mothers Hold Pe-ru-na in High Esteem,

Not only because it has cured them of their various ailments, but because it always rescues the children from the throes and grasp of catarrhal diseases.

We have in our files bushels of testimonials from mothers whose children have been cured by Peruna. However, the large majority of mothers who use Peruna, we never hear from.

But we do hear from a great number of mothers who are so overjoyed at some special good they have received from Peruna that they cannot restrain their enthusiasm. They are anxious to share these benefits with other mothers.

The Benefit Which the Children of the United States Have Received From Pe-ru-na Can Never Be Put Into Words.

The chronic ailments it has prevented, the suffering it has mitigated, will never be fully recorded.

But at least this much can be said that the coming generation owes a great debt to Peruna, for it is in the tender years of youth that slight ailments are liable to develop into lasting disease, thus blasting the whole career of the individual.

The mothers who are bringing up their children to-day to believe in Peruna are doing a great work for humanity.

These children brought up to believe in Peruna from the start, will, when they become heads of families themselves, use Peruna with unquestioning faith.

Pe-ru-na Protects the Entire Household.

As soon as the value of Peruna is appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure, tens of thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of catarrh will be prevented.

Mrs. Thresa Rooke, 209 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., Treasurer Ladies' of the Maccabees, writes:

"In our home Peruna is the only medicine we have. Grandmother, mother, father and child, all have used Peruna. It is our great remedy for catarrh of the stomach and head, colds, and female complaints of which it has cured me.

"We find it of great value when my husband becomes worn out or catches cold. A couple of doses cure him.

"If the baby has colic, or any stomach disorders, a dose or two cures her.

"I consider Peruna finer than any doctor's medicine that I have ever tried, and I know that as long as we have it in the house, we will all be able to keep in good health."—Thresa Rooke.

No Doctor Required.

Mr. Edward Otto, 937 De Soto street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"I cannot say enough for Peruna. It has done great work in my family, especially for my oldest boy. We had doctored with three or four different doctors and they did not seem to do him any good.

"We gave up hopes of cure, and so did they, but we pulled him through on Peruna.

"We had several doctors and they said they could do no more for him so we tried Peruna as a last resort, and that did the work. Since then we keep it in the house all the time, and no doctor is required."—Edward Otto.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

Mr. G. H. Farmer, New Martinsville, W. Va., writes:

"Our little son, Harry, is well and healthy now and we think if we do as you directed us, he will keep his health and grow strong.

"We know that our little son's life was saved by your wonderful medicine, Peruna, and we shall always praise Peruna and use it in our family when needed.

"Should we have any more catarrhal trouble in our family, we shall always write to you for treatment."—G. H. Farmer.

Mr. Howard Andrew Sterner, Muddy Creek, Pa., writes:

"I have Peruna in my house all the time and won't be without it. It is good for children when they take a cold or croup. It cured my baby boy of croup.

"I have introduced Peruna into six families since I received your last letter, and four have been relieved already. A. Howard Andrew Sterner.

Pe-ru-na Should Be Kept In Every Household

Where There Are Little Children.

Peruna should be kept in the house all the time. Don't wait until the child is sick, then send to a drug store. But, have Peruna on hand—accept no substitute.

Children are especially liable to acute catarrh. Indeed, most of the affections of childhood are catarrh.

All forms of sore throat, quinsy, croup hoarseness, laryngitis, etc., are but different phases of catarrh.

Mrs. Amelia Sailer, Menasha, Wis., writes:

"I have used Peruna for a number of years. It cured me of chronic catarrh which I suffered with from infancy.

"When my three children were born they all had catarrh, but I have given them Peruna and find it very effective in ridding them of this horrible trouble. I find that it is also good to give them as a tonic and a preventative of colds and colic.

"In fact, I consider it a household blessing. I would not know how to raise my children without it. I am pleased to give it my recommendation."—Amelia Sailer.

AN ORIENTAL VACATION

Canadian Pacific Service to Japan and China.

A holiday spent in Japan, "The Land of the Rising Sun," land of romance and mystery, of quaint customs and costumes, tea-houses and temples, is one that no one could look forward to without a thrill of pleasurable anticipation, and yet one that is only too often regretfully abandoned, because of the "distance" and "cost."

It may accordingly surprise the reader to learn that with only sixty days to spare Japan may be comfortably visited, and that giving twenty-five or more ashore, Yokohama, Tokio, Nikko, Kobe, Osaka, Kyoto, and all the most interesting and charming spots in the Island Kingdom can be covered in twenty-five days by steamship and rickshaw and train. Those cost of this delightful sixty day trip would not exceed that of the ordinary trip of the same length through America. And think of the difference. The voyage, over the calm waters of the mighty Pacific is alone worth the time and money.

The famous "White Empress" fleet of the Canadian Pacific Railway, maintaining service between Vancouver, China and Japan, has a reputation for excellence that is known the world over. The three "Empresses" are each 485 feet long, 6,000 tons, fitted with 10,000 horse-power engines, making 18 knots without "pushing," and for richness of cabin and saloon fittings and decorations they have yet to meet their compeer upon the Pacific. They are splendid sea boats, and the staff of deft Chinese "boys" and a purser among cooks help to make a Trans-Pacific voyage one to carry pleasant memories for many a long day.

The "Empress of China" sails from Vancouver July 2nd, and the "Empress of India" July 23rd, making Yokohama in fourteen days, thence to Hong Kong, by way of Kobe, the beautiful Inland Sea, Nagasaki and Shanghai.

The C. P. R. has also three intermediate steamships upon this service, the "Athenian," "Monteagle and "Tartar." These boats make the same ports of call as the "Empresses," but do not carry first cabin passengers. The passage rates by these steamers are considerably lower than by the "Empresses," the table service and cabin accommodation is surprisingly good, and their speed and sea going qualities are of the standard of excellence expected when the red and white house flag of the C. P. R. is at the main.

The "Athenian" leaves Vancouver for the Orient on July 28th, the "Monteagle" on August 25th.

Full information as to rates, etc., with sailing lists and illustrated descriptive booklets mailed free to any address upon request. Address C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C. P. R., Toronto.

Germany not Ready for a Tariff War

Berlin, June 22—At a meeting of the Central Association of German Manufacturers, embracing most of the great manufacturing organizations of the country, held at Nuremberg yesterday, the general secretary, Herr Bueck, referring to the trade arrangement with the United States, said the association supported the temporary extension of treaty lutics to the United States, because German industry at this moment was not sufficiently prepared for a tariff war with the United States. A continuance of the situation created by the present arrangement, however, would be correspondingly unfair, as it is with the economic interests of dignity of the German Empire. The general secretary felt it necessary, therefore, to warn Germany industry to prepare in good time for a tariff war which would be unavoidable if the United States thinks it can continue treating German goods unfairly.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE GERMS?

Yes, and becomes "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter.

With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and instills vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No other restorative is known than Ferrozone; its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Watton, P.Q., Que., who received enormous benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"I didn't get enough sleep at night and felt poorly in the day time.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Nipissing Masons Gather in Numbers

North Bay, June 22.—Nipissing Masons gathered here in large numbers yesterday on the occasion of the visit of the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, Mr. James H. Burritt, K.C., of Pembroke.

An elaborate program was prepared and well carried out by Nipissing Lodge A.F. & A.M., No. 420, G.R.C., of North Bay, which included the laying of the corner stone of the new Methodist Church, by Lodge of instruction participated in by Temiskaming Lodge, No. 462, Sturgeon Falls Lodge, No. 447, and the local lodge.

Nearly three hundred Masons formed in parade and marched to the site of the new church, where the beautiful and impressive ceremony of laying the corner stone was conducted by Grand Master Burritt, assisted by other Grand Lodge officers, including D.D.G.M. Judge H. D. Leask, D.D.G.M. A. B. Young, and A. Hood.

An engrossed address and silver trowel were presented to Grand Master Burritt on behalf of the church officials, by Dr. Brandon and Mr. T. W. Colgan, which was replied to in happy vein by the Grand Master.

Addresses were made by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Seaward, Judge Leask and Mr. David Purvis, Mayor of North Bay.

A banquet was tendered the Grand Masters and visiting brethren in the evening by North Bay Lodge, over 250 being laid for two hundred and fifty.

New Liskeard Lodge sent a large delegation to take part in the day's proceedings, chartering a special train for the purpose.

STOCKS - THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD - BONDS

We call the attention of our clients to the fact that which we advocated for purchase at 40c., is now $1.15 and with no advance but just begun.

Buy this stock NOW before further radical rise takes place.

WESTERN UNION OIL STOCK

which we urged our clients to purchase at $1.00 per share, is now $2.00 bid, with few lots offered under $3.00. Western Union Oil is a conservative investment at this price.

Of the cheaper stocks we now recommend without hesitation

payable 1-3 cash, 1-3 in 30 days, and 1-3 in 60 days from date of purchase.

Situated in the heart of a new and phenomenally rich district of Nevada, FAIRVIEW bids fair to rival the very richest of the older Nevada camps.

FAIRVIEW CENTRAL gives promise of uncovering high values, and under the conservative business management of its officers will be one of the GREAT MINES OF A GREAT DISTRICT.

But this stock and hold it for a permanent investment.

Indian's above that flickering half smile of his.

"You have no time to spare, monsieur. They were to leave the Tower at sundown. I implore you to haste."

"As well," cautioned Jarrat, "to go by another way than the marquis anticipates."

"You liar!" said Armand, flaming on him. "This man was in the plot. He waits the troops here at this moment. Monsieur, I beseech"—

He did not finish, stricken dumb by the entrance of Anne. She had caught her breath at sight of him and stood, statue-like, in the candlelight. Then she held out both arms and ran toward him with a glad cry:

"Louis! They have released you! Oh, thank God; thank God!"

The young man did not speak; only a little spasm wrenched his features. But Jarrat did. "The jailbird was slippery, mistress," he sneered.

The colonel, who had reached her in a stride and pulled her back, dropped her arm at the look of offense and scorn she cast upon the speaker. "Anne," he said, fueing her rigidly, "listen to me! This man is not only no nobleman"—

"I care naught!" she interrupted wildly. "I care not who he is! I only know what he is to me!" A light dawned on Armand's face with her words. He drew closer to her, as if wondering, afraid to trust his senses. She turned again to him. "I could not tell you—that night at the Raleigh. I had no time!"—

"But," cried Colonel Tillotson, "he is a spy—a hireling, child, bought to this deception to betray the colonials!"

"Sooner than that," she declared, "would I believe Captain Jarrat capable of an honest love! This is a lie of your making, captain. He is no spy. Whatever he has done, 'twas not in dishonor."

"Anne, Anne," urged her uncle, "we have seen the proofs!"

"You do not believe them?" Armand whispered.

"No, no! Nor ever will!"

The young man laughed out triumphantly in sudden abandon. "You hear that, messieurs? There is one that believes in me!"

"Believes, aye, and loves!" cried Anne and ran to him. He drew her close to his breast, murmuring soft words. Her face was pale, yet burning, her whole body turilling with passion and defiance.

"They cannot destroy my faith in you!" she breathed. "I shall love and trust you always, always, always!"

"She is bewitched," Jarrat said, with dry lips.

"You hated him!" she blazed at him. "Oh, I know how you would creep and creep! My friend," turning to Henry—"my friend, do you believe this?"

Henry got up with a round oath. "No!" he swore. "By the great day, I do not believe it!"

Her fluttering cry of delight was stilled by Colonel Tillotson's tense whisper. "Hark!" There was a dull drum of hoofs thudding over sod and with it Sweetlips' fierce challenge.

Simultaneously came a wail of terror from the kitchens, and Hashbrigh plunged in from the hall, his woolly head shaking with fear.

"De sojers! De sojers!" he screeched. "Mars' John, dee gwine kill y'all!"

Jarrat rose to his feet. "You know how I can creep and creep, mistress," he said. "Well, then, now you shall see how I can strike!"

Anne had rushed instantly to the window and drawn the blind. "Troopers!" she cried. "The house is being surrounded! You have been sued, Louis!"

"'Twas true then!" frothed Colonel Tillotson. "Jarrat, had I a weapon I would shoot you, I swear to God! There is one way, Patrick. Here, quick! Through this hall and to the buttery! There is a small window! Speed, and God send you get safe away!"

As Henry disappeared Jarrat ran from the door, shouting directions to the soldiery.

"Louis!" gasped Anne. "You must go! Take the same way, quick!"

"Wait!" he said. "I must give something into your care—something important! Promise me you will do with it what I ask!"

"Yes, yes; but haste, haste!"

He had taken a packet from his breast. "This. Much depends upon it. It must be carried to Philadelphia and there given to Dr. Benjamin Franklin. You must tell him to hold it till called for."

"I will carry it. He shall have it from my own hands. I bear them on the words. For my own sake go!"

"Swear to me!"

"I swear by all I love—by my love for you."

"And you will trust me?"

"Always, always! Oh, can you wait while they take you?"

"Kiss me!"

"Ah!"—

He strained her to him once and sprang toward the door through which Henry had fled. But as he reached it Jarrat's form stood framed in the sash. His hand held a pistol. At the same moment the room overflowed with men.

"So ho," he smiled redly over white teeth. "Not so sprightly, eh? Well, the other bird has flown—curse those horses' pounding!—and we must be content with you, I suppose. Lieutenant, I put this conger eel in your care. As he gets off as did Patrick Henry, some one shall suffer for it. Nay, mistress, ruin not to him. Rather give me the packet which the entertaining gentleman gave into your care a moment since. I doubt not its contents will interest us all. It may even hold his patent of nobility."

Anne's hands flew to her breast, and she shrank back as Jarrat advanced upon her.

"You ruffian!" raged Colonel Tillotson, beside himself with anger. "An you or your bloody-backs lay finger on my niece"—

"Heroics are misplaced, colonel," answered Jarrat curtly. "Will you give up that paper, mistress?"

A quick light came to the girl's eyes, gazing past him. Fumbling in her dress, she drew forth the packet and held it out. But as he extended an arm to seize it she drew back and hurled it over his head through the dining room door, where huddled Mammy Evaline and the rest of the kitchen servants in a shivering group.

"Bonella!" she screamed. "Take it, Bonella! Run! Hide it! Run!" The redemptioner woman swooped upon the packet and was away like a hare.

"Clumsy fools!" foamed Jarrat as the soldiers bungled at the door catch. "After her and bring her hefe!"

Anne in the reaction felt her gaze upon Armand, erect between the soldiers, swim with tears. How could he stand so calm? And with the thought she felt a sudden shame for her weakness.

"The wench has had her run," grumbled one of the soldiers as they returned with the redemptioner woman. "She hasn't it on her. She's tucked it away somewhere."

"I'll soon know where she's hidden it," stormed Jarrat. He interrogated her savagely. "No," she said brokenly, "I not tell."

"Get a rawhide from the stables and stretch her out there. She'll talk fast enough."

"You'll not lash her!" cried Anne, with trembling lips.

Jarrat made no reply. When the soldier returned with the rawhide others dragged the woman into the center and stood waiting. The poor creature watched the preparations with her face ashen and her black eyes darting rapidly here and there.

Died Leaving Two Wives.

New York, June 30.—By the death of Michael J. Fogarty, a successful railway contractor at Plainfield, N. J., it was discovered that for the past eighteen years he had one wife living here, City, while he had a wife in Philadelphia, living with his aged mother and his son.

His death occurred suddenly while he was on a visit to Plainfield, with the Jersey City wife. She knew none of his business connections in Philadelphia, and through them summoned her mother-in-law, who brought along Fogarty's first wife and his son. The Philadelphia wife sympathizes very much with the woman from Jersey City, whose marriage is legally dated two years less than her own. It is even believed that she will consent to an amicable settlement of the estate with the woman who has believed herself a wife all these years, and is now prostrated at the terrible situation in which she finds herself.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appliances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the ground the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of gold mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1902. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Troops Mutiny At Sebastapol

St. Petersburg, June 22.—A serious mutiny, which for a time threatened to place the fortress of Sebastopol in possession of the mutineers, was suppressed yesterday, according to a special speech to the Novoe Vremya. The mutiny was carried by a detachment of fortress artillery, which declined to obey orders. Shots upon the men were promptly returned. Two other batteries then mutinied and took possession of the guns in the south shore batteries, but on the appearance of several loyal regiments of infantry, the mutineers abandoned the idea of fighting and returned to their barracks.

General Nepleuff, commander of the fortress of Sevastopol, is reported to be gravely concerned about the temper of the sailors as well as the soldiers of the fortress.

How the matter of the whole city is being shaken by the revolutionary propaganda is proved by the continued extension of the rebellious outbreaks among the troops. It appears to be confirmed that the Bottschoff regiment at Ryazan has driven out its officers and turned to mutiny. Another report says the soldiers deliberately attacked the officers' club at Ryzan, killing one officer and wounding two others. A pitched battle is raging in the town.

Four companies of the Viazma regiment, stationed in St. Petersburg, have presented demands which were acceded to, and they have now returned to duty.

The soldiers of the notorious Semenovsky regiment, whose name has become synonymous with repression owing to the deeds committed by those troops at Moscow, are reported to have held a meeting and to have decided that they cannot any longer endure the present conditions and must wipe out the stain on the regiment.

The tenderness with which the military authorities are treating these and rendering exhibitions of the mutinous spirit among the troops is sufficient evidence that they fear the entire army is infected.

SELECTIONS

PEKING'S OPIUM DENS.

Efforts to Reduce Their Number and Restrict the Smoking.

Peking, the capital of China, is fighting the opium shop evil. Efforts are being made to reduce the number of dens and to restrict the smoking of the drug and to curtail the loafing and vice that accompany opium smoking by compelling each shop to take out a license and to pay a tax according to the number of "lamps" in each shop. The shops are divided into four classes, and the fees are graded accordingly from $1 a month to 20 cents for each lamp, payable on the 10th of every month. The recent proclamation of the Peking sanitary department reads as follows:

"Opium smoking is extremely harmful to the health, and the shops where opium is smoked are the retreats of loafers. Such places should really be altogether prohibited, so that the people might enjoy more prosperity, and dens of thieves would thus be done away with. But as opium smoking has become such a habit it cannot be got rid of entirely and at once. The evil can only be removed gradually.

"There are in the outer city of Peking many opium shops, and it is evident that the smokers are increasing every day, which is very bad. This department has taken into consideration the matter, and arrangements have been made for those who will abandon the habit. In addition the opium shops opened in the outer city of Peking have been divided into four classes and are to be taxed after certain regulations. They are to register themselves according to their classes and the number of lamps for the payment of taxes so that inspection can easily be effected.

"Shop owners are hereby informed of the regulations and that they are to come to this department for registration beginning from the 30th day 1st moon 31st year of Kuang Hsu. If any one dares to make a false registration as to his class or the number of lamps, opens shops without license or refuses payment of the tax, if discovered, the building used for smoking opium will be confiscated and the owners strictly fined as a warning to these private dealers in opium shops. All must respect this order and not disobey."

Gold Used in Jewelry.

France heads the list as the country which uses up most gold in the making of jewelry. Her jewelers work up 36,000 pounds weight of gold every year—that is, about one-thirtieth of the whole amount produced. Great Britain accounts for an almost equal quantity, and the United States takes 32,000 pounds weight for similar objects, while German craftsmen for that country worked up 30,000 pounds of virgin gold in the last year. Small as Switzerland is, she absorbed nearly 20,000 pounds weight of fine gold, while Italy and Russia between them took a similar amount. We can procure no accurate statistics from Turkey or India or China, but as each of these countries uses a large quantity of gold for purposes of ornament we shall not be very far wrong if we say that the world's jewelers use more than half of all the gold produced.

Million Bushels of Wheat Wasted.

"During 1905," writes George R. Metcalfe, M. E. in the Technical World Magazine, "the railroads of the United States ordered new locomotives to the number of 6,300, together with 3,300 passenger cars, and 340,000 freight cars. These last figures give a good idea of the relative importance of passenger and freight traffic to a large railroad. The rail mills started the new year with orders for 2,500,000 tons on their books.

"In spite of these great orders and in spite of the best efforts of the railroad managers pile after pile of thousands of bushels of corn has been heaped up on the ground in Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska for want of storage room or transportation facilities, while in North Dakota alone over a million bushels of wheat have rotted on the ground for want of freight cars to move it."

Attention Moves the World.

"Knowledge," it is said, "begins in wonder." But wonder is the result of attention, and by attention the world is moved beneficently or madly, as in the blind and bloody turmoils of the Russian people, attentive at last to their wrongs and the possibilities of liberty. Without the attention of individual and collective minds nothing goes forward on an earth so full of objects and ideas that selection must be forced from the outside or deliberately exercised from the inside before anything good or bad can be done. It is the business of the good man to study means of attracting attention to good causes, to necessary betterments and to all that is fair and lovely and wholesome in this distracting, distracted and multitudinous universe.—Century.

A Remarkable Child.

Dr. and Mrs. Julian P. Thomas of New York are the parents of a remarkable child, aged seven years. Some of the playthings, provided at his own request, are a skeleton, his favorite, whose every bone he knows by name; a physiological chart, which has enabled him to study the muscular tissue, the nervous and circulatory systems; a fully equipped automobile, boy's size, which he operates and repairs; a great globe, which has caused him to spurn all geographies. He is a talented musician and makes an exception of his music and drawing teachers in the sweeping refusal to deal with instructors.

Lost a Railroad.

"A champagne dinner once cost St. Joseph, Mo., the Union Pacific railroad," said an old railroad official. "The Union Pacific aid bill was up for consideration in congress in the early sixties. It fixed St. Joseph as the eastern terminus of the road. While the bill was under consideration a banquet was held at St. Joseph. It was attended by many of the leading men of the town. After they had filled up on champagne a question arose as to which flag should float from the city hall. The Confederate flag was finally decided on, and in the morning the stars and stripes were hauled down and the stars and bars hoisted. The news reached Washington that very day, while the Union Pacific bill was still under consideration. Senator Pomeroy moved that the name St. Joseph, Mo., be stricken from the bill and Omaha, Neb., be substituted. The amendment carried and St. Joseph thereby lost the Union Pacific."

A Shifting Landmark.

In the first years of navigation on western waters, says the author of "Early Steamboat Navigation on the Missouri River," pilots were forced to use all sorts of signals and marks to decide their courses. One had a custom of running a certain crossing if he came to it at night by the aid of a dog. The animal belonged to a family living in a house at the foot of the crossing directly in the course of the boat. Whenever a boat was coming this dog ran out to the bank, always in exactly the same place, which was in line with the channel, and barked his loudest. The pilot ran toward the sound of the barking with the utmost confidence. Unhappily the dog one night took a notion to change his stand and barked a little higher up. The next morning the boat was a hopeless wreck on a sand bar, into which the pilot had run at full speed.

Our Lead Pencils.

Many a boy is made happy these days by a present of half a dozen pencils with his name printed thereon in gold letters. Perhaps the name "lead pencil" will last through all time and eternity. The original pencil was really made of lead, and on the rough paper of the time made a clearly discernible mark. Germany led in its manufacture. Our earliest importations were much sought after, and none could be bought with other money than gold coin. A common "lead" pencil was almost worth its weight in gold, and a man who got a supply had to be well recommended. When a New York merchant advertised the arrival of a consignment of "lead pencils" the rush to buy was pellmell. This seems incredible to us young roosters, who can buy a dozen pencils today for 10 cents.

The Murderous Trout.

Of all creatures the angler is the least offender in the crime of killing. The very game he seeks, though beautiful and gentle to the eye and at times noble in deed and purpose, is the most brutal killer of all the races, the lovely trout in its attacks upon gaudy flies, the valiant bass and pike in devouring their smaller brethren and the multitudinous sea fishes not alone in their feeding upon one another, but in their wanton murder of the millions upon millions of victims of their pure love of slaughter. Country Life In America.

The First Inquest.

The nearest approach to the holding of a judicial inquiry into the cause of death in England occurred as long ago as the year 1200, when, according to an old writer on the subject, "six and twenty venerable persons were summoned together to hear and consider the testimony of any who could speak with authority regarding the death of a digger in the fields named Martin Bolsover."

SHOT BY HIGHWAYMAN

New York, June 22.—The Herald says John Phillips, superintendent of the Parkway Driving Club, and a well-known turf man, was shot and seriously wounded last night by two highwaymen, while on his way to his residence in the grounds of the club, Brooklyn.

The thieves succeeded in getting a gold watch and chain, a valuable diamond ring, and some cash. Mr. Phillips was taken to the Emergency Hospital in a very low condition. His condition is critical.

Mr. Phillips was conscious when taken into the hospital, and told the police a description of the two men. The surgeons found that the bullet had entered the mouth and lodged in the back of the head.

SHUTTING OUT THE SEA.

The Massive Sea Wall That Stretches Around Galveston.

Stretching around the eastern limits and continuing entirely along the northern side of Galveston is its massive Sea wall, standing as an impregnable defense and an insurmountable barrier against even the greatest storm ever known to have occurred in the gulf, says a writer in Marine Review. This wall symbolizes in its firm construction on a solid foundation not only the safe future safety of the city, but also that unwavering confidence and unshaken belief of Galvestonians in this location as the supreme harbor of the star empire and the gateway for the vast and limitless resources of the great southwest. The city sea wall was begun Oct. 27, 1902, and the work was completed July 29, 1904, having been carried to a successful conclusion in three months less than the contracted time, which, considering the magnitude of the undertaking, is noteworthy. As an extension of the sea wall around the city of Galveston, the United States government appropriated $750,000 to build about one mile more of wall along the beach in front of Fort Crockett and the federal reserve adjoining the city on the west. The total length of the sea wall is about four and a half miles. It is sixteen feet wide at base, curving to five feet in width at the top, being seventeen feet above mean low tide and one foot higher than in the 1900 storm.

Rainy Season in Caracas the City's Sanitary Salvation.

Just what Caracas would do without its rainy season I cannot imagine, for the city is far from being clean and sanitary. Garbage is thrown into the yards for the vultures to feed upon, dust and papers accumulate in the streets, and the visitor is about to pronounce the city the dirtiest he has ever seen when nature suddenly decides to put things to rights. An ordinary rainfall would not suffice now. A thorough flushing is needed, and nothing short of a deluge will do it.

But somewhere up in the mountain tops the deluge is forming, and presently a great black vapor overspreads the valley. It comes slowly at first, as if to warn the people to go indoors, but when it has acquired sufficient density it falls. In a moment almost the streets and courtyards are flooded, the fantastic waterspouts that overhang the sidewalks pour out their streams like gigantic kettle spouts, and loud is the noise of the splashing and splattering.

Half an hour later one tiptoes along the shiny pavements, as if over a newly scrubbed floor. Above him is a sky of spotless blue, while the only clouds to be seen are insignificant patches of white along the mountain sides. Yet in an incredibly short space of time the whole process may be repeated.—George M. L. Brown in St. Nicholas.

Why Timothy Grass Is So Called.

The forage grass known to the farmers of the United States as timothy is so called because first introduced and extensively cultivated in this country by one Timothy Hanson, a farmer of Maryland. This species of grass is well known in England and all over western continental Europe, where it is grown extensively by most farmers between the Mediterranean and the North seas. The botanical name of the grass is Phleum pratense. Timothy is known in the British Isles as cat's tail grass and in several of our eastern states as herd, or herd's, grass. It was grown in large quantities in Maryland and Pennsylvania long before a spear of it had ever been seen in England, the first seed of it ever seen in the last named country being imported from America.

The "If" Is Rather Important.

There's something that may save your life when a bull gets after you: When a bull charges, just before the final lurch he shuts his eyes, and if you have the presence of mind to stand stock still until he is about two or three feet from you all you have to do is to step aside, and he misses you. Any child with sufficient presence of mind to do this can let a bull charge all day with perfect safety. This is not a new thing, as it is one of the secrets of the bullfighter in the countries where the sport is practiced. The bullfighters say that a cow does not do this, and they would never try any such tricks with a mad cow.

Their Annoyances.

Neighbor—I called to say that you must keep your dog from barking. He won't let our baby sleep. Householder—I'm glad you called. I wanted to say that if you don't keep your baby from crying I shall have to enter a complaint. It annoys my dog awfully.

Works Like Magic.

Caller—Have you ever known any cures effected by what they call suggestion? Mrs. Hewjams—Oh, yes; I once cured Willie of a violent toothache by suggesting that he go to the dentist's and have the tooth extracted.

Naturally.

Knicker—There goes a man who would rather fight than eat. Bocker—Soldier? Knicker—No; dyspeptic.—Watson's Magazine.

CRUEL PUNISHMENTS.

The Old Time Use of Torture in Legal Processes.

The constitution of the United States and the constitutions of the various states in prohibiting cruel and unusual punishments were not fighting an absurdity. The use of torture in legal processes was not, when these instruments were framed, so remote as it is now.

When Sir Thomas Dole came as high marshal to Virginia he crushed a conspiracy by killing the ringleaders by torture. One had a bodkin thrust through his tongue and was chained to a tree until he died. Others were broken on the wheel. It is quaintly stated that Sir Thomas was "a man of good conscience and knowledge in divinity." Dole's date was 1611.

The next notable instance of the use of torture was in 1692, in the Salem witchcraft excitement, when Giles Cory was pressed to death—the "peine dure et forte," the most horrible of deaths.

Executions were in public throughout the east until comparatively recent times. When Quelch, the pirate, and six others were hanged in Boston, Sewall wrote in his diary, "When the scaffold was let to sink there was such a screech of the women that my wife heard it, sitting in our entry next to the orchard," though the gallows was a mile away and the wind unfavorable.

The use of torture to wring the truth from witnesses is said to have been recognized as legal in Austria until well within the century.

CURIOUS FISH.

They Keep Their Eggs in Natural Pockets in Their Mouths.

In the sea of Galilee, or Lake Tiberias, as it is also called, there is a strange fish named the Chromis simonis, which is more careful of its young than fish generally are. The male takes the eggs in his mouth and keeps them in his natural side pockets, where they are regularly hatched and remain until able to shift for themselves. By this ingenious arrangement the brood is comparatively guarded against its natural enemies. It is easily fed, too, but it is a puzzle how the little ones escape being eaten alive. Awhile ago, says a traveler writing to a religious contemporary, I found in my net a number of these fish without eyes.

Others of the species, when I lifted them up, dropped a number of little fishes out of their mouths, which swam away hastily. The natives explained the phenomenon. The blind chromis is the victim of sea hawks. When these birds have eaten their fill they begin to look out for tidbits. After catching a fish they hit its forehead with their sharp beak, knocking out the middle part, in which their eyes are set. The bony structure is dropped into the water, but the eyes are eaten by the birds with great relish. Strangely enough, the fish generally survive this rough treatment. The wound heals up quickly in water, and they continue to ply the lake for food as if nothing had happened.—London Standard.

FOND OF FINERY.

Elephants Delight in Dress and Gorgeous Trappings.

Elephants are passionately fond of finery and delight to see themselves decked out with gorgeous trappings. The native princes of India are very particular in choosing their state elephants and will give fabulous sums for an animal that exactly meets the somewhat fanciful standards they have erected.

For these they have made cloths of silk so heavily embroidered with gold that two men are hardly able to lift them.

An amusing instance of elephantine pride is narrated: The elephant which usually led the state procession of a rajah being ill, the magnificent trappings were placed on one which had up to that time occupied only a subordinate place.

The animal, delighted with its finery, showed its glee by so many little squeaks and kicks of pleasure that general attention was attracted to it.

Not long after another state procession was formed, and the previous wearer of the gold cloths, being restored to health, took his accustomed place and trappings, when the now degraded beast, imagining, perhaps, that he was being defrauded of his promotion, was with great difficulty restrained from attacking the leader of the parade.

Road Markers.

On some of the Yorkshire moors white posts are to be seen along the narrow tracks which serve as roads. They are called "stoops" and are something like boundary posts in appearance. A casual observer might imagine that they really did denote a county or parish boundary, but such is not the case. When snow covers the ground and the paths are invisible these posts point out where they lie and so save the wayfarer from being lost.—London Mail.

The Teacher's Joy.

Parent—How did you get along with your geography lesson today, Johnnie? Pupil—Beautifully. The teacher was so pleased that she made me stay after school and repeat it all over again, only just to her.

Her Choice.

She—So these are the china bargains you advertised? Dealer—Yes, ma'am, and they're going for little or nothing. She—All right, I'll take that blue dish for nothing.—London Answers.

The only kind of advice that is ever taken is the rich relation's and only when he is there to see you do it.—New York Press.

British Columbia Politics.

Toronto, June 21.—A Victoria special to a local paper says there is a very circumstantial rumor in circulation to the effect that the Governor has intimated to the Premier that he cannot continue to accept advice from one of the members of the Cabinet. Signs are multiplying, the dispatch adds, that a general election in British Columbia is not very far off.

EARLY FIRE IMPLEMENTS.

Appliances Used in This Country in the Seventeenth Century.

Undoubtedly the first fire company organized in this country was formed in New York in 1658. It was called the Prowlers and was composed of eight men, with 250 buckets, hooks and small ladders. Where the buckets were obtained and whether or not they were in addition to those owned by the town the records fail to state. In 1679 Salem purchased two or three dozen cedar buckets, besides hooks and other implements; also the selectmen and two others were authorized to take command of fires and to blow up and pull down buildings when such action was necessary. This practice appears to have been much more common before the use of engines than afterward. Boston on Sept. 9, 1679, ordered that every quarter of the town should be provided with twenty swobes, two scoopes and six axes. The swobes, or swabs, as they are now called, were long handled mops that could be used to put out roof fires. The general use of swabs has long since disappeared, but when a slight blaze is beyond the reach of a pail of water and more improved apparatus is not at hand a long handled mop is today the most efficient article to be used. In Japan these swabs may be seen on many roof tops.

In 1690 New York ordered that five ladders and also hooks be made. In Philadelphia no mention is made of public precaution against fire until 1736, when a law was passed forbidding the firing of chimneys or allowing the same to become foul. Each house was to have a swab, bucket or pail. Another act was passed in 1760 ordering every household to have two leather buckets. In the following year six or eight hooks for the purpose of tearing down houses were ordered to be made.

BINDING THE FEET.

This Queer Chinese Custom Is a Comparatively Modern One.

China's custom of binding the feet of its women is not as ancient as has been supposed. A correspondent of one of the native Chinese papers quotes from the letters of Yuan Mei, who lived in the eighteenth century. In one of his letters Yuan Mei wrote to a friend: "You ask me to get you a handsome wife and ardently desire, as your first requisite, that she shall have small feet. Surely you cannot be one who admires true beauty. An admirer of true beauty has his own individual tastes, disdaining to follow the dictates of others. Our ancient literature, in both prose and poetry, has many allusions in praise of beautiful women, but in no instance touches upon small feet.

"A work treating of the customs of the Sung dynasty by Shen Yo says a man's well made shoes are said to be supple, and a woman's round, at the toe. In the Tang dynasty, the first allusion to the feet of Yang Kwei Fei, the court beauty, was about her silk stockings. In one of Han Tung Lang's poems, referring to a woman's feet, he says, 'Her six inch feet so bright and sleek.' These allusions clearly point to unbound feet."

Yuan Mei's letter concludes by saying that the taste of those who ignore the beauty of face and form is depraved. He laments that sensible men should be so led away by a foolish fashion.

Origin of the Orange.

It is to India and to the Arabs as middlemen that Europe, and through Europe America, owe the orange. The orange crossed from Africa to Spain with Mohammedanism, while probably the crusaders are to be thanked for bringing it to Italy and western Europe among their trophies of the east. The very name is really Arabic—"naranj"—and of eastern origin, though the legend that it comes from two words meaning "elephant" and "be ill," because elephants ate oranges to make themselves ill, is absurd. Probably in French the initial "n" is dropped off from naranj, with the final "o" of the indefinite article, just as our "an apron" represents "a napron," and the spelling with an "o" points to false association with "or" (gold).—Economists, Havana.

A Good Reason.

Two Irishmen were digging a sewer. One of them was a big, strong man about six feet four inches in height, and the other one was a little, puny man about four feet six inches. The foreman came along to see how the work was progressing and noticed that one of them was doing more work than the other. "Look here," he cried, "how is it that little Dennis Dugan, who is only half your size, is doing nearly twice as much work as you, Patrick?" Glancing down to his partner, Pat replied: "And why shouldn't he? Ain't he nearer to it?"

Fixtures.

One day four-year-old Fred climbed upon a chair to reach something he wanted.

"You must not get on that chair with your feet, dear," said his mother.

Fred looked down at his feet, evidently puzzled. "Why, mamma," he said, "I can't take 'em off!"

How Not To.

"Please read our paper," annotated the editor in returning the manuscript.

"I do," wrote back the contributor, "and my stuff is designed to show that I know what is the matter with your old paper."

The trouble with people who lay something by for a rainy day is that they seem to take such delight in seeing other people out in the wet.—New York Times.

Villainous Attempt at Murder.

Glen's Falls, N.Y., June 21.—The local police are searching the countryside for the perpetrators of a dastardly outrage. Benjamin Scott, a ten-year-old lad, was found by a track-walker tied down to the tracks of the Delaware and Hudson Railway. He could not tell how long he had been there, but told of two young men having seized him when nearing his home at Fort Edward. He was released just a few minutes before a train came along.

Canada Flooded with U.S. Literature

London, June 22.—In an important speech to the Victoria League yesterday afternoon, Right Hon. S. Buxton, postmaster-general, announced that he was in communication with the Canadian Government in regard to the reduction of postage on newspapers and magazines. He was sure his proposals would be met in a friendly spirit, and he hoped in a favorable spirit. He had given considerable attention to the question and realized that Canada was being flooded with United States literature and advertisements. This was serious to Imperial unity and trade. He was glad Canadians were sufficiently robust to withstand such appeals, but would like to see them end. He intimated that the position was a specific as between England and Canada, owing to the country situation of the latter. Any arrangement, therefore, would not necessarily affect other parts of the Empire. He praised the success of Imperial penny postage, and predicted great advantages for the new arrangement by which an ounce would go for a penny instead of half an ounce. He desired to eliminate party politics from the colonial policy.

Chooses Canadian Route.

Ottawa, June 22.—Consul-General Nosse has been informed that Baron Komura, the great Japanese statesman, who negotiated the peace treaty, will sail from Yokohama for England by the Canadian Pacific Railway steamship, Empress of Japan, on July 4th. His choice of the Canadian route is regarded as an appreciation of the compliment paid him when he was invited to visit Canada at the conclusion of the peace negotiations. He goes to England as ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Conditions Are Bad.

Brandon, June 22.—Travellers report a terrible state of affairs in the Grand Trunk Pacific construction camps in Minota district. Smallpox and black diphtheria have appeared among the men, and one man suffering from smallpox has been sent into Winnipeg for treatment. A man from the same camp was sent away on the train because he had black diphtheria, but a few miles from the camp he succumbed after suffering great agony. Health authorities are investigating.

Water Power Privileges

NOTICE is hereby given that the rights of the government on the water-powers hereunder mentioned will be put up at auction to be held in the sales room of the Department of Lands and Forests, in the city of Quebec, on the twenty-first day of June next, at 10.30 o'clock in the forenoon.

Do You Seek Health?

Consult Dr. Hamilton And You Will Be Shown the Way.

Thousands are in the same boat — all sickly, bilious and feeling far from well.

Trouble is, the system is clogged with impurities which need to be cleared away.

Before downright sickness arrives you should cleanse and purify the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

At once you'll feel their mighty influence building up weak spots, clearing out disease, and putting you again on your feet.

These purely vegetable pills change your tired, worn-out condition to one of health and vigor, because they supply the body with nourishing blood that builds up and enlivens the entire system.

Mr. John Whitley, of Stanwood, P. O., Ont., knows the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and says: "I wouldn't be alive today had it not been for Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Last winter I was sick with grippe, and when spring came I was weak, bilious and rheumatic. I used much medicine to cure twenty times, but I didn't get any help till I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They purified my blood, took the yellow color out of my face, put new fire in my stomach, and increased my appetite. The bilious attacks and rheumatic pains gradually departed, and Dr. Hamilton's Pills made a new man of me. I proved their merit, and proclaim them a medicine for all men."

If better health and prompt recovery are important, get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut to-day. At all dealers, 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

That Half Holiday Nearly Assured.

The local grocers are busy about signing the petition now being circulated asking for a weekly half holiday on Thursday. Most of the merchants in other branches of the trade have signed the document, and it is probable that the holiday will be assured.

The disgusting discharges from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath, are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Such soothing antiseptic agents as Eucalyptus, Thymol, Wild Indigo, etc., have been incorporated into a snow white cream making a catarrhal balm unexcelled. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Another Dentist Here.

Another member has been added to the ranks of the local dentists. The latest addition to the profession here is Dr. Gowan, formerly of Creemore, who has purchased the old W.C.A. building on Brock St. and is having it remodelled and refitted. He will shortly open an office there.

Rare Chance for Investment

Gold is the Surest Product to Invest Your Money in.

Mr. Henry J. Mitchell, the well known fiscal agent of Cincinnati, O., whose financial standing has a national reputation, and whose advice in investments is eagerly sought by even the largest American capitalists, has now a proposition he personally recommends as a sure winner.

The Little Salmon Gold Mining Co., incorporated under the laws of Arizona, per Mr. Mitchell, is offering, for a limited time only 500,000 shares of treasury stock, non-assessable, at par value, viz., $1 per share.

This company owns a mine of exceptional richness, located in Eastern Oregon, in the Green Horn mining district of the Blue Mountains in Grant County. A splendid wagon road leads from their property to Tipton station on the Sumpter Valley Railroad, a distance of only eight miles.

Their mine is not merely a prospect with good chances ahead, but a proven gold mine with large ore bodies. They have water, timber, good transportation facilities, in fact every essential that conduces to success in a gold mine.

The company has the gold beyond dispute, but requires money for machinery, etc., to get it out.

Here is a rare opportunity to place your money in an investment that will very soon return from five to ten dollars for every one placed.

For full particulars address Henry J. Mitchell, St. Paul Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A.

Things Are Well At Cobourg Camp

All those present at the Cobourg military camp join in praising the camping ground, which with the exception of one corner that lies a little low, is in splendid condition. Interest in the camp has reached a high pitch. General Lake, again the inspection at 8.30 yesterday morning.

Cobourg citizens praise the orderliness of the volunteers when about town. The second uniform for the rank and file as favorably commented upon. Officers say that there is little sickness as yet. 48 infantry and 16 mounted men are detailed for police duty in the town each day. Signaling is carried on under the instruction of Capt. D. E. Murdell, Lieut.-Col. F. Clyde commands the 2nd Cavalry Brigade and Lieut.-Col. N. F. Macnachtan the 10th Artillery Brigade. The commanding officer of the 6th Infantry Brigade is Lieut.-Col. J. Hughes and of the 7th Infantry Brigade, Lieut.-Col. H. A. Yarde. Col. Leasard is the cavalry inspector.

The strength of the camp at present is 2,9000 men and 719 horses. Major-Gen. Lake will remain at the camp today and Sunday. Hon. Dr. Willoughby is present acting as chief medical officer, until the arrival of Lieut.-Col. H. H. Duff.

Warsaw Stage Driver Gone.

Donald McIntosh, the veteran teamster and freight carrier between Peterborough and Warsaw, passed away suddenly on Thursday night, at Warsaw. About half-past five o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. McIntosh endeavored unsuccessfully to awaken her husband noticing his unnatural stillness. She touched his forehead, and to her dire dismay found her husband was cold in death. Mr. McIntosh has been a faithful carrier over the Warsaw road for 18 or 20 years.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Former Local Lady Married

Miss M. H. Mann Once of Bridgenorth Becomes a Bride.

Referring to the marriage of Miss Mann, the only daughter of the late Mrs. H. Mann, formerly of Bridgenorth, the Hamilton Herald says:

The home of Charles H. and Mrs. Mann 132 Young street, was the scene of a happy event this afternoon, being the occasion of a double wedding, when Miss Mary J. Nosworthy, of Toronto, only daughter of R. and Mrs. Nosworthy, of Toronto, was united in marriage to J. Roberts, of the same city. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie H. Mann, while the groom was supported by J. LeDrew.

Immediately after this event the marriage ceremony of Miss Maggie H. Mann, sister of Charles H. Mann, and J. LeDrew, both of this city, was solemnized. The bride was attended by Miss Irene Harris, of Hamilton, while Courtland S. Lambert supported the groom. Rev. S. W. Fallis, of Gore street Methodist church, officiated at both ceremonies.

After the ceremonies the parties and their friends sat down to a dainty repast, the balance of the afternoon being spent in music and congratulatory remarks.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will leave on the evening boat for Toronto, where they will reside, while Mr. and Mrs. LeDrew will leave on the G.T.R. train at 7.05 for points west. On their return they will reside in this city.

Fall Fair Should Be Held

Correspondent Suggests Mr. Elliott Taking Part in Control.

(To the Editor of The Times).

Dear Sir,—I must congratulate you upon the great effort your paper is making to try and get the fall fair held here this year.

It is, I fully understand a touchy subject to introduce, as any suggestions made, after the present management have decided not to hold a fair this year, might seem to reflect upon their decision as proof of inability to make the fall fair a success.

Now sir, Mr. Hughes-Charles, who devoted so much time and trouble towards the fair last year, is admittedly one of the best financiers in the city, and one of the most energetically intelligent officials that could be appointed. Still when one reflects that the result of last years outcome of the fair's attendance does not authorize the Board to go ahead this fall, it is but natural to recall to mind a past success of this event. Mr. Elliott, as is well known, made a success of the fair during his administration. (Why not get Mr. Elliott to act as coadjutor to the present fair board and induce him to take hold of the affair. Many people are much disappointed over the decision recently made by the board, and emphatically declare that the fair should not only be held, but that it could be made a success.

It is not for me or any one else to criticise any particular act of those who managed last year's fair, still I believe, and I am not alone in thinking so, that with one fresh blood infused into the fair board, this city could and would be proud of the coming slur cast upon it by the public thinking Peterborough could not run a fall fair.

Yours truly,
LOCAL PATRIOTISM.

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.

JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.

JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M.P.P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co. Limited, Orillia, Ontario.

DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M.K., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.

JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Solicitor, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Coroner Accuses Mother of Murder

Investigation Into Mysterious Murder of New York Woman Assumes a Sensational Phase.

New York, June 24—Mrs. Louise Tomp, immediately after the arrest of Stenton, the aged mother of Mrs. Alice B. Kinan, who was found dead at her mother's home in the Bronx on June 8, was the principal witness yesterday before Coroner McDonald who is conducting the investigation into Mrs. Kinan's death. "Alice and I were sitting in the kitchen reading when the bell rang," said Mrs. Stenton.

"Alice got up and went to the door, while I remained reading for some time. When she did not return immediately, I wondered what was the matter with her. I did not hear any screams. Finally I lighted a lamp and went out on the verandah. I saw Alice lying on the end of the verandah, near the flower pot stand. I bent over her to see what was the matter, and saw blood on her head and the boards. Then I went to get something to bind up her wounds. When I came out again the door closed behind me."

This story is contrary to the evidence of Mrs. Gibb, who testified on the first day of the enquiry that she saw Mrs. Stenton at the door with Mrs. Kinan's screams.

The most dramatic scene since the investigation began came after the old woman had been under a scathing cross-examination for two hours. Holding up the blood-stained hammer which the investigating officers believe was used by Mrs. Kinan's assailant Coroner McDonald asked:

"Isn't this the hammer with which you killed Alice?"

"How dare you suggest that I killed my daughter," cried the witness, her eyes flashing and her body shaking with anger. "I know nothing about the hammer and I don't know how it came to be hidden in my room. I never saw it before."

Mrs. Stenton also denied that she ever had seen the two daggers which were found concealed in a secret room in her home.

She had been through an unusually hard examination in the two hours of questioning which preceded the introduction of the hammer and the battered portion of her daughter's skull.

She answered every question without hesitation, but threw very little new light upon the case.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

At Saturday's session of the police court, several cases were put through in one, two, three time. Walter Jarvis was charged with and pleaded guilty to having taken aboard a larger cargo of tangleleg than the capacity his hold or stain could successfully accommodate. Walter was fined $2

Mary Thompson, who hails from Rochester, N.Y., and who is old enough to have known better, got a 7x9 jag aboard on Friday evening, and made an exhibition of herself on Aylmer street, was allowed to go with a warning.

Andy Fawcett, who shared up on the same jag was also let go, and warned not to do it again.

Louis Anthony was charged with not having taken out a dog tag. This lapse of memory cost Louis a $2 fine with $3.80 costs, as well as a warning to get his tag forthwith or meet a similar visit to the court.

Matthew Edwards, aged 19, of Otonabee, was arrested Saturday afternoon by P. C. McGinty, whilst loitering under a heavy load of wet goods, was allowed to go yesterday morning on his own recognizance to appear for trial.

Local Yacht Loses Its Propeller.

On Saturday evening at eight o'clock Mr. Ernest Choy of the T. N. O. offices, started out with a number of invited guests aboard his motor launch yacht, when the boat got as far as the corner pier in the Little Lake, the propellor did the McGinty act, sinking to the bottom of the lake. A local canoeist came to their aid, and taking a rope aboard from the yacht, and towed her into port. As several local lawyers were aboard it is difficult to locate the Jonah. What the bill for salvage will amount to is not yet known.

Invest in Home Industry

Good Opportunity to Place Capital in an Assured Success.

So many channels are there these times open for investment of capital, it is somewhat puzzling to those seeking location for their money to know where to look for the best returns compatible with safety. One axiom to be considered is that the surest way to make money is by investing it in a business when there is no opposition connoted with an almost unlimited demand for its output.

The Dominion Brazing Co., Ltd., incorporated under a Dominion charter, with a capitalization of $100,000 divided into 1,000 shares of a par value of $100.

The company is not a proposition that may or may not succeed or a wild cat scheme holding out golden possibilities. The company is now in operation in Canada selling brazing equipments and brazing compounds, as well as actually brazing broken and cracked castings of all kinds. Consider for a moment what it means to railways, factories, mills and other industries who can by use of the recourses of the Dominion Brazing Co., mend instead of replacing their broken castings. The field of usefulness of such a company is limited only by the company's output and ability to meet orders.

The company is now doing brazing in their Montreal shops but will open agencies in all the principal towns in Canada for use of their brazing process under license. Such licensed agencies will of course have to purchase their supplies from the company granting them their licenses.

Here is a rare opportunity to purchase stock in a concern that is absolutely certain to pay large dividends.

For full particulars, address the secretary, Dominion Brazing Co., Ltd., 503—505 Merchants' Bank Building, Montreal, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens' China Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Stevens, 631 George street, celebrated their china wedding, or the twentieth anniversary of their marriage. A number of guests were in attendance and hearty congratulations were extended the celebrants. Numerous interesting mementos of the interesting occasion were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, who were married in the Wesleyan Methodist church, Bowmanville, on June 23rd, 1886, by the Rev. C. E. McIntyre, now of Brandon. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have resided in Peterborough for four years.

Among the out-of-towns guests at yesterday's celebration are Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Jones of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. James Wood of Sutton, and the following from Bowmanville, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stevens (parents of Mr. Stevens), Mr. and Mrs. John D. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Mundy, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mason, and others.

Made a Mockery of Womanhood

London, June 23.—Miss Billington, Miss Kenney and three other leaders of the militant woman suffragists were arrested in Cavendish sq. yesterday for creating a disturbance in front of the house of Chancellor of the Exchequer Asquith, who is the particular bugbear, in the present Ministry, of the women suffragists.

A score of women, banners flying, assembled in Cavendish Square yesterday morning, and, announcing their determination to be heard by Mr. Asquith, defied the police until their leaders were arrested and dragged off to the police station.

Miss Billington was fined $50 or two months' imprisonment, whereupon she expressed the intention of becoming a martyr and of going to jail. The hearing of the other cases were adjourned.

The Countess of Carlisle, herself an ardent suffragist, referring to the affair at a meeting of the Women's Liberal Federation, said she had been shocked as she passed through Cavendish square to see "so-called women suffragists fighting police and making an impertinent mockery of womanhood." She repudiated any connection with these "poor misguided women."

Robt. Nicholls Was a Quiet Boy

Toronto Star Refers to Baptist Missionary Who Was Stabbed.

Our readers will remember that The Times of a few days ago, contained a detailed report of the alleged stabbing of Robt. A. Nicholls at Bailieboro.

The Toronto Star referring to the matter says,

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nicholls, the parents of Robert Nicholls, who says he was stabbed at Bailieboro, where he has had charge of the Baptist Mission since last December, live at 31 Fermanagh avenue, Toronto. While a cutter for the Julian Sale Leather Goods Co., Limited, young Nicholls took an active part in the Sunday school and general work of the Olivet Baptist church, near the corner of Margueretta and College streets. He was offered the Bailieboro pastorate, and accepted, intending to return to Toronto in two years to complete his course for the ministry. In June last he married Miss Agnes Arkutell, who was also a member of the Olivet church. Mrs. Nicholls with her babe arrived home recently on a visit, but returned to Bailieboro last Tuesday, when a telephone message reached her that her husband had been injured. There were no particulars, however.

"We are expecting a letter telling us everything," said Mr. Nicholls' mother this morning, "but, so far, know no more than the papers have told us. My son is a good, quiet, truthful boy, and knowing him as I do, I am convinced that he would not divulge his assailant's identity even if he knew it. I have been informed that there has been a good deal of opposition to the Baptist mission at Bailieboro, and that my son's predecessors suffered annoyance during their terms."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nicholls have had fifteen children, of whom fourteen are living. Robert, who is 24 years old, is the oldest. The youngest is an infant of three months. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls were married in England twenty-five years ago. They came to Toronto nineteen years ago, and have resided here ever since. They are members of St. Jude's Anglican church, and Robert was confirmed when a boy. The father is a painter and paperhanger.

Belle-Chasse Guests Return

On Saturday a number of local gentlemen who had for some days been guests of Mr. H. LeBrun at the fine summer residence, Belleehasse, returned after a most enjoyable outing.

The party included Messrs. H. LeBrun, H. C. Winch, A. F. McDonald, G. W. Hatton, T. E. Matthews, R. J. Kingan, E. G. Patterson and V. Eastwood. They had good luck, capturing ten maskinonge, and several fine bass. The largest lunge weighed thirteen pounds.

Had it not been for the prevailing east wind these experts of the rod would have got more fish. Still fishing is not the only object of a fisherman's fishing trip.

The examination for entrance to the Collegiate will be given on Wednesday and the High School Departmental Examinations on Saturday.

Peterborough Will Have Regatta

The following committee has taken charge of the arrangements for the regatta, which it is proposed to hold at Crawford's Grove in July.

Messrs. E. S. Clarry, chairman; W. S. Davidson, H. M. Roy, R. M. Glover, H. McBain, H. Rye and Ald. Elliott.

It is expected that some of the best paddlers in the country will be present.

Thursday Half Holiday Sure

As noted in former issues of The Times an agitation has been in evidence for some time regarding a proposal to close all stores during July and August, on Thursday afternoons.

Those who have already agreed to this request are as follows.

Rich. Hall & Son, The Kingan Hardware Co., Thos. Barrie, G. B. Hutchinson, E. M. Best, J. T. Stenson, The Peterborough Hardware Company, F. A. Clarke, R. McWhinnie, W. R. G. Higgins, J. Kylie, W. Darnley, Mrs. Darnley, Ed. Huff, Robt. Fair & Co., P. Simons & Co., Lang & Maher, Wm. Lech & Sons, B. A. Costello, T. H. Adams, A. W. Crossmann, Allen & Felion, Alex. Gibson, F. S. Schneider, W. A. Sanderson & Co., Grafton & Co., Morrell & Mebedith, S. J. Sheridan, S. C. Warne, C. E. Frost, J. C. Turnbull, R. Wescott, E. B. Clegg & Co., W. H. Stock, F. C. Cubitt, A. H. Stratton & Co., Chinal Hall Co., Peterborough Music Co., B. Y. Moyes, M. J. Hickey & Co., J. D. Craig, C. N. Brown, Robt. Neil, The "Ten Cent Store," J. M. Greene Music Co., A. Comstock, B. Engel, E. Senger, B. Laster, W. M. Welch, D. Bellegheim, G. McFadden, Lane & Kane, J. M. Gemmell, F. C. Elliott.

It might be noted that several of our leading merchants were either out of town or not present in their stores when those having the petition in charge called. Those whose name are given above will, is others not yet seen, close the first Thursday in July and succeeding Thursdays during the two months specified.

Funeral of Late Mrs. J. Doherty

Today (Monday) the funeral of Mrs. James Doherty, who passed away at the house of her son-in-law Mr. Jas Garrow, 468 Park street, on Friday, will be held, the proceedings being private.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Sarah McMullen, is survived by four daughters and two sons, as follows:—Mrs. Jas. Garrow, Peterborough, Mrs. John Turnbull, Peterborough, Mrs. John Morrow and Mrs. Richard Hornby, Hamilton; William Doherty of Buffalo, and Jas. Doherty of Hamilton.

Hound Chases a Pet Deer

A few days ago a Springville farmer by name Graham, who owns a pet deer had an experience he will remember for some time.

It seems that Mr. Graham had his pet deer in a field containing about three quarters of an acre of land, the field being surrounded by a close board fence some seven feet high.

A local telephone foreman of a construction gang had with him, at the spot, a veteran hound, that has run many a deer to death; he dog belongs to a local hotelman.

The dog scenting one of his old quarry, got into a great state of excitement and ran round and round the enclosure seeking a chance to run the deer.

Mr. Graham, at last said, "Say boys lets give the dog a run inside the field," thinking the deer would easily keep ahead of the dog. The gate was entered by all present, including the hound. In about two seconds the hound was hot-foot after the deer chasing it round and round and gradually nearing the animal preparatory to the final and fatal spring.

The farmer's face became white with fear for his pet. It took the seven or eight men present all they could do to get the dog off. Mr. Graham vowed that never again would he let a hound in the field with his deer.

Instruction Car Now in the City

An interesting car is in the city, sent here by the G.T.R. authorities, an air brake instruction car, fitted with various appliances, for demonstrating the use of the air-brake, and is in charge of Mr. Wright. It is used by the company for instructing its men in the use of the airbrake. The car travels from town to town, making a few days' stop at each place. It is interesting to note that it takes the car nearly four years to make the circuit of the whole Grand Trunk system.

Opposition Policy Re Education Bill

Devonshire Says it Can Be Rejected by House of Lords, and, if so, a General Election Must Be Precipitated.

London, June 24—The Duke of Devonshire, presiding at the annual meeting of the Unionist Free Trade Club, at the Westminster Palace Hotel, admitted that the club had failed in its object—to prevent the adoption of a tariff reform policy by the Unionist party. Still, he said the club had assisted in the rejection of the policy by the country.

His speech was cast in a mould of pessimism. Here are some of his lachrymose points.

"The Unionist party is threatened with serious danger in adopting the tariff reform policy.

"I look forward as anxiously as any one to the swing of the political pendulum on which Mr. Chamberlain relies to give effect to his policy, but I do not think it will begin to manifest itself as soon as some people expect."

When the duke had lamented over other people's fiscal sins, he turned to the education bill, on which he said;

"Mr. Chamberlain has predicted a general election next year, after the education bill has been rejected. By whom is it to be rejected?"

"The opposition in the house of commons is so poor that it is not capable of rejecting it in that house. If the bill is to be rejected it can only be by the action of the house of lords.

"I profoundly dislike many of the provisions of the education bill. At the same time, I think the opposition in the commons did better confine themselves to their own house, and allow the house of lords to mind its own business.

"I think too, the house of lords will be well advised in keeping its own counsel, and in not announcing prematurely its intention to reject or wreck the bill.

"I am not by any means certain whether the bill is so unpopular in the country as some of the leaders of the opposition imagine.

"If the house of lords rejects or wrecks this bill it will place itself in direct conflict with the house of commons, and a general election must follow."

Lord James of Hereford, in responding to the toast of the house of lords, at the Unionist Free Trade dinner at Prince's, referred to the education bill, and pleaded for the consideration for his peers in his time of responsibility and anxiety."

Lord Balfour of Burleigh said the house of lords had no desire to thwart the settled convictions of the country, but it had to distinguish between this and the passing whim of the constituencies.

Toronto Moulders in the City

700 Toronto Excursionists Spend a Pleasant Day in Peterborough.

On Saturday morning, headed by the 57th Regt. Band, with a smart leader flourishing a baton in good style, two long lines of badge decorated, and fine looking men, marched up George street.

The visitors arrived on a special train over the C.P.R., reaching here at 9.40 o'clock. They were met at the station by the members of the local Moulders' Union, No. 191. The excursionists were given a hearty welcome. A procession was formed at the station and with the band at the head, proceeded to Inverlea Park by way of George and Smith streets. The streets were lined with people, who displayed great interest in the march.

During the afternoon a program of sports was carried out in Central Park. One of the features was a baseball match between teams from the Toronto and Peterborough moulders. The Toronto committee in charge of the excursion consisted of Messrs. Chas. H. Wentworth, chairman; W. H. Skinnerton, secretary, and R. Emmett, treasurer.

Among the excursionists were many Peterborough Old Boys, who took advantage of the outing to visit their old town. The visitors expressed themselves as greatly pleased with Peterborough, and were a jolly and happy crowd, one of the best that ever visited the city.

The local reception committee consisted of Messrs. R. A. Stockdale, president of the local union; Hugh Robertson, corresponding secretary, and S. Houlihan, vice-president.

Mr. George Graham, mine host of the Oriental, once a member of the Iron Moulders' Union, marched in the procession.

Inquest Held in County Jail

Timothy Fobert's Death Due to Old Age and Natural Causes.

About five o'clock Saturday afternoon Dr Gray, the local coroner, summoned a jury to enquire into the death of Timothy Fobert, a poor old vagrant, who died in the county jail at about one o'clock that day.

P. C Adams quickly hustled around and secured men to constitute the jury, who at a few minutes after five, gathered in the jail in the upper south cell room. Mr. John Greer was chosen as foreman. After the jury had been sworn in, all present adjourned to the north cell rooms, and inspected the remains.

Mr. Henderson Nesbitt, later, gave evidence as to deceased having had proper medical attention and nourishment. He said the deceased had served several terms in the jail, the last time having been sent there on May 14th. Fobert had been ill for months. Mr. Ray the turnkey, gave practically the same evidence. Dr. Caldwell testified to the deceased having had proper treatment, saying he had died from senility. Thos. McDonald, and Thos. Oakley, prisoners at the jail, testified to having nursed the prisoner.

The jury were unanimous in deciding that Fobert died from old age.

St. Catharines, June 24.—Mrs. McKenzie, a woman of 55 years of age, who came here from Gananoque, where she resided, a week ago to attend the marriage of her niece, Miss Northrup, on Thursday last, on the same day took a dose of tartar emetic, mistaking it for shelled salts. She died yesterday morning. A doctor was only called in on Friday, as the family did not know Mrs. McKenzie had taken the wrong medicine. Tartar emetic resembles salts in appearance. It is used for destroying ants.

Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Company, Limited

Showing position of Paterson and Cart Lakes, being surrounded by shipping mines.

It is surrounded on all sides by large shipping mines which are producing fabulous wealth every day, such mines as Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley and Daragh on the west side; the Nipissing Mining Company, the Timmins and Tretheway mines to the north; the Savage, the Foster, the Lawson, the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, Silver Leaf, Glendenning and the Drummond on the south; the McLeod and Glendenning and Violet Mines on the east. This property also projects into the much-talked-of Gillies timber limit.

It is believed by the directors of the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, that the properties owned by this company are very valuable and are among the very richest in the district. They are advised that all the rich veins now being worked, and which are giving such great financial results, radiate from the centre of Peterson and Cart Lake.

The Peterson property carries a number of veins of the surrounding properties, such as the Nova Scotia, running in silver from 1,100 to 7,000 ounces per ton.

Now is the time to become interested in Cobalt before the stocks pay large dividends and have a large advance. It is becoming richer every day and streading over a large area.

Your 'Fagged' Feeling is Spring Sickness

This Unhealthy Weather Will Intensify Your Exhaustion Unless You Have Good Medicine.

Time won't help; matters grow worse instead of better if your system isn't rid of its poisonous burden.

Your blood is not only thin, but is contaminated with a whole winter's accumulation of wastes.

A stimulating blood tonic is required.

What's it going to be?

No bitters or alcoholic dope, but concentrated cure in the form of "Ferrozone" which is known as the best of all spring rejuvenators.

It creates keen appetite.

Produces prodigious digestion.

Converts food into nourishment.

Gives richness and vitality to the blood.

Makes strong nerves and hardy muscles.

Ferrozone possesses power that can't be doubted. It will do for you what it did for Walter Wood, of Beaufort, Car Co., N. B., who writes: "I can say that Ferrozone has given me a new lease of life. A year ago I suffered much from nervous weakness. I was really scarcely able to drag myself around. My appetite was gone, I had no color or ambition and felt generally used up. The first box of Ferrozone started me back to health. I took a number of boxes, but it was worth while as my health was completely restored."

Get back to health with Ferrozone. Your druggist sells it, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

PLAY TIME

The playtime of the year is at hand. The signs are everywhere. Our beautiful resorts are putting on new smiles, brass bands and orchestras are brushing up their books of tunes, the advertisements in the newspapers are full of talk of it, and, after that, if you don't believe it, you have only to prick up your ears when "the school boy with his shining morning face," goes whistling by.

Yes, it's here—the time of year when the leash of care drops awhile from the cruel hand of toil. The tired man is figuring on a spell of rest. It may! be only a week or two, or a month at best, but it's a rest, just the same, and glad will he be to take it. He will go away, off somewhere, says he, where he can get the eternal din of the town out of his ears, the kinks out of his heart, and the iron out of his soul. Like God's blessing comes to the tired man the play time of the year.

It's good for the boy and the girl, too, is play time, and, as Stevenson said, "happy for the child." But it's all play time for them, after all, summer or winter, it does not matter which. They are not bent to the wheel, the yoke is not yet upon their young necks. Give them toys and a hill of sand and they are happy whether it be June or December. But it's different with the man, and especially with the kind of man the age in which we live has made. He abases himself with ambition. He slaves like the prisoner in the galleys. He works like a dog. A little rest is good for him—a little, since he has not the sense to take more.

It will be fine for the tired man of the marts to get away from the grind. The country air will feel sweet in his nostrils again. He'll hear the song of birds. He'll lie asleep of a morning, read a book, loll around and imagine the inexpressible luxury of being lazy. The whistles will be blowing in the far-away town, but he will not hear them. Crazy men will be juggling with coins in the city streets, but he will not see them. But he'll stretch his legs on a brown hillside, looking up at the blue of God's skies waiting for night and the wonder of the stars.

He will grow sane again, and human—that tired man—when he gets away off there, in that place that he has been thinking of for many a day whenever he found a chance to think of anything but the rush, the roar, the useless grief and the silly greed of this mad, work-a-day life that all too many of us lead. Nature, his mother, will fold him to her breast again, and he will nestle close to her kindly bosom as he did of old, before time and toil put their shackles on him. He'll be free. He will sleep and have pleasant dreams.

Heigh-ho for the play time o' the year!

Goodwin Makes Strong Charge

Says Dishonest Attempt Was Made to Stifle Evidence.

Ottawa, June 23.—Mr. Hyman yesterday morning tabled some additional correspondence in the House of Commons bearing on the collapse of the Laurier tower. The principal portion of this is a long statement by Mr. George Goodwin, the contractor, extending to nearly twenty typewritten pages.

Mr. Goodwin attacks the composition of the commission, declaring that both Mr. Curry and Mr. Hutcheson have close and intimate relations with the Department of Public Works. Mr. Curry as the Government architect in Toronto and a subordinate of Mr. Ewart, the chief architect, and Mr. Hutcheson as an intimate personal friend of Mr. Ewart, who used every endeavor to have him appointed as commissioner.

"My information," said Mr. Goodwin, "is that in addition to giving employment to Mr. Hutcheson's relatives Mr. Ewart has been in the habit of putting in his way from time to time such professional work as the department has had to do in Montreal."

When the commission began Mr. Goodwin says, a dishonest attempt was made to get rid of certain evidence that would tell against Mr. Ewart.

This attempt, Mr. Goodwin says, was to file copies instead of the original plans and specifications; the originals would have shown that the plans did not call for "thorough bonding." The attempt, however, proved unsuccessful.

Further allegations are made that Mr. Curry tried to indicate the answers desired from a witness, Langdon, who is under Mr. Curry in the work of the Toronto armories.

Mr. Goodwin makes many other allegations of a similar nature, his statement being a long indictment of the fairness of the Commissioners and an attack of Mr. Ewart.

ITALIANS RAISED RIOT

Parry Sound, June 23.—About 150 Italians employed 30 miles north of here by Ross, Harris & Co., C.P.R. contractors, went on strike on Monday, claiming that they got less pay than other nationalities. They took possession of the camps and many of them having firearms, the other workmen did not venture to go to work. A small party of constables headed by Town Constable Julian, went from here the following day. They went right among the Italians and managed to secure all the firearms, the revolver of one of the ringleaders being found loaded in the leg of his boot. The Italians then promises no return to work and quiet was restored.

Killed with an Umbrella.

Port Arthur, June 23.—A drunken row occurred between William Slater and Lester Young in their room on the steamer Monarch while en route here from the Soo, where both had taken passage. Slater struck Lester on the forehead with some weapon, said to have been an umbrella, inflicting a severe gash, and the injured man died shortly afterwards. Slater has been handed over to the police.

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock $150,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.

JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.

JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co. Limited., Orillia, Ontario.

DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.

JOSEPH COLCLOUGH, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS Clark McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drumond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of hem has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

"Now," said Jarrat menacingly, "will you show where you hid that paper?" She was dumb.

Once, twice, the heavy thong descended. At the first stroke she cowed and cried out with pain. At the second a line of red started through the coarse oznabrig.

Jarrat leaned and looked into her face. "I not tell you!" she wavered.

"I'll have the king's law on you for this," the colonel hurled between his teeth.

Armand had remained quiet, but as the stroke fell twice again he trembled. The woman's lips were tight together. "No, no, no!" she said between them. "I not tell you! I not tell you never!"

"Curse her!" Jarrat gnashed furiously. "Lay on, there, you! I say I'll have it out of her!"

The wielder of the rawhide paused to tuck up his sleeve. The men who held her relaxed their hold for an instant, and she sank down on the floor with closed eyes.

"They will kill her!" sobbed Anne, clutching her uncle's arm. "They will kill her!"

"Stand her up again!" commanded Jarrat.

Armand had grown very white. At Anne's sob he strained forward in the grasp of the soldiers and cried: "Tell him! I command you to tell him!"

The woman opened her eyes, looked at him searchingly and uncertainly, then smiled and tried to shake her head. "I—not—tell."

They dragged her roughly up again, but her legs would not support her. She seemed not to hear Jarrat's shouted question in her ear. He looked at her swaying figure a moment, then in a smother of rage raised his pistol butt and brought it down heavily on her temple. She fell like a log, and he turned on his heel, cursing.

"Let the drab go," he said sullenly, "and bring along the other."

They mounted, a trooper hitching bridles with Armand's horse, and as Jarrat gave the word they moved off in twos down the dark drive. The light from the open door fell on the trampled shrubbery, the glossy spattered skins of the horses and on Armand's backward turned face.

"Farewell, mademoiselle."

Anne slipped from the colonel's arms and sped after them. "Louis!" she called clearly. "Remember! I believe! I trust and I love you!"

"God keep you always!" he responded, and as they swept into the black she saw Jarrat ride close and strike him across the mouth with his gloved hand.

CHAPTER XIV.

PHILADELPHIA city a little before midsummer, 1776. The old Quaker quiet is gone. Now a strange spirit of excitement pervades it, a subtle electricity that touches all things with expectancy.

The inns, the Black Bear and Indian Queen and the London Coffee House, dilate with taproom wiseacres, and crowds of townfolk loiter along the streets in the warm evenings to view the great men come to attend the most honorable congress sitting in the state-house. They have seen the Charlestown packet bring the delegates from South Carolina. Every citizen who can muster a horse has ridden out to meet the delegates from Virginia, Maryland and Delaware who arrived in a body. They have seen them all, have compared them with one another.

On High street stands the great mansion of Richard Penn, one of the proprietaries. It is now thrown open for the entertainment of the visitors.

Up and down the dusty street pass and repass earnest men in dull coats and small clothes, workmen in osnabrig and leather aprons and tradesmen in coarse cloth. They pause in knots on the pave and talk, each by his kind.

One house they pass many times, looking at it with more eager curiosity and concern. This building is even less pretentious than its fellows, but one who observes it long will have noted that those who pass in and out of its door lend it a peculiar distinction. They come in velvet instead of cloth, their sleeves droop with lace. They wear powdered hair and diamond buckles and for the most part carry dress swords.

The house is occupied as a shop, and the silver plate on the door bears the name of "James Randolph." It is the headquarters of the Virginia delegations.

To Henry, chafing in his Virginia harness, how slowly the bell had rolled among the conventions! How halting went the leaders! Messengers riding posthaste brought him the news from Philadelphia.

Congress had recommended that the several colonies form distinct governments for themselves. And even to this the delegates of New York and Pennsylvania had loud objection. Henry gnashed his teeth in the convention at Williamsburg, and on May 15 a resolution was passed directing the Virginia delegates in Philadelphia to "declare the united colonies free and independent states."

A significant word! Richard Henry Lee followed in June with his resolution for independence.

But alas for human failing! Many of the delegates, Dickinson, Morris, Livingston, were men of property, and the possession of property enlarges the bump of caution. They cried for delay. The older Quakers, men of peace, had set their faces and their faith against rebellion.

New York was milk and water. There had been the failure of the Canadian expedition, and, besides, the province had its exposed harbor and the Indian raids on its frontier to think of. The Pennsylvania delegation refused to

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $228,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Look For Blood Humors

They Crop Out Constantly, Showing the System Needs Purifying.

You're not satisfied with your looks. How can you be with such disfiguring pimples, such rough uneven skin?

Blood is full of humors and it's no wonder you look and feel poorly.

You are languid,
Appetite is miserable,
Sleep is hard to get,
Snap and vim are lacking.

High time to improve matters—but what's the proper remedy?

Experience proves that Dr. Hamilton's give instant effect. They tone the entire system, fortify the blood and impart a feeling of new life in a few days.

Unlike strong purgatives, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are exceedingly mild. They are made from concentrated vegetable extracts such as Mandrake and Butternut, and can be taken by young or old with absolute safety.

"I learnt something very valuable after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Miss Effie Thomson, of Meriden. "I used to have ugly pimples that much embarrassed me. The tonic and purifying effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills completely restored me. My health is splendid and my complexion a great credit to this marvellous medicine."

Let your medicine be Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They do cure so thoroughly. Sold by all dealers, 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription," is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice, in a plain, sealed envelope, absolutely free. Address him at Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. McAllister Selling Lots

Mr. C. B. McAllister, who recently purchased a large acreage of valuable residential property in the east ward has laid out the property in park form and has opened an avenue which runs sideways across this valuable real estate, from Burnham street to Maria. Recently Mr. McAllister acquired the lower half of the John Burnham property, running from Charles street west to the river, and also the adjoining block from the Burnham estate, extending from Charles street to the river. These properties comprise about eight acres in all exclusive of the homestead, about which a considerable amount of land, extending to the river will be reserved.

The name of these new residential lates will be called, "Englehurn Park." All the thirty-five lots are nicely shaded by fine trees and many of them are located on the river bank. These lots have a frontage varying from 40 to 50 feet and in depth are from 100 to 240 feet.

Doctor Was Fooled by His Own Case For a Time.

It's easy to understand how ordinary people get fooled by coffee when doctors themselves sometimes forget the facts.

A physician speaks of his own experience:

"I had used coffee for years and really did not exactly believe it was injuring me, although I had palpitation of the heart every day.

"Finally one day a severe and almost fatal attack of heart trouble frightened me and I gave up tea and coffee, using Postum instead and since that time I have had absolutely no heart palpitation except on one or two occasions when I tried a small quantity of coffee which caused severe irritation and proved to me I must let it alone.

"When we began using Postum it seemed weak—that was because we did not make it according to directions—but now we put a little bit of butter in the pot when boiling and allow the Postum to boil full fifteen minutes which gives it the proper rich flavor and the deep brown color.

"I have advised a great many of my friends and patients to leave off coffee and drink Postum, in fact I daily give this advice." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Many thousands of physicians use Postum, in place of tea and coffee in their own homes and prescribe it to patients. "There's a reason."

The company is now in operation doing business throughout Canada in the sale of Brazing Equipments and Brazing Compound, as well as carrying on the work of brazing broken and cracked castings, such as locomotive cylinders, stationary engine cylinders, automobile water-jackets (small), locomotive side frames, teeth brazed on gear wheels, crossheads of engine, cylinder heads, friction clutches (C. H.), drive wheels, piston rods of pump and engines, power presses, parts of crushers, parts of drills, and thousands of other things, at its factory, which is fully equipped to handle the largest castings, No. 61 Dalhousie street, Montreal, having acquired an exclusive license to certain patents which give it a monopoly in Canada, in this business.

THE PROFITS OF THE COMPANY

Are derived from the following sources

1. Selling Brazing Equipments and Brazing Compound to Mills, Railway Shops, Mines, Quarries, Public Works, Dredging Companies, Steamship Companies, Factories, Contractors and all users of machinery who repair their broken and cracked parts by the use of our process and Brazing Compound. THIS SAVES THEM THE COST OF NEW CASTINGS AND THE GREAT LOSS OF TIME USUALLY INVOLVED, especially when new parts have to be brought from distant points, as is frequently the case.

2. Doing Brazing in our Montreal Shop and opening up Agencies in all the principal towns throughout Canada. There are no charge on the Company, as they consist in granting a license for the use of our Brazing Process to parties in each town who purchase from us our Special Brazing Equipments, in addition to using our Patented Compound FROM THE ANNUAL CONSUMPTION OF WHICH A VERY LARGE REVENUE IS DERIVED.

W. H. C. Mussen & Co., Railway and Mining Supplies, are handling the Mining branch of the business through their agents and salesmen from Halifax to Vancouver.

In the United States nearly all the Factories have installed Brazing Equipments, and do their own repairs.

Machine Shops in every town have taken up Agencies, and are making money, and at the same time pleasing their customers.

Blacksmiths in country villages are using the Process for repairing Agricultural Implements.

It is only a question of time before our Brazing Equipments and Process will be as extensively used throughout Canada.

From the amount of highly satisfactory business already done in the short space of time we have been in business, we see the almost unlimited field there is before us for doing a most profitable business, and we feel justified in stating that our shareholders, due to the low capitalization of the company, should realize dividends of over 20 per cent. on their investment, as the cost of operating a business of this nature is very limited.

The company commenced operations in February, and has already supplied Brazing Equipments to the following companies:

The Wire & Cable, Montreal.
The C. P. R. Angus Shops, Montreal.
The Canadian Colored Cotton Mills, Milltown, N. B.
The Gutta Percha & Rubber Manufacturing Co., Toronto, Ont.
Derochie Bros., Cornwall, Ont.
The Government Ship Yards, Sorel, Que.
Augustin & Daudelin, St. Hyacinthe, Que.
The Toronto Carpet Company, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs:

We have very much pleasure in informing you that the crank on our engine which was broken, and which we had you braze, has now been running nearly three months, and we believe that it is just as good and strong as a new one.

By being able to have this done by you under your process, you saved us considerable through not having lost any time in our factory, otherwise we would have had to close down until a new piece was cast.

Wishing you continued success, we are,

Yours truly,

BELL CO. vs. CITY.

A communication from the Bell Telephone Co., was read, pointing out that as they have not received any notice of any action having been taken on their request for permission to lay their wires under ground, they will proceed with the work of laying conduits, within ten days, on George street, between Brock and Sherbrooke streets, and they would be pleased if the city would direct their proper officer to be present to locate, direct and supervise the work.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Hicks,—That the city solicitor be requested to reply to the above, protesting against such work being proceeded with until the Bell Co., have signed an agreement satisfactory to the city.

$150 FOR BOWLING CLUB

A deputation from the Peterborough Bowling Club, waited upon the council, and asked for financial assistance toward entertaining the British bowlers, who, as Mr. D. Moore pointed out, are to arrive in Peterborough on August 1st, providing the local bowlers can guarantee their British guests fitting entertainment.

The visitors will arrive here on the five a.m. C.P.R. train from Ottawa, and take breakfast at the Oriental. At three o'clock in the afternoon a match will be played on the bowling green. Between breakfast time, and the games it is proposed to take the visitors by steamboat over the lift lock, following which they and their ladies will be driven through the city to see our factories and other points of interest. This portion of the entertainment, Mr. Moore thought, in corporation should co-operate in, to the credit of the town. Seventy visitors are expected. The legislature has granted $400 to help entertain these distinguished visitors, and Toronto will expend $1500 for a like purpose. Port Hope, Oshawa and Souffville will have a right to come here and compete in the bowling match, to be contested on the local green.

Mr. T. F. Matthews pointed out that the city granted $150 to entertain the twenty-four Scotch curlers on their visit to Peterborough, and he opined that a grant of $250 would be a fair sum for the local bowlers to expend on this occasion when 70 British visitors are expected. Such people are representative in every sense of the word, and their impression of Peterborough circulated in Great Britain would undoubtedly be a splendid advertisement for this city.

Ald. Ball said he would move that the local bowlers get no grant. It is not fair, he said, to ask surpeople to contribute taxes to entertain the class of men who constitute the visiting bowlers. In England, the clubs which invite visiting teams, bear the expense of entertaining them. He took strong exception to fittering away the people's money in entertaining people who can well afford to entertain themselves. Then they are all non-producers, whom he thought would not in any way prove a medium of advertising this city in Britain.

Ald. Elliott thought that as our people last year were loyally entertained in England, it would be only fair to reciprocate to this international club of bowlers about to honor Peterborough with their presence.

Ald. Wilson moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the council cooperate financially and otherwise with the local bowling club in entertaining the British bowlers, at a cost to the city of not more than $150.

Ald. Ball moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That no grant be made to the bowling club.

The amendment was lost and the motion carried. Only the mover and seconder voted for the amendment.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Hicks, chairman Board of Works, submitted his committee's report recommending the construction of many permanent improvements as previously noted in these columns. The following petitions did not meet with the Board's or Council's approval, as shown in the following extracts from the report.

We recommend that no action be taken on the petition asking that the sidewalk on the west side of Reid street, from McDonnel street north, be built outside the trees.

We recommend that the following petitions opposing the construction of granolithic sidewalks as local improvements be not granted as they are not sufficiently signed:

Bethune street, east side, to Antrim street.

Brock street, north side, Bank to Hunter street.

George street, east side, Custom house to King street.

Water street, west side, Charlotte to King streets.

The council also decided that no action be taken on a petition for a granolithic sidewalk as a local improvement outside the trees on the north side of Sherbrooke street from George street to Park street.

The council will, if a petition is presented to the council sufficiently signed, asking for the construction of a sewer on Aberdeen avenue from the Grand Trunk Railway westerly, that an outlet be constructed across the Grand Trunk Railway right of way and out to Barnardo avenue.

ACCOUNTS TO BE PAID.

Ald. Mason read the Finance Committee's report, recommending payment of all accounts in the committee's hands last Friday evening.

$150 FOR S.A. BAND.

The finance report also recommended that the Salvation Army Band get a grant of $100, and Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that this bind get $150.—Carried by a vote of 8 to 12.

Ald. Duncan in moving this remarked that as the council had been so generous tonight, they might well afford $150 for so worthy an object as the Salvation Army Band.

MORE SALARY FOR TREASURER.

A bylaw to fix the salary of the city treasurer at $850 a year, passed its several readings. This means an increase of $150, to date from July 2nd this year.

In this connection, Ald. Mason pointed out that the treasurer had not asked for an increase of his salary, but he, Ald. Mason, had raised the question himself in recognition of Mr. Brownscombe's value to the city. The treasurer holds a dual position, being also treasurer for the water commissioners, for which he gets an additional salary of $750. He has, however, to pay for his own help, which consists of girls.

Ald. Elliott thought that if the city's officials, who are paid good salaries, are allowed to engage their own assistants, the council should see to it that their clerks be paid the current wages for similar employment in the city.

The council then adjourned.

Mrs. M. A. Drury Committed

Bethune St. Woman Sent Up for Enquiry as to Sanity.

Yesterday morning, Mrs. Fredenburg notified the police that her mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Drury, was insane and asked that the old lady, who is 75 years of age, be taken into custody.

P. C. McGinty at once went to Mrs. Drury's residence on Bethune street, and brought the old lady to the station.

A special session of the police court was held, with Police Magistrate Dumble presiding, at three o'clock. After the evidence was heard, his worship committed Mrs. Drury to jail to await proper examination as to her sanity by the regular officials in such cases.

THE TURF.

As an indication of the prominence that Peterborough holds in racing circles, it might be mentioned that yesterday Mr. Arthur Rountree, secretary of the Peterborough Turf Club, received the following letter which goes to show that Peterborough should make arrangements, if possible, to have races here this summer.

Hamilton, June 22d, '06.

Dear Sir,—Please send me a program at once of your race meet this summer. I will probably give you some entries in running races as we are laying up here for two or three weeks. Address G. A. Booth, Palace Hotel, Hamilton, Ont.

Miss Van Every Now a Matron

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Wm. Van Every, 208 Rubidge St., when his daughter, Miss Agnes S. Van Every, was united in marriage to Mr. Louis T. Thornton, B. Sc., who recently took honors at Queen's University, Kingston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride was becomingly attired and was unattended.

After the ceremony, the guests partook of an excellent dejeuner served on beautifully decorated tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton left on the C.P.R. train for Regina, Sask. They will visit in Owen Sound and Winnipeg en route to the west.

Board of Health Does Business

Dr. Hodgetts of Toronto Will Inspect Local Water Supply.

The Board of Health met in the city clerk's office yesterday morning, those present being, Chairman Wm. Eyres, Dr. Burnham, Robt. Neill and A. Parker.

The first business taken up was Sanitary Inspector Roszel's report on that property near 388 Water street. Some time ago a letter was received, complaining about a stench coming from the yard in question. It was received and referred to the inspector. But when the official arrived he found everything in good shape.

A letter was received from Dr. Hodgetts, provincial medical health officer, of Toronto, stating that it was his intention to visit Peterborough as early in date as possible so as to have a report ready for the Provincial Board to consider at its next regular quarterly meeting.

Dr. Hodgetts will visit Peterborough this week and will inspect the city's water supply from the intake pipe at the pump house up the river to Lakefield and farther if necessary. It is the intention of the local board of health to put a stop to all those parties dumping their sewage into the upper lakes and rivers, especially at Lakefield and at Stony Lake.

On motion, Mr. Eyres, was instructed to accompany Dr. Hodgetts to Lakefield, when he comes to make the inspection.

The question of houses, and especially terraces not connected with the local sewers was next taken up. A motion was passed instructing the medical health officer and sanitary inspector to look into the matter of the most urgent cases of premises that should be connected with the sewers and report to the board this is for the purpose of assisting the board of works.

The matter of the Isolation Hospital plans being inspected by the local medical fraternity was discussed.

On motion the matter of deciding upon the plans was deferred, and the mayor and the chairman of the four committees of the city council were requested to meet with the board of health and take up the plans together.

The board then adjourned.

Joseph Stewart Now Inspector

Popular Policeman Succeeds Mr. Geo. Cochrane.

The long expected has happened. Without commenting upon the manner in which License Inspector Geo. Cochrane has used his office, it has long been an open secret that this officer was to be displaced.

The following letter has been received by ex-Inspector Cochrane, which speaks for itself:—

Geo. Cochrane, Esq., License Inspector, Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—I am directed by the Honorable, the Provincial Secretary, to inform you that Mr. Joseph Stewart of the Town of Peterborough, has been appointed License Inspector for the License District of West Peterborough, said appointment to take effect on the 1st of July next.

Mr. Stewart has been instructed to make application to you for the books, papers, etc., pertaining to the office which you will be good enough to hand over to him.

Your obedient servant,
E. SAUNDERS,
Chief Officer.

Ontario License Branch,
Toronto, June 22nd, 1906.

In the choice of Mr. Jos. Stewart, the Ontario Government has chosen an official, who is as well, if not better, posted, than any man in this city, in the modus operandi of our local barrooms and of such now existing illicit places where liquor may be sold. License Inspector Stewart has had nearly a quarter of a century's experience on the police force and is a travelling compendium of what takes place by night as well as day in Peterborough. It is generally thought that the new inspector will do his duty without fear or favor and without political bias or influence. A leading reformer yesterday said to a Times representative, "Joe Stewart will make every hotelman keep the law whether he is Grit or Tory and will not show favors to either."

With such an appointee the hotelkeepers will all keep the law and will not expect to get favors for political allegiance or other reasons.

Local Lawyers Have Outing

The barristers of the city will run an excursion to Gore's Landing this morning on the steamer Water Lily, which will leave the Wolfe Street wharf at one o'clock and the dock below the locks at 1:30 p.m.

The city doctors will be the guests of the barristers and the professional men all expect an enjoyable time.

A base ball match between the physicians and lawyers is one of the attractions of the trip.

To Draw Newfoundland Closer to Us

Subsidy Wanted to Provide 52 Extra Trips Between Canada and the Island--Will Repeal the Pension Bill.

Ottawa, June 26.—The vote of $200,000 which Parliament is asked to provide as a subsidy for the steamship service between Canada and Newfoundland will secure 52 additional trips per year to what are now provided from Sydney, C.B. to the western terminus of the Newfoundland railway system at Port aux Basques. At present there are three trips per week. In return for the subsidy, however, the company is willing to provide four.

MEDICINE BILL NEXT YEAR.

It is understood that the Government will propose legislation next session for the regulation of the patent medicine trade, so as to protect the public against preparations of a fraudulent and injurious character. It has been stated before the special committee that has been investigating the patent medicine question this session that there are about ten thousand of these remedies on the Canadian market.

CANNED MEAT ENQUIRY.

The Minister of Agriculture has taken steps to inform himself in regard to the conditions under which the canned meat industry is carried on in Canada, so as to determine whether any public supervision of their operations is required in the interest of the people's health.

TO WIPE OUT PENSION BILL.

The Government's promised bill on the subject of the ex-Cabinet Ministers pension will be brought down in a few days. The impression all along has been that it would make the pension correspond to the system in vogue in England and confine its benefits to a limited number who will not be able to draw the money unless they are in actual need. It is now stated, however, that the Government contemplates recommending Parliament to put the pension off altogether.

Cobalt Is the Land of Wealth

Now is the Time to Invest Before Prices Raise.

Many a man who invests a few dollars in the future of Cobalt, will before many years congratulate himself on his foresight, and reap a golden harvest in return.

Stocks in many of the Cobalt mines that are now being offered at nominal prices will in a year or two, when the mines are fully developed and producing, be worth from ten to fifty times their present prices.

Among the mines now opening up that give prospects of great returns is that of the Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Co., Limited.

This company owns a property that is surrounded by large shipping mines that are daily producing enormous wealth, including such mines as the Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley, Timmins, Jacobs, Lawson, Silver Leaf, McLeod, Glendenning and others. Their properties also projects into the famous Gillies timber limit.

Experts who have thoroughly investigated the Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt mine consider it to be among the richest in that district. This property carries a number of veins of such properties as the rich Nova Scotia mine which runs as high as 7000 ounces to the ton.

A limited number of the Peterson Lake Silver Mine is for a short time offered at 50 cents per share. Shares are fully paid and non assessable.

For full particulars address J. T. Eastwood & Co., 24 King Street W., Toronto.

Who Stabbed Rev. E. R. Nicholls?

The Port Hope Guide says:—

Who stabbed the Rev. E. R. Nicholls of Bradford? This is the question which is being asked on all sides. Just at present the mystery is as dark as ever and the police are unable to fathom it. Chief Bond has forwarded his report of his investigation to Crown Attorney Kerr and further developments will be awaited with much interest. In a telephone communication last night with Dr. Montgomery, who attended the reverend gentleman's injuries, he declined to make the trip from Sydney and Melbourne to England three days quicker this way than by way of the Suez. There have been no negotiations as yet with the Government in the matter, but it is generally felt in Ottawa that when the present contract for the Australian mail service expires next summer the Canadian Pacific will be in a position to tender for the improved service that the Canadian Government is desirous of obtaining.

Dr. Montgomery stated that he had not investigated the matter. He declined to express himself as to public opinion concerning the affair and thought the press had already published sufficient information.

The chief thinks there is something strange in the matter and that likely Crown Attorney Kerr will order an investigation. He is quite prepared to credit the statements of Mr. Sidney in reference to the telephone communication as those of Rev. Nicholls since the discovery that the testimony failed to tally, but will take no further action until instructed by Crown Attorney Kerr.

Hamilton, June 26.—The Wentworth County Council in casting over a report from the auditors showing that in 1905 and 1904 $60,000 or $70,000 was expended without proper vouchers and in some cases in excess of the authority granted.

TRANSFER AGENTS.
THE IMPERIAL TRUSTS COMPANY OF CANADA, Toronto, Ont.

BANKERS.
UNION BANK OF CANADA, Toronto, Ont.

SOLICITORS.
MACDONELL, McMASTER, GEARY & BARTON, Toronto, Ont.

PROPERTY—Consists of 40 acres adjoining the Town of Cobalt. Adjoining the property on the north-east is the celebrated TRETHEWAY MINE, on the south-west the TEMISKAMING & HUDSON BAY, and to the south across the railway is the McKINLEY-DARRAGH, all producing shipping mines, and amongst the most valuable in the camp.

VEINS—Nine well-defined veins have been disclosed, one of which has been stripped on the surface for over 600 feet.

DEVELOPMENT—Two shafts have been sunk to a depth of fifty and sixty feet, respectively; 240 feet of tunnelling, all in pay ore, has been done.

EQUIPMENT—A complete mining plant has been installed. The Buffalo mine is considered one of the best equipped mines in the camp.

SHIPMENTS—Shipments have been made to the Belbach Smelting & Refining Co., of Newark, N.J., and to the Delamar Copper Refining Co., of Chrome, N. J. Out of the first shipment TWENTY TONS OF ORE PRODUCED $2,000 NET. FIVE CARS have been shipped since the first of May, 1906.

ORE—Mr. Charles L. Denison, President of the Company, estimates there is $70,000 worth of ore on the dump which is being assorted and bagged for shipment.

VALUE OF ORE—We personally have had an assay made by Messrs. Thos. Heys & Son, of Toronto, of the ore taken from the sixty-foot level. This assayed $2562 of SILVER TO THE TON.

The following letter, written by Mr. Thomas R. Jones, Superintendent of the Mine, to Mr. Charles L. Denison, bears out the statement that this is a producing and shipping mine:

Charles L. Denison, Esq.,
149 Liberty street,
New York, N. Y.

(Copy.) Cobalt, Ont., April 24, 1906.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of enquiry as to the quantity of ore on hand for shipment, will say that we will have a thirty-ton car of No. 1 ore, which would run from $1,000 to $2,000 PER TON, ready in less than ten days. Two, or perhaps three, cars of No. 2 ore, running over $300, and two cars of No. 4 ore, running over $150. We are sacking these now, and making preparations to move same for shipment.

As to our estimate of future production, based on thirty days from this date, we expect to hoist and ship monthly approximately the following tonnages: 90 tons No. 1 ore, which will average $1,000 to $2,000 per ton; 120 tons No. 2 ore, including middlings, which will run $300 or more per ton; 75-100 tons No. 4 ore, which will average $150 per ton; 500 tons mill rock, $40 per ton or better. Yours very truly,

(Signed) Thomas R. Jones, Supt.

The above estimate, if realized, means that the Company can easily pay dividends of over 25 PER CENT. per annum.

The directors are all men well known and successful in the business world, and have every confidence in the property and its future.

We offer for sale a limited quantity of this stock at par. Cheques may be made payable at par, Toronto, and may be made payable to us or to the Imperial Trusts Company, Toronto. Applications for the purchase of shares will be filled in the order of their receipt, and the right is reserved of increasing at any time, without notice, the price of the stock, or withdrawing same from the market.

Pamphlet containing full information regarding the Company may be had upon application to

THE WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.

JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.

JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M.P.P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.

DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M.E., Managing Director Cobalt, Ontario.

JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drumond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Send for full particulars to

DANIEL SIMPSON,

Address for next 60 days, Walker House, Toronto

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

To impart quickness and great vitality to the entire system nothing acts like Ferrozone.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and braces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Utopia, Ont., Mr. H. H. Postle, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that everyone requires medicine in the spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, nervous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form, — that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

BRITAIN WILL BUY NOW FROM COLONIES

The Chamberlain party in Great Britain have not been slow to see the opportunity offered them by the publication of the reports on conditions in Chicago packing houses. At once they began to point out the advantages of favoring a development of the meat trade with Canada, Australia and New Zealand, whose meat is clean and wholesome, with no question of taint, or possible infection, to disturb the stomach of the British meat eater, at present qualmish over revelations made in the United States. There could not be a more favorable time to promote the use of colonial meats, and if the exporters of Canadian cattle and bacon, and Australian mutton do not take all the advantage possible of it they will be slow indeed. British newspapers have taken the matter up and there is sure to be an increase in colonial trade at the expense of Chicago and the American West. The United States has been hit already by worse than a small preferential tax, and from indications it will suffer still more. In the meantime colonial meat will get a boom, and a sort of preferential trade be established by force of circumstances—that is, the mother country will prefer to eat colonial meat whether she imposes a tax or only strict inspection requirements that will more than equal a tax in effect. The feeling in favor of colonial meat is now very pronounced.

IMPORTANT MOVE IN ENGLAND

The activity and influence of the Labor party in England has led to an organization of manufacturing interests which is likely to assume important proportions in the near future. It is called the Manufacturers' Association of Great Britain, and apparently is a Tory or Chamberlainite institution, with leanings towards protection. In a declaration of aims and principles it defines its object to be the information of the government and the country concerning the needs of manufacturers; to bring about closer relations between employers and employes; to deal with matters of common interest affecting manufactures, such as legislation, taxation, etc., and to deal with matters of international interest, such as tariffs, trusts, etc. The opinion is expressed that relations between employers and employes will be greatly improved if it is shown that certain conditions of trade must affect both in similar proportion; that increased prices mean increased wages; that increased competition must lower prices and lower wages, and that bad trade must bring reduced employment. The organizers feel, they say, that the time has come when workmen should be instructed in the economics of production, in questions affecting organization, management of factories, the effect of tariffs, and unlimited competition. The relative importance which manufacture bears to the prosperity of the country is not sufficiently appreciated, they think, and they propose to show that encouragement of employers is the readiest solution of the greatest national problem, namely, unemployment.

It is solemnly announced that there is no politics in this movement, but if there isn't any now there may be some later on.

New Pastor for Charlotte Street

Rev. H. M. Manning Will Take Hold of Charlotte St. Church in July.

Rev. H. M. Manning, who begins his duties as pastor of Charlotte St. Methodist church on the first Sunday in July, is a son of the late James Manning, of the old Bradford circuit, who was a class leader and preacher of more than average intelligence.

The new Charlotte street church pastor, received his education at the Bradford Grammar School and Victoria College, Cobourg. After his ordination he spent six years in mission work, laboring successfully in Winnipeg, Edmonton and McLeod. Since his return the greater part of his time has been spent in the Toronto Conference. His recent appointments have been Uxbridge, St. Paul's, Brampton, and Wesley, Clinton, in each of which he has put in four year, of very successful ministration.

The Royal Couple Were in Danger

Lagranja, Spain, June 24.—At the moment when the royal automobile, containing King Alfonso and Queen Victoria arrived here from the theater last night, a well-dressed individual evaded the guards and sought to intercept the royal couple.

He was arrested and gave the name of Joz Muria of Madrid.

When searched papers of a suspicious nature and considerable money were found upon him.

An Italian who was acting in a strange manner was also arrested.

He claimed that he was on his way to Bilbao, looking for work.

He was, however, unable to account for his presence in this unfrequented place, where their majesties are spending their honeymoon.

The authorities have adopted extreme vigilance, owing to reports that a number of dangerous anarchists are on their way to Spain.

Lagranja, or officially, St. Ildefonso, is a town in the Province of Segovia 40 miles from Madrid. The royal couple are spending their honeymoon there.

A SHOCK TO SOCIETY

Medicine Hat, June 23.—W. E. Crompton, teller of the Union Bank, who has absconded, was popular in society circles.

A number of Medicine Hat young people with artistic aspirations formed an organization known as the Dominion Concert Company, and toured a number of the neighboring towns and cities. Crompton spent his two weeks' holidays acting as advance agent for the company. On Saturday night last he was in Wetaskiwin, and was to return to Medicine Hat by Monday morning. As he had not shown up by Wednesday, the inspector of the bank was summoned from Lethbridge and it was ascertained that there was a shortage.

Crompton is an Englishman, and came here from one of the banks mercantile branches. He has been here three years, and was a great society man, an ardent polo player, and solo singer, in the Presbyterian choir. The police have traced him to Vancouver. Being a wonderful mimic and clever at private theatricals, Crompton could disguise himself.

vote on separation and left their seats in anger. Maryland had few grievances.

And what of New Jersey? There was Toryism intrenched. Its royal governor, the son of the benevolent faced patriot, Benjamin Franklin, went breathing fire against the Whigs. Not till he had been shipped to Connecticut in irons, not till congress had sent three of its members to argue, to plead, to storm, did its assembly declare for freedom.

Think not that those who hesitated were not men of honor, jealous for the welfare of their country. Not every one believed George III. another such despot as Philip II. of Spain or the bloody minded man the radicals illiberally called him. The storm was high on the horizon. And it is the part of wisdom to count well the cost of desperate ventures. Against the colonies was pitted the mistress of the seas a king, innumerable battalions, armament, navies, money and the prestige of hereditary possession. The colonies stood alone.

There were those who, like Henry, whose clear eye saw the future as with divination, pinned faith upon Gallic enmity to England and looked for a sign of aid. But the months came and went without its appearance. Now the Third congress was sitting, and France was silent. Granted a defiance to Great Britain, the outcome was doubtful—how doubtful five red years of smoke and blood were to demonstrate.

As the pendulum vibrated a British fleet in the Delaware brought the war within hearing, and Lord Howe hove to off Sandy Hook with all his army.

The congress was, after all, a miniature of the country. It held a Tory party who awaited some disaster to become dangerous. It held faint hearts who croaked, despondent ones who predicted ruin and brave hearts that dared a struggle they believed would be uncertain.

On such a field for twenty-five long days a determined battle was fought. It ended at last, and one evening Thomas Jefferson of Virginia betook himself to a little house back of an oblong green, where lived Dr. Franklin, and wrote the first draft of the Declaration of Independence.

There comes a time in the history of every great movement when it must go forward or die. Lethargy breeds reaction. The fierce fight for a Declaration had marked this point now. In the three days since the vote the opposition had gathered its shattered forces. There were new mutterings, and the little Virginian delegation in the shop of Mr. James Randolph on High street knew that the defiance which was to be offered on the morrow, if it were to be signed at all, must be signed quickly.

So out of a humid morning grew the afternoon of the 3d of July for Philadelphia. It came in heat, with a brazen sky.

Opposite Mr. Randolph's shop on the same evening Joseph Galloway, the lawyer, walking slowly, paused and looked across the street. He was thickset and middle aged, with a smooth, crafty face and restless eyes.

He had lacked Whig patriotism in the First congress. The Second would have none of him. And yet he had earlier led the popular party against the proprietary. Such strange overturnings the new idea of freedom was bringing about. The fierce Tory rancor which had made of this man at first "the defender of the prerogative" was to convert him later into a spy, a refugee and a sour pensioner of George III.

Now, there was the open hatred of a bitter Tory in the look Joseph Galloway cast upon the little shop.

"Good day, Mordecai," he said in greeting to a rotund merchant Quaker who joined him. "I see you also looking. What think you our Virginia hot bloods will brew next in their den yonder?"

The Quaker frowned. "I love them not," he answered. "What saith the Scriptures? 'For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds.'"

"Gentlemen of birth and wealth, forsooth," continued Galloway angrily, "and yet prating like the veriest clouts of independence and brotherhood! Whose was the bill to separate from Great Britain? Richard Henry Lee's. And who has written the Declaration that is to be thrust beneath the delegates' noses tomorrow? Thomas Jefferson. These Virginians! Would we had never heard of Virginia before we came to this!

"Look you"— He broke off and pointed with his stick where a coach bowled along High street. It was richly furnished and bore arms on its panels. On the cushions, exquisitely dressed in a white uniform, sat a blocky, military looking man with bushy wig and foreign mustachios. He wore a cocked hat.

"'Tis M. Pliarne," said the Quaker. "These French parasites with powder to peddle, Friend Joseph, would joy to see the colonies plunged into bloody strife. They would batten on our extremity, 'for wheresoever the carcass is, there the eagles be gathered together.'"

"French officers!" ejaculated Galloway. "Aye, or adventurers! As like to be one as another. Mayhap M. Pliarne goes to see the precious envoy whose newcoming the town gapes about."

"He is to be received?"

"Tomorrow afternoon. 'Tis an open secret. Notice was sent the house this morning."

"'Twas averred in the street but now that he is come from Louis XVI."

"Let them jabber!" grumbled Galloway. "Little story is to be set by these fine envoys. I mind me when the Frenchman came to the congress last November. You heard of that, mayhap. There was the same excitement; a committee appointed, too, I remember. John Jay was upon it. They met the personage in a room in Carpenter's hall, and what think you they found? Why, a little old frog eater with a clubfoot, who when they asked him for his authority drew his hand across his throat, and says he, 'Gentlemen, I shall take care of my head.' That was all they could get out of him. Some imbecile belike. And even then there were those who saw great signs in it. A pest on all such, say I!"

The Quaker shook his head doubtfully. "Yet there is much hoped for from this present message," he said. "I heard it on good authority some months ago that a French marquis was to come hither. 'Twas said Benjamin Franklin had written of the matter from London. Mayhap this is the same."

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

House-Clean Your System!

Keep it Pure and Clean if You Desire Good Health.

The inside of your body requires attention just the same as the outside. A great accumulation of effete matter is clinging to the various organs, and must be moved off.

Some gentle laxative and tonic should be used.

The system must be relieved of its burden if you are to enjoy a happy, healthy summer.

Physicians who have examined the formula of Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills say no medicine could be better.

Whether ill or not, thousands rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are truly marvelous in preventing debility and sickness.

Begin Dr. Hamilton's Pills without delay. You'll feel stronger, eat heartier, digest better, sleep sounder, and gain more in weight.

Mr Ed Maynard, an old resident of New Westminster, B. C., writes: "I don't say Dr. Hamilton's Pills will cure everything, but they made a quick job of building up my run-down system. I had kidney disease and constipation, and was wholly unfitted for work. Pains shot through my limbs and lodged in my back. Headaches often made me desperate. I had no appetite, an awful colon, and felt despondent. Sometimes I was a little rheumatic. After a few days I began to mend, and kept up Dr. Hamilton's Pills till I was restored to my present tip-top condition."

Can you afford to miss the benefit of this marvel-working medicine? Think of it. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

The disgusting discharges from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath, are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Such soothing antiseptic agents as Eucalyptus, Thymol, Wild Indigo, etc., have been incorporated into a snow white cream making a catarrhal balm unexcelled. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Dog Poisoners Still at Work.

The cowardly dog poisoners seem to still keep at their cowardly work. The latest victim is a spaniel pup belonging to Mr. Geaze Irwin, 308 Perry street, which was poisoned on Saturday near his home. The dog dog was a thoroughbred and was very highly prized by its owner.

Mr. W. C. Bradburn in the City.

Mr. W. C. Bradburn, an old Peterborough boy and a son of Mr. Robt. Bradburn of this city, but now a member of the Bradburn Empman Office Stationery Co., of Winnipeg, Man., was in the city yesterday, and gave The Times a friendly call. Mr. Bradburn who went to Winnipeg a few years ago has made a great success in life in the western metropolis. He was for some time representative of a firm there and is now senior partner in one of the leading house of Winnipeg. Mr. Bradburn left last night for Montreal to place a large order for supplies for his firm. The young "old boys" of Peterborough seem to get there.

—On Saturday Mr. Geo. G. Chrysers sent eight men from here, who were joined at Orillia by 16 more to the Algoma Commercial Company's lumber camps. The men went in charge of Foreman Thomas Marshall.

Birth.

CROWLEY—At Peterborough, on 25th instant, the wife of Mr. T. H. Crowley, of a daughter.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Englishmen for The C. G. E. Works

On Saturday night Mr. Robt. Sheppard, who is employed by the Canadian General Electric Co., as their agent in England, to employ men for the different departments of the works, returned to Peterborough on Saturday. He was successful in getting a party of first-class men and brought them out with him.

There were thirty-two in the party, tool makers, fitters, machinists and brass fitters, and hail from England, Scotland, Germany and Switzerland, although they were all working in England. Mr. Sheppard picked them up from several of the big shops there.

These newly imported mechanics, as noted, arrived in the city Saturday night and at once found boarding houses on Park street south, just near the electric works.

They spent Sunday visiting the various points of interest throughout the city.

Miss F. Dunn's Funeral Today

Today the last mortal remains of the late Miss Florence Dunn, daughter of Mrs. Chas. Dunn, 313 Water street, will be laid to rest. The deceased, who died after a short illness on Sunday, was ten years and ten months of age. She is survived by her mother and three sisters, Mary, Genevieve and Margaret.

The funeral will take place today at three o'clock from the family residence, to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

New Real Estate Office Opened.

Mr. S. J. Murphy yesterday opened an office for the "Empire Agency." The firm consists of Mr. Murphy and Mr. T. F. Doran, both of whom have had an extensive experience in Toronto. Their chief business will consist in acting as manufacturers agents. The firm will also carry on a widely spread real estate business. The office is located at 206 Charlotte St. The office is already furnished, and looks strictly business like.

A U. S. Office is Abolished

Mr. F. J. Bell, has received word from the State Department at Washington that the American Commercial Agency at Peterborough, is to be closed. It will be remembered that a notice appeared in the press to this effect some time ago but since then nothing further has been heard regarding the matter. Mr. Bell has now received official notice that the office here will be closed.

It is possible that a Consular agency may be established here, although there has not yet been any notification to that effect.

The charter for the Peterborough Chemong Auto-car Co., Limited has been received by the company's solicitor, Mr. E. A. Peck. The directors Isaac Eastwood, Alex Elliott and Bruce Lee, Thomas J. Parker and Ernest Stevenson, all of the city of Peterborough. The purpose and object of the company is to manufacture, repair, purchase, sell store, rent and otherwise deal in autocars of every description and to carry passengers and freight by autocar.

The share capital of the company is $5000 divided into 500 shares of $10 each. The provisional directors are Isaac Eastwood, Alex Elliott and Bruce Lee.

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE

Hyomel a Scientific Treatment for Catarrh by Breathing Medicated Air.

Ever since Hyomel has been known, its formula has been given to physicians, druggists, and, in fact, to all intelligent people who could appreciate the true merit of the combination of healing gums, oils and balsams, of which it is composed.

Many leading physicians endorse Hyomel and prescribe it for catarrhal troubles. In fact, quite a few of them use it themselves to break up a cold and prevent pneumonia. They regard it as a natural, yet scientific way of curing catarrh.

Breathed through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hyomel destroys all catarrhal germs in the air passages of the throat and nose, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane and effectually drives from the system all traces of catarrhal poison.

No one should confound Hyomel with the patent medicines that are advertised as catarrhal cures. It is as superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass.

The complete Hyomel outfit, consisting of a neat pocket inhaler, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomel costs but $1, and extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents, making it the most economical method of curing catarrh, as well as the most reliable.

If you cannot obtain Hyomel of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomel Building, Ithaca, N.Y.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I, not long since, had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonia (medicinal principle extracted from stone root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

Leading Grocers Overlooked

Some of the Leading Grocers Not Asked for the Half Holiday.

There seems to be a misunderstanding over the proposed closing of the local stores on Thursday afternoon during July and August.

In our issue of yesterday we noted quite a number of local firms that have already signed the agreement to close one a week during these two months. However, it has appeared that the George street, and other leading grocers have not agreed to this closing on Thursday afternoon.

A Times' representative yesterday called upon several of the leading grocers and found that those in charge of the position had not called upon, for instance such firms as Messrs. Peter Connal, F. Mason & Co., and other leading grocers, so that their views on the subject are not known. Mr. Arthur Rountree was called upon and consented to the proposition, but other important grocers do not seem to have been given a chance to declare their intentions. It is likely that should the other leading grocers be approached they would consent.

Pink Lips, Like Velvet. Rough, Chapped or Cracked Lips, can be made as soft as velvet by applying at bedtime, a light coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. The effect on the lips or skin of this most excellent ointment is always immediate and certain. ## Another New Local Industry

Still another industry is to be added to Peterborough's galaxy of manufacturers in the German Card Board and Photo Mount Company, which is the name of a new industry shortly to begin operations in this city.

This factory will employ several hands and negotiations are now going on to secure premises. The company is composed of [illegible] and already the machinery has been ordered—partly in Germany and the remainder in Toronto.

The new organization will make all kinds of photo mounts, cards and bids fair to become a prosperous industry.

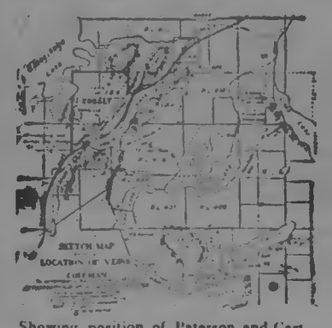
Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Company, Limited



Showing position of Paterson and Cart Lakes, being surrounded by shipping mines.

It is surrounded on all sides by large shipping mines, which are producing fabulous wealth every day, such mines as Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley and Daragh on the west side; the Niphsing Mining Company, the Timmins and Tretheway mines to the north; the Savage the Foster, the Lawson, the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, Silver Leaf, Glendenning and the Drummond on the south; the McLeod and Glendenning and Violet Mines on the east. This property also projects into the much-talked-of Gillies timber limit.

It is believed by the directors of the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, that the properties owned by this company are very valuable and are among the very richest in the district. They are advised that all the rich veins now being worked, and which are giving such great financial results, radiate from the centre of Peterson and Cart Lake.

The Peterson property carries a number of veins of the surrounding properties, such as the Nova Scotia, running in silver from 1,100 to 7,000 ounces per ton.

Now is the time to become interested in Cobalt before the stocks pay large dividends and have a large advance. It is becoming richer every day and streading over a large area.

Strathcona Flatly Contradicts Preston

Mr. Smart and Not His Lordship Carried Through Negotiations With Trading Co'y ---Preston Did Not Offer to Resign.

Ottawa, June 26.—(Special)—The correspondence of the Colonial Secretary [illegible] counts Commission [illegible] were read from [illegible] Canadian High Commissioner in London, this afternoon, [illegible] ity to contract for the Government's [illegible] the North Atlantic Trading Company, and adding [illegible] were not to be held as having any [illegible] negotiations with that syndicate. His Lordship added that [illegible] he had never approved [illegible] principle of this arrangement, which had not commended itself to his better judgment, and cause he feared the contract might land Canada in difficulty with the government concerned, and also because he believed the North Atlantic Trading Company would get the benefit of the work that Government agents were doing on the continent.

The first letter, which was written on Nov. 15, his Lordship observed, concluded with a statement that the new arrangement must be regarded as very confidential, and must not be made public in any way. This was written at the time the negotiations between Mr. Preston and the North Atlantic Trading Co., were in progress. It referred also to the opinion that had been obtained from Mr. Vesey Knox, as to the possibility of this contract leading to trouble with foreign countries. In the other letter his Lordship also observed that personally he could not see [illegible] there was much difference in principle between the new scheme and that formerly in operation on Canadian Europe, except that the former is confined to a few of the booking agents.

His Lordship wrote to Sir Wilfrid on April 26th, calling attention to the fact that in the press and in the parliamentary discussions the responsibility for the agreement with the North Atlantic Trading Company had evidently been assigned to him.

"The object of this letter," he said, "is to explain that I wish to disclaim having originated or carried through the negotiations in question."

"The draft of the proposed agreement," he declares, "was arranged and in effect settled by Mr. Smart, the Deputy Minister of the Interior, who came to England for the purpose of investigation and dealing with the matter personally. It was brought to my notice in its early stages in the autumn of 1899, but a further conference which was to have been arranged before Mr. Smart's return to Canada never took place, owing to his unexpectedly sudden departure.

THE LATEST CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

The authoritative announcement of the University of Pennsylvania that an actual, infallible preventive for tuberculosis has been discovered will no doubt arouse quite as much excitement and possibly accomplish quite as much for the progress of medical science as the Koch discovery." If the Pearson inoculation is to do for consumption what vaccination has done for smallpox, the human race is close to an epoch second only perhaps to that of Pasteur.

In the meantime, however, the baffling difficulties of the diagnosis remain unillumed. Apparently physicians, estimable ones and specialists, find the symptoms intangible, ill-defined and illusive. Patients are constantly being sent to the Adirondacks, to Florida or Atlantic City for "throat trouble," when their lives could have been saved had they been taken to Colorado or Arizona in time. The sanitariums of the west are full of the astonishing mistakes of the physicians of the east and middle-west. The profession at large appears to be unable to surely recognize tuberculosis sufficiently early in the course of the disease to take the course necessary for its arresting.

If Dr Leonard Pearson has actually perfected a method which by vaccination will secure infallible immunity, he has in great measure counteracted the deadly perils of incomplete or incompetent diagnosis, the greatest difficulty with which the curative laity has thus far had to contend.

ANOTHER RIVAL OF THE HORSE

The horse is again threatened. He has held his own in competition with the bicycle, the trolley and the automobile, but now the cobalt motor is after him, or will be when the wonder-working Edison gets it perfected. His lightweight storage battery is going to do the work, and by the use of cobalt as a retainer of the current he expects to create a motor that shall weigh not more than half as much as the one now in use, and propelled at half the cost. The scarcity of this metal has been a drawback to the perfection of the motor, and practically all supplies of it have thus far been drawn from France and Australia, although an earth of cobalt known as garnierite is found in Oregon, and the yield of different beds in this country has averaged something like five tons a year of late. Most of this product is converted into glazes for pottery and colors for painters. But Mr. Edison has been scouting, and he finds that considerable deposits of cobalt exist in North Carolina and Tennessee. With a large and reliable supply of the metal in sight that motor will be so completely revolutionized that the horse will soon be extinct.

Make way for the cobalt motor. Here it comes along. If it does come it may not do quite all that is promised for it, but it seems likely to be useful.

The world, that swung so well of late before, will now think all the better of Gen. Nogi for sending to the defense of Port Stoessel. It is urged against the valor of our brave enemy ever lived would be attacked as a reputation of Stoessel has been. He surrendered Port Arthur only when it would have been cold-blooded murder on his part to have done so. The house revolts at the idea of the gruesome tribute that has been paid to the Immortal Teuton who withstood so long the fleets and armies of Europe. In fact the world now feels it owes a debt to Nogi of no such.

Seddon's Successor.

Christchurch, N.Z., June 21.—William Hall-Jones has consented to form a new ministry.

It is probable that the cabinet will be tentative only, pending the return from England of Sir Joseph Ward, postmaster-general. When reconstruction will take place with Sir Joseph Ward as premier.

There is little doubt that Mr. Seddon died of overwork. It was known that his heart was affected, and it was under medical advice that he went to Australia, the doctors hoping that he would thus secure a much-needed rest before the session opened.

Rich Cobalt Finds.

Cobalt, June 26.—A rich vein of cobalt, carrying galena, silver and copper, has been found on concession five of Ingram Township, four miles north-east of Tome Town, Wendigo Lake District. The vein averages five inches in width and has been traced 150 yards. Several smaller leads run into it. In another rich find in Hucke Township an assay of silver shows over 9,000 ounces to the ton. On the Poyte property a large vein has been opened up several inches in width and immensely rich in silver.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Wind Blows Baby to Death.

Bangor, Me., June 25.—Mrs. Melvin Hutchings, of Rockport, went to Hall's Wharf to fish for flounders, taking her seven-months-old infant in its carriage. While Mrs. Hutchings was watching her line a gust of wind started the baby carriage rolling, and before the mother could prevent it went over the wharf into the river. The carriage was almost immediately recovered, but the baby's body was not found until three hours later.

Union Bank of Canada

The Twenty-First Annual General Meeting of shareholders of the Union Bank of Canada was held at the Head Office, Banking House, in Quebec, on Monday, June 25th. There were present: Messrs. Andrew Thomson, Hon. John Sharples, Wm. Price, E. J. Hale, W. Shaw, Wm. Biddle, T. R. Ahern, Lieut.-Col. Turnbull, Arthur Ellis, P. Champion, Percy Dumbrille, G. H. Thompson, J. P. Cockburn, H. Lapex, Capt. W. H. Weston, T. H. Scott, J. H. Simmons, C. A. Peterland and Jules Roy (St. Anselme).

On the motion of Hon. John Sharples, seconded by Mr. Wm. Price, the President, Mr. A. Thomson, took the chair, and requested Mr. J. G. Billett to act as Secretary of the meeting. And Messrs. P. Champion and Arthur E. Scott were appointed Scrutineers. The Chairman read the report of the Directors, which was as follows:

The Directors beg to submit a statement of the Assets and Liabilities of the Bank at the close of business on the 31st May last, also the following statement of the result of the business for the year ending that date.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT, MAY 31st, 1906.

|---|---|
| Balance at credit of account, May 31st, 1905 | $ 74,501 66 |
| Net Profits for year, after deducting expenses of management, interest due depositors, rebate for bills current, and making provision for bad and doubtful debts, and for rebate on bills under discount, have amounted to | 452,050 24 |
| Premium received on 3,000 shares new Capital Stock | 240,000 00 |
| | $ 766,551 90 |
| Which has been appropriated as follows: | |
| Dividend No. 78, 3½ per cent. | $ 105,000 00 |
| Dividend No. 79, 3½ per cent. | 105,000 00 |
| Transferred to Rest Account | 150,000 00 |
| Written off Bank Premises | 100,000 00 |
| Balance of account carried forward | 306,551 90 |
| | $ 766,551 90 |

REST ACCOUNT.

|---|---|
| Balance at credit of account, May 31st, 1905 | $ 1,000,000 00 |
| Premium received on New Capital Stock | 240,000 00 |
| Amount transferred from Profit | 150,000 00 |
| Average capital employ during year, $3,000,000. | $ 1,390,000 00 |

The Capital of the Bank was increased during the year by the issue of 3,000 shares of Ten Pounds each. The Premium of Forty per cent. received on these shares has been added to the Reserve Fund which now amounts to $1,560,000, or 52 per cent. on the Capital of the Bank. The net earnings of $452,050.24 show 16.04 per cent. on the average Capital employed during the year.

New Branches or Agencies have been opened in the following Provinces:—Quebec, 1; Ontario, 5; Manitoba, 4; Saskatchewan, 11, and Alberta, 2.

Your directors recommend the payment to the Shareholders of a Dividend for the three months ending 31st August next, at the rate of Three and One-half per cent. per annum, which will absorb $105,000, leaving $306,551.90 to be carried forward to Profit and Loss Account.

Further provision will be given to them to make such provision for a Pension Fund for the officers of the Bank as they may from time to time deem desirable.

The Directors have to record with much regret the death during the year of Mr. E. Giroux, a much esteemed member of the Board. The vacancy was filled by the election of Mr. H. T. Riley, of Winnipeg.

The customary inspection of the branches has been made during the year.

A. THOMSON,
President.

Quebec, June 14th, 1906.

G. H. BALFOUR,
General Manager.

Quebec, May 31st, 1906.

It was then moved by Mr. A. Thomson, seconded by Hon. John Sharples:—"That the Report now submitted to this meeting be adopted and printed for distribution among the Shareholders."—Carried.

Moved by Captain Carter, and seconded by Lieut.-Col. Turnbull:—"That authority is hereby given to the Directors of the Bank to establish Guarantee and Pension Funds at such time and on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Directors may by resolution of the Board determine and, for the purpose aforesaid, the Directors may contribute thereto out of the funds of the Bank such sum or sums as they may deem proper for the due carrying out of this below."—Carried.

The Chairman having asked for an expression of opinion from the shareholders assembled as to the advisability of the Bank paying quarterly dividends in future, instead of half yearly as at present, it was moved by T. H. Norton, seconded by Lieut.-Col. Turnbull, and carried unanimously:—"That the practice of paying quarterly dividends be continued."

Moved by Mr. A. Thomson, and seconded by Mr. T. H. Norton:—"That the scrutineers do now cast up the votes given for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, and that the ballot box for the reception of votes be kept open until one o'clock, or until five minutes have elapsed without a vote being offered, during which time proceedings be suspended."—Carried.

The Scrutineers appointed at the meeting reported that the following gentlemen were elected Directors of the Bank for the ensuing year: Messrs. Andrew Thomson, Hon. John Sharples, E. J. Hale, Wm. Price, Wm. Shaw, E. L. Drewry, John Galt, E. H. Kenny, H. T. Riley and M. H. Gault.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Directors Mr. A. Thomson was re-elected President, and Hon. John Sharples, Vice-President.

Mr. Mortimer B. Davis, of Montreal, who has been elected a Director of the Union Bank of Canada, is President of the American Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, Montreal; the Empire Tobacco Company, Limited, of Granby, P.Q., and Montreal, and the H. Cable Tobacco Company, Limited, of Belleville, Ontario.

Cobalt is the Land of Wealth

Now is the Time to Invest Before Prices Raise.

Many a man who invests a few dollars in the future of Cobalt, will forego many years congratulate himself on his foresight, and reap a golden harvest in return.

Stocks in many of the Cobalt mines that are now being offered at nominal prices will in a year or two, when the mines are fully developed and producing, be worth from ten to fifty times their present prices.

Among the mines now opening up that give prospects of great returns is that of the Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Co., Limited.

This company owns a property that is surrounded by large shipping mines that are daily producing enormous wealth, including such mines as the Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley, Timiskaming, Jacobs, Lawson, Silver Leaf, Mc Leod, Glendenning and others. Their properties also project into the famous Gillies timber limit.

Experts who have thoroughly investigated the Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt mine consider it to be among the richest in that district. This property carries a number of veins of such properties as the rich Nova Scotia mine which runs as high as 7000 ounces to the ton.

The company is now in operation doing business throughout Canada in the sale of Brazing Equipments and Process Compound, as well as Brazing on the work of brazing broken and cracked castings, such as locomotive cylinders, stationary engine cylinders, automobile water-jackets (small), locomotive side frames, both brazed on gear wheels, crossheads of engine cylinder heads, friction clutches (C.G.), drive wheels, pedestals of pump and engines, power presses, parts of crushers, parts of drills and thousands of other things, in the factory, which is fully equipped to handle the largest castings. No. 84 Dalhousie street, Montreal, having acquired an exclusive license to certain patents which give it a monopoly in Canada, in this business.

THE PROFITS OF THE COMPANY

Are derived from the following sources:

1. Selling Brazing Equipments and Brazing Compound to Mines, Railway Shops, Mills, Foundries, Public Works, Dredging Companies, Steamship Companies, Factories, Contractors and all users of machinery who repair their broken and cracked parts by the use of our process and Brazing Compound. THIS SAVES THEM THE COST OF NEW CASTINGS AND THE GREAT LOSS OF TIME USUALLY INVOLVED, especially when new parts have to be brought from distant points, as is frequently the case.

2. Doing Brazing in our Montreal Shop and opening up Agencies in all the principal towns throughout Canada, these are no charges to the Company, as they consist in granting a license for the use of our Brazing Process to parties in each town who purchase from us our special Brazing Equipments, in addition to using our Patented Compound FROM THE ANNUAL CONSUMPTION OF WHICH A VERY LARGE REVENUE IS DERIVED.

W. H. C. Mussen & Co., Railway and Mining Supplies, are handling the Mining branch of the business through their agents and salesmen from Halifax to Vancouver.

In the United States nearly all the Factories have Installed Brazing Equipments, and do their own repairs.

Machine Shops in every town, have taken up Agencies, and are making money, and at the same time pleasing their customers.

Blacksmiths in country villages are using the Process for repairing Agricultural Implements.

It is only a question of time before our Brazing Equipments and Process will be as extensively used throughout Canada.

From the fact that our sales have doubled each month since commencing operations on the 6th of February last, we see the almost unlimited field there is before us for doing a most profitable business, and we feel justified in stating that our shareholders, due to the low capitalization of the company, should realize dividends of over 30 per cent. on their investment, as the cost of operating a business of this nature is very limited.

A dividend of 30 per cent. may appear to a conservative investor as being absurd, but a patent is either practically worthless or immensely profitable, we know ours to be the latter.

The company commenced operations in February, and have already supplied Brazing Equipments to the following companies:

The Wire & Cable, Montreal.
The C. P. R. Angus Shops, Montreal.
The Canadian Colored Cotton Mills, Milltown, N. B.
The Gutta Percha & Rubber Manufacturing Co., Toronto, Ont.
Derochie Bros., Cornwall, Ont.

PASSING OF STREET ARAB.

Picturesque London Type Practically a Thing of the Past—Better Social Conditions Responsible.

Has anyone seen a "street arab" lately, one of the type immortalized by Dickens in "Jo," and described so well by the late Lord Shaftesbury? "Bold and pert, and dirty as London sparrows, but pale, feeble, and sadly inferior to them in plumpness of outline," wrote his lordship, in that stirring "Quarterly Review" article in which he gave an account of his explorations in the underworld of London. They begged, thieved, sang in the streets, herded out in nomad crowds, and were not only a nuisance but a social menace.

There are still thousands of waifs and strays and truant boys in the London streets, but the old type has vanished, and his disappearance marks one of the greatest social changes that has come over the life of England within recent years.

That was the interesting statement made by Mr. J. W. C. Fegan, of the Boys' Home at Southwark, which has a branch in Toronto, Ontario, to a newspaper representative in a reminiscent conversation which covered thirty years' experience in the reclamation of homeless boys. Mr Fegan began his work as a teacher in a "Ragged School," and he can recall the time when he could go out searching for "street arabs" (It was Lord Shaftesbury who gave them that title), and come back every evening with fifteen or twenty, quite a common "bag."

"Now," he says, "I could hardly get one. There are still boys to be found in need of a home and a start in life, but the old class has been improved out of existence. In those early days the boys lived in gangs, sleeping under railway arches, in vans, on barges, and in empty houses. They were generally driven into the streets by the cruelty of parents, but to many the life had a strange fascination. It was full of adventure, irregularity, and hardship, but they liked it, and often one or two boys who had taken to it would infect others, even boys of a better class."

In illustration of this last point, Mr. Fegan tells a quite romantic story of a remarkable character who once came under his notice, and whose memory still lives in the purlieus of Westminster. He was known as "Stuttering Bob." Bob was well connected, being the nephew of one of our most distinguished living actors. Developing a roving restless disposition, he became the associate of low companions, and, although his distracted father frequently sought him out and brought him home, he always returned to his old haunts. He obtained his name from an infirmity of speech, and one of his greatest strokes of genius was to dress up as "Poor Jo" when Miss Jennie Lee was giving her remarkable representation of that character. In tattered garments, and with a broom in his hand, he would stand outside the theatre where Miss Lee was acting, and where, he would plaintively repeat "Pl-pl-please to re-re-member Poor Jo." He made heaps of money in this way, but squandered it among his wild boy friends. Eventually he was rescued, and Mr. Fegan's last letter from him came from the United States, and told that "Stuttering Bob" was steadily making his way in the world.

This is only one of the instances of the reclamation of a street arab of the old type with which Mr. Fegan's memory is crowded. Of the causes which have led to the disappearance of the class, one of the most important has, of course, been education, and it was in this direction that the "Ragged Schools" began the pioneer work which the board school later, and now the county schools, have continued.

"There are now so many boys," said Mr. Fegan, "who are qualified for permanent and progressive employment, who in the days gone by could not have obtained any kind of work. They could not read or write, and were so untrained that if they were asked to place an object in the centre of the table, say, they could not do it."

When board schools were established, one of the first teachers to be put in charge of a special school was that splendid fellow and almost genius, James Runciman. His school was in Hale street, Deptford, and Mr. Fegan, who worked in the same neighborhood, knew him well. Runciman used to tell how, when he was teaching a class of "arabs" the alphabet, he asked them to copy the letter "C" on the blackboard. One boy made some very fair imitations, but he also added a number of weird hieroglyphics which Runciman could not understand.

"What are these, my boy?" he asked. "Please, sir," was the quaint answer, "I thought we would not have it all "C," and it would be nice to have coffee as well." The strange writing was his way of representing coffee.

Another great reason for the disappearance of the old-time street "arab" has been the sweeping away of the slums and rookeries — a process not yet completed. A third great reason is to be found in the beneficent work of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. It has created something like a new conscience among fathers and mothers, whose outbursts of violence used to drive boys and girls into the streets. Mr. Fegan tells some appalling stories of the cruelty practiced by unfeeling parents on their offspring, generally when in drink.

"Thirty years ago," he says, "we could meet with eighty cases of cruelty to one that comes under our notice now. One of the worst cases I ever knew was when a father tied his little boy to the bedstead and thrashed him with a stick. When he dropped, or seemed likely to swoon, this unnatural father revived him by applying lighted matches to him. There were horrible cases of cruelty to children in those days, and this conduct was responsible for the vast hordes of 'street arabs' we had to deal with. But Mr. Waugh's society has made a marvelous improvement."

Just Escaped.

An English newspaper has an item about a little Scotch boy who, while playing on the docks, fell into the water and was with great difficulty rescued by a bystander.

"You ought to be very glad I was near by," said his rescuer.

"I am," replied the boy. "And I'm so glad ye got me out. What a lickin' I wad got frum my mither if I'd been drooned!"

Bloodhounds Hunting Negro.

Petersburg, Va., June 25.—Last evening the eleven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Billy L. Branch, of Southampton County, was assaulted near Dory, on the Surrey & Southampton Railroad, about nine miles from Wakefield, by a negro. Hurricane Branch's bloodhounds from Suffolk, are trying to track the man who is supposed to have boarded a train. A large posse of men is searching for him, but up to a late hour tonight the negro had not been caught.

A Lock Canal For Panama

The United States Senate Has so Decided.

Washington, June 26.—When the hour arrived for taking the vote on the canal type in the United States Senate today, Mr. Hopkins offered his substitute providing for a locking canal.

Senator Kittredge moved to lay the substitute on the table, but the motion was lost. The substitute was then agreed upon without division, as follows: "That a lock canal be constructed on the Isthmus of Panama connecting the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans of the general type proposed by the minority of the board of consulting engineers, created by order of the president, dated June 24, 1905, in pursuance of an act entitled 'an act to provide for the construction of a canal connecting the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans,' approved June 28, 1902."

"Cut loose, now, and build the canal. The American people want results on the Isthmus as soon as they can be obtained, and I want them. Dig, dig, congress and the people are behind us in our efforts."

Within forty-eight hours after the completion of the Panama Canal legislation President Roosevelt will issue in effect the above order to co-chairman Shonts and Chief Engineer Stevens of the Panama Canal commission.

The president expressed this afternoon his great gratification at the action of the United States Senate in supporting his plan for the construction of a lock canal. He has been convinced for several days that the lock type of canal would be adopted by the senate on its final vote, notwithstanding the report of the majority of the inter-oceanic canal committee in favor of a sea-level waterway.

The president regards the vote of the house and the senate on the lock canal as a vote of confidence. Orders will be issued in a few days to press the work as rapidly as possible, and it is announced that before summer is far advanced as many men and as much machinery as profitably can be employed will be engaged in making the dirt fly on the canal route.

New Real Estate Office Opened.

Mr. S. J. Murphy yesterday opened an office for the "Empire Agency." The firm consists of Mr. Murphy and Mr. T. F. Doran, both of whom have had an extensive experience in Toronto. Their chief business will consist in acting as manufacturers agents. The firm will also carry on a widely spread real estate business. The office is located at 206 Charlotte St. The office is already furnished, and looks strictly business like.

TO WIPE OUT PENSION BILL.

The Government's promised bill on the subject of the ex-Cabinet Ministers' pension will be brought down in a few days. The impression all along has been that it would make the pension correspond to the system in vogue in England and confine its benefits to a limited number who will not be able to draw the money unless they are in actual need. It is now stated, however, that the Government contemplates recommending Parliament to cut the pension off altogether.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

LONDON'S TOLL OF FIRES.

Fourteen Million Gallons of Water Used to Put Out Flames.

One hundred persons lost their lives and 269 were injured by fires in the County of London last year, according to the annual report of the London fire brigade for 1905.

Of those who lost their lives, forty-six were under eight years of age, and fourteen over sixty. No fewer than sixty-seven were dead or had been removed before the brigade was called.

Excluding chimney fires, the total number of fires reported to the brigade was 3,511, or 105 less than in the previous year. The number classified as serious was sixty-four, or only 1.82 per cent of the total.

Thirty-eight lives endangered by fire were saved by the efforts of the firemen. The number of accidents to firemen due to service was 194.

The quantity of water used for extinguishing fires in the County of London during the year was fourteen million gallons, or 62,500 tons. Of this quantity more than one-third was taken from the river, canals, and docks, and the remainder from the street pipes.

The gross amount insured against fire in respect of property in the County of London is £1,023,041,470. The expenditure of the fire brigade during the year was £76,959 2s 8d on maintenance. This means that the expenditure on the brigade was approximately .03 per cent. of the gross amount for which property in London was insured against fire.

"The satisfactory results attained," the Fire Brigade Committee of the London County Council declare, "are doubtless due in great measure to the augmentation of the staff and appliances of the brigade, and of the facilities for ensuring rapid and efficient mobilisation."

Much valuable time, the committee add, is often lost in summoning the brigade.

"To remedy this as far as possible, great attention is being paid to increasing the facilities for calling the brigade, and to making these facilities known to the public. The number of fire alarms in the public thoroughfares has been steadily increased, having risen from 358 in 1889 to 1,150 at the end of 1905."

Captain Hamilton, in his annual report as chief of the fire brigade, expresses satisfaction that in spite of the greater fire risks, owing to the storage of petrol and inflammable material, there has been no increase in the number of serious fires.

"It cannot be too strongly impressed on the inhabitants of London," he says, "that, in the event of fire, however trivial the outbreak may appear to be, the fire brigade should be immediately called, there being no charge for attendance, except in the case of chimney fires."

Water Power Privileges

NOTICE is hereby given that the rights of the government on the water-powers hereunder mentioned will be put up at auction to be held in the sales room of the Department of Lands and Forests, in the city of Quebec, on the twenty-first day of June next, at 10.30 o'clock in the forenoon.

The concession to be made by long lease, for 99 years, on conditions which will be communicated to the public on the day of the sale.

1. The Ka-Ka-Ko rapids on the Quinze river, county of Pontiac, about 12 miles from North Temiscamingue.

2. The "Big Pipe Stone," the "Little Pipe Stone" and the "Island Rapids," Quinze river, county of Pontiac; about 8 miles from North Temiscamingue.

3. The falls at the outlet of Trémbling lake, lot No. 28, 3rd range of the township of Grandison, county of Terrebonne.

4. The falls and rapids collectively known as the "First Falls," at the mouth of the river Manicouagan, north shore of the Saint Lawrence, county of Saguenay.

5. The principal falls of the River aux Outardes, on the north shore of the Saint Lawrence, about 71-2 miles from Pointe aux Outardes, county of Saguenay.

6. The rapid called "La Gabelle," on the Saint Maurice river, about 17 miles (in a straight line) from Three Rivers.

7. The Coteau Rapids on the Saint Lawrence, at Coteau-du-Lac, county of Soulanges.

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Bosh!" sniffed Galloway. "'Tis absurd, I say, the faith that is put in such a vain and empty hope! I do know that half the delegates have some such folly in their heads. The Declaration is to be offered for signing tomorrow, and, look you, it is in the minds of some members to retard action upon it, hoping such a message from France may bolster faint hearts."

"Thou dost not think they will sign, then?"

"God forbid!" rejoined Galloway fervently. "I cannot believe we are so near madness as that. And yet I would that naught had been heard of a message from France. Methinks tomorrow will be warm. Good night to you, Mordecai."

As the two friends talked the chimes had clangored from Christ church, and just as the tones sounded a stout-trunched old man with a shrewd, simple face under a broad hat lifted the latch of a nearby gate which barred an oblong green yard from the street.

Therein under a mulberry tree where yellow cabbage butterflies went kissing wings a chubby woman was sitting by a table whereon stood some books and a glass bottle containing a two headed snake in spirits. Two tousled children rolled and romped unheeded under foot. The film of twilight was falling from a cooling sky.

"You are late, father," the woman said as the old man greeted her. "Supper is almost ready. Young Mr. Jefferson has sent word that he will be here this evening. I do hope," she added good naturedly, "that you won't sit up all night again over that tiresome paper he is writing. Laws! One would think it had been a real speech?"

She ran to fetch a dish of tea, and her father sat down in his chair and took off his hat. His head was bald, with a fringe of white hair. He was mopping his forehead with a large kerchief when she returned with the tea.

"Bless me!" she said as the gate clicked. "Here is some one to see you already. A young man and handsome," she whispered, as he came nearer, "but how pale!" It was Armand.

"Is this Dr. Franklin?" he inquired.

"It is."

"Sir," said Armand, "a packet was given secretly into your hands to hold for me some time since, sealed with a red seal bearing four lances."

Dr. Franklin drew his brows together with a glance of surprise and shook his head.

"Surely you have received it?"

There was a curious rigor of anxiety in the tone that caused Dr. Franklin to glance sharply at his questioner. The scrutiny satisfied him, for the look of suspicion that had been stiffened by the strenuous times faded into his habitual benevolence.

"I recall none such," he answered gravely. "What name did it bear?"

"It bore no name." The tone shook now with a confusion of apprehension. "I fear that is all the more reason that I could not have forgot it. These are troublous days, sir, and faith not always to be relied upon. To whom did you intrust this document?"

Something like fear had come into the other's eyes, and Dr. Franklin for the first time noted with concern his agitation and pallor.

"To a young lady of Virginia."

"I am sorry, sir, deeply sorry," said the old man, "but no such packet has been put into my hands at any time."

"Poor young man!" sighed the motherly woman a few minutes later as she set the table for supper. "What think you could have been in it, father? He looked as if it had meant life or death to him."

Armand walked slowly through several side streets to the Red Lion tavern, on Sassafras street, one of the less pretentious inns. Here in a dim parlor on the ground floor waited the occupant of the fine coach which had roused the spleen of Joseph Galloway. His hat was flung on a chair, and he strode up and down, his mustachios bristling with impatience.

"Is this Dr. Franklin?"

As Armand entered he embraced him effusively in the French fashion.

"All goes well," he cried. "I have been discreet and have done all you instructed. The congress has named three members to receive you tomorrow at 1 o'clock. Ventrebleu! With the Declaration hanging fire you may believe how eager they are. I have brought your clothes too. Now do Dieu! he exclaimed, holding Armand's hand at arm's length, "to know you were in a British prison! Thank God you escaped their clutches and just in the nick of time too! You shall tell me about it one day."

"Pliarne!" Armand broke in upon the other's chatter. "Pliarne! The letter! I have not got it."

"Not got it?" Pliarne repeated in amazed surprise.

"No. I sent it here to Philadelphia to Dr. Franklin. I did not tell you this, since I expected to find it here. Well, I have seen Dr. Franklin, and it has not been delivered."

Pliarne's face was a study of dismay. "And what will you do?"

Armand had no time to reply, for at that moment there came a knock at the door, and it opened.

Instantly Pliarne bent low in a series of bows to Armand.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them being increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 30 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appliances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $225,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

These Medical Facts

You Can Study With Profit.

How few realize that twenty-five per cent. of all disease has its origin in some interference with the function of elimination.

The whole body exists by reason of the transfusion of fluids through its component parts.

Up to a certain point the body has power to object to destructive elements, but this power is limited.

When it happens that the body is loaded with waste and poisons which it can't eliminate, fermentation, decay, and germ life run riot through the blood.

Serious illness is the result unless nature is assisted by a cleansing tonic like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are purely vegetable, contain no mercury, no bismuth, no injurious metallic ingredients of any kind.

Such a medicine is the greatest possible assurance to every man and woman of health, spirits and contentment.

Grand results are achieved, and famous cures made every day by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, as this letter proves:

From Newfoundland, Miss Lillian Anthony, of Upper Gullies, Conception Bay, writes: "In praise of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I must say that I have used them with grand success for three years. They never fail to cure me of indigestion or constipation. Formerly my face was full of pimples, but now my complexion is clear and ruddy. In more ways than I care to mention have Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped me, they would be good for every woman to use."

Insist on having only Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

Mr. D. Simpson Is in the City

Manager of Columbus Cobalt Mine Reports Good Business Here.

Yesterday Mr. Daniel Simpson, the veteran mining engineer and expert, who has had an experience extending over many countries during the past 25 years, returned to Peterborough, and gave The Times a call.

He noted that many of our local citizens are taking a warm interest in the Columbus Cobalt mine, and has placed many thousand dollars worth of stock in this city. Yesterday over $5000 worth of stock was subscribed for by some of our local citizens.

Mr. Simpson assured us that in all his long and successful career the Columbus Cobalt is the best mining proposition he has ever handled.

The Toronto Globe of Monday in a special despatch, referring to the T. & N. O. Ry., specially mention the Columbus Cobalt property, saying:

"On the Columbus Cobalt property three important veins have been discovered, in addition to the six-foot wide vein of cobaltite which is being worked. This mine is unique, as the mineral cobaltite is not found in any other mine in the district, although the rich Nova Scotia mine resembles it. It is a valuable mineral—carrying a high percentage of silver combined in an unusual way with cobalt. A double gang of men are at work day and night sinking a 200 foot shaft, one hundred feet deep, with one hundred feet of drifting. This property is one of many new ones being developed in the Giroux Lake district."

The despatch goes on to show that the T. & N. O. Railway will open this section of country thus ensuring fertility and cheapness of transportation.

The stock is now selling at 81 per share, Mr. Simpson considers will be worth $50 a share within two years.

Mr. Simpson will be at the Oriental Hotel until five o'clock this afternoon, when he leaves for Cobalt. This expert, of long experience in mining matters and placing stock in mines, he considered good, yesterday remarked to a Times representative that his advertisement in The Times, the only paper in this city, which he used, had brought him splendid results, in fact The Times' ad. had exceeded his expectations.

Moral—Advertise in The Times.

An Abnormal Irish Potato

Mr. R. H. Shepherd, who recently returned from the Old Country, brought with him a Bradshigreogan potato from Dublin, Ireland, and presented it to Mr. R. J. Brody, last week. The potato tipped the scale at three pounds, and was certainly the biggest ever seen in this section. Mr. Brody intends planting it and if the offspring are as bulky as the original, the farmers of this county, will soon be using diamonds to travel on their chicken feed.

Let the Poles Go Off Our Streets.

Some of our citizens seem to think that the Bell Telephone Company's action regarding the underground wiring proposition is a bluff on the council. If any one can work off a bluff on us whereby we will gain as much as will this city by getting rid of the poles from our streets, we are quite willing to be "bluffed." The city simply stands to get rid of a nuisance that old time methods necessitated, and thereby be in line with other cities and towns of progressive character.

Admission to his concert is by invitation solely, and will be attended by Miss Hurley's personal friends, including parents of her pupils.

Local Lawyers' Excursion a Success

Peterborough Barristers are Hosts and Medico's are Guests.

Yesterday about one o'clock the good ship Water Lily sailed or rather was propelled by steam from the local dock at Wolfe street, her cargo being a mixed lot of local legal luminaries and their guests, most of our disciples of Esculapius.

The Water Lily gracefully plowed her course through the waters of the Little Lake towards the locks. After passing the point of detention the Otonabee was followed until that point where the street car tracks end and the cars one more return to town, was reached, when the steamer drew to the western bank and took aboard those who had failed to catch her at her start.

After this short stop the Water Lily with her precious burden of intellect and wisdom swiftly sped onwards the historic waters of Rice Lake.

Those aboard all had the time of their lives. Although the excursion was under the auspices of the legal fraternity, "suits," "nolli prosi," "taxing of costs," "alibis," and "nix comorous" proceedings were mentioned, nor did the guests speak of nux vomica, saws "Murphy" nuptions, nor grabbing orders, until their return to Peterborough.

Those aboard had a thoroughly good time and were unanimous in saying that the lawyers, with all their faults know how to organize an outing.

A Gipsy Luncheon was served and well served in the Harris Hotel.

One feature of the day was a baseball match, Lawyers vs. Medicos, which our provincial medical provider will publish the results.

The party arrived home at an hour that was later than the ordinary benedict would admit to his quarrelsome spouse as a motive.

May Try to Break World's Record

Our readers will remember that The Times gave a detailed report of the splendid work done last year by Mr. H. F. Strickland, when he swam the canal from Lakefield to the lift lock, some through five locks making the distance of over ten miles in exactly five hours and five minutes. Mr. Strickland is in splendid shape to accomplish another feat. He has been talking the matter over with Mr. Corsan and says they may tackle a swim from Juniper Island, Stony Lake, to the lift lock. This would be a distance of about 25 miles. Messrs. Corsan and Strickland would endeavor to make a world's record. Mr. Strickland says the project has not yet taken definite shape but is being discussed by Mr. Corsan and himself.

I.O.O.F. Committees Meet Tonight.

The general committees of the I.O.O.F., which have in preparation all the arrangements for the reception and entertainment of The Grand Lodge, which assembles in Peterborough, during the second week of August, will meet in the I.O.O.F. hall tonight. A full attendance is requested.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and weakening, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

Indecency at Jackson Park

Correspondent Objects to Boys Bathing Unclad.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—I do not wish to pose as a prude but I do think the line of decency should be drawn in a public park belonging to this city.

Yesterday I happened to have a half-day off, and took my daughters to Jackson Park for a few hours' rest from the week's work. Now, whilst only an employee of the factory, I consider my daughters' modesty has as much right to recognition as the child of any man in the town.

As we approached the artificial lake in the park there were several boys in swimming as naked as the day they were born. I do not know who is responsible for the control of Jackson Park, but who ever is should put a stop to this indecent exposure.

I hope your paper will publish this letter and assist in calling attention to this indecent and vulgar display of naked humanity. Had these boys on even trunks I would not care but they did not even have the traditional fig leaf.

Yours truly,

DECENCY.

If You Suffer with Rheumatism

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy Will Bring the Utmost Relief that Medicine Can.

The one remedy which many physicians rely upon to free the system of the Rheumatic Poisons which are the cause of all Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, is Dr. Shoop's RHEUMATIC REMEDY. Dr. Shoop spent twenty years in experimenting before he discovered the combined chemicals which made possible one almost always certain cure for Rheumatism, etc. Not that Dr. Shoop's RHEUMATIC REMEDY is an opium or cocaine, turn body poisons into flesh again, that is impossible. But it can and will drive from the blood the poisons which caused the pain and swelling. And then that is the end of the pain and swelling—the end of the suffering—the end of Rheumatism. This remedy never fails where a cure is possible. It is now put up in tablet or liquid form—ask for either. You who have suffered and are suffering today from pains and aches which you know to be Rheumatism; you who experience lameness or twinges of pain in damp weather; you who easily become stiff and lame without apparent cause—just try DR. SHOOP'S RHEUMATIC CURE. It is just the kind of a remedy that accomplishes results. Sold and recommended by

J. D. TULLY.

Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Company, Limited

Showing position of Paterson and Cart Lakes, being surrounded by shipping mines.

It is surrounded on all sides by large shipping mines, which are producing fabulous wealth every day, such mines as Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley and Daragh on the west side; the Nipissing Mining Company, the Timmins and Tretheway mines to the north; the Savage the Foster, the Lawson, the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, Silver Leaf, Glendenning and the Drummond on the south; the McLeod and Glendenning and Violet Mines on the east. This property also projects into the much-talked-of Gillies timber limit.

It is believed by the directors of the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, that the properties owned by this company are very valuable and are among the very richest in the district. They are advised that all the rich veins now being worked, and which are giving such great financial results, radiate from the centre of Peterson and Cart Lakes.

The Peterson property carries a number of veins of the surrounding properties, such as the Nova Scotia, running in silver from 1,100 to 7,000 ounces per ton.

Now is the time to become interested in Cobalt before the stocks pay large dividends and have a large advance. It is becoming richer every day and streading over a large area.

This Tough Youth Glories in Crime

Aged 15, Tramped All Over the States Goes to Canadian Penitentiary---He Boasts Like a Ruffian.

Toronto June 28.—"When I get back from the pen I'll show this town up."

This was the attitude of Raymond McIntosh, who, with his companion in crime, Conrad Schroeder, was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary yesterday morning. Schroeder, whom McIntosh tried to save by the boldest of perjury, broke down completely as the sentence was pronounced. His two sisters, both pretty, innocent girls, left the court room sobbing, the elder crying. "Oh, why, oh why, did you ever go with that bad, wicked boy? If it hadn't been for him you could go home with us now."

LAST TALK WITH BROTHER.

As the prisoners were led downstairs to the cells the two girls besieged the officials, asking for permission to see their brother. The youngest said: "Oh, I do hope they won't put him with McIntosh in the prison. I know that if he gets a chance he'll be good."

In a small ante-room at headquarters they had a few minutes' conversation with him, and as they bade him farewell Schroeder broke down and cried like a child.

McIntosh was downstairs, walking up and down in front of his cell, talking and laughing with the guard.

"Schroeder got weak and cried, but nothing doing for me. It's hard enough to go down for three years, but I'm not going to weaken now."

Afterwards McIntosh came upstairs and was quite willing to talk to a reporter.

MCINTOSH'S STORY.

"When were you first arrested?"

"I was seven years old and I stole a box just for fun. The policeman tried to arrest me as I was stealing it, and I turned the hose on and drenched him with water."

"How many times have you been arrested since?"

"This is the thirteenth time. My unlucky time, you see."

"What will you do when you come out?"

"Oh, I'll go back to the same old game. I'll come back to Toronto and blow the town up. Kingsford won't be here then, either. You know I can get six months off if I behave. But tied help anyone who crosses me down there. I'll fix them."

"How do you feel about Schroeder?"

"Oh, he's all right. I'll stick to him down there, and come out with him. If I'd got less time that he had I'd have asked the judge to make it up even so I could come out with him."

Then the young desperado switched off to talking about Turner, who was acquitted, through his pals' aid.

"Oh, I'll get square with him. He's a low-down, measly, sneaky, snake-in-the-grass. Just wait till I get out and I'll do him up all right. Just see if I don't."

YOUNG, BUT A TRAMP.

"How old are you now?"

"Just fifteen. But I've done lots of things in my lifetime. I have hobnobbed through all the United States. I was arrested once in Elmira for stealing a ride on an express train, and was given two hours to get out of that town."

"Did you get?"

"No you bet I didn't. I stayed in the place and did a lot of damage before I got out."

"How many trips did you make to New York to dispose of the stolen property?"

"Just one, and then I got rid of a good lot."

"It's lots of fun stealing and breaking it's great sport. When I get out I'll make things lively all right. Just wait and see. And won't I do up Turner. Oh, no! Just watch me."

McIntosh was then taken back to the cells.

A BAD PAIR.

Magistrate Kingsford was severe in his arraignment of the two young prisoners.

The police say that they are "the last" of the worst gang of smash thieves that have bothered Toronto for some time.

"There are five previous convictions against McIntosh, and two against Schroeder," said the magistrate.

"If there is any difference made," said Mr. Corley, "I'd like the difference to be made in McIntosh's favor."

"Schroeder is quite as guilty as McIntosh," remarked his Worship. "Schroeder strikes me as a most callous liar."

"It's worse than lying; it's perjury, said the staff-inspector.

"I wish you'd send Schroeder to the Central Prison," requested Mr. Robinette.

"That doesn't seem to do him any good," replied the Magistrate.

"If you let me off with a light sentence this time I'll never come back again," pleaded Schroeder.

But Magistrate Kingsford was not disposed to be lenient, and said;

"They are both very bad cases, and I'll have to send the two defendants to the penitentiary. I'll sentence them in the Bellmon case to three years in the penitentiary, and McIntosh on six other charges to three years each, and Schroeder on two more to three years, the sentences of each to run concurrently."

TRIED TO ESCAPE.

McIntosh is a resourceful little desperado, and hints that he may never go to the penitentiary. Yesterday morning he made his last break for liberty, and told the detectives that he had some rings and watches hidden in a water-tight box at the foot of Hay street, and said that if he was sent down there with a detective he'd get it for the police.

Acting Detectives Murray and Guthrie took him there, but were warned by Sergeant Duncan, who said:

"Be careful or he'll escape you. It would be just like him to jump into the water and get away."

But the detectives took good care of him, and he was brought back safely. Nothing was found, of course.

Killed Sweetheart and Himself.

New York, June 27.—Enraged because Rose Olly refused his advances, Freeman Longcore, of Avity, near Morristown, N.J., set fire to her home. When she tried to save some of the effects he shot her dead; then, when he was pursued by a crowd, he killed himself.

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock $50,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.

JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.

JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.

DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.

JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq. Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Bobcaygeon Man Is Drowned

The Lindsay Post says:—John Freeman, one of Bobcaygeon's oldest residents, was drowned Friday morning at Emily Creek, near the spot where the C.P.R. track crosses.

It was rumored around town that Mr. William Thurston, of Dunsford, C.P.R. station, had been drowned, but the victim turned out to be Freeman, hunter and trapper.

Particulars are not to hand, but from what can be learned, it seems that Mr. Miller Johns, town was passing and noticed in spurn[illegible] canoe. He went to it, and on coming it over, he discovered Freeman with the trawling and listening around his legs. It appears that the old man, who was game, always fished in this manner. No one knows how the accident happened, but the supposition is advanced that he may have taken a fainting spell, or the same may have swamped in the heavy sea.

The body was removed to Bobcaygeon, his home, when Dr. Burrows, coroner, was notified of the facts by Mr. W. T. C. Boyd. An inquest was deemed unnecessary.

Human Glutton In Eating Match

Berlin, June 28.—In an eating match held at Leipzig the other day between a St. Bernard dog and a man, the human gourmand won easily.

The dog was with his master at a cafe and a dispute arose in relation to the eating capacity of animals. A man backed himself to eat more than the dog and the latter's owner accepted the wager.

The match took place the next evening, when two steaks were ordered for the challenger and Tiras, the St. Bernard. Tiras bolted his in ten seconds, while the man was naturally more deliberate. Two more steaks were disposed of and then the third course was served.

It consisted of dry bread, which the man quickly devoured, but from which Tiras turned away in disgust.

The dog's owner, losing the wager, paid for the four and a case of wine for the winner.

New C. P. R. Line Thro' Local Park

Jackson Park May Have to Go in Interests of City's Welfare.

The C.P.R. surveyors are now at it again, fearing to lose a result of the question met Lindsay to. Peterborough through Jackson Park, which will be practicable for the new grain route from the Georgian Bay. Lindsay is much higher than Peterborough, and thus there is difficulty in getting over the hills west of Jackson Park. As the stakes are being laid out it shows the line to go right through the park and through the hillside, just west of the creek. The road will cross the G.T.R. tracks, and enter the park proper near the barking house, at the bridge. Then it will follow the west side of the creek around to the south street entrance.

Whilst it seems a pity to have our most popular park practically destroyed, the interests of the city are of more consequence than any sentimental regret over the loss of a pleasure ground.

Women's Brave Rescue.

Calgary June 27.—While Mrs. Bond of Sheburn, with another woman and girl were fording Little Red Deer river, the water swept the wagon box away. Mrs. Bond clung to the wagon box, and, though herself in extreme peril, started to rescue the other woman. She got her in the wagon box and the two floated down stream two miles before Mrs. Bond could wade to shore. When she did, it was to find that Mrs. Lumsden, the rescued woman, was dead.

Clergyman to be Sued for Libel.

Hamilton, June 28.—Rev. J. J. Martin, Presbyterian minister of this city, is likely to be a defendant in a libel suit on account of statements made in letters published in the newspapers criticising aldermen for giving permission to the Hamilton, Grimsby & Waterloo Railway to run through Dundurn and Harvey parks. At the City Council meeting last night Ald Wilson defended himself and colleagues against the insinuations of bribery made by the clergyman, and said Rev. Mr. Martin's conduct was scurrilous, and unless the minister made ample apology, it was his intention to sue for libel.

Filthy Conditions in Sausage Shop.

Newark, N. J., June 28.—Four baskets of meat, said to have the appearance of scraps picked up from the floors of butchers shops, dirt and sawdust being present in abundance, together with other scraps of meat which were said to be decaying in the sausage machines were seized by the city health inspectors in a sausage shop run by Harry Rosenthal in a small room in a leather factory. Preservative solutions and coloring matter were also found. Rosenthal received $4 for every hundred pounds of sausage for which they supplied material. They sold the product at 12 cents a pound.

Canadian Canned Meats.

Ottawa, June 28.—Hon Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, is having an investigation made into the canned meat industries of the Dominion, so as to be able to assure the British buyers of the excellence and purity of the Canadian article.

If, during the course of the investigation, should there be any reason for regulations or a system of inspection, the Minister will, no doubt, make the necessary recommendations to the Government. The canned meat industry is a growing one, and the Government should do everything that is possible to prevent its being injured by the recent disclosures in Chicago.

The Park Robber Is Arrested

John Rice Arrested at Cobourg For Holdup in Victoria Park.

Yesterday evening, Chief of Police Ruszel was in receipt of a telegram from Chief of Police Rose, of Cobourg, regarding an important arrest made there yesterday.

Our readers will remember that about two weeks ago, a man named John McGee, was robbed in Victoria park of $65 and a gold watch.

Chief Ruszel at once entered into correspondence with the police authorities of all nearby towns and cities and his efforts were rewarded as above noted, last night.

The alleged holdup man will be brought here from Cobourg today, arriving at about five p.m. He will have a preliminary hearing tomorrow morning.

WANTS CANADA'S SUPPORT.

Liverpool, June 27.—The steamer Majestic, which sails hence June 27, for New York, will take among her passengers, Sir Joseph George Ward, Postmaster-General of New Zealand, who hopes to enlist Canadian support of the proposition to establish a universal two cents postage rate.

Pink Lips, Like Velvet. Rough, Chapped or Cracked Lips, can be made as soft as velvet by applying at bedtime, a light coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. ## Johnston Paudash And the Regatta

Well Known Canoeist of Hiawatha Talks About the Coming Races.

Mr. Johnston Paudash, of Hiawatha who is an enthusiastic canoeman, last night called on The Times, regarding the coming regatta at Crawford's Grove or Rye's boat house next week. Mr. Paudash was largely instrumental in getting up this boat race and has done good work in the matter. He has always been a main factor in making the Rice Lake regatta at Hiawatha a success.

In this regatta, possibly the most interesting feature will be an international canoe race. This will be for double canoes, 16 feet or over, and in it representatives of Canada, England, Italy, Ireland, Scotland, Greece, not to mention our own Indian wards will participate, and a hot contest is looked for.

Child Swallowed Pistol and May Die

London, June 27.—The infant son of Mrs. W. Mills, West London, swallowed a toy pistol about an inch and a half in length, and is likely to die. The child is in the teething stage, and was biting on the pistol. An operation cannot be performed on account of the infants tender age.

Canada's "All Night" Bank.

Ottawa, June 28.—The banking committee in the House of Commons have reported the bill respecting the Monarch Bank. The Monarch is the bank that expected to keep open all day and night. The head office will be in Toronto, and there will be an all-night branch in Montreal.

Bank May Have Canadian Board.

Montreal, June 27.—It was reported in financial circles today that the Bank of British North America had in hand a plan whereby a Canadian directorate would be established. This it is understood would not do away with the present London board, but would rather supplement it.

The idea of a British institution, such as the Bank of British North America having a Canadian directorate is not altogether new, as some of the insurance companies, such for instance the Liverpool, London & Globe, have a Canadian as well as a British board.

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE

Agrees With Him About Food.

A trained nurse says: "In the practice of my profession I have found so many points in favor of Grape-Nuts food that I unhesitatingly recommend it to all my patients.

"It is delicate and pleasing to the palate (an essential in food for the sick) and can be adapted to all ages, being softened with milk or cream for babies or the aged when deficiency of teeth renders mastication impossible. For invalid patients or those on liquid diet I find Grape-Nuts and albumen water very nourishing and refreshing. This recipe is my own idea and is made as follows: soak a tea-spoonful of Grape-Nuts in a glass of water for an hour, strain and serve with the beaten white of an egg and a spoonful of fruit juice or flavoring. This affords a great deal of nourishment that even the weakest stomach can assimilate without any distress.

"My husband is a physician and he uses Grape-Nuts himself and orders it many times for his patients.

"Personally I prefer a dish of Grape-Nuts with fresh or stewed fruit as the ideal breakfast for anyone—well or sick." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

In any case of stomach trouble, nervous prostration or brain fag, a 10 days trial of Grape-Nuts will work wonders toward nourishing and rebuilding and in this way ending the trouble. "There's a reason." Try it and prove.

English Expert In This City

Mr. F. C. Armstrong, of London, Eng., is in the city on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, Weller street. Mr. Armstrong is a Peterborough boy, and is connected with one of the largest electrical companies in London, Eng., and draws a salary per year that runs into five figures. His position is that of a travelling salesman and in this capacity he has visited many parts of the globe and assisted in installing several large electrical plants.

Mr. Armstrong was formerly connected with the Canadian General Electrical Company. He is a thorough electrician and is getting on splendidly in the old land.

Mr. Armstrong will return to England shortly.

The Coming Boat Races Discussed

The Course Will Probable Be Near Rye's Boat House.

A meeting will be held in the Oriental tonight for the purpose of completing arrangements, for the Peterborough regatta next month.

One matter to be considered is the location of the course. A great many strongly favor the course in the vicinity of Rye's boat house. When one really considers the question, it is readily seen that this is without doubt the proper course. The river is wide and deep along that point, and it is clear of weeds. At Crawford's Grove there are weeds on each sides, and a swift current in the center, besides the disadvantage of the Yankee Bonnet, to be contended with.

This regatta, whenever held, will doubtless result in an immense attendance and a revival of Peterborough's old time interest in canoe and boat contests.

June Brides of Yesterday

Yesterday Don Cupid chuckled over the successful thrusts of his darts as at least three weddings were celebrated last night.

At six o'clock Mr. Samuel Loudry, on the staff of Mr. Hunter took as his bride Miss. Kate McGregor, of the east ward. This marriage was quietly celebrated at the residence of the bride, the ceremony being performed by the Bethany mission minister.

CROSS—WALSH.

Yesterday afternoon at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Robt. Walsh, 19 Conger street, Miss Emma Sylvania Walsh, became the bride of Mr. Henry Cross.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Scott, in the presence of a number of invited guests. The house was charmingly decorated with natural flowers. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Maggie Walsh, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Luther Cross.

The bride looked very pretty in a costume of cream crepe de chene, trimmed with lace and chiffon, with white chiffon hat to match.

After the ceremony had been performed a wedding dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross left on the 9 o'clock G.T.R. train for Clayton, Ohio where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride's going away costume was of navy blue ladies' cloth with silk blouse. The happy couple will reside in Peterborough.

POTTER—THOMPSON.

A quiet wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. R. Thompson, 378 Stewart street, the principals being her daughter, Miss Nellie Thompson, and Mr. Donald Potter, son of Mr. Jas. Potter, of Kingston.

The marriage was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, brother of the groom. Only the immediate relatives were present and the bridal couple were unattended. The bride wore a becoming costume of white silk colienne, her going away gown being of black silk net, waist and hat to match.

After the ceremony a wedding dejeuner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Potter left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train for points west. On their return they will reside at 378 Stewart street.

Among the presents received were silver tea service from Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, silver pudding dish from the employes of H. P. Kennedy's store, and a purse of gold from the drovers who are connected with the business. The Cordage Company's office staff sent a cabinet of silver as a token of their esteem.

THORBURN—JOHNSTON

A quiet wedding took place yesterday morning at six o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Johnston, 92 Weller street, when their daughter, Miss Flora Emma, was united in marriage to Mr. Archibald Thorburn, of Victoria Harbor. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few friends by Rev. J. G. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's church. The bride, who was married in a pretty travelling costume of blue was unattended. After the nuptials, a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Thorburn left on the 7.20 G.T.R. train for Toronto. The newly wedded couple will reside in Victoria Harbor.

Mrs. Thaw Got Letters After Marriage

Received Many Communications From White, Who Was Dogged by Detectives.

New York, Jun 28.—With the police coroners, and district attorney's office working practically day and night to learn all the details of the event which led up to the murder of Stanford White by Harry K. Thaw, and all sources silent as to their discoveries, there was much room for speculation yesterday on all phases of the case. The motive for the murder the police believe was outlined in Thaw's brief statement that his home had been ruined, and with this as a basis of investigation detectives were sent in various directions looking up Thaw's affairs in New York and investigating the many stories told and published concerning Stanford White's conduct.

GOT LETTERS AFTER MARRIAGE

Mrs. Thaw is with friends today, ready to respond to a call from the district attorney's office. Perhaps the most interesting development, yesterday was the announcement that Mrs. Thaw told her husband's lawyers that she had received many letters from Mr. White since her marriage. One of these she threw on her dressing table a few days ago, and her husband found it and vowed vengeance on the writer. While the finding of this letter may have been the direct cause of the tragedy, Thaw's jealousy of and hatred for White were of long standing, and the young man made frequent threats to kill him.

After a conference lasting from 11 o'clock last night until after two o'clock this morning in the tenderloin police station Mr. Turnbull made the significant statement, that they had located many new witnesses, "including many for the defence."

THAW MUCH BRIGHTER.

Harry K. Thaw's first night in the Tombs prison, under a charge of murder, was an uneventful one. He retired early, slept soundly and peacefully throughout the night, and arose apparently rested and refreshed. His whole appearance was changed. He showed much brighter than at any time since the tragedy. After a light breakfast, which was supplied by the prison caterer, Thaw asked for and was given all the morning newspapers. He glanced through them hastily, giving particular attention to the headlines and illustrations in connection with the story in which he was the central figure. He appeared to be greatly pleased when informed that Mrs. Thaw had expressed an intention to visit him in the prison during the day.

USED NO STIMULANT.

According to the prison officers, Thaw began to regain his composure soon after he was placed in the cell in the Tombs. He spent a quiet evening and long before the hour for "lights out," began preparations for retiring for the night. Dr. McGuire, the Tombs physician, called at the prisoner's cell just before ten o'clock and asked if anything could be done for him. Thaw replied in the negative. The physician remarked that he supposed Thaw had been accustomed to having a stimulant of some kind before retiring, and that he would miss it. He told the prisoner, however, that under the prison rules, he could not be permitted to indulge his habit. Thaw admitted that the physician's surmise was correct, and he appeared grateful when the physician told him he had left two portions for him, in case he should be restless during the night and unable to sleep. However, he was strongly urged not to call for them unless he felt himself unable to do without them. In the morning the liquor remained untouched, the prisoner having enjoyed a good night's sleep.

The first meeting of the quarterly official board for the new year of George street Methodist church was held Tuesday night Rev. Dr. Crothers was granted an increase in salary, and given four weeks holidays. Mr. H. Shortly was appointed missionary treasurer, Mr. J. Jeffries, educational treasurer, and Mr. Wm. Eyres and Mr. Wight, delegates to the district meeting.

Street Cars For Young's Point

It was currently rumored yesterday that street railway company's lines to Young's Point will be commenced almost immediately. The recent visit of Mr. Robt. Stuart was partly in connection with the extension. While here he went over the route of the proposed line, and is said to have made a most favorable report, which means that the work will be begun as soon as arrangements are completed. Mr. Harmouth, manager of the street railway company, was out of the city yesterday, hence no official information about the matter could be obtained. His trip is said to be in connection with making arrangements for starting the work at once.

Terror of Spring is Sickness

What Are You Doing to Protect Your Weak Body Against Spring Fever?

A delay gives the germs and weakness a better chance to take hold.

Don't wait, think of your small resisting powers, and begin building up today!

For weakness, overwork and debility the doctors prescribe Ferrozone; let it help you now.

Vitality and power are instilled into the blood; this means new strength for all weak organs.

The fire of youth will dance in your veins, and new found energy will increase your desire to work.

Ferrozone supplies the nourishment and tissue-building material your system lacks. Isn't this "a reason why"

Mrs. Jno. Dean, from Cottenmere, Ont., writes as follows: "For a number of years I was sickly in the springtime. I felt tired, nervous and had headaches. My blood was weak and damp days brought on rheumatism. My nervous system was unstrung, and I felt utterly worn out. Ferrozone revived me in a short time. In two days my appetite increased and I could feel a building up process going on. This great tonic made a new person of me, and I don't think a more strengthening medicine for the spring can be found."

Wouldn't it be just fine to get back your old time spirits and vigor? Easily done with "Ferrozone;" commence today. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE WIDENING SPHERE OF SANITATION.

A gratifying result of the progress of bacteriology in recent years and of the wider diffusion of knowledge of hygiene is an increased demand on the part of the public for efficient sanitation. "Sanitas sanitatum, omnia sanitas," said Lord Beaconsfield, in a prophetic way, many years ago, having in view the fact that the enforcement of sanitary conditions is becoming the highest of municipal and national duties. The public health is now at length beginning to be recognized as the greatest public interest. The crowding of population into cities in the last three decades has had at least this compensating result, that it has compelled science to take note of the special evils created by such crowding and to devise remedies. A vast mass of knowledge that was not available a few years since—and the public conscience insists upon its application for the reduction of the death rate. Typhoid epidemics, for example, are no longer acquiesced in as natural and inevitable, but are traced to the negligence of municipal health officials. Tuberculosis is held to be a problem which it is the duty of the municipality and state to undertake to solve. The milk supply is understood to be a serious factor of the public health, and the public authorities are expected to regulate it with a view to securing cleanliness and wholesomeness. The water supply must be kept pure at any cost to the taxpayers. To secure pure air in dwelling and streets sewer systems and draining systems are similarly provided at great expense. Formerly these things were little thought of, but a better, enlightened public now deems them indispensable. To the good housekeeper cleanliness was ever next to godliness, but it was a domestic virtue and had not been projected into the broader sphere of municipal state and national interests. Its widest extension is exemplified in President Roosevelt's recent call upon congress to enforce wise sanitary precautions in the Chicago meat packing establishments. An echo of the president's demand is heard in the suggestion from many quarters that other cities besides Chicago need to regulate the conditions under which butchers conduct their business.

Municipal corporations, unlike others, may be said to have souls, because they have a conscience. They have no selfish interests, but have duties commensurate with the larger needs of their citizens, which duties they cannot wish to escape. If they have a religion, it embraces as its fundamental dogmas sanitation and hygiene, upon which the present welfare of citizens absolutely depends. Pure air, pure water, pure food—these are practical tests of municipal efficiency and constitute the "good works" which a municipality must regard as prime tests of perfection. With good sanitation and correct diet, life is vigorous, disease is infrequent and business becomes a pleasure. A sound mind in a sound body was described by Juvenal, the famous Latin poet, as the best gift of the gods. The new view is that it is the proper gift of the state. It should be, it is held, the highest aim of statesmanship. We have our public schools, private schools, colleges and universities to form the sound mind, but their work will be wholly ineffectual unless at the same time we create, through sanitation, the conditions which produce the sound body.

REFUSED TO DINE

Wealthy American in Muskoka Rebukes Local Man who Caught Fish with Net.

Bracebridge, June 27.—From one of the northern sections were many Toronto people spend the hot summer months an interesting story comes. It is the custom now for Americans to visit the same waters, and one of the latter went up early to prepare his summer residence for the reception of his family—and to spend some time with hook and line in the deep, calm water of the quiet nooks, with oftimes immense success.

Not so many days ago one wealthy Pittsburger, of steel trust fame, was cruising among the islands in search of a favorable spot to drop his line when he happened 'round a bend where a representative business man from one of the nearby towns was enjoying a day's fishing at his island home.

Inquiry elicited the fact that the steel man had fished all morning and got nothing, while the local man had several splendid beauties displayed on the pier.

"Won't you have a couple?" asked the latter angler. "Well, I would like some, but I want to esteb them," replied the other. After some further discussion of previous successes, and the quality of that particular morning's catch, the local man was delighted at having the multi-millionaire accept an invitation to dine off the small-mouthed kind. The launch was swung in and all was in readiness to repair to the house for dinner when a certain amount of freedom sprung up and the man from the south was requested to wait a moment, and the genial host paddled over to a secluded spot and raised a net from which he took two lovely specimens of the finny tribe.

"And would you do that?" gruffly demanded the wealthy American.

"No one knows," was the reply.

"You'd do that, eh! Good-day, sir," and the visitor boarded his launch and steamed away.

The business man for some reason, does not now look for the wealthy man's presence or patronage at this store—and he is not disappointed.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MR. BLAKE SPEAKS FOR CATHOLICS

They Demand a Definite Right Religious Teaching in Schools.

London, June 27.—In the House of Commons debate clause four was taken up, to give extended facilities to denominational teaching on a four-fifths vote.

Mr. Blake strongly supported the deal to make the clause mandatory. Catholics and other religious bodies, said, demanded a definite right to specific religious teaching in the schools, not at the caprice of any local authority, but on the mandate of Parliament itself.

The most extraordinary provision was that in cases in which four-fifths of the facilities were granted no rent be paid, and he could only characterize it as a mean, shabby arrangement.

Rather than go without these facilities the Catholic schools would pay the extorted price. The cardinal objection of the Catholics was that there was no declaration that was obligatory to give these facilities.

Losing Hair

That is too bad! Been coming out for a long time, has it? So much the worse! But it is not so bad as it might be, for you can stop this falling, and you can stop it quickly, too! There is one remedy, just one—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It stops falling hair, cures dandruff, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. We speak from long experience.

BULLFROG RED OAK CO. STOCK

which we advocated for purchase at 60c., is now $1.10 and with the advance but just begun.

Buy this stock NOW before further radical rise takes place.

WESTERN UNION OIL STOCK

which we urged our clients to purchase at $110.00 per share, is now 53% bid, with a few lots offered under $400. Western Union Oil is a conservative investment at this price.

Of the cheaper stocks, we now recommend without hesitation

FAIRVIEW CENTRAL MINING CO.
Stock at 15c. per share

payable 1-3 cash, 1-3 in 30 days, and 1-3 in 60 days from date of purchase.

Situated in the heart of a new and phenomenally rich district of Nevada, FAIRVIEW bids fair to rival the very richest of the older Nevada camps.

FAIRVIEW CENTRAL gives promise of uncovering high-values, and under the conservative business management of its officers will be one of the GREAT MINES OF A GREAT DISTRICT.

But this stock and hold it for a permanent investment.

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Accept my most profound salutations, monseigneur," he said in tones of elaborate ceremony. "I shall be pleased to accompany you on your distinguished errand tomorrow afternoon."

"M. Pllarne," said Armand easily, "this is my good friend, Captain Jarrat. Au revoir, monsieur—jusqu'au matin!"

CHAPTER XV.

MORE than one along the south road that sultry morning of July 4 turned to gaze after a fair haired girl who passed upon a lead white horse, with a negro boy behind her astride a sorrel. Yellow dust splotched Anne's olive cloak as she rode into the town, and yellow dust clung to John the Baptist's wool.

How many leagues? She would have been worn but for the purpose that buoyed her up. She rode some way, paying as little heed to the sparse groups along the streets or to the few painted Indians lounging with their peltry in the squares as to the beetle browed roofs or the wooden statuary in the pretentious yards.

Her thoughts were busy with the past. They flew back to that night at Gladden Hall, her last view of Armand, when Jarrut's troopers had dragged him away: to the flight of Dunmore and his family, his wanton burning of Norfolk with his rabble of runaway slaves, and the last fight at Gwyn's island, whence the impotent earl, with his brutal aid, Captain Foy, sailed away to the north, never again to set foot upon Virginian soil; to her anguished wonder as to Armand's fate meanwhile. Even Henry's return from the Second congress, the news that Colonel Washington had been elected commander in chief of colonial forces and the glorious outcome of his long siege of Boston had not been able to cheer her.

She thought of the long hours she had watched by the bedside of the bondwoman with grave faced Dr. Craik watching her slow return to life; of the still longer days when she had sat by the listless figure who only stared leaden eyed and with brain piteously dulled to hear asked over and over again with desperate earnestness that same question, "Where is it—can't you remember?"—a question met always with the same result; of the long, fruitless search, the unreasoning faith in him that would not yield to recital or argument, and finally the lucky accident which had given her the clew to the packet's hiding place.

She had started the selfsame day, taking John the Baptist with her, leaving a hurried message for her uncle and aunt, who were then away in Richmond. And this, the twelfth day thereafter, found her at her journey's end riding into the wide, clean thoroughfares of Philadelphia.

"Mis' Annie"—John the Baptist's solemn drawl broke her reverie—"dat yaller boy at de place whar we stayed las' night say dee gwinter mek ev'ybody ekal. Do dat mean we niggers gwine ter be white lak you, or is y'all gwine ter be black lak me?"

But Anne had no answer.

Going toward High street, her course lay by the open green on which the new statehouse fronted. She noticed that the pavements were almost deserted and found herself thinking wonderingly that the streets of Richmond were noisier.

It was with a start of surprise that on turning a corner by the green she pulled up without warning on the skirts of a great hushed crowd, well ordered, moving restlessly under tree that shrilled with locusts.

Most of those nearer the front were country. They walked back and forth slowly, trampling the blue thistles and whortleberry bushes. Next them was a stratum of the trading and working classes. No wonder the wealthier merchants jeered them, for they were trousers of course drill, even leather jerkins, and some carried tools. Here was a group of weavers from Germantown, and not far away a knot of Swedes from Wicaco. The older men among these wore leggings and skin coats.

On the outskirts of all, here and there, holding themselves aloof, walked statelier, heavier figures in small clothes of rich velvets and satins and wearing powdered wigs.

They—crested irritable looks, these "Pennsylvania lords," as the bitter Adams called them. It was bad weather for Tories. From the yard of Clarke's inn, across the street, they looked askance at the workmen, passing sneering allusions to the representatives from Massachusetts, angered at the assumption of legislative powers by men clearly of more humble blood than themselves.

They saw the cannon in position by the statehouse and the Continental flags fluttering from the shipping in the harbor. They knew that in the nearby woods five battalions of Associators, drilled and armed, were awaiting any outcome. They knew that the people were ready, if only their leaders should choose.

Anne upon her tired horse looked with wonder at this earnest, quiet crowd and thrilled with a new sense of the dignity of the assemblage within those brick walls. The heat was simmering, and she had thrown open the thin cloak she wore, showing a flash of crimson waist with a sheen of metal buttons.

Mordecai Floyd, looking on near by, gazed on her with pursed lips.

"Small wonder," he said grimly, "that unrighteousness doth overwhelm the children of the world and move them to wrath when we see all about us the testimony of unbelief. Lust of the eye, Friend Joseph, lust of the eye!"

Joseph Galloway, standing by him, looked at the girl, so straight and young and bright hued; then his crafty look returned. "Consider the lilies of the field," he quoted with unction as he took snuff.

"I doubt not," pursued the Quaker, wagging his pow, "'twas designed to cast a bar upon the vanity of apparel since 'tis a thing of so little estimation in the sight of God that he bestows it in the highest degree upon the meanest of his creatures. 'Tis to be presumed that, were it a thing of worth in itself, instead of bestowing colors, gildings and broideries upon tulips, he had bestowed them upon creatures of higher dignity. To mankind he hath given but sparingly of gaudy features, a great part of them being black, a great part of them being tawny and a great part being of other wan and dusky complexions, showing that 'tis not the outward adornment that he wishes, but the appearing in supplication for the ornamenting of the Spirit."

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on over the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $270,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

These Medical Facts

You Can Study With Profit.

How few realize that twenty-five per cent. of all disease has its origin in some interference with the function of elimination.

The whole body exists by reason of the transfusion of fluids through its component parts.

Up to a certain point the body has power to object to destructive elements, but this power is limited.

When it happens that the body is loaded with wastes and poisons which it can't eliminate, fermentation, decay, and germ life run riot through the blood.

Serious illness is the result unless nature is assisted by a cleansing tonic like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are purely vegetable, contain no mercury, no bismuth, no injurious metallic ingredients of any kind.

Such a medicine is the greatest possible assurance to every man and woman of health, spirits and contentment.

Grand results are achieved, and famous cures made every day by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, as this letter proves.

From Newfoundland, Miss Lillian Anthony, of Upper Gullies, Conception Bay, writes: "In praise of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I must say that I have used them with grand success for three years. They never fail to cure me of indigestion or constipation. Formerly my face was full of pimples, but now my complexion is clear and ruddy. In more ways than I care to mention have Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped me; they would be good for every woman to use."

Insist on having only Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

The officers of 57th regiment have received their new "Sam Brown" belts which were ordered some time ago. They were worn for the first time Tuesday night and are very attractive. They are light brown in color and designed to be stylish and comfortable.

Mr. Cochrane's Books Audited.

The Toronto Globe of yesterday said:—At the request of George Cochrane, retiring License Inspector of West Peterborough, who relinquishes his office on July 1, Chief Officer Saunders will send a member of his staff to examine his books. Mr. Cochrane declines to hand the books over until this is done, so that there shall be no question as to their correctness."

Large Crowd at Jackson Park.

Last night fully 2,000 people enjoyed the well rendered music of a contingent under leader Glidden of the 57th Regt at Jackson Park. This lovely breathing spot, with its tree-covered grass carpeted lawns and wilderness, and its ozone-laden atmosphere is daily becoming more and more popular among those who for a five-cent ticket can get away from heated houses for a few hours. The bowling alley recently established has "caught on," and is being well patronized by those liking healthy amusement under the fresh air of this charming spot.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—The Grand Lodge committees of the I.O.O.F., met yesterday evening.

—The doctors did up the lawyers at baseball during their annual outing at Gore's Landing.

—Alex Muir, author of "The Maple Leaf," died suddenly at his home in Toronto Tuesday night.

—Mr Van Blaricom, editor of the Review, we regret to say is laid up with an attack of la grippe.

—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. will hold their regular monthly meeting at 3.30 p.m., at the Y.M.C.A.

—The semi-annual election of officers for the Board of Management of St. Andrew's church took place last night after the prayer meeting.

—The Oriental hotel bus, which has undergone many changes, has been placed on the regular route again. The vehicle is now one of the neatest and most attractive of any in the city.

—The local examinations in pianoforte playing of the Toronto Conservatory of Music (Dr. Edward Fisher, musical director), was held Tuesday by Mr. Frank S. Welsman, in the Y.M.C.A. hall.

—The Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company are advertising for tenders for the erection of a brick warehouse on concrete foundations. The building will be 40x100 feet and one storey high.

—Messrs. Rooke & Marsh, the Albert street painters and decorators have just completed a handsome sign for Mr. John Mercer's butcher shop on Hunter street. These young men are doing splendid work.

—It looks like the local fruit dealers had taken a purge out of the coal dealers' rules and regulations. Strawberries this year are more plentiful than they have been for years, but still the prices are up, way up!

Lax-ets—A Candy Bowel Laxative.
If you have Constipation,
If you have a coated tongue,
If you are dizzy, bilious, sallow,
If you have Headaches, Sour Stomach, etc., risk 5 cents on Lax-ets. See for yourself. J. D. Tully.

Only Soldiers Allowed Aboard

The 57th regiment will carry no "dead-heads" on its trip to Brantford this year. On former occasions when the regiment has had an outing, there have been always a number of men who have managed to beat their way along at the expense of the regiment. They have a friend in some company and make use of his military coat while the conductor is passing through.

Col. Miller has arranged to have the train carrying the regiment to Brantford stopped just outside the city limits, and to have the paymaster and conductor go through the cars and see that all on board are entitled to be there.

Barrie Visitors In the City

Messrs. H. G. Robertson and W. Lenn, of Barrie, Ont., were in the city yesterday in connection with, and to make arrangements for a movement on foot to run a big excursion from Barrie to Peterborough on August 9th, the second day of the Grand Lodge, I.O.O.F. convention here. They were given over first to the management of the street railway company, who sent Mr. Herb Fife with the visitors to visit Jackson Park. Messrs. Robertson and Lenn looked around the city and saw what accommodation can be provided.

Mrs. G. Ryerson Passes Away

In our issue of last Friday appeared a notice in the effect that Mrs. Geo. Ryerson, wife of Mr. Ryerson, an employe of the Wm. Hamilton Co., had gone to Galt, Ont., on a visit with friends there.

Yesterday a telegram was received by Mr. Ryerson notifying him of the death of his wife in the Galt hospital.

This is a particularly sad death, the deceased being a young woman, who leaves her husband, but no family to mourn her loss.

Particulars were not available yesterday.

DON'T DOSE THE STOMACH

Cured Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei.

There is one treatment for nasal catarrh which is based upon common sense, and at the same time, is thoroughly scientific.

Hyomei is not a cure-all; it is a specific for the cure of catarrhal troubles. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the aromatic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote part of the nose, throat, and lungs, healing all inflammation and killing the catarrhal germ wherever present. The complete Hyomei outfit sells for $1, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life-time, and if more Hyomei is needed, extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that treats this disease without stomach dosing, applying the medication and healing where the germs are present.

Do not dose the stomach to cure nasal catarrh; breathe Hyomei.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. Robt. McCollum was in Orillia yesterday.

—Mr. Fred McGrath is home from New York, spending a few holidays.

—Miss Ellen Moffat and Mr. R. J. Moffat left yesterday for Elgin, Man.

—Mr W. J. Cook, of Belleville, was a guest at the Snowden House yesterday.

—Mr. T. H. G. Deane left yesterday on a business trip to Washington, D.C.

—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lorimer leave today for Muskoka, where they will spend the next few days.

—Miss Minnie Miller, of Toronto, is spending a few days at the home of Mr J. A. McWilliams, east end.

—Among the recent visitors at the Globe Office in London, England, the name of Miss H. Eardley-Wilmot appears.

—Mr. J. A. Tripp, M.D., Cleveland, O., was a guest at the Snowden House yesterday, en route to Kawartha Lakes.

—Mr Randolph Soules of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. Wm. Thompson, Stewart street, for the Thompson-Potter wedding.

—Mrs Macfarlane Wilson and daughter, Miss Madelon Wilson, left yesterday for Sicilia, where they will spend a few days.

—Mrs. G. B. VanBlaricom and daughter, Eileen, who have been spending the past month in Belleville, have returned home.

—Mr. A. Poe, of the American Parcel Co., has returned after a three weeks' visit at his home in Baltimore, Md., New York and other points.

—Mrs F. M. Van der Water and children, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, are the guests of Mrs. D. J. DeVine, 408 1-2 George street.

—Mr and Mrs. James S. Potter, of Kingston, and their daughter, Mrs. William Jackson, arrived in the city yesterday morning to attend the Potter-Thompson nuptials.

—Rev. Alfred Bright, assistant pastor of St. Paul's and Knox churches, will leave this week on his holidays which he will spend in Kingston and Montreal. He will be out of the city during July.

—Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Daisy May Secombe A.T.C.M., formerly of Keene, only daughter of Rev. W. B. Secombe of Thomasburg, Ont., to Dr. Howard Ashton Sewell, of Shelburne, Ont. The marriage will take place early in September.

57th Regt. Boys Having Good Time

The two composite companies of the 57th Regt., are having a great time at the Cobourg camp. Their trip was made in very slow time the boys being nearly three hours and a half on the train. At Garden Hill, where the train stopped for nearly twenty minutes, a number of the boys got off and had refreshments. Unfortunately they dallied too long and Nicholls of No. 8 Co., after making a record break for the swiftly leaving train was left behind.

As their train pulled into the Cobourg station the boys were met by their comrades of the 21th Field Battery and the Third Dragoons and Sergt.-Major Brittain, who marched with them to the camp grounds.

The composite regiment was to have consisted of six companies — two from the 14th Prince of Wales, Kingston, two from the 15th Argyle Light Infantry, Belleville, and two from the 57th Rangers, Peterborough, but there will only be four companies, owing to the fact that the two Kingston companies did not come.

Lt.-Col. Haliwell, of Belleville, is in command of the composite regiment and Captain Bennett of the Peterborough Rangers is adjutant.

It has been noted at Cobourg that the two companies from Peterborough are better up in the drill and look more soldier-like than any other regiment in the camp.

The disgusting discharges from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath, are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Such soothing antiseptic agents as Eucalyptus, Thymol, Wild Indigo, etc., have been incorporated Sister a snow white cream making a catarrhal balm unexcelled. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Meaning of Will Was Decided

Yesterday an important decision was rendered by Mr. Justice Anglin, in Toronto. It seems that there has been some trouble over the somewhat peculiar will made by Almira G. Foley, of Peterborough, who died in 1902, leaving an estate of $15,000 to $50,000. The testatrix left her estate to the poor of Peterborough, subject however to annuities to some twenty-two people. Three of her beneficiaries have died, and the point at issue was whether the portion of the income to which they would have been entitled should now go to the poor of Peterborough, or be divided among the surviving annuities. Mr. Justice Anglin decided that the intention of the testatrix was that the entire income should go to the annuities so long as one survived.

Procurator Declares Dreyfus Innocent

Paris, June 28.—Procurator-General Besaudin, in his argument on the Dreyfus case, declared his conviction that Dreyfus was innocent, and that Major Count Esterhazy was guilty. He urged that all the proceedings be quashed without retrial.

China's Policy in Manchuria.

London, June 27.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Tokio says: It is stated that Yuan Shi Kai, Governor of the Province of Chi Li and Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese forces, will be appointed Chinese Governor-General of Manchuria, and that this indicates that China intends to pursue a strong policy there.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone-root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

The attention of his Worship at yesterday's police court, was taken up with the case of James Lisle who is an expert lumberman, and makes his $100 a month when working, who has for some weeks been dallying too frequently and too long with the goods that exhilarate and then go back on their taker. James has been out of work so long, and been carrying so often with the cup that cheers that his coin ran out.

He was charged with being a rag, and was sent to Castle Nesbitt for one week to let his system get cleaned of the alcohol.

Another case was tried, that of Mike Pappis, the George street tobacconist and shoe shine man, against his three former employes, Mikel Cokoleidis and George and Louis Pourgecords, who are charged with stealing several boxes of shoe polish from Pappis' shop.

Owing to the fact that several witnesses were not on hand, the case was enlarged until this morning.

It seems that those charged with this theft allege that they were brought from the classic shores of Greece, to work for Mr. Pappas, on the understanding that Pappas was to feed and clothe the boys and send their wages to the boys' parents in Greece. They boys claim that their wages were not sent as contracted for. The father of one of the boys who has been living at Kingston, Ont., was to have arrived here last night to give evidence.

Local Men Go to Port Hope

Yesterday morning Mr. R. H. Rogers, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Mr. Geo. Lundy and his friend, Mr. Currie left for Port Hope, to be present at the closing exercises of Trinity College. The Peterborough party will return this evening. They travelled in Mr. Lundy's automobile and had a most enjoyable trip.

Work Begun on Peterborough Line

Lindsay Post says that Engineer W. A. Gourley returned from Toronto last night, and will start at once to lay out the work for the contractor for the new C.P.R. line from Victoria Harbor to the main line east of Peterborough. The tenders will be opened on July 7th. The Scugog will be crossed just north of the Rankin mill on a high bridge under which farmers can pass.

Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Company, Limited

Showing position of Paterson and Cart Lakes, being surrounded by shipping mines.

It is surrounded on all sides by large shipping mines, which are producing fabulous wealth every day, such mines as Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley and Daragh on the west side; the Nipissing Mining Company, the Timmins and Tretheway mines to the north; the Savage the Foster, the Lawson, the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, Silver Leaf, Glendenning and the Drummond on the south; the McLeod and Glendenning and Violet Mines on the east. This property also projects into the much-talked-of Gillies timber limit.

It is believed by the directors of the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, that the properties owned by this company are very valuable and are among the very richest in the district. They are advised that all the rich veins now being worked, and which are giving such great financial results, radiate from the centre of Peterson and Cart Lakes.

The Peterson property carries a number of veins of the surrounding properties, such as the Nova Scotia, running in silver from 1,100 to 7,000 ounces per ton.

Now is the time to become interested in Cobalt before the stocks pay large dividends and have a large advance. It is becoming richer every day and streading over a large area.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

He Ruined My Wife And I Fixed Him

At Inquest Yesterday These Are Sworn to Be the Words Thaw Used After He Had Shot White---Thaw is Declared Sane.

New York, June 29—Harry Thaw passed a rather restless night on his cell in the Tombs. He seemed to be in fairly good spirits when he arose, however and after careful toilet ate his breakfast with evident relish.

It had been planned to begin the inquest at half past nine o'clock, but, as Coroner Dooley had spent nearly the entire night in work on the case, he was delayed more than an hour in reaching the criminal court building.

A great crowd had gathered, but they were held in check by a large force of police. Every seat in the coroner's court was filled.

When Thaw was brought in he took a seat beside his counsel.

The first witness called was Coroners' Physician Dr. Timothy D. Lehan, who performed the autopsy on White's body. He declared that death was caused by a gun shot wound, the bullet entering the right eye.

The most important testimony at the inquest was given by Lionel Lawrence, stage director at the Madison Square Roof Garden Theater. Lawrence said that immediately after the shooting Mrs. Thaw rushed up to her husband, and, throwing her arms around his neck, said; "Never mind, Harry, I will stick to you through thick and thin." Thaw turned to the crowd which surrounded them and said; "That d——— ruined my wife and I got him and I fixed him for it."

The inquest was completed and the case submitted to the jury shortly after 11 o'clock.

They brought in a verdict that White came to his death by gunshot wounds inflicted by Harry K. Thaw.

THAW DECLARED SANE.

The coroner's inquest and the meeting of the grand jury, both formally to name the murderer of Stanford White, divided public interest with the developments of yesterday, when an insanity commission declared Harry K. Thaw sane, and Mrs. Thaw visited her husband in his cell in the Tombs prison.

There was much speculation as to just when position Mrs. Thaw would taken when she appeared before the Grand Jury. It was asserted that the wife had told her friends that she would go to prison rather than testify in the Grand Jury room, where proceedings are secret, and where the only counsel is a representative of the district attorney's office.

WILL NOT TESTIFY.

Mrs. Thaw has told a most intimate friend that she would refuse to say anything, no matter how important the question Mr. Nott or Mr. Garvan might put to her. This assertion is said to have been brought from Mrs. Thaw by the intention of the district attorney's office to make her a witness for the prosecution.

Assistant District Attorneys Nott and Garvan, it was said yesterday, are determined that the woman shall be examined before the Grand Jury, where she can be put under oath, and where it is expected to learn from her enough to establish the motive which actuated Thaw in killing Stanford White.

Mr. Nott says that Mrs. Thaw cannot claim the privilege of refusing to answer questions just because she is the wife of a man accused of crime, and that this privilege is extended to what are known as confidential communications between husband and wife.

If she refuses to answer other questions she can be committed for contempt of court.

TESTIMONY OF THE WIFE.

It is understood that Mrs. Thaw told her husband when she called upon him in the Tombs yesterday that she would obey the subpoena of the grand jury so far as to appear in the grand jury room, but that if the petting district attorney insisted on putting questions to her she would refuse to reply to them.

The legal question of what testimony a wife may or may not give against her husband is important in Thaw's case. Under the old common law a wife could not be compelled to give any evidence against her husband, but the revised penal code of the State of New York modified this absolute barrier. Section 715 provides as follows:

"The husband or wife of a person indicted or accused of a crime is in all cases a competent witness on the examination or trial of such person; but neither husband nor wife can be compelled to disclose a confidential communication to establish the fact of a crime and who committed it will be called, the district attorney's office not wishing to disclose its whole hand either at the inquest or grand jury inquiry.

As the proceedings in the grand jury room are secret no announcement of the testimony in yesterday's examination is expected.

WILL NOT DISCLOSE HAND.

White's son took a stand yesterday for the dead father, when he took a solemn oath to avenge his murder if the courts should acquit Thaw.

"He murdered my father in cold blood," he said, between sobs. "He was the best father that ever lived. He loved the Broadway life, but he never did half the things that are charged to him.

"I am only a young man, but I have a life before me, and while a breath is in my body or a dollar in my pocket I will seek only for vengeance against the man who murdered my father.

"If Harry Thaw is freed of this murder charge, or if he gets a term of imprisonment, he may be sure that I will get even as soon as he is free."

Chicago Wants Too Much Water

With Which to Carry Out Drainage Canal Scheme.

Buffalo, June 28.—A public hearing was given by the International Waterways Commission yesterday upon the proposed withdrawal of 14,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan for the Chicago drainage canal.

Isham Randolph, chief engineer of the sanitary districts of Chicago, said in order to provide for the care of the entire sewage of Chicago, it would be necessary to increase the present flow from the lake. The use of water for power purposes, Mr. Randolph said, was incidental. We do not ask for any more water than is necessary for sanitary purposes.

J. L. Weller, of the Canadian Department of Railways and Canals, expressed the opinion that the water in the Welland canal would be lowered from four to seven inches, which would prove disastrous. "We have barely sufficient water there now," said the speaker, "and have just spent $1,000,000 to get a fourteen foot channel. The St. Lawrence canals would be even more affected."

President Livingstone, of the Lake Carriers Association said he believed in giving Chicago all the water necessary for sanitary purposes, but he opposed the taking of water for the purpose of navigation. He did not believe the water of the great lakes should be diverted in order that a ship canal might be constructed to the Mississippi river, thus destroying the lake-carrying trade.

Francis King, of Kingston, Ont., represented the Canadian marine interests, and voiced the sentiments of Mr. Livingston, except that he would not go so far in consenting to give Chicago all the water needed for sanitary purposes. "We claim to have vested rights in the canals that cannot be interfered with for the benefit of a local district. The lakes are for navigable purposes and the levels in them must be maintained."

Two 700 Gallon Vats Added

Calcutt Brewing and Malting Co. Adding to Their Plant.

Yesterday the Calcutt Brewing & Malting Co. placed two new vats in their establishment. These two vats are each of a capacity of 700 gallons and are made of strong oak staves, bound by strong iron hoops. They are to be used in the lager brewing department of the brewery. The brewery is now running overtime, and Mr. Harry Neill's recent addition to the west side is being used to its fullest capacity for washing barrels and shipping tage, porter and lager. A large number of new kegs and barrels have also been added this week testifying to the popularity of this local firm's goods.

Is New Water Cart Too Heavy?

It now seems that the new water wagon, recently purchased for watering our local streets, has proven too heavy for the city's team. For the past few days this $1500 new steel wagon has been standing behind the fire hall, whilst the old wooden contraption has been forced into service of the street watering business of the city.

What is the city going to do about this? Is the new wagon to be left standing by the public weigh scales until it rusts or will the city be compelled to purchase a heavier team?

If this wagon is really too heavy as told yesterday to a Times representative by a member of the fire brigade, where would the horses drawing it come in, if, after hauling the cart several hours, they were requisitioned in a hurry to go to a fire?

Peculiar Administration of Justice.

Toronto, June 29.—A peculiar condition of affairs in Springer, Nipissing, was disclosed before Mr. Justice Anglin, in an application for a writ of certiorari, presented by Mr. E. J. Jones, on behalf of John Gaynor. The petitioner alleged that he had an understanding with Reeve Vachon, that on pleading guilty to keeping a disorderly house, he would be fined $50 as he had been seven times previously. When he appeared and pleaded, however, he was fined $100.

Secret Is Out

Formula of Mi-o-na Made Public--A Cure for Stomach Troubles.

Our leading druggists are very anxious to have Mi-o-na, a remedy which they sell as a cure for stomach troubles, tested rigidly in every case of heart-burn, acute dyspepsia, wind on the stomach, loss of appetite, annoying dreams, sleeplessness, general weakness and debility, or where the digestive organs do not act as they should.

Mi-o-na is composed of bismuth subgallate, by all odds the very best medicine known for intestinal diseases. It combines with the free sulphur compounds in the bowels forming a black substance which is passed off from the body without harm. It also has a soothing effect upon the nerve endings in the stomach.

With this is combined cerium oxalate, a standard remedy in the treatment of all irritations of the stomach and digestive organs.

Sodium bicarbonate if then added to overcome the excessive acidity usually present in stomach troubles, and nux vomica for its general tonic and nerve-strengthening powers.

This combination of reliable remedies makes Mi-o-na a positive cure for all stomach troubles, and, perhaps the only one that can be sold under a guarantee that it costs nothing unless it cures.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets is sold for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist, which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

Charlotte Street Beat St. Paul's

Guild League Games Result in a Final Result of 7-4.

Last night a fair sized audience gathered at Riverside Park to see the final game in the guild league games.

The Charlotte street aggregation proved too strong for the St. Paul's defeating them last night by a score of 2—1, and on the finals by 7—4.

The teams lined up as follows.

| Charlotte St. | | St. Paul's |
|---|---|---|
| Lang | Catcher. | Gillespie |
| H. Roddy | Pitcher. | Swanson |
| Healing | 1st Base. | Brunsford |
| Squire | 2nd Base. | Loyd |
| Pilling | Third Base. | Fitzpatrick |
| M. Williams | Short-stop. | Green |
| F. Roddy | Right-field. | Stanley |
| Crowe | Centre-field. | McDonald |

East Ward School Holds Picnic

All the pupils and teachers of the Ashburnham public school, in which Mr. J. W. Kelly is principal, enjoyed the closing exercises yesterday morning in a very novel way. The school closed at noon, and the scholars enjoyed a picnic on the school lawns. At ten o'clock all books were packed away and the teachers, with all the pupils, except those writing on the lawns. For the next couple of hours a most enjoyable time was spent.

Greek Boys Were Acquitted

Yesterday a case of considerable local interest was heard in the police court.

Three lads, employed by Mr. Pappas, the George street cigar dealer, were charged with stealing some shoe polish from their employers.

The evidence was of a most conflicting and contradictory kind.

It seems that Mr. Pappas said the full cost of getting these boys, relatives of his, from their native land, Greece. Since their arrival he has boarded and kept them well dressed, but has kept them a little short in pocket money. Yesterday Mr. Pappas, in the court office, sooner than see one of the boys in trouble, to pay $500 for a return ticket to Greece. The boys were discharged.

Local Press Is Appreciated

To the Press of Peterborough:

"Before leaving Peterborough I wish to state to the press of the city my appreciation of their kindness in publishing reports of church work and in the general interest it has shown in the same. In all my experience, I have never met newspaper men so willing to report church work as in Peterborough.

Wishing you continued and increasing prosperity.

Yours truly,
Rev. W. J. Jaffiffe

Mr. L. Brook's Brave Deed.

Yesterday Mr. Louis Brooks, was the direct means of not only stopping a runaway horse, but of possibly saving the limbs and lives of many people on George street. It seems that the horse of a local carter had taken fright at a passing wagon or baby carriage, and, taking the bit in his teeth, started out at a 2.11 gait for parts known only to himself. As the horse flew down George street to the great danger of all upon the street, Mr. Louis Brooks of the Palace Hotel, recognizing the danger to those on the street, rushed out and grabbed the horse's bridle. He was dragged from 30 to 40 feet down the street, but succeeded in stopping the horse. Mr. Brooks was not hurt but lost a new $3.00 hat.

A High Score.

As noted some days ago in The Times a bowling competition has been and is still going on for a prize of a box of 10-cent cigars presented by Mr. Smyth, proprietor of the Water street billiard rooms. This competition closes on June 30th. Until a day or two ago the highest score made on the bowling alley, 10 frame, to a game, was 208, however. Mr. W. Crowley, the well known hockey player has now beaten this by scoring 209 out of a possible 300. Whilst 209 out of 300 does not seem to those not posted a big score, it might be noted that on a possible 300 is altogether phenomenal and very rarely made. During the next two nights there will be great excitement among those anxious to harvest the local record and incidentally, the prize.

Germans Relish Dog Flesh

Washington, June 29.—While Americans are worrying over the disclosures in regard to the methods in vogue at the packing houses and trying to become vegetarians, the Germans are eating canine steaks and dog chops with great relish, and with them bowwow sausage has long ceased to be a joke. They know very well what it is made of, and they like it.

This is made known by a report just received from Consul Harris at Mannheim, who says that in addition to eating dogs the Germans knowingly eat horses. He quotes a German paper as saying that in Mecklenburg-Strelitz, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and Anhalt several times as many horses as steers are slaughtered for food. Saxony, in the last quarter of 1905, consumed 1,164 dogs, while only 528 were eaten—knowingly, at least—in the whole of Prussia.

Germans have been protesting loudly against American meats, and, as they haven't enough beef and pork to supply the home demand, they are forced to eat dogs and horses.

House Building in East Ward

Work Being Hurried on Harry Neil's New Residence.

Mr. James Graham, the contractor in charge of Mr. Harry Neill's fine new brick house on Burnham street, two doors west of the Calcutt Brewing and Malting Company's premises, east ward is rapidly pushing the work forward. Yesterday the stone work, which is eight feet in height, was finished and the first layer of joists placed in position.

In front of Mr. Neill's new house is one of the finest maple trees in this part of the country. Its branches have a spread of 41 feet. This grand tree was brought from a woods in Douro 43 years ago, and personally planted where it now throws its grateful shade over so broad a stretch of land by Mr. Harry Strickland of the east ward. A few feet to the north is another venerable maple planted the same day by Mr. Strickland.

This gentleman who formerly owned a considerable area of land in this street planted all the trees along this street from Mr. Neill's new house to Hunter street east, or as it was then called, Elizabeth street. However, excepting the two grand maples above noted, the original trees died of old age and were replaced years afterwards by Mr. Strickland.

Miss Hurley's Pupils Play

On Wednesday night the parents and friends of Miss E. Hurley's pupils were treated to a rare musical treat at 352 McDonell street, Miss Hurley's residence.

It would be invidious to particularize as to the relative merits of those participating as all displayed a thorough knowledge, as judged by their experience, of the technics and the touch of the piano. Their entertainment was conclusive proof of the thorough and skilled training received under Miss Hurley's tuition.

1st S. A. Captain Speaks Here

Commissioner Cadman, of London, England, an old veteran of the Salvation Army will address a meeting at the Salvation Army barracks here on Tuesday evening, July 3rd. Commissioner Cadman was the first man to receive the rank of captain in the Salvation Army. He will give an account of his unique experience at the meeting here. He will only be in Canada a short time, Montreal and Peterborough being the only places where he is giving addresses.

July Canadian Magazine.

The range of articles in the July Canadian Magazine carries the reader round the world. C. Reginald Ford, a member of the Antarctic Expedition led by Captain Scott, writes interestingly of the unknown lands under the title "The Fascination of the Uttermost South." Beatrice Grimshaw describes the famous geysers of New Zealand, her article being illustrated with many interesting photographs. George D. Abraham, a noted English climber, describes some thrilling experiences in the Alps, the pictures being especially clear and striking. A humorous poetical composition entitled "A Canadian Olympionikes" celebrates Sherring's victory at Athens. Julia W. Henshaw has an illustrated article in "A Pioneer-woman in the Rockies," which may stimulate some of her sex to try this sport. Mr. McCready continues his excellent reminiscences of the first Federal Parliament at Ottawa, describing a duel between Messrs. Howe and Tupper, and an oratorical fight by Thomas D'Arcy McGee. Judge Savary has an interesting paper on the Acadians, and among the short stories—perhaps the best—from the pen of the late Dr. George Stewart.

Four Natives Will Be Hanged

Cairo (Egypt), June 28.—The trial of the natives concerned in the attack June 13 on the party of five British officers while the latter were pigeon shooting at the village of Denshawai, near Tantah, resulting in the killing of one of the officers, Captain S. C. Bull, of the Sixth Dragoons, and the serious maltreatment of the others, has resulted in four natives being sentenced to death, four to penal servitude for life, three to fifteen years penal servitude, six to seven years, and three to one year, and five to receive fifty lashes.

Thirty-one of the accused were acquitted.

The executions and the floggings will occur at Denshawai.

All the men sentenced to death will be hanged by turns on one gallows in the presence of the villagers.

Senator's Term Fifteen Years

One of the Reforms That Senator Ellis Would Inaugurate---Advances Unique Idea.

Ottawa, June 29.—Hon. Mr. Ellis says to make a quorum He would continued the debate on Senate reform. There was a question he said in his mind as to the necessity of party. He would increase the age limit for entry to forty, and would fix the resting limit at seventy-five years.

Insurgents Have Surrendered.

Manila, June 29.—Omenlen and Adva, the Pulujanes leaders on the Island of Cebu, have surrendered. They are the last of the insurgents against American authority.

Dr. Orr's Ambitious Project.

Toronto, June 29.—Dr. Orr is endeavoring to arrange to have King Edward touch a button in Windsor Palace to open the Toronto Exhibition this year.

Concession to Jewish Sentiment

London, June 29.—King Edward out of regard for the Jews has ordained that the third drawing room of the season shall be held on Thursday instead of Friday evening.

Informer Fears Revenge.

Hamilton, June 29.—Lee Sing, a Chinaman, who prosecuted a fellow-countryman a few days ago, has asked for police protection. He claims the Highbinders Society has put a price of $200 on his head.

8,700 Miles on Horseback.

St. Petersburg, June 29.—Capt. Byleff, who left the front in Manchuria shortly after the peace treaty was signed, arrived in St. Petersburg yesterday. He rode the entire distance, about 8,700 miles, in eight months and four days. His horse, which was of English breed, was in good condition when the journey was finished. The captain's orderly, who was his sole companion, had a Mongolian mount.

Will Strengthen Garrison on Frontier

Vienna, June 29.—Austria and Germany have agreed, in view of the situation of affairs in Russia, to strengthen their garrisons along the Russian frontier.

Are Not Coming to Canada.

Montreal, June 29.—The Grand Trunk Railway has ordered 5,500 tons of rails in the States for next years delivery, but the rails are not coming to Canada, as the New York papers so enthusiastically state. They will be used on the Grand Trunk Western, which is across the line.

The New York papers also state that the G. T. R. has ordered 11,000 tons there, but the correct amount is 5,500 tons.

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.

JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.

JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.

DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.

JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to "brace up" with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but its uselessness is plain to everyone.

Better follow Nature's plan; it's always a sure one.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, ncurishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie E. Bislop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO JUNE 29 1906

THE GANDER AND THE GOOSE

Those girls in Oskaloosa, Iowa, who recently struck work in the Penn garment factory, because two of the male employes wore non-union pants—were they not just a trifle fastidious?

It appears that the girls sew white totem labels on the trousers made in the factory. The conspicuous lack of the totem badge on the pantaloons of the two workmen in question greatly offended them. Just why they should take mortal offence at so small a matter is not recorded in the chronicles of what followed—for, of course, there was "something doing" later on. At any rate, the more the girls thought about the outrage, the madder they became. The charming things just could not bear the thought of "unfair" pants in the same establishment where they toiled. They would see about it. They saw.

Going to the manager, panting with suppressed excitement, they demanded that the offending pants be expelled forthwith from the sacred precincts of the union factory, or that the wearers should be discharged, declaring that in one of these alternatives was not complied with they would not return to work. No non-union pants for them—not if they knew themselves, and they rather thought they did.

Then a crisis arose. The wearers of the non-union pants, being confronted with the dread alternative of divesting themselves of one of their most essential garments or losing their jobs, were in something like a panic. Confidingly, they made known the jarring fact that they had no other pants than those which they wore, and that it would therefore be rather awkward—not to use a harsher term—to take them off. Taking pity on their unpleasant predicament, the manager finally came to the rescue and provided them with brand new pants, duly marked with the totem label. With the equilibrium of things thus restored, the sweet things went back to work, presumably satisfied.

It doesn't seem to us that the girls quite "toted fair" in this exciting war against the unfair pants. It will probably never be known to a dead certainty whether the strikers could have "made good" if they had been required to conform to the prevailing fashion in the Penn garment shop. Such a requirement, however, would have been no more than just, for we have it upon the best of authority that "what is sauce for the gander is sauce for the goose." It seems like a rather unfair advantage to take of mere man, he of the weaker sex, to require him to wear the union totem conspicuously displayed on his pants, while not making such requirements of the other sex.

It may be claimed that all of these fastidious girls wore "union" suits. Conceding, for the sake of argument, that this was the case, it does not prove that the suits were not unfair. The union label—that's the thing. And how could anybody know?

KEENE

Owing to the inclemency of the weather on Tuesday night the attendance of members at the Sons of Rest meeting was below the average. At about five minutes to eight o'clock Minney Wale, the president, came bobbeting in and before he had time to take his seat Fighting Archy asked him how his best girl treated him last Tuesday night. Minney Wale informed him that she had treated him not too bad. Archy laughed and told him that he had to go when the old man arrived on the scene. Minney Wale made a lunch at Archy with his cane, but missed him and sent a lamp flying in a thousand pieces. Archy then applied the boots rather freely to some part of Minney Wale's person. I didn't just notice what part it was. After they imagined that they had satisfaction, they stood gazing at each other for a short time. Archy then broke the silence by telling Minney Wale that he not only had to get out of the house but also out of the yard minus part of his coat tail. Minney Wale became very furious and informed Archy that he could go into the house once in a while, but you can never venture past the front gate. Archy laughed and told him that it was better, as well as safer, to turn at the gate than to be chased by the old man and attacked by the dog. Minney Wale looked at his watch and walked to the front and opened the meeting by a short prayer, asking that a more benevolent and Christian spirit might prevail amongst the brethren in the future. He than apologized for his absence at the last meeting. With a blush on his cheek he informed the brethren that he had serious intentions of taking unto himself a partner for life, and he considered that it was his own personal business and not Fighting Archy's. Archy heaved a deep sigh and Minney Wale declared the meeting open for business. Harness-maker Stillman arose to his feet and laid a charge against Wazy McFarlane, Jackplane Bryce, Gingerale Kenaley, Hosier Roach, Postmaster Campbell and the Indian Agent, for allowing their cows to pasture on our lovely park. The president imposed a fine of one thousand dollars each, or ten years in penitentiary. Shiney Jim laid a charge against Shoemaker Clark for hooking a mudturtle instead of a fish. Minney Wale fined Clark five dollars, to be paid in five days or six months in prison. Bobtail Pue laid a charge against Cockatoo Elliot for not attending Sunday school as regularly as usual. The president fined Cockatoo twenty dollars, or two months in jail, with a warning to attend Sunday school in the future. Buckaw Carter laid a charge against Tom Deeackey for courting a squaw at Hiawatha last Sunday night. Minney Wale fined Deeackey fifty dollars, to be paid at once or six months in prison, and warned him to shy clear of colored girls in the future or trouble will be sure to follow. Patty Drummond laid a charge against Floridale Dixon for proposing to stretch wire across the road for the purpose of revenging a certain couple. Minney Wale stamped his foot and told Floridale that he would stamp out such malicious conduct as that, and for a starter he would impose a fine of seven hundred dollars, to be paid before the 12th of July or ten years in Mimico jail. Flat Roach laid a charge against Tea-merchant Kenealey for chasing Pokey Moore with a live snake. The president fined Kenealey ten dollars, to be paid before next meeting night, or two months in jail. Wolf Howson now began to yawn and rub his eyes. The president took the hint and asked Yankey Mac and Hosier Roach to sing the closing ode. For two old fellows they sang splendidly, and received loud applause. The president then gave a short prayer, after which he declared the meeting closed until next Tuesday night.

"God Save The King."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Octogenarian Attempts Suicide.

Stratford, June 28.—Joseph Bennett, 80 years old, attempted to commit suicide at the House of Refuge, but was prevented. He is in a precarious condition.

The Celebrated English Cocoa.

EPPS'S

An admirable food, with all its natural qualities intact. This excellent Cocoa maintains the system in robust health, and enables it to resist winter's extreme cold.

COCOA

The Most Nutritious and Economical.

Weak Lungs

Cherry Pectoral breaks up this taking-cold habit. It strengthens, heals. Ask your doctor, the very next time you see him, what he thinks of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for weak lungs.

It is the old story of a weak throat, a tendency to weak lungs in the family. You no sooner get rid of your old cold than a new one takes its place. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which we advocated for purchase at 60c., is now $1 1-2 and with the advance but just begun.

Buy this stock NOW before further radical rise takes place.

WESTERN UNION OIL STOCK

which we urged our clients to purchase at $11.00 per share, is now $16 bid, with a few lots offered under $16. Western Union Oil is a conservative investment at this price.

Of the cheaper stocks, we now recommend without hesitation

payable 1-3 cash, 1-3 in 30 days, and 1-3 in 60 days from date of purchase.

Situated in the heart of a new and phenomenally rich district of Nevada, FAIRVIEW bids fair to rival the very richest of the older Nevada camps.

FAIRVIEW CENTRAL gives promise of uncovering high values, and under the conservative business management of its officers will be one of the GREAT MINES OF A GREAT DISTRICT.

But this stock and hold it for a permanent investment.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these!" intoned his companion smoothly. "But I must be going, Mordecai. I have an errand at the tavern."

"Hast thou heard aught more of the message to the congress from France?" the Quaker inquired in a low voice as he clasped the other's ferrid palm.

Galloway put his lips closer to the other's ear, and a gluttinous chuckle shook his jowl.

"Mordecai," he said, "I dreamed last night that France had an ax to grind. Wouldn't it be curious if the message didn't tickle the congress so much after all? Ho, ho!"

Anne's first inquiry provoked a smile from the bystanders. Dr. Franklin? Yes, he was doubtless in the hall, but to see him! Quite impossible! And a lady too. At a recess she might succeed, but not now. Who could tell but he was on the floor at that moment?

So she rode on. At High street she inquired for an inn, as she had been in the saddle since dawn and the horses were jaded. Learning that the principal ones were all full owing to the presence of the delegates, she found her way to one of the more humble hostelries on another street. It was the Red Lion tavern.

The place seemed well nigh deserted. Had she known the significance of this day's sitting of the congress she would have understood. As it was, finding no host in evidence, she went into the parlor and sat down to await his appearance.

And, sitting so, from the hall and coming nearer she heard the well remembered voice of Jarrat.

A panic seized her. The packet—it was in the lining of her cloak at that moment. He must not see her! She looked wildly about her, but there was no door of escape. In desperation she ran to the deep set window. It was shut, but there were shalloon curtains across the alcove, and she shrank behind them as the door flew open.

Jarrat came in noisily. One of the inn servants was at his heels.

"I would speak with monseigneur," he said. "Request him to be so good as to honor me here." He stood smiling redly as the servant went, and Anne watched him from between the curtains with fascinated gaze.

"At last!" he muttered. "The final stroke, and still all goes well. If Armand succeeds for us, then advancement and favor for me. The king must reward me, for the plan was mine alone."

"Armand!" Anne's heart had given a great leap. Jarrat knew where he was, what he did. "If he succeeds for us." What meant those strange words?

Again a step in the hall, again the door opened, a scraping servant said, "Monseigneur," and again Anne's heart leaped, for the man who stood on the threshold clad in a full costume of purple velvet was Armand. Armand, but sparer of feature, with shadows beneath the eyes. Yet they looked out with all their old nobility and with a strange fire. She knew now where she had seen that fire—it was in Henry's face—the fire of steadfast purpose that knows no quenching.

Armand! Escaped from Dunmore's clutches, safe and in Philadelphia! She wanted to rush out to him, to cry to him that she had done the best she could, had come to fulfill her promise at last. But what did he with Jarrat?

"No!" the latter said. "As bravely trimmed as ever. 'Tis the dress of a prince."

"My good Pilarne has the best of taste." On Armand's face was a strange smile.

"You have cozened him beautifully, I doubt not he expects reimbursement from his king."

"My king," corrected Armand softly.

"Keep it up," laughed Jarrat. "'Tis never forgetting makes a good play actor. Faith, it minds me of the old Virginia days. When you posed as only a marquis. We rise in the world. Yesterday in a prison cell at Halifax, today this little plan, release, and, presto, behold Louis' secret envoy. Well, you are near to the purchase of your pardon. The time is almost here. A half hour more and you will enter the statehouse. You lack not assurance. Here is the letter you will deliver to the congress."

Armand took the paper he handed him and put it in his breast.

"'Tis signed with De Vergennes' name, of course," went on Jarrat, "and 'tis a clever enough forgery to trick even Poor Richard for the time being. Aid in return for territorial compensation now if 'twere only Louis XV! 'Twould be like the old skinflint. Methinks 'twill be a wet blanket to allay this fever for a Declaration. 'Twill suffice to tide over till these patriot noddle pates come to their senses."

Anne's mind was in a clamor, a hideous, quivering clamor of surprises, from which a single fact stood out with the clearness of a black silhouette etched on white paper. Armand, not escaped, but released—released—going before the congress with a lying message, a message of discouragement—going now, this very hour, and the plot was Jarrat's.

It was for a single beat as if the sun were darkened, as if all joy were blotted from the universe. Then, peering out, she saw his eyes, and the bitter scene at Gladden Hall rose to her like a vision. She saw him dragged away, and with the vision she felt—strong, triumphant—the terrible, joyful rebellion of her own belief in him that would not doubt.

"I could not have devised it better myself." Jarrat was speaking again. "There is not a soul in congress who could recognize you as the Louis Armand seized at Williamsburg. Luckily, Henry is in the Virginia convention. The devil holds cards with us."

"And this," said Armand, as if to himself, "has been the devil's deal."

"Aye! But 'tis time for us to start. Pilarne will be there by now." He consulted his watch. "Ten minutes to ride thither. I have horses at the door. I shall go with you as one of your suit. Luckily, I shall not be known. I must not miss the delight of recounting this interesting event in detail in Virginia. Can you guess," with a malign smile, "to whom in especial, monseigneur?"

A red flush leaped into Armand's cheek, and his teeth clinched convulsively. It was as if a great wave of passion lashed the man and left him tense and white. His tone, however, remained as low as ever.

"You hound!" he said. "You prowling wolf of the dark, who know no truth, no trust, no faith; who, being vile, think all else vile the same! Thank

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity, representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Machine Tel. Co. Annual Meeting.

The Canadian Machine Telephone Co. held their annual meeting in Toronto yesterday, in their head offices. Mr. E. S. Lorimer was in attendance as well as a number of other Peterborough gentlemen.

Welcoming Meeting at Barracks.

A meeting was held at the Salvation Army barracks last night to welcome a number of Salvationists who came out to Canada on the steamer Kensington and who have located at Peterborough. The newly arrived Englishmen were assured of a hearty welcome. Appropriate addresses and select music were given.

Special Campbellford Train.

The G.T.R. will run a special train from Campbellford to the city on July 2d. This will enable those taking in the celebrations and ceremonies involved by that village assuming the dignity of a full fledged town to return home after the fun is over. The special train will leave Campbellford at 11 p.m., passing through and stopping at Peterborough, en route to Lindsay.

Fishing Not Good This Year

The water in Chemong Lake is this year over three feet above the average height and the recent heavy rains have tended to make the water still higher.

This state of the water is proving a drawback to the sport of the fishermen. The water being unusually high upon the banks the fish are able to secure plenty of food along the shore and consequently do not bite readily at the cunningly disguised and alluring baits of the disciples of Isaac Walton.

On July 2nd a special train will leave Campbellford at 11:30 p m for Peterboro and Lindsay, thus affording people who desire to visit Campbellford on Dominion Day an opportunity of returning home same day

Englishman Committs Forgery

Slick Operator Gets $14.85 on a Forged Check Which Bank Repudiated

It was an open secret yesterday that an attempted utterance of a cheque for $59.82 was attempted on the Bank of Ottawa on Tuesday. It might be noted that The Times had full cognizance of this subject, but by special request of Chief Hozzel and other prominent legal authorities, on the argument that premature divulgement of particulars might interfere with capture of the criminal, we reluctantly consented to hold the news over in the interests of justice.

It seems that George Appleton, an Englishman, a few days ago bought a cow from Mr. John Kelleher, of Lake street, for $45. He did not pay the money at the time.

On Wednesday, he gave Mr. Kelleher a cheque on the Bank of Ottawa for $59.82. The cheque was signed "T. A. S. Hays" and Mr. Kelleher accepted it as being genuine. On presenting it at the bank, on Wednesday, Mr. Kelleher was horrified to find that the cheque was a forgery. Kelleher had paid Appleton the difference between the face value of the forged document and the price of the cow, $45, in cash, or in other words was $14.82 out on the deal.

Appleton sold the cow to Mr. Jas. Mongraw, barber, on Simcoe street, receiving two dollars down. He did not show up to get the balance seemingly due.

So far, however, the police have not succeeded in capturing him, although they are working on a clue discovered by the chief. Mr. Kelleher will get his cow back.

It might be noted that a member of the police was searching for Appleton in a local hotel when Appleton was in the place within a few feet of his pursuer. Unfortunately at that time the police had not obtained a proper description of the forger hence the seeming joke on the cop.

Selections for Brantford Played

Yesterday about 30 of the 57th Regiment Band turned out at Jackson Park and rendered part of the musical selections they will play, and which have specially practised for their outing at Brantford. The immense crowd at the park thoroughly enjoyed the music. Tonight in Victoria Park the entire music chosen and practised for Brantford, will be played for enjoyment of our local citizens.

The band rendered the following program.

PART II.

1. March, Religioso, No. 2. Chambers.
2. Overture, Poet and Peasant, Von Suppe.
3. Cornet Solo, Dream of Paradise, Grey.—Bandsman Hughes.
4. Reminiscences of Bellini, arranged by Dan. Godfrey.
5. Transcription on a favorite hymn "Days and Moments."

PART II.

1. March, Philharmonic, Ringuet.
2. Fantasia, Old Melody, introducing variations for various instruments.
3. Characteristic, Marche Indienne, Siebeck.
4. Selection from "The Regent of Siam" Morris.
5. Euphonium Solo, Air Varie, "The Vacant Chair." Bandsman Cronk.
6. March, Religioso, No. 3. Chambers. God Save the King.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday afternoon Joseph Gibbons of the east ward, was arrested on a charge of non-support, the complainant being his wife. The case will be tried this morning.

Yesterday at about 3:30 p.m. special session of the police court was held with his Worship D. W. Dumble presiding.

This was in consequence of a trip taken yesterday by P. C. Stewart to Cobourg. This officer went to bring back to Peterborough, George Rice, who was apprehended on the charge of robbing John McKee of $85 and a gold-filled watch, in Victoria Park a couple of weeks ago. Rice is alleged to have stuck in the money and watch while McKee, who was his pal, was stepping off to order dose of tanglefoot. The watch and part of the money were recovered by the time, but the cabaret escaped with part of the boodle.

Rice who did not seem to fully appreciate the position he was in, was remanded until July 5th, that witnesses may be produced in court.

In the meantime he will reside in Castle Needbitt.

Kawatha, Not Kawartha Lakes

Yesterday a Times' representative, who is somewhat interested in local Indian nomenclature, having heard an argument between two well educated local professional gentlemen, as to the commonly used geographical term "Kawartha" lakes, consulted Mr. R. W. Errett as to this word Kawartha.

Mr. Errett, who in years gone by, had considerable business with the Indians of this section and who learned their language pretty thoroughly, noted that the word Kawartha is incorrect. He advised The Times man that this word should be "Kawatha."

In the Mississauga, Ojibawa, Chippewa, and other Indian tribes of this part of Canada, their vocabulary only consists of 18 letters R, Q, V, W, X, and Z, are missing. Mr. Errett noted that several other places in this vicinity, now called by names borrowed from the original words, are wrongly used. As we do not use as a $3 a year teacher of local nomenclature, we will be content with hereafter using the word Kawatha.

Church Parade at Brantford.

The Brantford Courier says:—The combined church parade and military services of the 57th of Peterborough and the Dufferin Rifles, which was first intended to be held on the grounds of the institute for the blind, will now be held in Grace church.

St. Andrew's Elects Managers

At a congregational meeting of St. Andrew's church held Wednesday night the following members were elected to the Trustee Board and Board of Management.

Messrs F. Parkenham, T. C. Elliott, E. B. Fowler, W. A. Hunter and A. McKenzie. These along with Messrs. Geo. Mather and John C. Anderson, who were members of the old board, will constitute the new management.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed and tendered the retiring members of the board for their faithful services.

Times Agency Brings Answers.

Mr. Ed Cassidy, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, who about a week ago, through medium of The Times newspaper agency, placed an adv. of his hotel "For sale"—in a Toronto paper, is receiving many letters enquiring terms, price, etc. Yesterday he received not less than seven letters asking his prices and terms. This property seems to be in demand.

Peterborough Visitors at Hastings.

Hastings Star says: On Saturday last Misses Harrison, Wilson, Miss Susie Campbell and Miss Mabel Clarry, of Keene, Miss Gladys Doble, of Peterborough, and Rev. S. Y. Morgan, of Toronto, D. J. Lundy, of Peterborough, and Mr. Percy Campbell, of Keene, came down in the latter's gasoline yacht, "The Hootch." On account of the heavy rain they all returned on the evening train after an enjoyable trip.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial digesters for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak heart—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 500 times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organ—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disorders be cured. Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that these inside nerves were the power nerves—that through them only was it possible to cure indigestion, heart burn, belching, insomnia, backache, heart weakness, Bright's disease, and all other affections of the kidneys. For all of these ailments are not separate sicknesses and are not to be treated as such. They are merely symptoms of inside nerve sickness, and when the nerves are restored the symptoms and the sickness disappear. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailing nerves is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It relieves the pain and distress of kidney, stomach and heart troubles quicker even than those medicines designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative can now be had of druggists everywhere. For sale and recommended by

J. D. TULLY.

Do You Want to Know What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all carping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strong endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not beget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY, in copies of The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 500,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.50 per copy. Last year we gave away 680,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away $50,000 worth of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, for book in stiff paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

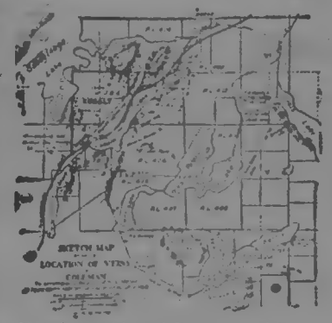
Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Company, Limited



Showing position of Paterson and Cart Lakes, being surrounded by shipping mines.

It is surrounded on all sides by large shipping mines, which are producing fabulous wealth every day, such mines as Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley and Daragh on the west side; the Nipissing Mining Company, the Timmius and Tretheway mines to the north; the Savage the Foster, the Lawson, the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, Silver Leaf, Glendenning and the Drummond on the south; the McLeod and Glendenning and Violet Mines on the east. This property also projects into the much-talked-of Gillies timber limit.

It is believed by the directors of the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, that the properties owned by this company are very valuable and are among the very richest in the district. They are advised that all the rich veins now being worked, and which are giving such great financial results, radiate from the centre of Peterson and Cart Lakes.

The Peterson property carries a number of veins of the surrounding properties, such as the Nova Scotia, running in silver from 1,100 to 7,000 ounces per ton.

Now is the time to become interested in Cobalt before the stocks pay large dividends and have a large advance. It is becoming richer every day and spreading over a large area.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $1.00 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Manitoba Elections Are Probable

Government May Appeal to the Country--Other News From the West.

Winnipeg, June 30 — Everything indicates that Premier Roblin will shortly appeal to the country, retiring from office before the term of the present legislature expires. W. H. Hastings, who successfully organized the Conservative party in 1898, when they were returned to power after sitting in the Opposition benches for some seventeen years, has resigned his position in the office of the attorney general, and is quietly arranging the coming campaign. It is understood that Mr. Roblin will dispense with the services of Hon. Colin H. Campbell, the attorney general, it being admitted by both parties that he has not filled the office with success. Another rumor, emanating from a source which has always proved reliable, is to the effect that the government will guarantee the bonds of an American company now being formed for the purpose of building a line due north from this city to Hudson's Bay, this being the main plank of the Conservative party in the coming campaign.

LUMBER MAY ADVANCE.

Winnipeg, June 30.—The recent rise in the price of lumber is being much discussed throughout the province and in the interior generally. A prominent lumberman, in talking over the situation with your representative, said the advance is simply and inevitably the result of the market. Less money is being made in lumber today than in 1903, and the price of supplies are now higher and labor has also increased in price. One point that is the direct result of the development which has taken place since then is that it takes three donkey engines to do the work that was done in 1903 by six horses, the the distance from which the logs have to be brought to water being so much greater now than then. At present, too, most of the millmen are shipping green logs and the freight on green lumber is nearly $2 per ton more than on the seasoned lumber on account of the additional weight. Even at the present prices the supply is far short of the demand. The output from the interior this year is short, because of the small amount of snow which fell during the winter, preventing much logging being done. However, the summer logging in the interior is being carried on in a more extensive way than ever before but the demand is so great that another increase in price is quite likely during the next few weeks. This year there is at least twice as much building being done in the Northwest than in any previous year and added to the San Francisco builders are sending representatives to the British Columbia mills to buy up all the available supply.

ALBERTA OIL FIELDS.

Edmonton, June 30.—"An old field has been discovered in Alberta which it is believed, will eventually become the richest in the world." Such is the opinion of Dr. Bell, director of the geological survey. These oil fields are barely past the prospecting stage, but already several good wells have been struck according to reliable reports and one company claims to have struck a 3,000 barrel gusher but this cannot be substantiated. One of the distinct evidences of the existence of petroleum are the surface seepages which can be found all along the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, also the oil indications on the sloughs and creeks. Natural gas is also escaping from the ground in many places and it is a well known fact that oil always exists in close proximity to gas. Four years ago, some campers put a light to one of these gas gushers and it has been burning ever since, a 200-foot flame shooting into the air, and all efforts to extinguish the blaze have so far failed. Over a million dollars has been spent on the development of the Alberta oil fields And the companies interested are ready to spend as much more, indications are so promising.

FIRST AIRSHIP FOR WINNIPEG.

Winnipeg, June 30.—C. Westeryard, proprietor of the National Hotel, has ordered an airship from the Paris and New York Aerial Navigation Co. Mr. Westeryard agreed to purchase the machine with no more fuss than if he were ordering a sample box of some new brand of cigars. Upon its arrival here in a few weeks' time he intends to take little trips around the country. It is understood that the airship is being made in Paris and from there will be shipped to New York where it will be put together and then started on its way to Winnipeg, arriving here in September.

PROGRESS OF SASKATCHEWAN

Regina, Sask., June 30.—It is expected that the census now being taken will show the population of Saskatchewan to be greater than Manitoba. Never before has any portion of the Dominion made such progress as this province has during the past two years. The wheat crop of 1906 is expected to amount to between forty and fifty million bushels and the prairies being broken this summer will double the acreage for next year. Towns are springing up all over as if by magic and in several instances have attained a population of several thousand during the first year of their existence.

Winnipeg, June 30.—Never before in the history of the Canadian Northwest were conditions and prospects better for a record crop. Warm rains follow hot days as though they had been specially ordered for the farmers. In many districts the wheat is now 30 inches tall and in a few days much of it will be heading out. Conservative estimates place the yields for 1906 at 130,000,000 bushels from some 5,000,000 acres. Oats, barley, rye and hay crops will also be very heavy this year and all previous records will most assuredly be beaten.

Land Hunger Causing Trouble

London, July 1. — Everything now points to the likelihood that a wave of bloody revolution will soon sweep over Russia. The land hunger of the peasantry is not to be denied. They have waited for some six weeks, but, while the Duma has been allowed to speak its mind and the mind of the people who elected it, there is as yet not a sign of anything like results in the direction of land allotments. The patience of the disappointed ones now seems to have been exhausted, for from all over the country reports are coming in of estates being seized by the peasants and subdivided among them. Any hope that may have been indulged in by the Czar that the Duma might with safety be allowed to talk itself out and then be prorogued for a long summer recess has vanished. In the exasperated mood of the peasantry it is doubtful whether the popular assembly will dare to allow itself to be disbanded. The representatives would fare ill at the hands of their constituents were they to return home with nothing accomplished. But even while the Duma is still in session the surge of popular feeling has risen beyond control. The peasants are not willing to wait, and the Czar and his nobles are not willing to yield, so brute force seems to be the only means to break the deadlock.

Treasure Ships To Be Raised

Turkey Hard Up and Needs the Money Badly.

London, July 1.—After fourscore years of waiting, Turkey is going to try to recover the treasure that went down with her battleships in the battle of Navarino. It was on October 20, 1827, that the combined squadrons of Great Britain, France and Russia joining forces for the protection of Greece, entered the Bay of Navarino under command of the British admiral, Codrington, and annihilated the Turkish-Egyptian fleet. Some seventy craft of various kinds, were sent to the bottom of the sea. Some of these are believed to have carried large treasure in the shape of money, and it is in hopes of recovering this long-lost million that the Sultan of Turkey has now entered into a contract with an Italian firm to raise the sunken craft.

The same firm is also engaged in another salvage operation in Grecian waters that carries our minds much further back in history. Recently a Greek diver brought up from shoal water a beautiful Greek vase, and the spot where this find was made has been identified as the scene where a number of Roman galleys foundered while conveying art treasures from Greece during the Latin conquests. Divers are now to make systematic search for these lost galleons. If success crowns these efforts, priceless specimens of ancient art will be restored to the world.

From the Land of the Pharohs

This U. F. J. Has an Enquiry From Palestine.

The Times is in receipt of an enquiry from Jerusalem, Palestine, regarding our advertising rates. While our readers doubtless are aware that this great family journal is well and favorably known on this continent—especially the portion over which the Union Jack waves supreme, it was not generally supposed that its fame had reached the far-off land of the Pharohs. But such is the case nevertheless. The following is the enquiry referred to:

Jerusalem, June 4th, 1906.
Times Printing Company, Peterborough, Ont., Canada, North America.

Gentlemen,—Please send me sample copy of your daily paper, The Times. I would like to advertise some goods of the Holy Land, such as olive wood, articles, etc., and would like to know the advertising rates of your paper, which has been recommended to me by a firm in this city.

Respectfully yours,
M. PALMOTTER.

Summer Visitors' For Kawartha

Yesterday morning, two parties, who spent Thursday night at the Snowden House, left for Stony Lake. The Buell party from Rochester, N. Y., consisted of Messrs. A. H. Smith, Robt. Lee, Mrs. Geo. C. Buell, Miss Alice Buell and Miss B. Knapp.

The Rice party from Toronto, was composed of Mr. W. A. Wilkes, Toronto. Messrs. H. and A. O. White, Port Hope; Miss Blatchley, Toronto; Mrs. Proudfoot, Detroit; Josephine Blatchly, Toronto; Amy L. Ball, Southampton, Eng.; Mabel Rice, L. Rice, F. Rice, A. Moore and E. Rice of Toronto. The parties will spend some weeks at their respective cottages.

Death in N. Y. of Lady Known Here.

Yesterday at noon Mr. M. C. Tooley received a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that his sister-in-law, Mrs. M. J. Keough, of Green Island, N.Y., had passed away during the morning. The telegram came from Mr. Keough, 1st vice-president of the International Moulders Union of North America. The deceased was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Tooley. Mrs. Tooley's maiden name being Keough. Mrs. Keough leaves to mourn her loss, her husband and four children, two boys and two girls. The funeral will take place at Green Island on Monday.

International Player Located

As a plain argument for celibacy versus belonging to the down-trodden army of benedicts, it might, strictly in a light sense, be noted that the Toronto News notes the unknown address of one of Montreal's well known cricketers.

The article, in question is a reference to efforts being made by the Canadian Cricket Association to get a good team to play on the international.

In reference to several of the eastern players evidently not available for the match, the News says:

"Word comes from Montreal that Hill is no longer a resident of that city, and, as his address is not known, he will not be on the team. Heygate and Baker cannot arrange to go to Philadelphia. Doctor W. W. Wright has been chosen as the captain of the eleven, and has accepted the position."

If the News' correspondent is in doubt hereafter as to locating missing cricket players, etc., let them write The Times.

Mr. Hill whose doplored absence this Toronto paper mourns, is in this city enjoying the second chapter of a life long honeymoon, and will continue to enjoy the same right here.

Mr. W. A. Bourne's Mother is Sick

The many friends in this city of Mr. W. A. Bourne, who some months ago, was accountant of the local branch of the Toronto Bank, but now manager of the Parry Harbor branch, and who was expected to spend the 1st of July with old friends in the city, will be disappointed to learn that yesterday afternoon a telegram was received by some of his friends here conveying the distressing intelligence that owing to the serious illness of his mother, Mr. Bourne will be unable to attend. The former local banker was to have met his old friend, Mr. Bruce Hooper, assistant cashier of the C. P. R. Montreal, in Peterborough, to spend the 1st of July on Kawartha Lakes. This meeting is of course now cancelled owing to Mrs. Bourne's illness. His many friends in this city, who had anticipated his two days' visit with the pleasure usual to renewing old acquaintances, will regret to learn of Mr. Bourne's trouble over the serious illness of his mother.

—Last night a large crowd gathered at Victoria Park to hear the music that the 57th Regt. Band had been practising for their Brantford trip. Unfortunately about 9 o'clock the rolling thunder and rapidly increasing rainfall, drove the assembled crowd home.

Algeciras Treaty Laid Over.

Washington, June 30.—According to an agreement between the opposing parties in the Senate, the treaty negotiated at Algeciras, in which the United States, the European powers and Morocco are concerned, will be reported in December, and voted on not later than December 20.

The Bohemenian for July.

The Bohemian for July appears in a new and attractive form with an original and very striking cover design by William G. Krieghoff. Mr. Seymer Jay Mills opens the magazine with a theatrical story entitled "The Darling of the Park." It is a clever bit of fiction and tells of the last appearance of a great favorite of the old Park Theater of New York City. Edwin L. Sabin contributes "Petunia"—a story of western life with a touch of eastern flavor at its close. Quite different from Mr. Sabin's story is "How the Professor Broke Jail," by Tudor Jenks. This is a cleverly conceived tale of an escapade in Australia and is written in Mr. Jenk's best vein. "The Precipice," by Alice H. Woolcott, is an exceptionally strong story of Bohemia—that land so full of tragedies and comedies.

J. W. Kennard tells about "A Transaction in Fiances" in which a young lady inserts an advertisement in the daily paper to dispose of her fiance. R. C. Pitzer has thrown a peculiar charm of romance about his story, "Count Louis of Flanders." "The Little Crimson Triangle," by W. Edgar Simpson, is a story of the frozen North, and involves a fine sense of duty. W. D. Wattles has written "O'Brien and His Angels," another one of those humorous stories full to the brim and running over with Irish wit. Leigh Gordon Giltner in "An Original Solution" solves the very difficult problem of how to purchase an engagement ring when you are dead broke." "The Shrewsbury Sweepstakes," by F. H. Crawford, is a yachting story in which the prize is well worth winning. "Disconnected at Central" by Alfred B. Tozer, is a newspaper story with an exceptionally original plot. "Bennett's Partner," by James Knapp Reeve, reaches its conclusion in this number—a fact which many readers will regret.

The July Bohemian will make an excellent companion to take on your railroad journey or on your vacation trip.

South Africa Has Preference for Us

St. Petersburg, June 29—The former Procurator-General of the Holy Synod, M. Pobedonostzeff, is said to have recognized the inevitable and to have reversed the position of a lifetime, and advised the Emperor to yield to the demand for a responsible ministry as the only means of preserving the throne.

The Government's sudden fear of affronting public opinion, after finding the army infected with the revolutionary propaganda, is shown in the hurried grant of a new trial to seven men condemned to death for Riga, the acquittal of six others, and the commutation of death sentences imposed on the three murderers of the foreman of the Putiloff iron works.

The news from the Provinces shows a state of general anarchy growing. The efforts of the agitators to induce the peasants working for landlords to strike are meeting with success. In Altarak and Turide Provinces the peasants are abandoning the fields, and in Tula Province roving bands of peasants are marching through the country, dragging in their wake not only the workers from the fields but the domestic servants of the gentry.

How China Pays Its Rainmakers.

Tien Tsin, June 30.—Five criminals, condemned to death in Chi-li, obtained their deliverance in a unique manner. Extreme drought has prevailed, and Viceroy Yuan Shihkai told the men that if their prayers for rain were heard within three days, they would be liberated. A slight rainfall followed, and now five others are engaged in prayer under the same condition.

Oddfellows Want a Grant From City

To Help Entertain Big Convention to Meet Here in August---Citizens Ask City to Prevent C. P. R. Running Through Certain Private Property.

The Committee of the Whole Council met last night when there were present Mayor Hall, Reid, and Aldermen Hicks, Elliott, Clancy, Wilson, Graham, Dunsford, Mellwraith and McWilliams.

The meeting was called to deal with the Bell Telephone Co's intimation that they would proceed to lay their wires underground without permission of the Council, if the council will not agree to such action on the Bell Company's part.

At the last meeting of the council the city solicitor was instructed to protest against the Bell Co. proceeding with their underground work without an agreement with the city being entered into by both parties.

The city solicitor wrote the Bell Co. on these lines, and the company replied that they would respectfully request the city to forward to the office of the local manager as soon today (Saturday) an agreement the city would be willing to enter into with the company for civic permission to lay their wires through conduits underground. The company also pointed out that they had been put to considerable trouble and expense through the council's vacillations in this matter. The tenor of this letter and the Bell Company's attitude points to their taking advantage of their rights under their charter to string their wires under or above ground, with or without the corporation's permission.

His Worship and his colleagues have an idea that in time to come the city might construct one big trunk conduit, with a view to getting all phone and power companies to use the same.

The council did not view with favor giving the Bell Company perpetual rights.

Ald. Hicks thought the best course to pursue would be to offer a time limit, and if this is not acceptable to the company, let them go ahead and put in their conduits under protest from the city.

The city solicitor advised the council to submit a time limit agreement to the company, and if they would not accept it, let them go ahead and put in their conduits under their own responsibility.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Adams,—That an agreement be drafted for submission to the Bell Company fixing a time limit of 21 years, and securing to the city any benefits that may accrue from the new act governing phone and power companies now under the consideration of the Dominion Parliament.—Carried.

MORE MONEY WANTED.

The Oddfellows ask for a grant toward defraying expenses connected with properly entertaining the 1200 delegates coming here in Grand Lodge convention, from August 6th to 10th.

Ald. Johnston explained that the Oddfellows thought the city might make a grant in aid of decorating the city on this occasion.

It is nineteen years since the Oddfellows met here in convention.

Some of the aldermen thought Peterborough was now too large a place to indulge in the village exhibiting one of decorating with flags and bunting because a few hundred visitors are coming. But they thought a certain sum might be expended in making things pleasant for the visitors.

Ald. Adams remarked that the streets might at least be put in good shape for the occasion.

A committee of the Oddfellows will be asked to meet the whole council next Friday, to go into this matter.

C.P.R. NEW LINE

Messrs. Dumble, Burton, Hugh Wood and R. A. Morrow, were a deputation as citizens and ratepayers of the city as well as owners of certain lands in the township of North Monaghan, opposing the construction of the C.P.R. new Victoria Harbor line, through what they consider to be valuable building sites. The deputation had concluded that the property was too valuable to be cut up and destroyed by the proposed new railway line. While not wishing to oppose the C.P.R. Co's contemplated connection with this city, by their new line, they have been advised that another advantageous (to the railway) route through this city could be arrived at. The C.P.R. have been practically decided to run through Jackson Park, by the swimming hole, parallel with the G.T.R. track and thence through valuable private property, to the present line of the C.P.R. The deputation asked that the city use their official position in requesting the C.P.R. to decide to an independent survey of another practicable route through the city being made by a competent surveyor.

Ald. McWilliams pointed out that the Manufacturers' Committee were authorized last March to endeavor to get the C.P.R. to come into Peterborough by a different route than the proposed one through Jackson Park, learnt that the whole thing with the C.P.R. is a question of a maximum grade, they must have a grade which will allow them to carry heavy grain freights from Georgian Bay. If they can't get a satisfactory grade through Peterborough, they will avoid this city altogether. They have tried every possible route into Peterborough to maintain the desired grade along the whole route.

Ald. Elliott moved, seconded by Ald. Dunsford,—That the Manufacturers committee appoint a committee to wait upon the C.P.R. authorities regarding the entry into Peterborough of the proposed Victoria Harbor line and the expenses to be paid by the city treasurer.—Carried.

Mr. Dumble thought the resolution not strong enough. The council should carry the matter before the Railway Committee if necessary to protect the interests of private citizens of Peterborough.

Ald. Adams pointed out that not so long ago citizens of this city were very anxious to get the C.P.R. new route into the city, and he would very much regret any action which would antagonize the company.

Mr. Dumble replied that he did not wish to antagonize the C.P.R., he merely wished them to take a sweep around and thus enter their present station.

Ald. Graham—"Yes, and enter some other man's property, eh?"

Ald. Adams thought a committee of private citizens should form a committee to interview the railway authorities, and pay their own expenses.

Subsequently the Manufacturers' Committee met, and decided to call an emergency meeting to arrive at the means of selecting an early interview with Mr. Leonard of the C.P.R., and the naming of a committee of citizens to form a representative deputation.

Great Concessions By the Autocracy

Montreal, June 29.—Advices from South Africa received here contain information of great moment to Canadian manufacturers and others interested in the export trade. A bill allowing substantial preference to goods of Canadian manufacture and growth is now before the South African Parliament, and is expected to become law within a short period.

These preferences will be in the form of rebates, and they are of sufficient magnitude to in most cases pay the carriage of goods from the Dominion to Africa. A large class of manufactured articles, including boots and shoes, carriages, harness, woollen and cotton goods, manufactured steel and iron, cement, fruits and paper of all description, will be subject to a remote of 3 per cent. ad valorem, while wheat, barley, rye, peas, etc., will be refunded to the extent of 24 per 100 pounds. Flour will receive a rebate of 34 per hundred.

COBALT
—THE—
WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $150,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.
SOLICITORS - Clark McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE GERMS?

Yes, and becomes "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter.

With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and instills vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No ather restorative is known than Ferrozone, its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Watton, P.Q., Que., who received enormous benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"I didn't get enough sleep at night and felt poorly in the day time.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

SURGERY THAT LEAVES NO SCARS

Dr. J. L. A. Aymord, a noted hospital surgeon of London, England, has made a wonderful discovery by which surgery will leave no scars. The doctor finds that it all depends on the manner in which the incision through the skin is made. His own description of his scarless method is reprinted from the London Lancet. "My new method of skin division consists of the simple operation of dividing it upon the slant in contradistinction to the present method of dividing the same at right angles to the surface. My idea, though new by design, is by accident of very ancient origin. There are few of us who have not on our person some example, however small, of this cut through the skin upon the slant. Such a cut, if extensive, generally presents a somewhat lumpy appearance, due to contraction and very often a smooth mark at the line of junction. The reason why a cut through the skin upon the slant and subjected to properly applied pressure heals so perfectly, is not far to see. Contact is perfect and the greater the pressure within the limits the better it is. With regard to the operation itself, the skin should be reasonably stretched in all directions by assistants, if this is not already the case by some underlying tumor. The angle at which the knife should be held can only be learned by practice. The skin, as a rule, will give five or six millimetres, or about a quarter of an inch, flap, but in addition at least as much fat flap, except of course, when the fat is excessive. Fat makes firm, rapid union, and is therefore, of considerable importance. Sometimes I secure the wound by placing across a few strips of China silk and collodion; at others by merely placing collodion on the curved or flat glass dressing. When the glass is pressed flat the exact position of the flat can be seen at a glance. I prefer glass to celluloid or mica, because it is rigid, a matter of importance when applying pressure. In all probability excellent results will be obtained in a dozen other ways. With regard to pressure, it should be slight for the first few days, then gradually increased. Whichever rigid dressing is placed over the wound, it should be covered by a large pad of wool. If no rigid dressing is thus used, in all probability a contracted condition of the flap will be the result. Sooner than allow a wound to heal in bad position I would always break it down and begin again."

British Bowlers' Tour

Toronto, June 30—Mr. C. R. W. Postlethwaite, secretary of the Ontario Bowlers' Association, has received a letter from Secretary A. H. Hamilton of the British Bowlers, formally ratifying the itinerary of the August tour as arranged some time ago.

Mr. Hamilton notifies Mr. Postlethwaite that the party will number fifty-two people, including nine ladies, and, as previously announced, they will sail on the Virginian, taking their departure from Liverpool on July 19, or the following day, arriving in Montreal seven days later.

Mr. S. England, of Glasgow, has been appointed captain of the team, and Mr. Jas. Telford, Newcastle, and Mr. J. C. Hunter, Belfast, vice captains.

Mr. A. H. Hamilton, S. S. C. Belfast, is secretary-treasurer. The committee in charge of the tour will consist of the following gentlemen: J. T. Morrison, and Mr. Hugh McCulloch, Scotland; H. Sourbutt and E. Pickerd, England; W. Letchie, Ireland.

UNIFORM DRESS.

The committee have entire charge of the tour and have decided upon a very striking uniform dress for the visit to Canada. They have notified the members of the team to procure the following costume:—

Fine indigo blue worsted suit.
P. and O. cap to match.
Cream worsted trousers.
Light straw hat with blue and white band.
Silk Derby tie, Shepherd check.

"The shape of the jacket is known as a morning jacket," says the circular which was sent around to the tourists, and in another paragraph the members of the party are given permission "to have the suits made at your own tailors."

Emblematical finales or brooches, similar to the maple leaves the Canadians distributed among their opponents during the Old Country visit, will be brought along for distribution. Each member of the party will have about thirty of these mementos.

They promise strict adherence to the program as arranged. "You can depend upon us toeing the mark and each engagement," says the letter to Mr. Postlethwaite. "The Canadians were perfect paragons in this respect, and we hope you will be able to say the same regarding us when we leave you beautiful Canada for home in September."

"The program, as arranged, will keep us hard at it," continues the writer, "but we have provided several reserves so that the strain may not be too great upon the players."

Amherstburg, June 30—About 20 tons of dynamite exploded at five o'clock yesterday afternoon on Dynamite Island, nearly opposite here. The concussion on the mainland in this section was most terrific, creating many windows in the stores and residences. Harry Rogers, 32 Montcalm street, and Theodore Perry, 177 Fourth avenue, Detroit, were in a sailboat a few hundred yards from Dynamite Island at the time. Their boat was completely demolished and the men were nearly drowned, but were strong enough to hang on to some floating wreckage until a steam launch reached them from Grosse Isle, Mich., manned by Dr. Rudy of Detroit, and were brought here. They were turned about the face and arms Perry's teeth were forced through his lower lip. Their nerves are in bad shape. Dr. Park ordered them put to bed at once, fearing a collapse. The doctor says there is no immediate danger. Their clothes were completely torn from their backs by the angry waters. If they had not been good swimmers they undoubtedly would have drowned.

Guatemalan Revolution

Mexico City, June 29.—News from Salvador relating to the revolution in Guatemala is that Gen. Toledo has advanced into the country without encountering resistance during a three days' march. It is believed that he is now near or at the city of Guatemala. Many government troops have deserted him. The Government commander of the forces at Escatempa had to resort to the severest measures to prevent his troops from disbanding, and shot a group of deserters.

All news from Guatemala is censored, so that nothing is allowed to pass which is not friendly to the Government.

The capture of Ayutla in Northern Guatemala by the revolutionists is confirmed, though it is not known if they are still in possession.

Refugees from Guatemala assert that the government has imprisoned some forty prominent citizens on suspicion of being in sympathy with the revolutionists. This action of the government. The refugees claim, is resented by the people, who, however, fear to openly protest.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

No Liquor in London Camp.

London, June 14.—The Minister of Militia has issued instructions requiring that the regulations respecting the sale of liquor, including beer, should be rigidly enforced here.

Record for Marine Machinery Run.

Rotterdam, June 28.—A record for marine machinery has been established by the Shell line steamer Goldsmith, which steamed from Singapore by the Cape of Good Hope 11,491 miles in 52 days, without once stopping. She burned liquid fuel, and had twenty days' supply still on hand.

Windsor Heard From!

Postmaster Wigle makes a statement

The following letter from Mr. Alfred Wigle, Postmaster at Windsor, who is a man of excellent musical ability, and a most competent judge, speaks very highly of the New Scale Williams Piano:

Dear Sirs:—

I am delighted with the New Scale Williams Piano (Style Sheraton), which I purchased from you. It fully equals, if not excels, your representations, and certainly exceeds the expectations which I had formed. I esteem it to be by far the best piano I have ever owned, and I have been the owner of four of the leading pianos manufactured in Canada.

Its tone has clearness, power and volume and a resonance that lengthens and enhances its outpouring "concord of sweet sounds."

Anyone conversant in music must know that quality of tone depends upon the material used and the construction of the musical instrument. I have no hesitation in saying my full conviction is that the New Scale Williams Piano with its Harmonic Tone-Prolonging Bridge and other noticeable modern improvements is by far the best piano manufactured in Canada or the United States today. It is, without doubt, the piano of the twentieth century. Yours very truly, ALFRED WIGLE, Postmaster.

ENGLAND AND HER COLONIES

(Written for The Times.)

Stands a thousand-wintered tree,
By countless morns imparadised;
Her broad roots coil beneath the sea,
Her branches sweep the world;
Her seeds, by careless winds conveyed,
Clothe the remotest strand
With forests from her scatterings made,
New nations fostered in her shade,
And linking land with land.

O ye by wandering tempest sown
'Neath every alien star,
Forget not whence the breath was blown
That wafted you afar!
For ye are still her ancient seed
On younger soil let fall—
Children of Britain's inland-breed,
To whom the mother in her need
Perchance may one day call.

BE A GOOD LISTENER.

A Charm Which Women Would Do Well to Cultivate.

The wise woman is a good listener as well as a good conversationalist. It is much more of an art to draw out the best thoughts of other people than it is to converse well oneself. One often meets intelligent persons who never enter a room full of people without monopolizing the conversation. Their facility for useless chatter is unlimited, and their conversation is liberally interspersed with the pronoun I.

Well bred people have a wholesome dislike of talking about themselves. One never knows how much they know or what wonderful sights they have seen unless some circumstance occurs to bring it out. It is left for the person of few ideas and narrow vision to keep up a ceaseless chatter. It is the occasional traveler who seeks to impress upon her friends the fact that she has seen something of the world. She never misses a chance of speaking about it. While this is not an unpardonable fault, it is a disagreeable one, which sometimes causes the inveterate talker to be spoken of in terms anything but complimentary.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

Ingrowing toe nails should be scraped thin in the center of the nail and then cut there and at the corners.

Persons who have irritability of the heart should not drink hot water. Hot water will cause palpitation in such cases.

Soap liniment is one of those harmless and useful things that should find a place in every house. It can be had ready for use from any drug store. It is excellent for bruises and sprains.

If you are choked and cannot get relief, get down on all fours and cough until you remove the obstruction. The plan of holding a child upside down and shaking him is the best plan known for relieving a choking baby.

A simple way to relieve sore throat is to take a lump of rosin about as large as a walnut, put it into an old teapot, pour on boiling water, then put the lid on and place the spout to your mouth. The steam will prove very beneficial in allaying the inflammation.

Delicious Potato Salad.

A delicious potato salad: Chop very fine lightly half a small onion and half a green pepper pod. Cut six boiled potatoes into cubes less than half an inch in diameter. Mix the onion, pepper and potato together with five or six tablespoonfuls of oil. Add a teaspoonful of salt and a little paprika. Add vinegar in whatever proportion is liked. Rub the salad bowl with a split clove of garlic; put in the salad, shaping it firmly into a mould. Cover with a smooth mayonnaise. With lines of capers or sliced olives divide the mound into six sections. Fill in these sections with finely chopped hard boiled eggs, using both whites and yolks, and with chopped boiled beets. Decorate the sections in contrasting colors. Set a tuft of lettuce hearts in the top and decorate the edges with tiny gherkins cut in the thinnest of slices and spread out fan-fashion.

Organ for Sale.

Fine new organ will be sold at a bargain. Very little used. Will be sold at a low figure for quick cash. Apply at this office or to P.O. drawer 118.

CATARRH OF STOMACH RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

Mde. Joseph Beaudoin, 59 Rue 84, Olivier, Quebec, P. Q., Can., writes:

"Peruna is wonderful for indigestion. I eat whatever I want and no longer feel any oppression.

"Having had dyspepsia for a long time and having tried various other remedies, I decided to try Peruna and with the fourth bottle of it I was perfectly cured.

"For this reason I recommend it to all those who are suffering with that terrible malady, dyspepsia.

"I hope that all who are afflicted in this way will take Peruna as I did."

The experience of Mde. Beaudoin ought to be sufficient proof to any one of the value of Peruna in cases of catarrhal dyspepsia. If you suffer from stomach catarrh in any of its various forms, give Peruna a fair trial, avoiding in the meantime all such indiscretions in diet as would tend to retard a cure, and you will soon be rewarded by a normal appetite and healthy digestion.

Gave Its Name to Kicking Horse Pass

Vancouver, June 30—High up in the Rocky Mountains there has just been erected by scientists and railway men of Canada and the United States monuments to the memory of Sir James Hector and his son of New Zealand. The former is a memento of the great services rendered by Sir Jas Hector as scientist of the Palliser expedition, which discovered the Kicking Horse Pass, through which the Canadian Pacific Railway runs. The Kicking Horse River was named after an incident of this expedition, when Sir James Hector was laid low by a kick from a horse. So badly injured was he that his Indians thought he was dead, and were preparing his grave, when he came round just in time to avert being buried alive. Mount Hector, one of the highest peaks of the Rockies, is named after the veteran explorer. The monument to his achievements is under the shadow of that towering hill.

Provincial Loan of $8 000 000

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1906, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $1,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, dated 1st July, 1906, and payable

$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1926.
$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1936.

with coupons attached for interest at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st January and the 1st July in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto. Bonds will be of the denominations of $20o, $50o, and $1,000, and will be payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders may be exchanged for Ontario Government Stock bearing the same rate of interest.

The issue price during the month of July, 1906, will be par, and after the 31st July, 1906, the issue price will be par and accrued interest.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of amounts up to $1,000 will be required to send certified cheque with the application. For amounts over $1,000 payment for subscription may be made in instalments 10 per cent. on application, 10 per cent 1st August, 10 per cent. 1st September, 10 per cent. 1st October, 10 per cent 1st November, and 50 per cent. 1st December, 1906, with privilege of paying at an earlier date the interest on instalment subscriptions being adjusted on 1st January, 1907.

In the event of any subscriber for bonds payable by instalments failing to make payment of subsequent instalments, the bonds may be sold and any loss incurred will be charged to the purchaser in default.

Forms of subscription (when payable by instalments) may be obtained on application to the Treasury Department.

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario and is chargeable thereupon.

All cheques should be made payable to the order of "The Provincial Treasurer of Ontario," and subscribers should state the denominations and terms (20 or 30 years) of bonds desired.

A. J. MATHESON,
Provincial Treasurer.

A WORD TO INVESTORS

There is no better investment than Mining Stock, provided
That you purchase the stock of a legitimate mine, and not a prospect.
That you purchase the stock of a mine whose ore assays run high enough to warrant mining and refining charges.
That you purchase the stock of a producing and shipping mine, and not an undeveloped and unproven claim.
You Can Do This by purchasing the shares of

There are eight cars of ore in transit or being treated at the New Jersey Smelters.

We have just received the following letter giving the returns of the first car of this shipment

Messrs. A. E. OSLER & CO., Toronto, Ontario. (Copy) June 22, 1906.

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to your inquiry as to recent returns on cars of ore shipped from our mines at Cobalt, I would say that I have just received a check for $7,620.60 for seventeen tons of ore shipped in one of the cars in May. This is after the payment of all freight and treatment charges, and is net to us for this ore on the cars at Cobalt. I expect to have reports from the other eight cars shipped during that month within a few days.

Yours truly,

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

God that to that one—to her—my honor was always unstained! She believe you? No! Never! I go alone to the congress! You go no farther with me!"

A facial contortion drew Jarrat's lips from his teeth. He stood in a leaning posture, his knuckles flat upon the table between them, a thriving suspicion in his look. A fit of shuddering seized Anne as she saw this look change swiftly to conviction—certainty in which rage and shame and hate were black.

"I go no farther?" he repeated. "What say you? Oh, fool, fool that I was to trust you! You have tricked me! You never intended to do it! You will not go—aye, you would go, but wherefore?" His voice had sunk to a metallic dullness, and he eyed the other, breathing hard.

Now his tone leaped again: "I know! The French king had his own mind! He sent your master a message to convey, a message of comfort. Ah, your face says, 'Aye!' 'Twas in the packet you gave to Mistress Tillotson at Gladden Hall! Curse that bondwoman! You have got it! Now that you are false to us, 'tis that message—that message that you would give the congress! And 'twas I brought you from the jail—I!"

The last words were a sort of horrible rasping whisper, and as he spoke he came slowly around the table, his fingers clawing its edge.

"But you shall not! You double traitor! You shall not go! I know you I alone! I will prevent it!"

"You shall never leave this room," said Armand.

Crouched low, holding the shalloon edges, Anne saw it all, the breath frozen in her throat saw both blades clang out with a single movement, saw Jarrat hurl himself forward, heard the steel meet. Mixed joy and horror held her.

She understood. He had cherished his master's purpose all along, pursued by treachery, meeting cunning with cunning, constrained to deception. It was the true message of the French king that she clasped at that moment under her cloak. To carry this he had won his way from the hands of his enemies and fooled Jarrat to his purpose. And now without the packet his voice would give the message to the congress. She had brought it just in time.

All this came to her at once in a succession of pictures vivid as patches of night landscape seen by violet lightning and at an instant when horror overrolled her joy.

The street, the taproom, were so near. Would none come to stop them? She feared to declare herself, for a start, a tremor of the hand, might mean death to her lover.

She saw the quick end, powerless to utter a cry. Armand stiffened suddenly, his left hand fallen low. His blade passed like a needle in sailcloth through the other's body, and Jarrat slipped in a huddle to the floor and lay still.

Anne tried to scream, but her throat only gave forth a whisper. Not till Armand had sheathed his wet sword and the door had closed upon him did she find strength to part the curtains.

She looked upon the prostrate man in a terror. She must summon help and then take the packet to Armand. She realized suddenly that Jarrat was not dead; that his eyes were upon her; that he was struggling to a sitting posture.

"You saw—you heard!" he gasped. "You!"

"Yes," she breathed.

"You brought him the packet! My God! To think I never suspected! And he has gone gone"—

"To his honor."

He stared at her, a slow, ghastly smile coming to wreathe his lips. "Honor? Say you so? Wait!"

He made an attempt to unbutton his waistcoat. "The paper in this pocket!" he groaned. "Take it and read. Quick! Quick! Nay, call no one! Men bleed not to death so soon!"

She unfolded the scroll with shaking fingers and read:

I, Louis Armand, released from durance in Halifax, under special instruction from his majesty's government touching the Continental congress, do agree that, in the event that I do not carry out this mission, as ordered, I hold my life forfeit and pledge my honor within one month this hereafter to deliver myself to Lord Chetwynde, whose custody I now leave.

ARMAND.

She caught her breath. "Do pledge my honor to deliver myself"—"to hold my life forfeit." He had chosen to give his life to carry the true message. His life! How could that atone to her? He must not die! It must not! He must not do it! She heard Jarrat's breathing through it all and felt his eyes, waiting, upon her.

A heavy knocking came at the door, and Joseph Galloway entered, his stick in his hand. He made an exclamation as he saw and threw up his hands.

"Galloway!" said the wounded man, his breath rattling with a convulsion as the other bent over him. "He is false to us. Armand—he is false! He

SUNLIT ROOMS.

A Southern Exposure Is the Best For All Houses.

Sunlight is nature's most health giving scavenger. A house without sunlight is unhealthy and unsafe for human occupancy, and it is necessary not only to have some sunlight, but to have as much of it as possible. It is, of course, not feasible to admit the direct rays of the sun to every room of a house. The typical plan of all houses is square or rectangular, and at least one side of the house is entirely beyond the reach of the sun. The other three sides, however, can receive more or less direct sunlight, and the problem of the plan is thus reduced to arranging the various rooms so that the amount of sunlight is adjusted to their uses. And it must be sunlight, for mere light itself is not sufficient. The rays of the sun have curative and cleansing properties that nothing else has.

It is generally admitted that a southern exposure is the best for all houses and should be obtained whenever possible. It is immaterial whether the entrance be placed on this side or not, so long as the rooms most in use open on to the house. In dwellings of average size the entrance front will also be the front on which any important room opens, but in large country houses the old distinction of a front and back to a house has disappeared, and instead we have the entrance front and the garden front. The service and servants' quarters, so long regarded as characteristic of the back of a house, may be relegated to a side end or placed in a wing that abuts directly on the entrance front. In such cases it must be well screened and its purpose thoroughly subordinated.—American Home and Garden.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

"What do you dress every evening for in those pretty light things when you never go out?" was asked of a den girl by her next door neighbor as she interestedly watched the proceedings.

"Why, because I feel better, I suppose. I have always done it, and it has become as much a matter of course as having my breakfast in the morning."

This same den girl, when she comes from her work at night, slips out of her clothes into a completely fresh set, inexpensive and simple, but still fresh, and feels like a "new woman." The next afternoon she may don some of the same things, but the blouse will be different because the variety, she thinks, rests her, and then this Lady Dainty, who works day by day, is prepared always either to see her friends or enjoy an evening with her books, and she at least knows the joy and power of clothes and the blessing of possessing the knack of wearing them.

Many Rich Finds Made at Cobalt

Cobalt, June 29.—A vein of ore eight inches wide and carrying high values in silver, was found in the Jacobs claim on Saturday, the front of trenching, the Jacobs people having followed the general example and instituted prospecting work on their holdings as well as development of the first find.

The Jacobs property adjoins the Hargraves, which has received so much notoriety through the litigation concerning it instituted by the Ontario Government.

The district in which the Jacobs mine is situated has been greatly enlarged this season by the finds made on lot 1, concession 3, Coleman, and on lot 1, concession 4, same township.

The Temiskaming Co. Company are working on a two-inch vein carrying a four-inch pay streak of Cobalt silver ore and the sensational strike of the Devine Brothers, was made immediately north of this, while north of this again, the Beaver Co. for whom the Devine's are working, and in which they are interested, has made still another find. The finds in the district this year have greatly exceeded in importance those made in the whole of last year from May to November.

The Devine discovery is interesting because it occurred on a cancelled claim a claim in which the original location was found to lack discovery. The question here arises had so the law required discovery would the Devine vein be now known and development work be in progress upon it. There is no one but will sympathize with the original location, but the fact remains the present law stimulates prospecting, retards wildcatting and is conducive to a stable and healthy growth.

CURTAINS AND WALL PAPER.

To Produce Good Effects They Should Harmonize in Color Tones.

It is the easiest thing in the world to get the wrong tint in one's curtains, and sometimes it is the hardest thing in the world to get just the right one. Before buying curtains the wall paper should be carefully studied. With paper that has a white background it is always safe to use white curtains, but if the background is in colored tones the greatest care should be used in selecting material of a color that will harmonize, and in buying curtains for a room that is already papered a sample of the paper should be taken along to avoid making a serious mistake. Of course, if paper and curtains are bought at the same time it is a comparatively easy matter to have a satisfactory combination of color.

Sometimes, no matter how much care may have been taken, the result will be startlingly wrong. In this case much may be done with overhangings, not of heavy stuff, of light texture and of a color that will tone in well with both of the conflicting shades, and that will do much toward harmonizing the whole appearance of the room. If the windows have inside shutters they, too, must be considered in the color scheme. If the shutters are of natural wood the material of the curtains should be less transparent than if used with white shutters. It is quite as important that the shutters and the curtains blend as it is for the wall paper and the curtains to look well together.—Boston Traveler.

CLOTHES THAT PLEASE.

The Manner In Which Men Like to See Women Dressed.

If women dress to please men they will always be gowned simply, appropriately, more quietly and consequently more becomingly than if they wear their clothes for the benefit of women. Men always like simple, neat costumes, free from flying ends, frills, ribbons and laces. Of course there are men who never notice what kind of clothes their wives and daughters wear. They only know when these look well, when the general effect is good, but are never able to particularize, but men are becoming better educated in the matter of clothes for women, and the average man of today traveling about among women is capable of discriminating and knows the value of a woman's clothing as well as its becomingness. Many wives would appear to better advantage in their clothes if they would take their husbands' advice in the selection of them instead of the advice of their dressmakers. The latter are apt to burden their customers down with costly and unbecoming furbelows regardless of taste.—Frances van Etten in Leslie's Weekly.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Soaking handkerchiefs all night in strong salt water will greatly facilitate their washing.

When washing flannels get rid of as much dust and dirt as you possibly can by shaking and brushing before plunging into water.

After blankets have been washed and hung on the line and are thoroughly dry beat with a carpet beater. The wool will become light and soft, like new.

In laundering white spreads or any large piece where difficulty is experienced in finding the large soiled spots a good plan is to fasten a piece of black silk thread to most soiled places. The spots can then be easily detected.

Ironing silk when wet gives it a smooth, glossy appearance, but should the waist get dry before it is ironed dip it in clean cold water and roll in a cloth. Do not sprinkle water over it, as that would make it look rough and blotchy when ironed.

Waldorf Egg Timbales.

Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add one tablespoonful of flour and pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Add the yolks of three eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored and season with one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, half a teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper and a few grains each of celery salt and cayenne. Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff and dry and cut and fold into the first mixture. Turn into buttered individual molds, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven until firm. Remove from the molds, pour around bechamel or tomato sauce and garnish with yolks and whites of hard boiled eggs and parsley. Let this be what is known as a marguerite garnish. Cut the whites of the eggs to represent the petals of the flower and force the yolks through a strainer to represent the center.—Fannie Merritt Farmer in Woman's Home Companion.

Octogenarian Attempts Suicide.

Stratford, June 24.—Joseph Bennett, 89 years old, attempted to commit suicide at the House of Refuge, but was prevented. He is in a precarious condition.

A MOHAMMEDAN FUNERAL.

Ceremonies With Which a Body Is Consigned to the Grave.

When the life of a Mohammedan is ebbing away a distinguished reader of the Koran is summoned to recite aloud its chapter on the resurrection, so that the spirit of the person, on hearing it, may have an easy death. The Mohammedan believes that the vital principles of the whole system are concentrated in the head, when death is the result. The watchers at the bedside also read some passages, and then a drink of sherbet is given to the patient to lessen the pangs of death. As soon as the spark of life has fled, the two great toes are tied together with a thin strip of cloth, the mouth is closed, and incense is burned near the body.

The interment follows a few hours after death. The "washers" are men and women who wash and shroud the body and dig a hole in the earth to hold the water, so that it cannot spread very much, as it is considered unlucky to tread on this water. The washing is a great ceremony, and when finished the body is shrouded with even more ceremony. If there is a widow of the deceased, she returns the dowry her husband had given her. If the deceased's mother is present, she says, "The milk with which I suckled thee I freely bestow upon thee." Thus she resigns the debt of the deceased to her. When flowers have been placed on the body it is carried to the grave on a bier or, if the relatives can afford it, in a coffin. At the grave four creeds are recited, and the body, with the head to the north and the face looking toward Mecca, is laid on its back in its tomb. The grave is about seven feet long for both sexes, but the depth for a man is measured by the distance between his feet and chest; for a woman, between her feet and waist. If the body is too long for the grave, it is believed that the deceased must have been a great sinner.

Before the body is covered the Mohammedan takes a little earth and, throwing it into the grave, says, "We created you of earth, and we return you to the earth, and we shall raise you out of the earth on the day of resurrection." Then a mound is built to keep the earth in the grave from crushing the body, and water is sprinkled on it in three lines. Special prayers for the safe voyage of the deceased are offered after the burial. As in the case of a Hindoo funeral, the poor are not forgotten, both remembering the needy by distributing money, salt, rice and wheat among them after the funeral.

The Prague Clock.

Since the middle of the fifteenth century the city of Prague has possessed a remarkable clock, the machinery of which is most complicated. The dial, which is between six and eight feet across, has a number of hands, which mark not only the minutes and the hours, but also the days, months, years and centuries. Of this clock a poet tells us:

At the left of the dial a skeleton stands,
And aloft hangs a musical bell in the tower,
Which he rings by a rope that he holds in his hands
In his punctual function of striking the hour.
But the funniest sight of the numerous sights
Which the clock has to show to the people below
Is the holy apostles, in tunics and tights,
Who revolve in a ring or proceed in a row.

The Ideal Duster.

The process of dusting as generally carried on would be almost as much "honored in the breach as in the observance." No good housekeeper should own that petty abomination known as a feather duster, the gay flirting about of the same merely displacing the dust, which quickly settles elsewhere, says Table Talk. A soft chamois skin, not too large, soaked in cold water and then wrung out, is the ideal duster. It can be used on the finest woods, leaving a clear, bright surface. After every piece of furniture has been wiped with the moist chamois the rooms may be considered really dusted.

Onion Porridge.

Onion porridge is a good old fashioned country cure for an influenza attack. Peel a large Spanish onion, divide it into fourths and put it into a saucepan with half a saltspoonful of salt, two ounces of butter and a pint of cold water. Let it simmer gently until it is quite tender, then pour into a heated bowl, dredge a little pepper over it and eat it as hot as possible before going to bed.

A Doubting Thomas.

She—Did you let father know you owned a lot of house property? He—I hinted at it. She—What did he say? He—He said, "Deeds speak louder than words."

A Common Delusion.

One of the commonest of delusions and one of the fattest is where a man thinks he's in a hurry.—Puck.

No man can enjoy life or feel that he is really living who has no work to do.—Success Magazine.

THE EIGHTH GIRL

By BELLE MANIATES

Copyright, 1905, by P. C. Eastment

When John Walker was left a widower, although he was in the prime of manhood, with a comfortable income and good habits, it was universally predicted that he could never win a second wife.

For what manner of woman—that is, of the type fastidious John Walker would fancy—could contemplate the prospect of stepmothering seven daughters ranging in age from pert thirteen to precocious four?

If the children had been boys, John Walker's prospects would have been more favorable, for a squad of boys can be turned afield, but seven girls to hear and heed until they should come to an age when they would with their lords depart!

John Walker was domestic, and after two years of widowerhood he began to yearn for a goddess of his hearth and home. The affairs of his household had not been administered so badly since his wife died. The cook was capable and honest and had been reigning over the kitchen for eight years. The seamstress, who had always spent a month each spring and autumn "sewing up" for the young Walkers, continued her visits, with the added responsibility of selecting and purchasing material.

The eldest girl, Madge, was promising to be quite a practical little housekeeper, but John Walker knew that a wise feminine hand and heart were essential to the guidance of his active, romping, unruly troop of youngsters.

He began to call assiduously upon Cecilia Rayne, a young woman renowned for her intellect, practicality and excellent judgment. She accepted his attentions, though reservedly, and with a general air of careful consideration and "weighing in the balance."

His intentions were regarded as unmistakable when he invited her, with her mother, to visit his home and drink tea one afternoon. The children on this fateful day had never been so noisy or unattractive. Even Madge was boisterous and untidy.

John Walker did not know that it was malice aforethought on the part of his offspring. Madge was precocious and acute eared. She had heard it said that John Walker would marry just as soon as he could find any one to have him. She had sized up Miss Rayne as a home ruler, and in the mother of Miss Rayne she scented a natural enemy.

So she instigated and encouraged rebellion in her many sisters, and their deportment carried the day. John Walker escorted his guests to their home and returned with the firm intention of administering unto his own something stronger than rebuke.

He found his flock white robed and sweet voiced, awaiting with uplifted mouths his good night caress, and he could not bring himself to mar their slumbers by so much as a word.

"If she only could have seen them as they are now!" he thought, with a regretful sigh.

Madge's busy little brain worked overtime that night on the solution of the stepmother problem. A day or two after the eventful visit of Miss Cecilia Rayne, as John Walker was passing a little park, he met two or three kindergarten teachers walking with their young charges. He gave them but a casual glance, when his attention was attracted by a delighted cry of "Papa!"

The littlest and last child in the procession let go of the hand of the young girl with whom she was walking and rushed up to him.

"Why, Tot," he said, taking her up in his arms.

Then he looked hesitatingly at the young teacher, who was walking on slowly.

"You must be Mr. Walker," she said naively. "I am Tot's kindergarten teacher."

"Are you?" he asked interestedly. "I didn't know that Tot attended a kindergarten."

"Didn't you?" she asked anxiously. "Madge brought her to school yesterday and entered her as a pupil. I supposed it was your wish."

"Of course it is," he replied promptly, "only I hadn't thought of it before. I am glad Madge is so wise."

"I've learned lots, papa. I'm going to prick you a card," assured Tot.

"Thank you, darling. Where is your school, Miss"—

"Worden," she said, supplying the name. "The school is on the corner of Wood and Third streets, three blocks below. Are you fond of children, Mr. Walker?" she asked, looking up at the princess enthroned on his shoulder.

"Naturally," he said, with a whimsical smile.

She flushed and laughed a little.

"Come and visit our school some time, then."

"I will walk there with you now," he responded promptly, setting Tot down on the sidewalk.

The child instantly appropriated a hand of each guardian and skipped along between them.

"Who takes her to and from school?" he asked, remembering the automobiles and trolley cars.

"Madge has so far."

"Madge said you could stop for me noons on your way home to luncheon," said the little girl.

"Why, yes, so I can. How did Madge know of your school, Miss Worden?"

"Oh, Madge and I are old friends. I give music lessons afternoons, and her inseparable companion, Grace Elandon, is one of my pupils."

"I wish you would give Madge lessons too. Her teacher left the city some time ago, and I have neglected to have her start again."

"I should be glad to teach her," said the girl simply.

"Very well. You may commence tomorrow, if agreeable, and give her two lessons a week."

"She's a sweet little girl," thought John Walker as he pursued his way from the kindergarten. "She must be Tom Worden's daughter. Poor fellow! His failure took all he had. She's a trump to take hold and help in this way."

The first day that John called for Tot he so cordially seconded the child's invitation to her teacher to come home with them to luncheon that she was forced to comply.

Madge's music hour was from 5:30 to 6, and she would not practice properly unless her teacher would consent to stay to dinner. The children all claimed her as a kindred spirit and called her "Bess," for which they were sternly and ineffectually reprimanded by their parent, who finally followed their example and called her by that name himself.

In the month of July the Walkers went to their summer cottage on a lake some twenty miles from the city.

"You need a vacation more than any one," said John Walker abruptly to Bess one day. "You must go with us."

"Thank you very much," said the girl gratefully. "It's kind in you to ask me, but of course I can't accept."

"Why not?" he demanded. "Your father is going west on an extended business trip, and he won't need you."

The girl blushed, hesitated and then said frankly:

"Why, you see, of course, it would really be all right, but then you know people would talk—they wouldn't approve."

She began to flounder in her explanation, and John suddenly comprehended.

"I see," he laughed, nodding. "But you see you have come to seem to me like one of my own—my eighth girl, I call you—but I suppose you are grown up enough for a chaperon."

"I am twenty years old," she said with dignity.

"Indeed! A great age. Well, I have a second cousin, a meek, elderly widow, whom the children rule firmly. I presume she would like a month or so at the cottage."

So it was finally arranged.

From that time on John Walker suddenly regarded his children's teacher in a new light.

"I wonder if a beautiful young girl like Bess could come to care for an old duffer like me," he pondered. "I had supposed that she considered me an old man!"

A thrill stirred within him as he looked up at the fair young face gazing happily over the waters of the lake on the first night of their arrival.

"Bess!" he said suddenly.

But the children had also called "Bess," and she was away for a romp on the beach.

"She is only a child, after all," he thought, with a sigh.

In the Walker boathouse was a canoe which the children were forbidden to use, but Bess one Sunday morning ventured forth alone in it. She managed it very skilfully, but on her return a sudden wind came up and made the lake choppy. She had all she could do to keep her little craft right side up.

John Walker, coming out on the veranda of the cottage, saw her danger and rushed to the boathouse, intending to row out after her. Another emotion besides anxiety surged within him, and he knew now that he loved this playmate of his children.

She was making great progress with her tiny canoe, and as he rowed out from the boathouse she was landing at the pier.

It was a very merry, winsome face, alight with the excitement and danger, that was lifted to his.

In the reaction from his fright he was beginning to censure her when he was interrupted by Madge, who had appeared upon the scene and who instantly resented her father's lecture.

"You shall not scold her!" she cried hotly. "I wanted her for our stepmother, but I'll give her up if you aren't going to be nice to her."

Bess turned red and pale by turns.

"I'll race you to the house, Madge," she cried, and they were away.

"Bess," said John softly when he had succeeded in getting an interview, "as I said, I had thought of you as my eighth girl. I don't want to think of you as a stepmother, but I do want you to be my wife and a companion to the girls because I love you. Will you try and care for me?"

The verdict of the world was that John Walker had eight girls now and needed a woman in his house more than ever.

Complete Letter Writers.

One of the earliest of these "guides," dated 1615, was styled "A President For Young Penmen." It was advertised as full of variety, delight and pleasure. The former quality it undoubtedly possessed, as will be seen from the following headings: There is "A letter from a friend to a fantastical, conceited madcap," "A byting letter to a clamorous gentlewoman," with a "byting" answer to the same, which must have relieved the feelings of the writer; also a "Melancholy, discontentive letter upon the frowns of a kinsman," and, as a variation, "A kind of quarrelsome letter upon a frowne of a friend."

A letter to an "unkle to borrow a horse," strikes one as being of more practical value than all the rest put together and infinitely to be preferred as a model to the epistle of "Miss Molly Smith to her cousin, giving her an account of a very remarkable instance of envy in one of her acquaintance who lived in the city of York." How a distracted scribe was to get help or comfort from Miss Molly Smith is more than we are prepared to say.—London Graphic.

China Needs Money.

Peking, June 29.—China is in financial straits. The expenses of the government are multiplying, and the revenues are not increasing. The pay of the new army is considerably in arrears, and there are many desertions. The Empress Dowager has issued a long edict, impressing on all officials the necessity for economy. The edict is addressed to the people, and attempts to justify the course of the government. It says that no one appreciates so much as the Throne the sufferings of the people from the taxation necessary to meet the great foreign indemnity and new government projects, which have been increased by the disfavor of Heaven in failing to send rain.

The Surest Way to Make Money is by Investing in a Business Where you Have No Competition, due to patent protection, Combined with an Almost Unlimited Demand.

The company is now in operation doing business throughout Canada in the sale of Brazing Equipments and Brazing Compound, as well as carrying on the work of brazing broken and cracked castings, such as locomotive cylinders, stationery engine cylinders, automobile water-jackets (small), locomotive side frames, teeth brazed on gear wheels, crossheads of engine, cylinder heads, friction clutches (7 ft.); drive wheels, piston rods of pump and engines, power presses, parts of crushers, parts of drills, and thousands of other things, at its factory, which is fully equipped to handle the largest castings, No. 61 Dalhousie street, Montreal, having acquired an exclusive license to certain patents which give it a monopoly in Canada, in this business.

THE PROFITS OF THE COMPANY

Are derived from the following sources

1. Selling Brazing Equipments and Brazing Compound to Mills, Railway Shops, Mines, Quarries, Public Works, Dredging Companies, Steamship Companies, Factories, Contractors and all users of machinery who repair their broken and cracked parts by the use of our process and Brazing Compound THUS SAVES THEM THE COST OF NEW CASTINGS AND THE GREAT LOSS OF TIME USUALLY INVOLVED, especially when new parts have to be brought from distant points, as is frequently the case.

2. Doing Brazing in our Montreal Shop and opening up Agencies in all the principal towns throughout Canada, there are no charges on the Company, as they consist in granting a license for the use of our Brazing Process to parties in each town who purchase from us our Special Brazing Equipments, in addition to using our Patented Compound FROM THE ANNUAL CONSUMPTION OF WHICH A VERY LARGE REVENUE IS DERIVED.

W. H. C. Mussen & Co., Railway and Mining Supplies, are handling the Mining branch of the business through their agents and salesmen from Halifax to Vancouver.

In the United States nearly all the Factories have installed Brazing Equipments, and do their own repairs.

Machine Shops in every town have taken up Agencies, and are making money, and at the same time pleasing their customers.

Blacksmiths in country villages are using the Process for repairing Agricultural Implements.

It is only a question of time before our Brazing Equipments and Process will be as extensively used throughout Canada.

From the fact that our sales have doubled each month since commencing Operations on the 5th of February last, we see the almost unlimited field there is before us for doing a most profitable business, and we feel justified in stating that our shareholders, due to the low capitalization of the company, should realize dividends of over 30 per cent. on their investment, as the cost of operating a business of this nature is very limited.

A dividend of 30 per cent. may appear to a conservative investor as being absurd, but a patent is either practically worthless or immensely profitable, we know ours to be the latter.

The company commenced operations in February, and has already supplied Brazing Equipments to the following companies:

The Wire & Cable, Montreal.
The C. P. R. Angus Shops, Montreal.
The Canadian Colored Cotton Mills, Milltown, N. B.
The Gutta Percha & Rubber Manufacturing Co., Toronto, Ont.
Derochie Bros., Cornwall, Ont.
The Government Ship Yards, Sorel, Que.
Augustin & Daudelin, St. Hyacinthe, Que.
The Toronto Carpet Company, Toronto, Ont.
The Canada Paper Co., Windsor Mills, Que.

A Woman's Kidneys

What Doctors Notice and What They Don't.

Disease in the kidneys is one of the last ailments for which a doctor looks when treating women. This is a great mistake.

Women are very prone to kidney trouble and in fact many physicians attribute a woman's languor and ill health to a derangement of the genital organs, when it's simply plain kidney disease, and nothing else.

Many so supposed female complaints are either kidney or bladder diseases.

Sick kidneys of course make associate organs sick also.

The result is back pains, bearing down sensations, utter weariness and headache.

But Dr. Hamilton's Pills go right to the spot.

They put life into the kidney that makes a worn out woman feel like new.

Indirectly the blood and nervous centres are assisted by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and the result is a proper performance of the function and a painless fulfilment of nature's command.

Thus it is that a woman can gain much happiness and abundant good health by the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

From her home, near Portland, Ont., Mr. A B. Coburn writes:

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; today I am perfectly well."

You can rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills with implicit confidence their effect is wonderful. Sold by all dealers Price 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

Sold on easy payments at The J. M. Greene Music Co., George street, New Opera House Building, Peterboro.

No Horses at Jackson Park at Night.

After this date horses will be debarred from admission to Jackson Park, after 7 p.m. Gates are to be placed to keep such parties out as do not observe the rules of the park, and forbidding admission during the evening to drivers. Mr. Hall, when seen by The Times expressed a decided determination on this point.

Building Boom to the South.

Contractor Sheehy is building a fine big brick veneer house for Mr. Alex. Gordon on Lock street just south of the carped property. Other new houses are going up just a little to the north of the Cox property. There is every reason to believe that that part of the city will shortly become residential. It is expected that land in that part of the city will shortly take a further increase in price.

Fine Talking Machine in City.

On the first of next week, Mr. Chas. Munden, local representative of the Columbus Graphone Co., will bring to the city the finest talking machine ever heard or seen in this part of the country. This is the 20th Century Graphone. This machine is guaranteed to reproduce the human voice with all the volume of the original. It not only increases the volume of the cylinder records so as to make the reproduction as loud as the human voice, but improves the tone making it richer as well as fuller. Mr. Munden will give free exhibitions of this machine during the week, and it is well worth a trip to Simcoe street to hear it.

Local Regatta Now Assured

The committee in charge of the big regatta, which is to be held to the south of the city the latter part of July, have organized. The committee had discussion as to the nature of the event and it was decided that the chief features will be the presence in large numbers, of Indians, from the Chemong, Roseneath, Alderville, Hiawatha and Scugog tribes. The chiefs of the above named tribes will be present. The paddling events will be to a great extent of the old Indian fashion, and good prizes will be offered.

The date of the regatta has not yet been decided, but it will likely be the last week in July. The course was discussed, but this matter was left over until Thursday night. In the meantime Mr. Johnston Paudash was authorized by the committee to proceed booming the event.

Another feature of the regatta will be a mammoth illuminated parade of canoes and yachts in the evening. There will be hundreds of yachts, skiffs and canoes in line and they will be gaily decorated and lighted.

Those present at the meeting were; E. S. Clarry, chairman; R. McGloster, H. Rye, Ald. Geo. Elliott and W. S. Davidson.

The following members were added to the committee, H. C. Winch, Ald. Elliott, W. S. Davidson, C. H. Sawle, R. M. Roy and W. H. Tate.

—Mr. H. Laidlaw, accountant of the Bank of Toronto, leaves today to spend Dominion Day in Barrie.

—Mr. R. N Cotton, of the C.G.E. Co. office staff, left yesterday to spend a week at his home in Gananoque.

—Miss Annie Quinlan, of Toronto, is spending a few holidays with her aunt, Mrs. J. Edgar, Rundge St.

—Mr. Peter Campbell, manager of the Bank of Toronto, is confined to his room with an attack of bronchitis.

—Mrs. E. Rolleston Tate and Miss Gwynneth Tate of Lakefield, are staying at the King Edward for a few days.—Toronto News.

—Mrs H. C. Hill, of Montreal, who is stopping with her mother, Mrs. (Hon.) R. Hamilton, Ashburn, leaves Monday for a trip to Toronto.

—Messrs. R. McCoy, F. R. Wilford, C. H. Treat and D. O. Johnston of Lindsay were in the city yesterday having come down in an automobile.

—Miss Lily Hayes, Water street, left yesterday for Rochester, N.Y., where she will spend some weeks the guests of friends in the "Flower City."

—Mr Gus Kennedy, of Water street, of The Times staff, accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy and their children, leave this morning for Toronto, for a few days' visit with friends in the Queen City.

—Miss Ethel McBurney returned home on Monday from Nicholl's Hospital, Peterborough, where she was undergoing treatment for necrosis of the limbs. Miss McBurney has not yet entirely recovered. — Havelock Standard

—Mr Max Hamilton, who some weeks ago returned up this, his old home here, after an absence, as accountant of the Hudson Bay Co. at Peace River, will on Tuesday leave for Winnipeg, Man., and other points in the North-west. Mr Hamilton may permanently locate in the Western country, but his friends here hope to see Max come back, marry and locate here for good.

The Outing Magazine for July.

There is scarcely a phase of American outdoor life, from the Great Lakes to the country "crick," or from the great desert, to the small home garden, which the Outing Magazine for July, does not touch. There is Ralph Paine's "Men of the Untamed Desert," full of virile American optimism, and there is Holman Day's quaint "Long Cowallis Crick," both accompanied by striking photographs. "The White Wings of the Great Lakes," by Wilbur Bassett, and Howe Williams's "Skimming Down the Delaware", carry the reader in varying moods along American waterways. Short stories by Gouverneur Morris and Clarence E. Mulford, among others, are second in importance only to "White Fang," Jack London's great serial, which has attracted perhaps more interest as a piece of literature than any American story of recent times.

Among the practical articles in the Outing Magazine for July are "Boats and Boat Handlers," by Dr. Henry C. Rowland, well known as a writer of facts as well as of fine fiction about the sea. Advices about the Garden, by E. E. Rexford; "Dieting vs. Exercise to Reduce Flesh," by G. Elliott Flint, in which theory is backed by examples of practical experience; "The Cost of an Average Day's Horse Racing," figured carefully by Rene Bache; "What a Woman can Do with an Automobile," sprightly stories of the actual experience of many American women, by Mary Mullett; and numerous papers about fishing horses and dogs. Frank E. Schoonover, Stanley Arthurs, Hy. S. Watson, Frederic Dorr Steele and Henry McCarter, are some of the artists whose work appears in the number.

MR. SNOWDEN'S MISTAKE

How the Genial Boniface Nearly Got Into Peck of Trouble.

As everybody knows, the genial proprietor of the Snowden House, is passionately fond of children, and has a kindly word or a smile for all little tots with whom he comes in contact. A good story was told The Times yesterday in which his fondness for the little ones came nearly getting him into serious trouble. It appears that Mr. Snowden was returning from a trip down east a short time ago. He had just got dressed on the Pullman and was walking down the aisle, when he heard the squawking of a baby in one of the berths. Glancing along the row of curtains, he espied, peeping out from underneath one of the curtains, a row of little pink toes. His fondness for little children, overcame him, so what did he do but kneeldown and take hold of a toe; repeating very gravely.—

"This little pig went to market,
"This little pig stayed at home,
"This little pig got bread and butter,
"This little pig—"

At this juncture the indignant face of a pretty young matron appeared further up the curtain.

"You just let go. That's my foot!"

The unfortunate boniface thereupon reduced all previous records for the distance in getting from the Pullman into the smoker, where he lost no time in pressing the button.

Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated is a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherrybark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Only one case was tried in yesterday's session of the police court. Joseph Graham, an east ward citizen, was charged with non-support. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded for a week. He is addicted to liquor and this resulted in his downfall. His wife and child appeared in court but where not called upon to testify.

"The best thing you can do," remarked his Worship, "is to stay away from that which bites you. Leave liquor alone and you will get along alright."

Yesterday morning a young man named Frank McClure entered the police station and found that a warrant for his arrest was on file. He was immediately placed behind the bars.

It seems that about the eleventh day of June Frank is charged with stealing some pair of shoe packs, one pair of shoes, and one razor from Alexander Ducceit and one paid of pants and one cap the property of Baptiste Lezard.

He will appear before the magistrate this morning.

57th Companies Return Home

Yesterday the streets of this city were made gay by the varied uniforms of our local troops, who had returned from the annual camp at Cobourg.

On Thursday at the Cobourg camp, Col. Gordon paid the boys of the composite regiment a compliment, and especially the two Peterborough boys.

Those of our local troops who returned yesterday look like old campaigners, their backs being like the traditional razorads, their faces browned by the sun's rays, and their general comportment being that of veterans.

Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Company, Limited

Showing position of Paterson and Cart Lakes, being surrounded by shipping mines.

It is surrounded on all sides by large shipping mines, which are producing fabulous wealth every day, such mines as Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley and Daragh on the west side; the Nipissing Mining Company, the Timmins and Tretheway mines to the north; the Savage the Foster, the Lawson, the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, Silver Leaf, Glendenning and the Drummond on the south, the McLeod and Glendenning and Violet Mines on the east. This property also projects into the much-talked-of Gillies timber limit.

It is believed by the directors of the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, that the properties owned by this company are very valuable and are among the very richest in the district They are advised that all the rich veins now being worked, and which are giving such great financial results, radiate from the centre of Peterson and Cart Lakes.

The Peterson property carries a number of veins of the surrounding properties, such as the Nova Scotia, running in silver from 1,100 to 7,000 ounces per ton.

Now is the time to become interested in Cobalt before the stocks pay large dividends and have a large advance. It is becoming richer every day and spreading over a large area

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Bad Accident at Gas Works

100 Tons of Earth Fall Breaking Intake Pipe--20,000 Ft. of Gas Lost

Yesterday afternoon the city was without gas. This was the result of a serious but unexpected cave in to the west side of the huge cavity where the 150,000 feet capacity gas holder is being built.

The recent rains had loosened the earth alongside this hole, and at 11.45 a.m. fully 100 tons of earth fell into the hole, partly covering the recently laid steel floor of the holder. This cave in exposed the 10 inch intake pipe leading from the works to the holder now in use, as well as the outlet pipe of the same size which supplies the city.

These pipes, being left suspended in the air for about 100 feet, proved to be too heavy to stand the strain and about 60 feet of the intake pipe broke down. About 20,000 feet of gas in the holder at once escaped into the air and was lost.

Superintendent John Hogan at once scoured the city for men, and soon had about 20 men at work raising, supporting and cementing the broken-down pipe. Owing to the great weight of these pipes and the height to which they had to be raised and supported by heavy trestles, it was a Titantic job. Mr. Hogan, by exercise of hard work, long experience in the gas business and intelligent management, succeeded in getting the works running by 9 p.m., and the city once more supplied with gas.

Arrested For Stealing Horse

Tom Coursey Takes Horse From Montreal House While Drunk.

On Saturday evening Tom Coursey, whose features are familiar at a large stone public building at Kingston, where he has been a steady boarder for a stretch of years, got into the toils once more.

It seems that Tom had got outside of quite a number of glasses of whisky and conceived the idea of taking a ride. He borrowed a horse and rig from the Montreal House yards and did the speedway act for an hour or two. Unfortunately in borrowing the outfit he neglected the formality of asking the owner. At last, those out looking for the horse located Tom. When arrested, he put up quite a fight but was landed at the station. He will come up for trial tomorrow morning.

Rev. Dr. Torrance's 30th Year.

Rev. Dr. Torrance yesterday celebrated the completion of his thirtieth year as pastor of St. Paul's church. Considering the large number of people now out at Kawartha Lakes and other summer resorts there were large congregations, testifying to the Rev. Doctor's popularity with his flock.

Mr. Kenneally's Body Brought Home

Some excitement was caused round town on Saturday morning over the contradictory rumors regarding the alleged, and even rumored, suicide of Mr. W. Kenneally, who some days ago left with a gang of men under charge of Mr. Thos. Marshall, for Sault Ste. Marie.

These rumors are now settled by the fact that the remains of Mr. Kenneally, who was found dead in his bed at Sault Ste. Marie, were brought to Peterborough on the C. P. R. train at noon Saturday and taken to Lakefield for interment. The body was in charge of Mr. Joseph Kenneally, brother of the deceased.

Many Burials Before Death

Creepy Tales of What Exhumation Has Bared ---A Child Was Found Alive By Mourners Playing With Floral Decorations.

London, June 30.—All England is horror-stricken by the creepy stories that were told and the alarming statements that were made at a meeting held last night in the rooms of the Association for the Prevention of Premature Burial.

Dr. Stenson Hooker read a table narrated to him by a lady concerning her little child. The child was given up for dead, the cover was put over its face and preparations for the funeral were begun. But for a mere chance of time—if the child had not come to so soon—it would have gone through the horrors of premature burial.

Dr. Hooker mentioned that it was becoming a common practice for people to insert in their wills provisions for the taking of such precautions after apparent death as would prevent premature burial. He added that post-mortem examinations, carried on in England, were undertaken far too soon, and had been begun on people who were simply in a trance.

ACTUAL CASES.

Dr. Walter Hawden cited the following cases which had actually occurred and been verified by medical men during the past year in Britain;

|---|---|
| Buried alive | 149 |
| Narrow escapes from burial alive | 219 |
| Dissected alive | 10 |
| Narrow escapes from dissection alive | 3 |
| Embalmed alive | 2 |
| Burned alive | 1 |
| Total | 384 |

It was monstrous, said Dr. Hadwen to beg the question by saying that the cases were so rare as to be practically non-existent. Only two in every 100,000 bodies were exhumed in the United Kingdom. Mistakes were buried out of sight. When old cemeteries were turned up bodies were found which showed conclusively, from their position, that they had been buried alive.

Dr. Hadwen told of a case of a child of five which was declared to be dead and was taken to a mortuary. Later on it was found playing with the flowers that had been placed upon its coffin lying there. Its mother was in a state of heart disease, and when the news came her child was brought to her her joy and excitement caused her immediate death.

WAITING MORTUARIES.

When Dr. Hadwen recommended the provision of waiting mortuaries where bodies should be kept till the first sign of putrefaction occurred this was done in Germany.

A finger of the supposed corpse should be placed under a ring delicately adjusted in connection with an electric bell communicating with a room in which an attendant would be present day and night, so that the slightest movement would sound the alarm and bring the attendant immediately to the spot.

There had been several resuscitations in the German mortuaries as a result of this precaution. Not only, added Dr. Hadwen, did a person stand the risk of being buried alive in this country, even when a medical certificate of death had been granted but it was a fact that thousands of persons were buried every year without a medical certificate being granted at all.

CALLED BACK TO LIFE

A striking illustration of the danger of premature burial was supplied by the Venerable Archdeacon Colley, who announced that he had been the occupant of a coffin, and had lain in it for two days and a half. He was about 24-2 years old when, and, to all appearances, had died. But a skilled nurse thought she saw indications of life. A doctor was summoned, and he was called back to life.

Dr. Bramley James moved a resolution approving the bill which had been drafted by the association, and which provided that no death certificate should be given without a personal examination of a supposed dead body by a qualified officer, and that waiting mortuaries should be established for the detention of doubtful cases.

The resolution was carried.

American Express Wrecked in England

Canadians and Americans Killed and Seriously Injured--Prof. King of Trinity College, Toronto, Killed.

London, July 1.—The American Express was wrecked at Salisbury this morning. Twenty-three persons were killed, mostly Americans. The dead include: Frederick Henry Gosaitt, Dudley I. Harding, Rev. G. L. King, Trinity College, Toronto, Frank W. Koch, John E. McDonald, P. McMookin, Charles Sentell, and William Payne Thompson. The injured include: Miss M. Hitchcock and R. S. Critchell, also C. A. Pipon and Walter Barwick, K. C., Toronto.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT

The Directors of the Trethewey Silver Cobalt Mine, Limited, decided at their meeting last week to sink the present shaft an additional one hundred feet and to open up a new vein. The assay of the ore taken from the new vein by a prominent mining engineer shows the value to be over $1,000 of silver to the ton. It is expected that a shipment from this vein will be made within the next thirty days, and great results are looked for. Intending investors should make application for stock to S. W. Black & Co., Brokers, 25 Toronto street, Toronto.

COBALT

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.
SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

IN PERFECT HEALTH

one never "feels" the digestive organs. They are forgotten like any other part of a perfect running machine. No jar, no shock, no sensations at all; just easy, pleasant, restful work—duty well done.

The Way

lies in the proper selection of food and drink, getting down to Nature's principles, plenty of good air, good water, and particularly plenty of good food that will easily digest, and nourish and rebuild—not clog up.

A Food Expert understood how the body worked upon food and what kind of elements it required to rebuild itself, used this knowledge in a skilful way to produce a perfect food and called it

Grape-Nuts

There is the natural Phosphate of Potash and Albumen, from which the life forces make the soft gray lining of nerve centres and brain, so brain fag and nervous prostration disappear for the user of Grape-Nuts.

Then again, in Grape-Nuts the starchy part of the Wheat and Barley has been changed into a form of sugar at the factory, and, as that is exactly the condition which starchy food, bread, cake, oatmeal, potatoes, etc., assumes after the first act of natural digestion has taken place, we find Grape-Nuts has passed through this process, outside the body and is therefore properly termed pre-digested, a tremendous help for those who are a bit weak in digestive power. And so comes of health, with its youthful glow and warm, keen pulse of vigor and energy. The years are forgotten, and so is the stomach, but you'll KNOW you have a strong, sturdy, well-fed brain, for all the important brain-building elements are in GRAPE-NUTS. Dozens of choice recipes for fascinating dishes found in the pkg.

Trial 10 days of GRAPE-NUTS proves.

Your 'Fagged' Feeling is Spring Sickness

This Unhealthy Weather Will Intensify Your Exhaustion Unless You Have Good Medicine.

Time won't help; matters grow worse instead of better if your system isn't rid of its poisonous burden.

Your blood is not only thin, but is contaminated with a whole winter's accumulation of wastes.

A stimulating blood tonic is required.

What's it going to be?

No bitters or alcoholic dope, but concentrated cure in the form of "Ferrozone" which is known as the best of all spring rejuvenators.

It creates keen appetite.

Produces prodigious digestion.

Converts food into nourishment.

Gives richness and vitality to the blood.

Makes strong nerves and hardy muscles.

Ferrozone possesses power that can't be doubted. It will do for you what it did for Walter Wood, of Beaufort Car Co., N. B., who writes: "I can say that Ferrozone has given me a new lease of life. A year ago I suffered much from nervous weakness. I was really scarcely able to drag myself around. My appetite was gone, I had no color or ambition and felt generally used up. The first box of Ferrozone started me back to health. I took a number of boxes, but it was worth while as my health was completely restored."

Get back to health with Ferrozone. Your druggist sells it, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

RUSSIAN WORLD RELATIONS

The turmoil in Russia, which is so threatening, interests more than Russia. If it were only the contention between the Czar and his people, the situation would concern the rest of the world much less than it does when one considers the enormous obligations Russia is under to the rest of Europe. France and Belgium are most particularly involved, but nearly every country in Europe will feel acutely the effects of a general upheaval in the Russian Empire. Indeed, it is impossible to foresee where these influences will stop. They will in the end be world-embracing, of course felt more in some countries than in others. Should the Romanoff family come through a revolution with comparative success, holding its seat upon the throne of the Russias, the catastrophe would not be so very great, but if a popular uprising in the empire should succeed as the French revolution of more than a century ago did, then the financial disturbance will reach to the very ends of the earth.

The debt of the empire, including the loan just negotiated, amounts to $4,335,000,000. The revenue of the empire last year amounted to a little more than $1,000,000,000. For the current year the income of the government will be considerably less, but for next year the estimate puts the revenue at about what it was in 1904. This is not all derived from taxation, but represents the gross earnings of the state railways, as well as the money raised from taxation. It embraces also repayments of advances to private railroads and the receipts under the government monopoly from the sale of spirituous liquors, forests, postoffice, telegraphs and other state properties. The actual sum raised from taxation and import duties is only about a third of the whole revenue for 1904. Most of this debt represents obligations undertaken to carry on the late war with Japan. Before the breaking out of that war the debt amounted to only $3,226,000,000. Part of the outlay was in the purchase of some 25,000 miles of railway out of the total of 76,456 miles in the whole empire. The ordinary estimated revenue of today is 50 per cent. more than it was prior to the outbreak of the war and is estimated to yield about $10,000,000 in excess of ordinary expenditure.

Now, this enormous addition to the public debt of Russia has been made very largely at the expense of France. Belgium has contributed a good deal to the various Russian loans made since the Japanese war broke out and Germany has contributed some. Should there occur a general uprising in Russia and should the outbreak succeed in overturning the existing government there is no doubt that a new government, founded somewhat upon the principles of the French revolution, would repudiate the national debt incurred by the Czar. The war with Japan was not popular with the extreme wing of the people of Russia, who, in case of a successful uprising, would have the mastery. To compel the payment of this debt at the bayonet's point by her former ally would be anything but an agreeable or easy task for France to be compelled to undertake. The last loan raised by Russia amounted to $140,000,000, and of this France took $12,000,000; Great Britain $66,000,000; Austria $20,000,000, and Holland $13,000,000. Of the total Russian debt, France probably has advanced not less than $500,000,000.

Besides these direct loans to Russia, French and Belgium have enormous investments of a private nature all over Russia in mines and various other industries.

The whole financial world will watch with a great deal of interest, yes, of misgiving, the course of events in the Russian Empire during the succeeding weeks of the current year.

Arctic Committee Consider Report

Ottawa, June 29.—The Arctic Committee came to a characteristic close yesterday. Technically, the taking of evidence is concluded, but the report of the committee has not been drawn up. Today it met to consider its report, and the Opposition tendered expert evidence on one point, only to be voted down on the ground that the case was closed.

The question which the Opposition desired thoroughly was the price of pemmican, which now is made of ordinary meal, dried and shredded, pounded down and mixed with fat and currants. Eight thousand pounds of this was bought from the Borril Company, Montreal, at $1.25 a lb. until a day or two ago the Conservatives were unable to get an idea of the fair value of this rather unusual commodity, but as a result of inquiries they produced this morning Mr. Van Bever, an expert of the William Davies Company, Toronto, who was ready to testify as to its cost. It is understood that his evidence would have been that it can be sold by the manufacturer at a very fair profit at from 27 to 35 cents a pound according to the quality of the ingredients.

The Government members, however, refused to admit his evidence, voting down the motion that he be examined by a strict party vote of 5 to 4. The motion was defeated by the casting vote of the chairman, Mr. A. K. MacLean.

The committee then discussed its report, but adjourned without coming to a conclusion. A minority report is assured.

Van Horne Now Owns it All

Montreal, June 30.—The Cuban Senate last night passed the Van Horne railway subsidy bill, appropriating $6,400 a kilometre for the construction of twelve branch railway lines, with feeders for the Van Horne system. Subsidies will be paid at a rate not exceeding $500,000 annually until all roads are completed.

There has been considerable opposition to the bill, but it was taken up and passed last evening in the absence of the strongest advocate of the amendment providing for public bidding.

The Senate refused to amend the bill in this particular.

President Palma has decided to approve the bill on the ground that the country owes a debt of gratitude to Sir William Van Horne for building the main line of the Cuban railway.

This measure gives the Van Horne people full control of the transportation situation in central and eastern Cuba.

Scientist Up for Manslaughter.

London, June 30.—Dr. Geo. Robt. Adcock was arraigned at the Old Bailey yesterday charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Major John Nicholas Whyte, of the Lancashire Fusiliers. He pleaded not guilty.

Dr. Adcock, after many years' practice, became a Christian Scientist, and it is charged by the Attorney-General, Sir J. Lawson Walton, that he shot have known his action was fatal to his patient.

Provincial Loan of $3 000 000

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1906, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $3,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, dated 1st July, 1906, and payable

$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1926.
$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1936,

with coupons attached for interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st January and the 1st July in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto. Bonds will be of the denominations of $200, $500, and $1,000, and will be payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders may be exchanged for Ontario Government Stock bearing the same rate of interest.

The issue price during the month of July, 1906, will be par, and after the 31st July, 1906, the issue price will be par and accrued interest.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of amounts up to $1,000 will be required to send certified cheque with the application. For amounts over $1,000 payment for subscription may be made in instalments 10 per cent. on application, 10 per cent 1st August, 10 per cent. 1st September, 10 per cent. 1st October, 10 per cent 1st November, and 50 per cent. 1st December, 1906, with privilege of paying at an earlier date, the interest on instalment subscriptions being adjusted on 1st January, 1907.

In the event of any subscriber for bonds payable by instalments failing to make payment of subsequent instalments, the bonds may be sold and any loss incurred will be charged to the purchaser in default.

Forms of subscription (when payable by instalments) may be obtained on application to the Treasury Department.

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario and is chargeable thereupon.

All cheques should be made payable to the order of "The Provincial Treasurer of Ontario," and subscribers should state the denominations and terms (20 or 30 years) of bonds desired.

A. J. MATHESON,
Provincial Treasurer.

Treasury Department, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, 27th June, 1906.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.6x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

—did this. He is gone to the congress. You must stop him!"

"Yes, yes. I will call a leech. 'Tis not a mortal thrust, man. I will go to the hall. But how to do it? Proofs"—

"She"— gasped Jarrat in a final effort, pointing to Anne. "She"— and lapsed into ashen unconsciousness.

CHAPTER XVI.

THE white walled, high ceiled anteroom was barely furnished with paduasoy chairs and a small slim legged table. A high desk used betimes by the colony's chief justice of the supreme court was at one end, with doors on either side. The other end of the room opened in narrow arches between pillars into the wide paved hall of the statehouse. Across these pillars was stretched a heavy cloth curtain, through whose folds sounds from the corridor reached dull and muffled.

Beyond these curtains on the opposite side of the hall was a great double door, and through the heavy oak came voices in debate and an occasional high note like the metallic rap of a gavel. But in the anteroom this became only a distant hum like that of settling bees.

Armand, clad as for a court lever, stood one side erect and smiling before a trio of sober coated figures in duffle gray. His long, brown, rippling hair, the rare lace at his throat, the jade hilt of his dress sword, made him as distinct as some brilliant hued insect among gray moths. Beside him, uniformed, his mustachios aggressive as ever, short, wiry and alert, stood Pillarne.

The sober coated gentlemen, the delegates appointed to meet the secret messenger to the congress, had made their bows to the great man, all but Dickinson, their leader, openly radiant with the presumed bearing of his mission. M. Pillarne's proposals for ammunition purchases had recently been considered in committee, and the announcement of the envoy's arrival, coming from him, a known agent of France, had carried a weight added to by the appearance of the man before them. He had arrived a little late, a deliberateness that accorded well with the sobriety of his errand.

Now they but waited a pause in the debate to throw wide the doors that opened to the floor.

On the other side of those doors rages what is to be the last agitated hour of the fight. The document that is to be the birth certificate of a nation lies upon the table. Since early morning the discussion has been bitter.

The insect hum ceased suddenly. There was a forward movement of the group in the anteroom toward the curtains.

"Stop!" echoed an intense voice behind them. "Stop!" Joseph Galloway stepped into the room from one of the side entrances and closed the door.

"Praise the Most High," he ejaculated, "that I am come in time! Gentlemen, as you would save the congress from a most shameful scandal, let not that man pass from this room!"

There was a murmur of angry amazement from the group. Armand's hand dropped to his side. His face had whitened, and Pillarne's mustachios worked alarmingly.

"Sir," interposed Dickinson sternly, "we receive here a legate of France!"

"You receive an impostor, a villain and a spy!"

Pillarne's hand went to his sword, but Dickinson stepped before him, while the others stood stock still, blankness in their bearing.

"An insult!" cried the former. "And to the very face of monseigneur! Gentlemen, you have cause enough to know the politics of this meddler who has forced his way into this presence."

"I am an honest man," retorted Galloway. "My errand here should demonstrate that. And what I say I prove."

"I know not whether we should listen, sir," said Dickinson, his brows together. "Heaven forbid that we should affront such a guest. Yet the words you have uttered demand, for his excellency's satisfaction at least, an explanation. In his name, then, speak, but quickly and begone." Dickinson was a diplomat.

"I shall be brief," returned Galloway. "This man, whom you believe a French nobleman, is Louis Armand, an adventurer lately arrested in Virginia, now in the secret service of the British. The message he bears is a forgery conveying the offer of aid only on impossible conditions calculated to discourage hope and quench the fervor for independence."

A low exclamation that was very like an abjurgation burst from Dickinson's lips, and his eyes flashed first on the speaker and then upon Armand.

The color was come back to the young Frenchman's face.

"In my own country, gentlemen," he laughed, "we have asiles for such poor miserables. However—my reputation, how dear it is to me! You will proceed, I beg."

It was admirably done. A quiver of relief spread abroad.

"The document in the case," said Galloway and handed Dickinson the writing executed by Lord Chetwynde at the Halifax prison; "an agreement duly signed accepting this traitorous mission."

Having delivered it over, he rubbed his hands together softly.

"An arrant concoction, to be sure!" railed Pillarne. "What could be easier? A signature? Of course, of course. But his—sounds! Such effrontery passes belief. 'An adventurer arrested in Virginia,' forsooth? Wert ever in Virginia, you Tory?"

"No," answered Galloway coolly.

A heavy reverberating voice, passion thrilled, boomed through the door behind the curtains, and the sound of hand clapping followed it in a fur, velvet tumult.

"'Tis the Declaration!" exclaimed Pillarne. "The Declaration! 'Tis before them for signatures. They will decide in an hour. And you listen to this smug poltroon!"

The sweat broke upon Dickinson's forehead. Through all these months, by voice and pen, he had striven to incite the colonies to mutiny. Yet he had recoiled from Jefferson's bold resolution to sever from the crown. Resistance he had preached, not secession. And yet—and yet—

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly the bursting point. Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibres. Then there's pain, and finally that agonizing, consuming headache. This new Reduction Method disperses the blood, distributes the overflow, and dilates the proper channels. It frees the nerve centers from all pressure and irritation—the pains and aches disappear because their cause has been removed. You may try a thousand remedies—you may drug and stupefy the nerves into submission—but the remedy which brings prompt relief and permanent cure will be successful because it reduces the congestion—it must employ the Reduction Method. Medicine has found a way—simple and sure, yet the only way—to thoroughly overcome these attacks of Headache and Neuralgia. The effect of Dr Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure is prompt, perfectly suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely positive in every temperament. For sale and recommended by

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the peerless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who records from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Sin Against Health

Why the Usefulness of All Organs is Destroyed by Costiveness.

Most important to health and comfort is proper action of the bowels.

By nature these organs are intended for the removal of the waste particles of matter which accumulate in the system.

Retain these wastes and you poison the blood, ruin digestion, bring on nervousness and anaemia.

Habitual costiveness is best overcome by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which establish regularity that is exactly consistent with nature.

Not a drastic purgative—not even a pain or sensation of grip, because Dr. Hamilton's Pills are vegetable and free from irritating mineral substances found in so many widely advertised remedies.

In every case Dr. Hamilton's Pills do cure and bring sure relief from headache, biliousness and other manifestations of constipation.

Jas. McConnell of Walkerton writes: "Since I was comparatively a young man I have not enjoyed real good health.

"My appetite was good and strength kept up, yet I knew something was wrong.

"Frequently I took bilious attacks and violent headaches. My stomach was disordered, skin was murky, under my eyes were heavy dark rings.

"Last winter I read through the Pulman's almanac and decided my trouble was constipation. I used Dr Hamilton's Pills, and can hardly tell the help they have been. I am now as fresh, strong and well as a boy."

57th Regt. Left For Brantford

Peterborough's gallant and efficient soldiers of the 57th Regiment, the Peterborough Rangers, left for Brantford at ten o'clock Saturday evening. They assembled at the drill hall at 9.30, and marched to the C. P. R. station, where a special train was boarded. Everyone looked forward to a most enjoyable outing. The regiment was never in better condition. The uniforms have been cleaned and pressed and all the equipment put in good shape.

On the return trip the regiment will leave Brantford at ten o'clock tonight.

—Today being a holiday, our readers will have to rely upon the Toronto papers for their morning news tomorrow, as our printers are taking a holiday, as are the editorial staff.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—No paper tomorrow on account of today being a holiday.

—Souvenir views in fancy china, with hand painted views of the lift lock, Y.W.C.A. and St John's church. Each article is useful as well as ornamental Prices 15 and 25 cents each. Times Bookstore.

—Farmers on the market Saturday morning said that the storm in the country was one of the worst they ever experienced. Ditches and creeks overflowed their banks and low lying districts are flooded.

—On Saturday Mr. H. Stock and party made the trip to Stony Lake in small boats up the canal. The party includes Mr Stock, his two boys, Mrs W. Stock, and Mr. W. H. Osgoode, of New York, who is spending his vacation with Mr. Stock.

—Don't fail to see the assortment of ruby glassware, just opened up at Times Bookstore. Sugar and creams, two pieces for only 25 cents. Also celery holders, cream pitchers, pickel barrels, etc.

Seven Cattle Electrocuted Friday.

Mr. F. Faille, of Millbrook, had seven cattle killed by lightning on Friday night, whilst lying under a pine tree on a farm about six miles this side of Millbrook, owned by Mr. Faille.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Bell Telephone Line Man Hurt

Mr. Fred Fredenburg, of Toronto, a lineman for the Bell Telephone Company, who, whilst working on the Springville extension, met with a painful accident last Friday, is doing as well as could be expected.

It seems that Fredenburg climbed into a tree to cut off a limb, when he lost his balance and fell to the ground, a distance of 15 feet. He struck his side on a stone and was seriously injured. A rig was secured from Mr. Thos. Greer and the injured man was moved to Peterborough for medical attendance.

Keeps Up With Times

New Remedy for Stomach Troubles That Will Cure.

In keeping with their custom of always ordering a supply of new remedies as soon as their value has been established, our leading druggists have obtained a supply of Mi-o-na, a remedy for stomach troubles that absolutely cures and restores lost functions of the digestive organs.

Until recently it was thought that pepsin was valuable in the treatment of stomach troubles, but it is now known that while pepsin aids in digesting meats, it has no effect upon starchy foods, such as potatoes, rice, bread, corn meals, etc. As the majority of stomach troubles comes from indigestion of starchy foods, this makes pepsin absolutely useless in most cases.

On the other hand, Mi-o-na contains no pepsin, acts directly upon the gastric glands, restores the lost functions of the digestive organs, revives lagging nutrition, aids in assimilation of food and, in fact, so strengthens the whole digestive system that you can eat anything at any time without fear of indigestion.

Weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, pain and distress after eating, and debility are the result of a weak and faulty digestion. Use Mi-o-na, and all these symptoms will be overcome, and you will have perfect health.

Get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na tablets today.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weaknesses," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

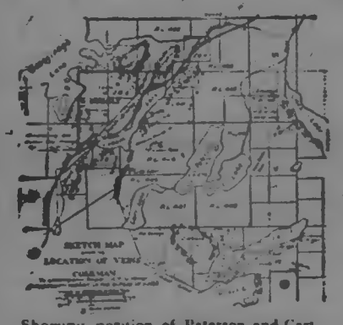
Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Company, Limited



Showing position of Paterson and Cart Lakes, being surrounded by shipping mines.

It is surrounded on all sides by large shipping mines, which are producing fabulous wealth every day, such mines as Little Silver, Hudson Bay, McKinley and Daragh on the west side; the Nipissing Mining Company, the Timmins and Tretheway mines to the north; the Savage the Foster, the Lawson, the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, Silver Leaf, Glendenning and the Drummond on the south; the McLeod and Glendenning and Violet Mines on the east. This property also projects into the much-talked-of Gillies timber limit.

It is believed by the directors of the Kerr Lake or Jacobs mine, that the properties owned by this company are very valuable and are among the very richest in the district They are advised that all the rich veins now being worked, and which are giving such great financial results, radiate from the centre of Peterson and Cart Lakes.

The Peterson property carries a number of veins of the surrounding properties, such as the Nova Scotia, running in silver from 1,100 to 7,000 ounces per ton.

Now is the time to become interested in Cobalt before the stocks pay large dividends and have a large advance. It is becoming richer every day and spreading over a large area

Increase Under Civil Government

Japan's Growth in the Number of Government Officials From 4,638 in 1896 to 13,038 in 1903.

London, July 2.—The British Foreign Office is in receipt of a preliminary synopsis of the report setting forth the results of ten years of Japanese rule in Formosa, and compiled by Chief Giro Yokozawa, of the Formosan Archives Department. If all the facts cited can be taken as granted it may well be said that not the least of Japan's claims to rank among the great powers of the modern world is the way in which she has shown herself possessed of a genius for colonization and administration in Taiwan, better known under the name of Formosa. Eleven years ago the coast was infested by pirates, while organized bands of robbers and outlaws held sway in the interior and, together with the fierce aboriginal tribes, made the island a byword in the Far East for lawless misrule. It was not until the end of March, 1896, that Japan was able to place the island under civil government and then five years had to elapse before the forces of disorder were finally subjugated. The gradual extension of Japanese administration throughout the island is seen by the growth in the number of government officials from 4,638 in 1896 to 13,038 in 1903, though in the following year the number was reduced to 12,509. During the same period the Japanese population increased from 40,564 to 53,365; the total population in 1904 being numbered as 3,039,302. Revenue has increased by leaps and bounds, from 2,646,640 yen in 1896-97 to 22,383,115 yen in 1904-05. The estimates for 1905-6 anticipate a revenue of about $20,000,000 which really represents a further advance in the amount of the ordinary revenue, no allowance being made for a subsidiary from the central government, which in past years has contributed from four to eight million dollars to the local exchequer.

The record of the savings banks show that in a couple of years the balance increased from 61,750 yen (about the same sum in dollars) in 1900 to 128,592 yen in 1902, while the number of depositors rose from 3,361 to 8,446. In the following year there was a slight falling off in the balance, while the number of depositors rose still further to 9,142, and presumably it was the war which caused the number to drop suddenly to 8,341 in 1904. In the table devoted to the record of postal savings it is seen that the number of depositors rose steadily from 10,968 in 1899 to 56,837 in 1905, and during the same period the balance of deposits increased from 402,826 yen to 806,406 yen; in the preceding year (1904) the amount of the balance was still larger.

Traffic has increased at a corresponding rate. In 1897-98 the number of passengers carried on the State railways was a little over a quarter of a million, in 1904-5 it was nearly a million and a half; the freight hauled increased in the same period from 23,337 tons to 350,431 tons, and the gross earnings, which in 1898-99 were 288,240 yen, amounted in 1904-5 to $1,122,552 yen, yielding in the latter year a profit over working expenses of 128,757 yen. Similarly the telegraph and telephone systems are gradually being extended.

The trade with foreign countries has varied comparatively little in the decade, its value in 1903—25,229,557 yen—being rather above the average, but trade with Japan has taken on a great development, increasing from 5,828,370 yen in 1897 to 20,587,619 yen in 1904, when imports and exports were about equal in value.

Monument Unveiled During Sham Battle

Camden, N.J., July 2. — In the presence of the Governors of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Rhode Island, with their staffs, and with the attendance of part of the North Atlantic Squadron, the new monument on the battlefield of Red Bank, N.J., about five miles south of here on the Delaware River, was unveiled yesterday.

The most spectacular feature of the exercises was a sham battle, which was as near as possible a repetition the original fight. The attack was made by eleven companies of the 3d Regiment Infantry and the 2d Troop Cavalry of the New Jersey State militia. Battery B, Field Artillery of Camden, occupied a trench and was supported by the detachment of naval reserves and a marine detachment. The cruisers Dixie and Tacoma represented the British naval vessels. The Legislature appropriated $15,000 for the rearing of the shaft.

The Russian Giant Visits Roosevelt

Washington, July 2. — President Roosevelt shook hands the other day with Feodor Alexiovitch Machnow, the Russian 9-foot 3-inch giant. Machnow arrived in town, accompanied by his wife, a woman of ordinary size; "Parson" Davis, an interpreter, a physician and a troop of newspaper men, who had accompanied the party from New York, where the human shot tower is under engagement to exhibit his length on the vaudeville stage. The President greeted Machnow cordially and chatted with "Parson" Davis for several minutes about politics, pugilism and various topics.

Dr. Holt's Paper On Physical Economics

Says Man's Value in Money Can Be Shown By His Occupation and Age.

Boston, June 28.—Dr. Erastus Holt, of Portland, Maine, at the Ophthalmology Session of the American Medical Association, in an elaborate paper on "Physical Economics," contended that the economic value of a laboring man decreases after his twenty-fifth year and that the value of a professional man wanes after the fortieth year.

Dr. Holt presented elaborate tables showing that a man's value in money can actually be determined by taking into consideration his occupation and age.

In his table showing the value of individuals of the American laboring class he states that at 10 years of age on a 3-1-2 per cent. discount basis a boy is worth $2,061.62; at 25 he is worth $5,488.09; and from that time on his value decreases until at 70 he is worth but $17.13, and at 80 years of age he is a drawback on the community to the extent of $822.84.

The professional man at 25 years of age has an economic value of $26,898.94, and his highest value is at 40 years, when he is worth $29,344.68.

Dr. Holt says that all damages to a person through accident should be assessed by a jury in a systematic manner, and not in a haphazard way, as it is done at present. The tables which he has used in determining the value of a man are taken from those of the famous Dr. Farr, but he has amplified these tables in such a way that he can determine the percentage of loss due to a specific accident, such as the loss of an eye, a leg or an arm, or any diminution of the persons valued short of total disability. He advocates the plan of having every man and woman procure for himself and herself an economic rating.

Mr. Reggie Turner Now a Benedict

Well Known Local Manufacturer Marries Miss Elizabeth Garrow.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday morning, at ten o'clock, when Mr. Reginald Henry Turner, second son of Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Garrow, daughter of Mr. Wm. Garrow, 462 Park street. The bridal couple were unattended, and the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, was witnessed by only the immediate relatives.

At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, amidst abundance of good cheer.

Mr. and Mrs Turner left on the G. T. R train in the morning for Rochester and other American points, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will reside on Gilmour street.

The Lift Lock is O. K.

The Lift Lock is again in working order, and yesterday the water was let into the canal. The additional repairs in the bank have been completed. Yesterday a private yacht was taken over the lock, and today an excursion from Lindsay will be taken over.

Miss Helen Davies Highly Praised

The Mail and Empire pays the following tribute to the work of Miss Helen Davies, of this city:

The program itself, rendered by the most distinguished pupils of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, was a pleasurable one, not only to the novice, but to the blase concert-goer. Unquestionably the event of the evening was Miss Helen Davies' rendering of "Hear Ye, Israel," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." Miss Davies has been heard here on two occasions as soloist of the National Chorus, and her teacher, Dr. Albert Ham, conducted the orchestra last night. Her splendid declamatory style and pure diction were evidenced, as well as the broad, beautiful and thrilling quality of her voice. Miss Davies is obviously a singer on the brink of a great future.

Auburn S. S. Has Good Excursion

The Auburn Methodist Sunday school picnic to Stony Lake was, as usual well patronized and most enjoyable. One of those aboard during the excursion, last night called at our sanctum with a most formidable report concerning an alleged proximity to a panic on board, owing to a scare of fire, adding that the steamer whistled for aid, and that one of those amphibious creatures, vulgo an "Alligator," came to her aid.

As this journal is averse to publishing anything that might be injurious to those affected, without full particulars, thoroughly substantiated, we omit details, as these Stony Lake boats are, as a rule, well managed.

The reports current last night as to another boat of the same line being over-crowded are also, we understand, incorrect. It is not fair to steamboat lines to start such reports without due reason.

Lady Known Here Dies In Chicago

Death of Mrs. Jas. Finlay Widow of Former Bank of Montreal Mang'r.

Mr. James Breyenson, on Monday, received a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that his niece, Mrs. James Finlay, had died that morning at Oak Park, a residential suburb of Chicago.

The late Mrs. Finlay, who is well known to many of our citizens, having visited Peterborough frequently in years gone by, was the widow of the late Mrs. Jas. Finlay, for many years manager of the Bank of Montreal, Guelph, Ont.

The deceased leaves to mourn her loss, three sons, Hector, Gilbert and Henry, and one daughter, Mary, all of Chicago.

The funeral will take place this afternoon from Christ's church, Whitby, Ont., to the Whitby cemetery.

The late Mrs. Finlay was born in Whitby, being a daughter of the late Mr. G. C. Gross, a highly respected and widely known hardware merchant of that town.

CHINA MAY STRIKE BACK AT ENGLAND

Repartriation of Coolies Now in South Africa Will Be Serious Matter

MANY FAMILIES AFFECTED

Should Threatened Measure Be Carried Out it May Result in Boycott of England.

Pekin, June 30.—If thousands of Chinese are brought back from South Africa by the British Government because of the agitation against the employment of Chinese labor it will obviously be necessary early to increase the Consular staff, for the Chinese who are repatriated cannot be dumped at the port of departure, but must be conducted inland, often far inland, to their homes, while precautionary measures should be taken to prevent any retaliatory action on the part of the Chinese against British manufactures.

Up to date 56,654 Chinese have emigrated to South Africa from the three northern provinces, Chi-li, Ho-nan, and Shan-tung, 41,973 embarking from the two ports, Tien-tsin and Chin-wang-tao. Neither the convention nor the contract under which the men are indentured makes any provision for any portion of the wages earned in South Africa being paid to the men's families in China. The mines' labor agency has, however, in the interests of employer and employed, and to the obvious advantage of all, arranged to pay monthly in China, when so desired, five dollars to the family of each coolie, the amount to be deducted from the wages earned at the mines. More than 12,000 families are at present dependent on this allotment. The cost of the machinery of payment is $15,000 per annum, and the amount distributed during 1905 was $250,000, but this year will be considerably more.

Should the Government forbid the issue of further licenses, it is reasonable to expect that the labor agency will cease the allotment system. Notices will then have to be posted at the allotment office in Tien-tsin city announcing that, the British Government having forbidden further immigration of Chinese labors to South Africa—in other words, the British Government having cancelled the right of the Chinese miner voluntarily to enter into a contract to go to South Africa to work in the mines, although such contract meets with the full approval of the Chinese Government—no further allotments will be issued. The effect will be considerable suffering in some 12,000 poor Chinese families; probably there will be anti-British manifestations, and possibly the British Government may have to face a similar situation to that created by the Chinese Exclusion Act for America.

T. A. S. Picnic a Great Success

The T. A. S. Picnic on Monday Was a Decided and Emphatic Success.

The T.A.S. picnic on Monday was a decided and emphatic success. The new T.A.S. park, located on the Chamberlain property, about five miles down the river, proved a bonanza. All day long the Water Lily plied up and down the river between Peterborough and the park and on every trip it was loaded. The managing committee were alive at all times and saw that the fine program which had been arranged was carried out to the letter. All the committees worked hard. From eight o'clock in the morning until shortly after nine o'clock at night there was one continuous round of pleasure. The street railway company furnished extra cars and provided a splendid service for the picnickers. The whole picnic passed off without the least accident.

Two Men After Local Hotel.

Mr. A. Johnston, of the Melbourne House, Toronto, and Mr. Moore, of Orillia, were in the city yesterday. Each of these gentlemen were here in connection with separately trying to purchase the Windsor Hotel from Mr. F. Cassidy. Whilst no deal "in black and white" was made, both of these would-be local hotelmen asserted his intention of securing this business.

Mr. A. Montgomery Has Passed Away

Old Resident of Peterborough Dies a Monogenarian.

One of Peterborough's oldest citizens, in the person of Mr. Andrew Montgomery, of 210 London street, has passed away. He was born on December 31st, 1814. Mr. Montgomery was one of the oldest residents of Peterborough County, having moved to Smith Township with his parents and their family in 1830.

The deceased was highly respected, and known from one end of Smith Township to the other, as well as having a large circle of friends in this city and in the county. For many years he was a faithful member of St. Paul's church.

The deceased was born in Belfast, Ireland, and moved to Canada with his parents and their family of seven children. They settled in 1830 in Smith Township, where the deceased resided until 1879, when he moved with his own family to the city. He was married many years ago to Elizabeth Braden, who predeceased him about a year and a half. In 1901 the late Andrew and Mrs. Montgomery celebrated their diamond jubilee.

Since living in Peterborough he has not taken an active part in public affairs. He leaves a family of six daughters and three sons to mourn his loss.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at three o'clock and is private. Interment at Little Lake cemetery.

ADD TO RUSSIAN DIFFICULTIES

In Order to Avoid This, British Government Will Refrain From Deliverance on Subject of Recent Massacres.

London, July 3.—When asked yesterday to follow the example of the Congress of the United States and give the House of Commons an opportunity of recording its opinion regarding the massacre of Jews in Russia, Premier Campbell-Bannerman said:

"The recent events in Russia to which the honorable gentleman who puts the question drew attention have aroused the strongest feelings in the House, but I am not at all sure that to adopt the unusual course suggested would serve any useful purpose, or that it might not add to the difficulties in Russia."

PREPARED FLAG OF TRUCE

That Was the First Thing Admiral Rojestvensky Did Preparatory to Entering Final Engagement With Japan.

St. Petersburg, July 3.—The denositions of various officers and sailors of the torpedo-boat destroyer Bedov, forming the documents in the court-martial of Admiral Rojestvensky and other naval officers who surrendered to the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan in May of last year, were published yesterday. The sailor testimony is that one of the first things done after the Admiral boarded the torpedo boat was to prepare a flag of truce. Surrender without a fight had apparently been decided upon.

Bodies Will Be Sent Back in Same Boat

Bodies of the Late Mr. Barwick and Mr. Pipon Will Be Shipped From England on July 14th--Remains of Victims are Moved.

London, July 3.—Arrangements are being made today to return the bodies of Messrs. Barwick and Pipon together on the steamer New York, July 14th. The body of Mr. Barwick has been embalmed, being viewed by friends at 22 Baker street, where the remains of the late Sir John Thompson were viewed. Lord Strathcona has received a number of requests for funeral services here. Nothing has been decided as yet.

The remains of the late Rev. E. I. King, were interred at Salisbury this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Salisbury, Eng., July 3.—The bulletin posted at the Infirmary where those injured in the wreck here Sunday morning are being cared for, announced that Edward Sartell of Brooklyn, N.Y., had not passed a good night, but that his condition is about the same. Robert S. Critchell of Chicago, had a restless night, but is slightly improved.

The removal of the bodies of the victims has been postponed until evening owing to the non-arrival of the leaden shells. Nine bodies will be taken to Southampton this evening and five to London, namely, those of John E. McDonald of New York, C. F. Meekin of Lexington, Mrs. Lillian Hurd White of New York, Mrs. Charles W. Elphicke of Evanston, Ill., and Miss M. E. Howleson, of New York. All the friends and surviving relatives of the five victims desire that religious services be held in London before the bodies are shipped to America.

It has also been arranged to bring the body of Frederick Henry Cossitt of New York city to London temporarily.

Port Hope won from Bowmanville by 5 to 2 Monday.

Meat for Manchester.

London, July 3.—In the House of Commons yesterday the bill giving the Port Sunlit authorities of Manchester special powers for the inspection of all food products conveyed to Manchester by the ship canal passed its second reading.

John Burns, president of the Local Government Board, however, pointed out that the bill was necessary in order that the people might be protected from foreign importers of bad meat. The recent Chicago meat-packing scandals were urged by Mr. Burns as a further argument in favor of the bill.

Mrs. Thaw was Told of Her Son's Crime

Was on the Ocean at the Time, and the News Was Carefully Kept From Her.

Tilbury, Eng., July 3.—The news of the tragedy in the Madison Square Roof Garden, New York, June 25, when Harry K. Thaw shot and killed Stanford White, had not been communicated to his mother, Mrs. Thaw, when the steamer Minneapolis, from New York, June 23, docked here today. Extraordinary precautions were taken on board to keep any inkling of the tragedy from her until relatives were able to break the news. Mrs. Thaw, who had been unusually cheerful throughout the voyage, was met by her son-in-law, the Earl of Yarmouth, and Blair Thaw, who came to Tilbury to welcome her, and her face was wreathed in smiles when she landed.

As she stepped ashore Mrs. Thaw was surrounded by friends and detectives, the latter being detailed to prevent any stranger from approaching her. After landing Mrs. Thaw and her party boarded a special train from which reporters were expressly excluded.

As the train pulled out of the station Mrs. Thaw was still smiling, apparently being in continued ignorance of the tragedy. The Earl of Yarmouth said that he would not break the news to her until they reached the house.

Wireless messages containing the news were received on board the Minneapolis, but the captain, having been so advised, suppressed them.

London, July 3.—On her arrival in London Mrs. Thaw was driven to the residence of the Earl of Yarmouth, where the news of the tragedy at New York June 25 was broken to her. She bore up splendidly under the blow, but has not decided upon her future movements.

Would Sell Land To The Peasants

Russian Government Has Sent its Agrarian Bill to the Parliament---Attacks the Socialists.

St. Petersburg, July 3.—The Government's Agrarian bill has finally been approved, introduced in the Lower House of Parliament and published in the Official Messenger, accompanied by a sort of proclamation to the peasants, glorifying the Emperor's constant solicitude for them. It attempts to show that the realization of socialistic schemes for the nationalization of the lands, with which the country has been deluged, instead of improving the lot of the peasants would result in incalculable misery, as the distribution of all the arcable state lands in European Russia would give each peasant less than one additional desiatine, which would be subject to constant diminution owing to the increases in the population and besides, would deprive the peasants of the opportunity of obtaining work from the landlords, from which a large percentage of their income is derived.

As finally submitted the Government solution makes the following propositions:

"First, to distribute upon favorable terms all the arcable land in European Russia to the peasants who have not sufficient land.

"Second, to purchase for the account of the State the land which private owners are willing to sell.

"Third, to sell such lands to the peasants on reasonable terms, even if this involves the assumption by the State of the difference in the cost and the selling price.

"Fourth, to establish the principle that new as well as old peasant lands are not saleable to persons not belonging to the peasant class, besides exempting the land from seizure for debt.

"Five, to assist immigrants to reach Siberia and Central Asia, and to help them in installing themselves there, not only by allotments of land, but by the building of Government roads.

"Six, to make arrangements for the sale of the lands the immigrants leave behind them for the benefit of these immigrants, the rigorous improvement of agriculture, consisting the distribution in plots of land, etc., and the right of the distribution of the lands severally where desired."

The statement accompanying the publications of the Government's Agrarian measure gives figures to prove that the peasants dream that a universal distribution would give ample land to all is fallacious.

Prevented Elopement.

Bristol, Va., July 3.—As a train was pulling out of the Union passenger station in this city yesterday, bearing Mrs. Nita Orr, wife of John J. Orr, of Bristol, and George S. Jones, who were about to elope, the husband appeared upon the scene, and with deadly aim, deliberately shot Jones three times, all shots taking effect, and from which he died some hours later.

The tragedy created considerable excitement for Orr was arrested, and is in jail at Bristol. He said that Jones had robbed him of his wife's love, and ruined his home, and he had killed him in consequence.

Mrs. Orr left on the train for the east, and is not known where she has gone. Orr retained counsel to present his defence.

COBALT
THE
WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $150,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lewedes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

To impart quickness and great vitality to the entire system nothing acts like Ferrozone.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and braces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Utopia, Ont., Mr. H. H. Postle, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that everyone requires medicine in the spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, nervous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form,—that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

A CURE FOR LEPROSY

Leprosy has, up to the present, been considered as a hopelessly incurable disease. Once the leper taint showed itself upon a man's skin, sometimes a mere brownish tinge on a patch no bigger than the palm of one's hand, he was held to be irrevocably doomed—branded for death, the coming of which could be only a question of time. The segregation of lepers has therefore had only two objects, namely, to prevent the spread of contagion and to ameliorate, so far as possible, the conditions of the remaining years of life vouchsafed to the victims. The cure of the individual, his return to the companionship of "the whole and clean" among his fellow mortals, has heretofore not been considered as a possible part of the humanitarian program.

However, from the State of Louisiana there comes the welcome news that leprosy is no longer to be considered as incurable. Incidentally it may be pointed out that, although the scourge may be present in only infinitesimal degree as compared with certain Oriental lands, every country, every really big city, has its lepers. The sufferers may be hidden away from view, only a single physician perhaps may know of a particular case. But the disease lurks in our midst, and, as in the instance of the leprous Chinaman discovered at Santa Ana the other day, comes occasionally into the public light. Recognizing this fact, Louisiana has been one of the few States in the Union that has sought out its lepers, and secured their segregation under special legislative enactments. It is this work of public protection that has led to the happy discovery that the disease can be arrested and cured.

The Board of Control of the Leper Home in Louisiana reports that, under the system of treatment inaugurated, three lepers have been positively cured, six others are steadily improving and have the certainty of being discharged as permanently cured, while eighteen others show a markedly ameliorated condition offering every chance of eventual cure. The method followed is one of nutrition, with daily hot baths, open air and sunshine, aided by specific drugs—chaulmoogra oil, strychnine, and arsenic. Leprosy is recognized as a bacillary disease, and the idea of the treatment is to establish a resistance in the individual patient so that the bacilli cannot find the food on which alone they can thrive. The experiments date back but a very few years; a decade ago they were mere gropings in the dark; it is only within the last three or four years that the light of certain achievement has broken in, and the records above set forth have been established beyond doubt or peradventure.

Lepers have been cured, and are being cured—this is the gladsome tidings that Louisiana sends forth today to the world, vouched for by the State Board of Control and the physicians of the leper home, who have wisely and humanely withheld the announcement until the last element of uncertainty has been dispelled.

It is great news for India, for China, and for Japan, where the terrible and loathsome disease is especially prominent. It is great news also for all the other nations, each of which, as we have seen, has at least its sporadic cases. But it is also great news especially for the United States. With the hoisting of the Stars and Stripes in Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines, this country has become responsible for very considerable groups of the leprously afflicted and it is therefore reasonable matter for national pride that from the homeland of the flag reaches forth the saving hand—rings forth the cry of hope for those who have been plunged in the gloom of utter hopelessness.

ASPARAGUS.

The Way to Cook This King of the Vegetable World.

Asparagus is the king of the vegetable world, and it is not unlikely that the exalted rank of his majesty accounts for the timidity with which the cooks handle it. The ordinary method of preparing a bunch for the table is to lay it on its side in a pot of water and boil it. Most folk cut the binders and allow the stalks to float around in the vessel like derelict logs in a Maine freshet. When served, the tips are as mush, while the stalks are too hard for mastication. This is criminal negligence; worse, it is criminal ignorance. It takes five years to get an asparagus bed started, and as the roots are glutinous, requiring a vast amount of rich food, assiduous care and constant attention, a meal of it is entitled to our highest respect.

Buy an agateware or porcelain pot six inches in diameter and nine inches high. Place the bound bunch of grass therein on end, first having trimmed the bottom even and square. If the bunch is seven inches high pour in water until only two inches of the tips remain above the surface—that is, give it five inches of water. Then let it boil and boil and boil until the stalks are perfectly tender. Pierce them with a fork to find out. The tips will in the meantime be cooked by the steam and will be firm, yet tender, when served. Then you will have a delicious asparagus, each stalk and tip a morsel fit for gods and goddesses. The stalk is quite as tasty as the tip, yet by the old method of cooking most of the former is too hard for mastication by anything less powerful than a rock crusher.—New York Press.

Picture Frames.

The most effective picture frames, except when oil paintings are in question, match the woodwork of the room in which they hang. Dull gold frames, very unobtrusive, are liked when the woodwork happens to be white enamel. At all events, it is no longer permissible to crowd all sorts of frames in one room. A uniformity of some sort is decidedly indicated.

Baked Apples.

A Pennsylvania housewife cooks her "baked apples" on top of the stove. She cores them and places them in a covered pan with enough water to prevent them from burning. She then lets them cook until partly done, sprinkles them with sugar and cinnamon and puts them in the oven to finish cooking. This is a good method for the busy housewife.

CALLED BACK TO LIFE.

A striking illustration of the danger of premature burial was supplied by the Venerable Archdeacon Colley, who announced that he had been the occupant of a coffin, and had lain in it for two days and a half. He was about 21-2 years old then, and, to all appearances, had died. But a Scotch nurse thought she saw indications of life. A doctor was summoned, and he was called back to life.

Provincial Loan of $8 000 000

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1906, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $1,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, dated 1st July, 1906, and payable

$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1926,
$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1936,

with coupons attached for interest at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st January and the 1st July in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto. Bonds will be of the denominations of $200, $500, and $1,000, and will be payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders may be exchanged for Ontario Government Stock bearing the same rate of interest.

The issue price during the month of July, 1906, will be par, and after the 31st July, 1906, the issue price will be par and accrued interest.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK s ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of amounts up to $1,000 will be required to send certified cheque with the application. For amounts over $1,000 payment for subscription may be made in instalments 10 per cent. on application, 10 per cent 1st August, 10 per cent. 1st September, 10 per cent. 1st October, 10 per cent 1st November, and 50 per cent. 1st December, 1906, with privilege of paying at an earlier date, the interest on instalment subscriptions being adjusted on 1st January, 1907.

In the event of any subscriber for bonds payable by instalments failing to make payment of subsequent instalments the bonds may be sold and any loss incurred will be charged to the purchaser in default.

Forms of subscription (when payable by instalments) may be obtained on application to the Treasury Department.

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario and is chargeable thereupon.

All cheques should be made payable to the order of "The Provincial Treasurer of Ontario," and subscribers should state the denominations and terms (20 or 30 years) of bonds desired.

A. J. MATHESON,
Provincial Treasurer.

Treasury Department, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, 27th June, 1906.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain land leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Hearts Courageous

By... MALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

He turned to Armand. "The contents of your message," he said—"so much depends. If"—

"Sir!"—Armand stopped him sharply. "What I bear is for the congress!"

"In God's name, then, who and what are you?"

"A messenger of the French king!"

Silence fell. Through it Joseph Galloway's unctuous voice spread softly. "Gentlemen, I have a conclusive witness. One moment!"

He passed through the side door and an instant later entered, leading Anne. All eyes were turned upon them.

"'Tis Mistress Tillotson!" One of the committee, who had hitherto kept silence, was speaking. "A lady of Virginia, gentlemen, whom I do know loyal and worthy of all credence."

She did not dare to look about her. She stood, white, piteous. The quiet was unbearable.

The oily voice broke it. "Look upon this man. Is he or is he not Louis Armand, lately seized in Virginia for representing himself a French nobleman?"

She turned her eyes an instant to him and saw his face deadly pale, his eyes terrible, staring at her.

"He is," she answered in a scarce audible tone.

"You received this paper from the hands of an officer in the British service? And recognize the signature as that of this man?"

"Yes." The questions were pitiless. Her limbs were failing her, and she caught at the jamb of the door.

If she only dared look at him! Would they never let her go? The hypocrisy in those rounded, smooth syllables! Were they framing thanks? "For her loyalty," "her courage," "at a moment when a matter of great import trembled in the balance!"

"Enough!" The sharp, strained tone of Dickinson was a relief. "The lady is fatigued."

Then the cooler air of the outer hall smote her face, and the falling curtain shut away from her that dreadful room, the torturing voice, the dun-grey men and among them all that silent, accusing face, those eyes suddenly sunken, round with pain—Armand, whom she loved and had betrayed!

As the door closed behind her Armand dropped into a chair and buried his face in his hands.

"And now, gentlemen," finished Galloway, turning again into the room, "will you let this unspeakable villain pass those doors now?"

"Sir," protested Pllarne, appealing to Dickinson—"sir, gentlemen, a monstrous error is being made. A coil of circumstance has been cunningly wove, to explain which there is no time; nor, mayhap now, would you credit it. But as an officer of the French army, as a chevalier, as a French gentleman, I lay my oath upon the integrity of this mission and of this man."

But he knew as he spoke that what he said was futile.

Joseph Galloway had crossed the room behind Armand's chair and now, with a quick movement, reaching from behind, thrust his hand into the young man's breast and drew forth the forged parchment.

"Document number two," he said, tossing it upon the table. Armand had sprung to his feet, his head thrown high, a tiger gleam in his eyes.

"Canaille!" cried Pllarne.

Dickinson's eye overran the writing. "Send for the guards!" he said in a choked voice. "A file to seize him!" And Joseph Galloway went out in haste.

At the word a fury of passion seemed to capture Armand. Those near him fell back. His dress sword flashed out and drew a burnished ring about him.

"Stand back!" he hurled between his teeth. "You shall not stop me! Back, I say! Messenger I am, and my message I will deliver!"

"Madman! Will he cut his way in?" cried Dickinson.

Armand, dragging the curtain from its hooks, had gained the hall. He sprang at the great doors and struck them frenziedly with his sword. But with the first blow the light steel rattled to the floor, broken half way to the hilt.

When Anne had issued from the anteroom a few moments before, she had emerged into the main corridor. She was dizzy, sick, and the last words of her questioner were in her ears. She found herself saying them over dully. "A matter of great import." "Trembling in the balance."

An old doorkeeper in a blue coat with faded lace sat near by on a wooden chair, but the day was warm, and he was dozing. His mouth was open, and he had not stirred when she came out.

She could hear the muffled voices clashing upon one another, coming from the main room where the delegates sat. The door at one end of the corridor opening on the green was ajar, and she was vaguely aware, as a background, of the murmurous, multi-keyed noises that hung above an orderly assemblage of many people.

And, standing leaning against the wall, a swift knowledge came to her. The waiting crowd outside; her guide's haste as he hurried her through the streets from the Red Lion tavern. A matter "of great import." The Declaration!

They were considering it, hesitating. Armand's message might have decided, and she had betrayed him—stay! She had the packet. It was there in her cloak. She must find Dr. Franklin. Ah, he must be in there at that moment! She had sworn to give it into his very hands. He must read it at once—at once. With the thought her eager fingers dragged it out.

She glanced at the old watchman. Daily familiarity had made such councils hackneyed to him. With eyes upon him she stole to the door in the center. She turned the knob softly and tried it. It was locked. Smitten with her impotency, she leaned against it and rattled the knob.

All at once she felt it giving. A key had been turned from the inside. She heard the roused doorkeeper shuffling toward her, heard his protestant whisper and tugged with all her strength.

A buzz of talk that the stout panels had deadened clamored loud in her ears. She saw nothing but a broad aisle, above whose center hung an enormous, many prismed chandelier, glancing back the sunlight.

Tears burned her eyes to mist, and her throat was choking. Out of the mist as she stopped the crowded body of the hall stupefied her with people. The sound of voices rising as she had entered stilled in an instant to a silence, broken by an exclamation and the taut blow of a gavel. She was dimly conscious of men bewigged, dressed mostly in black and snuff color, with white neckcloths—one or two on their feet. Her fingers under her cloak clasped tight the precious packet—so tight she could feel its ridges cut into her flesh—and a clammy faintness was upon her.

Suddenly this left her, and the jarring walls drew into place.

She was standing in the center of a square room, plain walled, with three tall barred windows at each side hung with green Venetian blinds. In front of her was a raised, square rostrum between great empty fireplaces, and, leaning over its desk, an elderly man gazing down. Surprise seemed carved upon his features, and, looking, she felt a dreadful hysterical desire to laugh.

Below on the floor and facing her stood a short, stout old man, with a bald head and a fringe of white hair. His kindly eyes, behind great iron rimmed spectacles, gave her confidence. It came to her in a flash that this was the great Dr. Franklin.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

A favorite method of administering this deleterious drug is in cathartic pills. Beware of "quick-result" articles, they may do more harm than good.

Drastic cathartics will weaken the strongest. With old people they are a positive menace to life.

Merely to restore normal bowel action and gently stimulate the liver is all that the wise physician recommends.

To keep the system pure and clean, nothing is so effacious as the vegetable pills of Dr. Hamilton, which are composed of such herbs as mandrake, butternut and dandelion; they contain not an atom of any substance that could injure even an infant.

By their certain action on the Liver Dr. Hamilton's Pills cause bile to be secreted (which forms the stimulus that moves the bowels. this is nature's own method and the best one.

Mr. H. Hamly, of French River, Ont., writes as follows. "I was inclined to bilious attacks and frequently was too ill to work. ## TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Fire Alarm System Exhibited.

The National Fire Alarm System was introduced to the Fire, Water and Light committees of the City Council yesterday afternoon by Mr. Alexander Anderson, of Toronto. It is almost identical to that used in Toronto.

Phonographs.

Sold on easy payments at The J. M. Greene Music Co., George street, New Opera House Building, Peterboro.

Circus Train Wrecked.

Saskatoon, July 3.—Norris & Rowe's 23-car circus train was ditched at Saskatoon yesterday morning, and many wild animals are at large on the prairie.

Organ for Sale.

Fine new organ will be sold at a bargain. Very little used. Will be sold at a low figure for quick cash. Apply at this office or to P.O. drawer 1168.

Mr. Edwards Gets a 42 Pound Lunge

Mr. Thos Edwards, one of the Peterborough Canoe Company's employes, holidaying on the Keene where a few days ago, captured a fish that he might be well proud of. The fish was a 12 lb. lunge, and one of the most perfectly formed that has been taken for years. Mr. Edwards is to be congratulated on his fine catch.

Local Men Stranded in Omemee.

Talking of a holiday with high-ball attachments, it might be noted that two local butchers, one by name and one by trade, spent the holiday in Campbellford. On their return trip, being tired, after seeing the sights in the newly born town, they passed through Peterborough unknowingly, bound for Bougogville. The train went on eating up the miles between here and Lindsay, and still the boys slept. By the time they reached Omemee, or some such out of the way spot, they woke up. It was then a case of rapid skidoo for terra firma and a livery stable. It is now a question whether the boys had gone broke or whether their tale about all the livery rigs being engaged is correct. In either event two local men saw the stars twinkle and pink dawn breaking towards the east, as the sun rose and laughed at them walking along the ties bound towards home.

On July 2nd a special train will leave Campbellford at 11:30 p m for Peterbero and Lindsay, thus affording people who desire to visit Campbellford on Dominion Day an opportunity of returning home same day

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—All hail to the Town of Campbellford.

—Nothing doing but the salaries running on at the police court yesterday.

—Haliburton village will be formed into a police village, under management of three police trustees, in January next, and have control of its own finances.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy, Water street, who has been laid up for several days owing to an accident, whereby he ran a rusty nail in his foot, is able to be around again.

—Campbellford was a great drawing card on Monday, many hundreds of our citizens taking in the festivities connected with the incorporation ceremonies as a town.

—The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Co. yesterday placed a fine new bay team on their local delivery waggon. The team was purchased by Mr. Nott at a high price, and are well adapted to the business.

—On Sunday morning last the handsome brass table erected in St. Paul's church, Minden, to the memory of the late Rev. Frederick Burt, by his family, was unveiled, the services being conducted by Mr. E. R. Ladbrook.

—Mr. W. J. Green advised us yesterday that on Monday night Mrs. Green lost a handkerchief, in the corner of which was a key enfolded. Any one finding the same might return the key to Mr. Green at the Tax office.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. Arthur W. Beall is spending a few days at his home here.

—Mr. Gordon Logan, of Toronto, spent the holiday in the city.

—Mr. Thomas Davidson, Toronto, spent the holiday in the city.

—Mr. Jas O'Brien, of Downie street, spent the holiday in Toronto.

—Mr. J. E. Trennum spent the holiday with friends in Hamilton.

—Mr. Reynolds, of Toronto, was the guest of Sheriff Hall for the holiday.

—Mr. R. B. Pearson has returned from spending a few holidays in Lindsay.

—Mr. A. J. Johnston and Miss Grace Johnston, have gone to Grimsby on a visit.

—Mr. M. McGuire, Toronto, spent the holiday in the city, visiting his parents.

—Mr. Frank Kenneally, of Toronto, spent the holiday in the city, the guest of parents.

—Mr. Robert McCracken, of McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake, was in the city yesterday.

—Mr. J. C. Brown, Public School Inspector, is in Norwood, presiding at the entrance examinations.

—Miss K. Leonard, of Gough Bros., Toronto, was a guest over the holiday of her sister, Mrs. G. Giroux.

—Miss Helen Coleman, of the Nicholls Hospital staff, is spending her holidays in Warsaw and Port Hope.

—Mrs. Douglas and Miss Berry, of the Nicholls Hospital training school for nurses, have successfully passed their final examinations.

—Mr. C. Ormond Giroux, of the Ontario Bank, Tweed, and Mr. L. Leonard Giroux, of the Bank of Ottawa, Arnprior, were home over the holiday.

—Mr A. A. Fowler, who has been pursuing a special course in the Illinois College of Ophthalmology, Chicago, for the past few weeks, has returned to the city.

—Mr. J. Emmerson, of the Lock Works, spent the holiday at Cavanville trout fishing. He only got fourteen, as the water was too muddy owing to the recent heavy rains.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Good Catch in Lovesick Lake.

Perhaps one of the biggest catches of fish made any place in the Kawartha Lakes, was that which Mr. A. A. Parker and his two young sons on Saturday and Monday morning caught. On Saturday they got sixteen bass and three lunge and Monday morning about twenty-five bass. Mr. Parker says the fish are very game this year and he had all kinds of sport. His fishing grounds are at Lovesick Lake.

Mrs. (Dr.) Carmichael is Home.

Mrs. (Dr.) Carmichael, corner of Brock and Water streets, who has been away for some months on a pleasure trip through Manitoba and the Western country as far as the Rocky Mountains, returned home last night. We are pleased to say that Mrs. Carmichael is looking well after her extended trip. She speaks in highest terms of her reception whilst in the Western country, but still thinks Peterborough is "good enough."

Dominion Day in the City.

Dominion Day was very quietly celebrated in this city. Although every one seemed to have gone out of town still as the hours rolled by there seemed enough left to give Peterborough an air of life. Many hundreds of people from a distance came into the city to renew acquaintances with friends and relatives. The main points of attraction for those remaining in the city were Jackson Park, and the Street Car line terminus. At Jackson Park the merry-go-round during the day and the moving pictures by night attracted thousands of patrons to the street car service. During the day hundreds went to Rye's boat house and took a spin down the river.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday as P. C. McGinty was pursuing the course of his duties along George street, he saw a pair of brogans projecting from a store doorway. Following the boots along the unmentionables to coat and vest he finally reached what should have been, but what, owing to too much tangleleg was not just then the seat of intelligence of the owner of the brogans. The officer requisitioned the services of a cart and conveyed the whole outfit, from brogans to the vacated throne of reason, to the station. Up to going to press it was impossible to locate the man's name or address, which will come out this morning when his worship holds the leaves of justice.

57th Regiment Have a Good Time

Local Regiment Was Greatly Admired by Citizens of Brantford.

Our visiting warriors on their return yesterday morning, when they awakened their slumbering fellow citizens by the blare of fife, drum and other (at that hours) instruments of torture, report having had the time of their lives at Brantford. The boys say that the Brantford people fairly fell over one another in trying to give them a good time.

Brantford can well feel proud of their regiment, the Dufferin Rifles. They are a well trained body of men, with a staff of officers that would be hard to beat anywhere. Attached to the corps is a brass band that is a credit to the city, and a bugle band, strong in rank and proficiency. It is somewhat larger than the Peterborough Bugle Band.

The visitors were impressed by the signs of progress that are to be seen on every side in Brantford. The city is a little larger than Peterborough. One point to be considered was the unanimous way in which the Brantford people spoke in strongly favorable terms, not only of the regiment as a whole, but of the officers in particular. The Brantfordites were frequently heard to say that the marked efficiency of the regiment was largely due to the fine body of men in command. Col Miller and the other officers have reason to be proud of the proud of the men under their command.

Peterborough's pride, the 57th Regiment Band, came in for a full share of the bouquets (of praise) freely distributed by the people of Brantford, and right well they deserved these encomiums.

Local Banker is Married

Miss Nellie Hall Becomes the Bride of Mr. A. E. Brundrett.

A quiet wedding was celebrated Monday morning, when Miss Nellie Hall daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs Fred Hall, became the wife of Mr. A. E. Brundrette, of the Ontario Bank, son of Mr. William Brundrette. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her brother, Mr. Fred Hall, of Toronto. Rev. Wm. Major, of All Saints' church, performed the ceremony.

The employees of Messrs. Rich. Hall & Son presented the bride, who had been a valued member of the staff of this leading dry goods store, with a handsome china cabinet, and also a beautiful brass candelabra, was presented by Mrs. Richard Hall.

Mr. Brundrette, an old Peterborough boy, now in the Queen City, is on the head office staff of the Ontario Bank. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs Brundrette in this city will extend their best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Brundrette left on the G. T. R. flyer for Toronto and points west, and will later spend some time at Stony Lake. They will reside in Toronto.

St. Luke's Picnic a Great Success

St. Luke's Bible class excursion to Buckhorn, on Deer Bay, on Monday, was one of the best on record. The excursionists saw a considerable portion of the Kawartha Lakes, passing through Lake Katchewanooka, Clear Lake, Stony Lake, Lovesick Lake, and Deer Bay en route. The boat was filled to its safest capacity, and many more would have gone had the boat officials allowed them on board.

A short stop was made at several of the more important points. Everything went well from the time the boat left the Lakefield wharf until it returned in the evening.

The Signs of Heart Trouble

You can Surely Secure Heart Health and Strength through Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Heart weakness which can be dealt with at all is nerve weakness. Just as your hand trembles when its nerves are weak, when your heart nerves are weak your heart flutters and palpitates. Other signs are shortness of breath after slight exercise; fainting spells; pain or tenderness about the heart caused by irregular heart action; choking sensation as if the heart was in the throat; uneasy sensation in the chest, showing that the heart isn't working right; pain when you lie on one side—usually the left side, but frequently the right, painful and difficult breathing; smothered feeling. There is absolutely one way by which to treat a weak heart. That is to bring back permanent strength to its nerves. Can you imagine how any other one can be done? Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring back the strength to the heart nerves always. There is nothing in this remedy to stimulate; nothing that leads to reaction. The strength that it gives is natural and permanent. It is just the same strength as Nature gives to those who are well. Dr. Shoop's Restorative creates strength which extends over the whole inside nerve system—it overcomes the cause of the trouble as well as the result. For sale and recommended by

J. D. TULLY.

For Weak Hearts

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood-purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

Queen's University Visited By Big Fire

For the First Time In Its History It Becomes a Prey to Flames--The Insurance Carried, $22,000.

Kingston, July 4.—Queen's Medical College building, on the University grounds, facing Arch street, was destroyed by fire this morning.

The blaze was discovered shortly after seven o'clock, and five minutes later the firemen had streams playing into the burning building, and in an hour had the blaze under control, but the whole interior is a complete loss.

All that was saved was the secretary-treasurer's books.

Valuable medical apparatus and specimens that cannot be replaced all became a prey to the flames.

The building and contents were valued at about $70,000. There is insurance of $22,000.

This fire is the first to visit Queen's in its history on the present grounds. Four years ago an extra storey was added to the building at a cost of $11,000. It was the intention of the faculty to renovate the medical college as soon as the biological building was erected. These plans can be carried out now to a certain extent.

The fire, it is thought, originated from a gas jet kept burning in an oven where paraffine moulds are made.

By the destruction of the college the bacteriological and public health laboratories are wiped out, and serious inconvenience will result.

The metal tank containing a number of bodies for dissecting purposes is in the basement, and the fire did not get at it.

An examination of the building after the firemen had finished showed that the interior was not so much damaged as at first thought.

Repairs will be started at once, and the college will be ready for the fall opening.

Death of Mr. W. McIlroy's Mother

Sad Loss to Popular Local Railway Man.

The many friends in the city of Mr. W. McIlroy, uptown C. P. R. ticket agent, will regret to learn that his mother has passed away in St. Thomas.

The Journal of that city gives the following particulars of her death:

Death came with tragic suddenness to Mrs. Grace McIlroy yesterday afternoon at five o'clock. Deceased, who has been an invalid for some months, while being assisted from her chair to her bed by her husband, without uttering a word fell dead in his arms. She had been a resident of St. Thomas for the past twenty-three years coming here with her husband and family from England, and was in her seventieth year. Previous to leaving England she had spent a number of years in various parts of the British Empire with her husband, who was army officer on foreign service. Besides her husband, three sons and one daughter survive: William, C. P. R. agent at Peterborough; Edwin, London, and Frank, Liverpool, Eng., and Mrs. W. Hayden, city. Mrs. McIlroy, this city, is a daughter-in-law. A most estimable lady, she had a wide circle of friends in the city who will regret her sudden demise. The funeral takes place on Thursday from the family residence, Catherine street, to St. Thomas cemetery.

19 Pound Lunge In Little Lake

Messrs H. Snowden and Geo. Irwin Get Splendid Fish Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon, at about four o'clock, Messrs. Herb. Snowden and Geo. Irwin were slowly paddling across the Little Lake and incidentally trolling. As they reached a certain spot, which we are under bonds not to divulge, the canoe suddenly stopped and the line was almost dragged from Mr. Snowden's grasp. Judging by the tug on the trolling line the fishermen thought they had caught on to the wide-wide world, or at least a sunken man-of-war. However, the line began to convey messages assuring them that a very wide-awake and pugnacious fish had taken hold of their bait. After about an hour's fight with their prey the two fishermen succeeded in bringing the muskinonge to the side of their canoe. Here another battle-royal began, but ended by the fish being lifted in canoe.

It weighed exactly 19 3-4 pounds, and was one of the most perfect specimens of its genus seen here in years.

For full particulars as to the exact spot in Little Lake, apply to the lucky fishermen.

Railroad Men Over New C. P. R. Line

Messrs. A. C. Mackenzie and A. R. Mann were registered at the Oriental Hotel yesterday, having arrived on Tuesday night by the ten o'clock G. T. R. flyer. Mr. Mackenzie comes from Beaverton, and Mr. Mann from Toronto.

Yesterday they were driven along the proposed route of the new C. P. R. line from Peterborough to Lindsay, and from there they took the train for the west.

The object of their visit could not be learned, but the fact that they are railway men created some interest among those acquainted with railroad matters.

Local Orangemen Are Preparing

A committee now has charge of all arrangements for the celebration of the 12th of July by the local Orangemen. It has been arranged that the Lakefield and Nassau Lodges will come to Peterborough on the Lakefield train on the morning of the 11th. The train will stop at McDonnell street and the Lakefield and Nassau Lodges will get off there. They will be met by the local lodges, and together will march to the G. T. R. station en route to Lindsay.

A Peterborough Man President.

The last issue of the "Weekly Sun," in its report of the annual meeting of the Ontario Peoples Salt Company, held at Kincardine, where the works are situated, says the stockholders were highly pleased with the success of the company. The financial showing was very satisfactory, and the works are in excellent condition. The output of the well at present is 200 barrels per day, and the well is A No. 1. Dawson Kennedy, Peterborough, was elected president, Jubel Robinson, St. Thomas, vice-president, John Tolmie, Kincardine, manager.

Eminent U.S. Journalist Here.

Mr. Ryerson Ritchie, of Detroit, a well known American journalist, and a former Peterborough boy, is spending his vacation in the city. Mr. Ritchie, it will be remembered, was secretary of the committee which some years ago, secured a large sum of money throughout the United States for a suitable memorial to the late Mr. McKinley, the United States president who was foully murdered by Czolgoski, the anarchist.

Ida Rutherford Is Now a Matron

Pretty Wedding at Residence of Mr. Thos. Rutherford.

A most interesting and pretty wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Thomas Rutherford, 2a Union street, when his second daughter, Miss Ida, became the charming bride of Mr. George Nelson Hardill, formerly of Peterborough, but now of Huntingdon, West Virginia, and son of Mr. Wm. Hardill, city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Crothers.

There were about seventy-five guests present, including Mrs. Reid, Toronto; Miss Janes, Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hardill, Toronto; Mr. Will Wilson, Galt; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Burnham, Toronto; Miss Lena Melrose, Guelph; Miss Jessie Bennett, Toronto; Miss Elma Purvis, Chatham; Mrs. H. H. Fogarty, Port Hope; Miss Jessie Vair, Galt.

The ceremony was performed beneath a handsome arch of marguerites, which flower was widely used in the decoration of the house.

The bride was given away by her father. The wedding march was played by Miss Annie Hardill, sister of the groom.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of cream silk eolienne over taffeta, and carried cream roses. The bridesmaid, her sister, Miss Nadia Rutherford, was attired in a pretty gown of white cream over pink taffeta. Little Miss Ruby Sharpe, the bride's cousin, acted as flower girl, and Miss Madeline Rutherford was ring bearer. Mr. Bert Hardill, of Toronto, cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

The ceremony was followed by a sumptuous dejeuner, at which the customary congratulations were extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardill left on the 5.15 C. P. R. train on a wedding trip to Toronto and other western points, after which they will go to Huntingdon, West Virginia, to reside.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy—when used faithfully will reach chronic and difficult cases heretofore regarded as incurable by physicians and is the most reliable prescription known to clean out and completely remove every vestige of rheumatic poison from the blood. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Fire Alarm Boxes Exhibited.

Mr. Alex. Anderson, the Toronto expert, on Tuesday gave an exhibition of his fire alarm system and boxes before members of the Fire, Water and Light committee. His fire alarm box is somewhat similar to those in use. It is made of iron, with two doors. The outer door is first opened by breaking a small piece of glass and turning the handle. On the outside of the inner door is a hook which is pulled down once and let go, and the alarm is sounded, giving at the same time the number of the box from which it comes.

A Perfect Bowel Laxative for constipation, sallow complexion, headache, dizziness, sour stomach, coated tongue, biliousness. Lax-ets act promptly, without pain or griping. Pleasant to take—Lax-ets—only 5 cents. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Former Local Lawyer Out West.

Referring to a former well known Peterborough barrister, but now engaged in a large law practice in London, Ont., the Lethbridge Herald says: E. B. Stone, a well known Ontario lawyer, formerly of Peterborough and London, has secured a number of grazing leases near Lethbridge, and is expected here in a few days with his son. Mr. Stone is a brother-in-law of Dr. Cragg.

Injured Are Improving.

Salisbury, Eng., July 4.—The injured passengers of the Plymouth steamboat express, wrecked here July 1, are generally improving.

The Senate Discusses Immigration

Senator Watson Says That All Classes of Afflicted Persons, But Idiots and Insane Were Within the Discretion of the Authorities.

Ottawa, July 4.—On the bill respecting immigration and immigrants being offered for a third reading in the Senate, Senator Power proposed an amendment. As the bill stood, he said a person who was deaf, dumb, insane, feeble minded, or epileptic, could not be allowed to land in Canada. He therefore offered an amendment which would permit the father of a family to bring in a feeble minded or otherwise afflicted child; to forbid a father to come in with such a child was, he said, opposed to the spirit of Christianity.

Hon. Mr. Scott said the Act would, without change, allow the immigration agents to exercise discretion, while Senator Watson added that all classes of afflicted persons, but idiots and insane, were within the discretion of the authorities.

Sir Richard Cartwright said there had been systematic attempts on the part of some countries to land physically or mentally undesirable people in Canada. It would be best that the immigration authorities should have the fullest powers to deal with such cases. There was no danger that they would abuse their power or impose hardship on immigrants.

Senator Sullivan, Senator Macdonald and Senator Wilson were of opinion that the clause would command the separation of an afflicted child from its parents. They supported the amendment, which, however, was lost by 11 to 24.

Senator Power offered an amendment reducing from two years to six months the time in which an immigrant may be sent back for becoming a charge on the public.

Hon. Mr. Scott said the power of deportation was one that would be exercised in extreme cases only. It had been found desirable to have the power of deportation for two years. The United States took the power for three years.

Senator Watson said Manitoba would like to have had a two years' clause in the Act. People got into the Home Incurables, hospitals, poor houses, and became public charges after they had been in Canada for a year or more. His experience taught him that the Government's proposal was a wise one.

The amendment was lost on division, and the bill given the third reading.

THIRTY-ONE SALOONS

That Number is Considered Quite Sufficient for City the Size of Kingston.

Kingston, July 4.—At a special meeting the Liquor Licens Commissioners considered the request of the Kingston City Council that two additional tavern licenses be granted for this year, that number having been cut off. The Commissioners decided to refuse the Council's request on the ground that thirty-one drinking houses were quite sufficient for Kingston, and that the stand taken by them in making a reduction last April should be looked upon with favor by the City Council. The temperance people and Evangelical Alliance protested against any increase in the number of licenses.

CHURCH DESTROYED

Fire Consumes Structure and Spire--Latter was 420 Feet High.

Hamburg, July 4.—The great Church of St. Michael, with its tower and spire 426 feet high, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. The tower, in falling, crushed several neighboring houses, and they caught fire. Four workmen, who were repairing the church, were killed.

The fire probably originated from defective electrical connections.

REV. E. L. KING'S BURIAL

Toronto Divine, Killed in English Railway Wreck, Was Given a Public Funeral.

Salisbury, Eng., July 4.—The city yesterday gave a public funeral to Rev. E. L. King, of Toronto, one of the victims of Sunday's disaster.

All the shops put up their shutters and citizens lined the route to the ancient cathedral of Salisbury, where the first portion of the burial service was read.

The Mayor and Corporation Council marched in the cortege as well as representatives of the American Line and the Southwestern R. R.

Flags were half-masted.

CROP COMES OUR WAY

Whole of Trinidad's Sugar Crop Absorbed by Canada and Great Britain.

Ottawa, July 4.—Mr. Tripp, Canadian Commerce Agent in Trinidad, reports that the Canadian and British trade the island for the present season.

The United States, for probably the first time on record, did not get a single pound of the crop.

The commercial agent remarks that in view of the statement made that there is no advantage in the Canadian over the United States market this condition of affairs is significant.

KILLED BY RUNAWAY CAR

Eleven Men on Mountain Side Meet Instant Death--Car Started by Someone Unknown.

Altoona, July 4.—Eleven men who were returning from Portage to Puritan, both mining towns, were killed shortly before midnight on the Martins branch, a spur running from Portage to Puritan, a distance of four miles, by a runaway car, which had been started down the steep mountain grade by some unknown person. The miners had been to Portage, and were returning to their homes.

Brother of Architect Employs Sleuth

Richard White, Seattle, Brother of Murdered Architect Has Retained a Detective Who For Some Time Was the Dead Man's Personal Bodyguard.

New York, July 4.—Learning that Pittsburg detectives have come here in Thaw's employ to bring to light even more unpleasant facts than have yet been printed about Stanford White, Richard Mansfield White, Seattle, brother of the murdered architect, retained a detective who for a year and a half was the dead man's personal bodyguard. The detective from now until the Thaw case goes to trial says he will devote every energy to tracing the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Thaw back to childhood.

"Spare no expense," Mr. White is said to have told the sleuth. "Get me the complete records of every one who has assailed my brother's memory."

Detectives who have been working for the Thaws say that if White's sleuth is questioned closely he will be forced to tell some of White's movements that will not aid the White family in any way.

SICKLES' FAMOUS LETTER

Undismayed by Vigorous Criticism, He Defended His Erring Wife.

Washington, July 4.—The Thaw case recalls the famous tragedy in this city after the war, when Gen. Daniel E. Sickles shot and killed Francis Barton Key, a descendant of the "author of "The Star Spangled Banner." Key had been intimate with Sickles' wife. Sickles was defended by E. W. Stanton, the famous War Secretary, and was acquitted.

Several months after the case ended Mrs. Sickles rejoined her husband. His leniency, as it was called, was condemned vigorously by many worthy people, but throughout the storm of criticism which was directed at him Sickles was unmoved. He said that he loved his wife, and that, despite the unpleasant episode of their life, he believed her place was with her. This was his celebrated answer to his friends:

"My reconciliation with my wife was my own act, done without consultation with any relative, connection, friend or adviser. Whatever blame, if any, belongs at the step, should fall upon me.

I am prepared to defend what I have done before the only tribunal I recognize as having the slightest claim to jurisdiction over the subject—my own conscience and the bar of heaven.

If I ever failed to comprehend the utterly desolate position of an offending though penitent woman—the hopeless future, with its dark possibilities of danger to which she is doomed when proscribed as an outcast—I can now see plainly enough in the almost universal howl of denunciation with which she is followed to my household, the misery and peril from which I have rescued the mother of my child.

There are many who think that an act of duty, proceeding solely from affections which can only be comprehended in the heart of a husband and father, is to be fatal to my professional, political and social standing. If this be so, then so be it.

WELL POSTED

A California Doctor With 40 Years Experience.

"In my 40 years' experience as a teacher and practitioner along hygienic lines," says a Los Angeles physician, "I have never found a food to compare with Grape-Nuts for the benefit of the general health of all classes of people. I have recommended Grape-Nuts for a number of years to patients with the greatest success and every year's experience makes me more enthusiastic regarding its use.

"I make it a rule to always recommend Grape-Nuts and Postum Food Coffee in place of coffee when giving my patients instructions as to diet for I know both Grape-Nuts and Postum can be digested by anyone.

"As for myself, when engaged in much mental work my diet twice a day consists of Grape-Nuts and rich cream. I find it just the thing to build up gray matter and keep the brain in good working order.

"In addition to its wonderful effects as a brain and nerve food Grape-Nuts always keeps the digestive organs in perfect, healthy tone. I carry it with me when I travel, otherwise I am almost certain to have trouble with my stomach." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Strong endorsements like the above from physicians all over the country have stamped Grape-Nuts the most scientific food in the world.

"There's a reason."

New Books at Public Library.

The following new books have recently been added to the Public Library:

The Flower of France—McCarthy.
The Captain of men—Moore.
Lord Elgin—Wrong.
The Wire Tappers—Stringer.
Dick Penhoath—Tynan.
Love Alone is Lord—Moore.
Wacousta—Richardson.

Dangerous Walk in the Park.

Will strangers to this city formulate opinions of the city upon a walk up the decayed and broken walk of Victoria Park? Let us hope not. It might be as well to offer a supplication that no limbs will be broken and big damage suits brought against the city over this disreputable walkway. At almost every stage of this main walkway of Peterborough's leading park, boards are missing and yawning holes are looking for victims. The expenditure of possibly $1 might save the city from law suits running into hundreds of dollars.

Crown Princess of Germany Has a Son

The New Heir to the Imperial Throne of Germany Was Born Yesterday Morning.

Berlin, July 4.—Crown Princess Frederick William was safely accouched of a son at 9.15 this morning. The boy is well formed and strong.

The guns of a battery of artillery began to fire slowly in the square opposite the palace at about noon and tens of thousands within hearing of the salute stopped in the streets or paused in their work, counting the guns, for it had long been announced that 72 shots would be fired for a girl and 101 for a boy. Seventy-one, seventy-two, seventy-three—then the city knew that an heir presumptive had been born. An hour later half a million copies of the official gazette containing the following proclamation were given away.

"Her Imperial and Royal Highness, the Crown Princess of the German Empire and Prussia, was happily delivered of a Prince at 9.15 a.m. in the Marble Palace at Potsdam, to the joy of his Majesty the Emperor, her Majesty the Empress, and the entire royal house. This pleasing event will be made known to the inhabitants of Berlin through the usual cannon shots. The Crown Princess and the Prince are in the best condition.

(Signed) "Von Wedel,
"Minister of the Royal House."

All the public and many private buildings are decorated with flags. The news of the birth of his grandson was communicated to Emperor William by means of a wireless despatch from Kiel to the steamer Hamburg, on which his Majesty is proceeding to Trondhjem, Norway. She was last reported in the Great Belt.

There was great rejoicing at Potsdam when it became known that the Crown Prince had given birth to a son. A salute was fired and the town was decorated.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Disease Prevalent Now but Can be Cured Quickly with Hyomei.

Until very recent years, it was thought that catarrh was a disease of the blood, but now modern science has proved that catarrh is a germ disease, and can be cured only by a treatment that will kill the germs and heal the mucous membrance of the nose and throat.

Therefore, when you have catarrh, you can readily see that if you want to cure it, you should use Hyomei, which medicates the air you breathe, thus killing the catarrhal germs and healing the smarting and raw membrane of the passages through the nose and throat. In breathing Hyomei you are really treating your catarrhal troubles with the only natural method, for it will make the air you breathe as pure, healing and antiseptic as that found on the mountains where the pine forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper, costs only $1, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited
Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.
HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq. Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.
SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

NEW YORK TO PARIS BY RAIL

The Trans-Alaska-Siberian Railway, by which a continuous railway journey from New York to Paris would be possible, at present exists only in the fertile brain of its projector, Loicq de Lobel. The engineering difficulties presented by the project are sufficiently formidable, but this fact and the necessity of securing $250,000,000 to finance the enterprise do not daunt the daring projector. He is hopeful that by November the company will be organized and placed upon a strong financial basis. The route of the road is to be from Irkutsk, via Jakoutsk, East Cape Behring Strait, Prince of Wales Cape to Yukon City. About 3,000 miles of track must be laid in Siberia, and 1,200 in Alaska. The tunnel under Behring Strait will be thirty-eight miles long, and its construction, according to Loicq de Lobel, will not present insuperable difficulties. It is proposed to finish the entire route within four years. It is announced that a Russian commission has indorsed the ambitious plans. A tunnel under the English Channel has long been in contemplation, and interest in it has been revived by the new entente between France and Great Britain. It is said that the construction of this tunnel is seriously considered, though its realization must remain long in abeyance. The Channel tunnel might well be included in Loicq de Lobel's world's highway, so that, in imagination at least, a train will depart from London and stop in New York, the Siberian and Alaskan snows permitting.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA

While all the world is watching with deep interest the unfolding of the great revolutionary drama in Russia, it is in Germany that the keenest anxiety is made manifest, because it is Germany of all the outside powers that the most momentuous consequences are involved. If unrestrained anarchy should sweep over the dominions of the Czar, it is improbable that the Kaiser would remain an impassive spectator. The dissolution of the Russian empire might mean much for Germany by removing the one great check to the expansion of the pan-Germanic movement through Central Europe, but it would bring damages in its train that would more than outweigh any such advantage.

In the first place, the break-up of Russia would result in Polish autonomy, and a resuscitated Poland would destroy the hope of the Kaiser's assimilating the Prussian Poles, even now held in subjection to Germany only by the strong military hand. At the present time there are five German army corps massed on the Polish frontier, and any revolutionary success in Warsaw would be likely to give the signal for their advance to restore the authority of the Czar. So it is the Polish question more than any other that binds the Kaiser and the Czar together, making their interests identical.

Furthermore, the downfall of the Czar could not fail to shake to its base the monarchial system in Germany. There too socialism has eaten deep into the hearts of the people, and there is widespread and steadily growing discontent against the meagre measure of constitutional freedom that restricts all high governmental functions to a favored class. It would be in defense of German bureaucracy that the Kaiser might be impelled to go to the support of Russian bureaucracy. The German nobles and landowners, in fighting for the Russian nobles and landowners, would not the sons they be fighting for their own hands; for if there is to be wholesale expropriation of estates in Russia the identical danger will have been brought very close to the gates of Germany.

Thus the outbreak of real civil war in Russia, following upon the appalling revolts that have marked the present unhappy year, would almost infallibly draw Germany into the vortex of dire disturbance. And with German intervention in Russian affairs there would be let loose the long-restrained forces of racial animosities in Austria-Hungary, and throughout the Italian states the final consummation of which in changing the map of Europe no man could predict.

Prevented Elopement.

Bristol, Va., July 5.—As a train was pulling out of the Union passenger station in this city yesterday, bearing Mrs. Nita Orr, wife of John J. Orr, of Bristol, and George S. Jones, who were about to elope, the husband appeared upon the scene, and with deadly aim, deliberately shot Jones three times, all shots taking effect, and from which he died some hours later.

Orr was arrested, and is in jail at Bristol. He said that Jones had robbed him of his wife's love, and ruined his home, and he had killed him in consequence.

Meat for Manchester.

London, July 5.—In the House of Commons yesterday the bill giving the Port Sanity authorities of Manchester special powers for the inspection of all food products conveyed to Manchester by the ship canal passed its second reading.

John Burns, president of the Local Government Board, however, pointed out that the bill was necessary in order that the people might be protected from foreign importers of bad meat. The recent Chicago meat-packing scandals were urged by Mr. Burns as a further argument in favor of the bill.

Food For the Dead.

Corn and bread are still offered by the pious Basques of the Pyrenees to the dear departed on their death anniversary. A traveler in Spain describes how at San Sebastian he has often seen some poor fisherman's daughter praying in a church for a dead relative "amid baskets full of fruit, loaves of bread and corn and kneeling upon the tomb of her ancestors."

Exact.

Bridegroom (who is receiving his bride's dowry)—Ten dollars is still wanting. Father-in-law—What? Oh, my daughter swallowed that $10 when she was a child.

Matrimonial Requirements.

"A man must know a great deal to be a good diplomat."

"Yes, and he also has to tell it."

Old But Sturdy.

London, July 5.—Lord Strathcona reported a prosperous year at yesterday's meeting of the Hudson Bay Company, and advised his hearers to hold their shares.

Provincial Loan of $3 000 000

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1906, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $3,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, dated 1st July, 1906, and payable

$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1926,
$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1936,

with coupons attached for interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st January and the 1st July in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto. Bonds will be of the denominations of $200, $500, and $1,000, and will be payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders may be exchanged for Ontario Government Stock bearing the same rate of interest.

The issue price during the month of July, 1906, will be par, and after the 31st July, 1906, the issue price will be par and accrued interest.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTIES AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of amounts up to $1,000 will be required to send certified cheque with the application. For amounts over $1,000 payment for subscription may be made in instalments 10 per cent. on application, 10 per cent 1st August, 10 per cent. 1st September, 10 per cent. 1st October, 10 per cent 1st November, and 50 per cent. 1st December, 1906, with privilege of paying at an earlier date, the interest on instalment subscriptions being adjusted on 1st January, 1907.

In the event of any subscriber for bonds payable by instalments failing to make payment of subsequent instalments, the bonds may be sold and any loss incurred will be charged to the purchaser in default.

Forms of subscription (when payable by instalments) may be obtained on application to the Treasury Department.

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario and is chargeable thereupon.

All cheques should be made payable to the order of "The Provincial Treasurer of Ontario," and subscribers should state the denominations and terms (20 or 30 years) of bonds desired.

A. J. MATHESON,
Provincial Treasurer.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

Quivering, she stood before him and courtesied low. Then she raised her hand and gave him the packet.

Everything clouded after that, and the ground was swaying. She saw him break the seal to unfold the paper and start as he bent his eyes upon it. Through the buzz of whispered curiosity she felt a familiar voice strike, speaking her name, and saw the sharp features and foxy hair of Mr. Jefferson. His hand was drawing her toward the entrance. She heard Dr. Franklin's voice, like a great clear organ note, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

Then, as they reached the doors, a clamor on the other side—the sound of metal striking against the wood.

The hinges swung outward. She had a momentary glimpse of Armand standing in the corridor, white, dishevelled, a broken sword in his hand—saw him starting back, and, as the doors closed heavily behind her, she felt herself sinking into blackness.

"Louis! Louis!" She thrust the faintness back with a wall. "I could not help it!"

His eyes were sharp spears through her heart, his voice like twisted agony.

He sprang at the great doors.

"Betrayed! Denounced to the congress! Oh, God, and by you! My honor—my love—my trust—all ended!"

Galloway entered from the porch with two soldiers in the Continental uniform. "In the name of the congress!" said Dickinson, pointing to Armand.

"Sauve-toi!" Pliarne's warning vibrated with anxiety. He stumbled awkwardly with the cry, pitching in front of the soldiers and as though to save himself the fall grasped each by an ankle.

Before they could recover from the surprise Armand, turning like a flash, had darted by them to the anteroom, gained the door and disappeared.

"Quick!" gasped Anne as the discomfited soldiers bolted after him. "He must not escape!"

"Are you not satisfied, mistress?" demanded Pliarne, turning on her bitterly.

She staggered through the torn curtain to the table at this and held out to him his lordship's pledge, with a hand shaking like a wave ripple.

He started uncontrollably as he read it and made a gesture of despair. "Le bon Dieu!" he cried, his eyes filling with tears. "Unfortunate that I am! I have helped him escape."

Then she dropped forward into Pliarne's arms.

"Clang!" The great bell in the dome above spoke suddenly. Dickinson, with an exclamation, went out hastily, the other delegates with him. The single remaining spectator approached the spot where Pliarne knelt chafing Anne's hands.

The Frenchman said no word, but he got upon his feet with such a look in his face that Joseph Galloway, his head bent down, went out slinkingly and with speed, like a whipped cur.

"Clang!"

The sound rang out again, and with its music mixed a vast roar of voices that penetrated from the streets. "Clang!" Another brazen throat took it up, and "They sign! They sign!" came in a shout that shook the building.

"Clash! Clang!"

All the steeples in Philadelphia were shouting to one another now. The great sundering was accomplished. That hour a nation was born out of the clamor of bells, out of the hearts of men.

But in the statehouse under the cupola, where the big bell that first pealed liberty cracked its throat for joy, Anne lay sobbing.

"Louis! Listen, Louis! Listen to the bells! It was yours—your message that I gave them! Independence! It is come at last, and you have gone to die because I betrayed you. But it was to save you, dear! Will you ever understand? Can you hear them, Louis? The bells! Come back! Come back to me only to hear them ring! Only to understand!"

General Lord Howe sat one evening a month later aboard the Duchess of Gordon, anchored below Staten Island, playing at draughts. His late surrender of Boston to General Washington had ruffled his equanimity. But now Clinton had joined him, haggard from the trouncing Moultrie had given him in South Carolina, and his lordship's brother, Admiral Lord Howe, had hove to in the harbor with a prodigious new army in a fleet of 120 sail. My lord, therefore, felt very comfortable again.

The general's opponent at the table, Lord Chetwynde, wore lace in his sleeves and smoked a foreign cigarette, from which he flicked the white ash dalntily with his little finger. As he sat, one felt his eyes, a kind of cold, keen, speculative humor in them. Another officer, Sir Evelyn Clarke, sat with legs wide apart near by. The glazed sconces were brilliantly lighted, and the room rocked pleasantly as the ship rose and fell to the wash.

An aid, pausing at the cabin door, saluted.

"Well?" asked Lord Howe. "Any one else for me?"

"No, sir; for Lord Chetwynde. He brings a personal communication to his lordship."

"Very well; bring him down; with your permission, of course, my lord." And his lordship turned to the game again.

"I would the admiral might haste with his olive branch," he yawned, studying the draughtboard through lazy eyelids. "'Tis most uncommon dull here. 'Hell, Hull and Halifax'—egad! I'd as lief be a prison governor at any one of them."

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

What Does It Mean?

Dr. Hamilton Gives a Full and Satisfactory Explanation.

Look at your tongue!

Sometimes it's heavily coated sometimes it's clear and red.

Study this out and you'll find some interference with the functional activity of the body.

This means the bowels are not regular, the liver is sluggish and the blood is contaminated.

Strong cathartic pills act so destructively on the intestines as to provoke deathly sickness, this often frightens people from taking medicine when they badly need it.

To the multitude of dangerous purgatives now on the market, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a notable exception, they neither gripe, cause sickly feeling or headache, yet they cleanse and purify the entire system in one night. No other laxative acts with such mildness and certainty. Giving proper stimulus to the liver and kidneys, strengthening the stomach and lending valuable aid to digestion, it's small wonder that such marvellous results accompany Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Mr. Geo. O'Hogarty of Amherst, N. S., writes, "Last winter I worked in a lumber camp and neglected my health I was dreadfully constipated and had a headache that fairly made me rest at times. I was sick and miserable, and hadn't the slightest ambition to work or stir around. I felt heavy and dull and had a bad taste in my mouth. I sent into the city for Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which I knew were good for my condition. They fixed me up very quickly and have kept me in good condition ever since. There are other men in the camp that use Dr. Hamilton's Pills also. They say they wouldn't be without the pills for ten times their price.

Every dealer in the land sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills—25c per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N C Polson, and Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S. A. and Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative brings lasting relief in Stomach, Kidney and Heart troubles through the inside nerves. No matter how the nerves became impaired this remedy will rebuild their strength, will restore their vigor. Remember it does no good to treat the ailing organ—the irregular heart, rebellious stomach, diseased kidneys. They are not to blame. Go back to the nerves that control them—treat the cause—use a remedy that cures through the inside nerves. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—Mr. Frank M. Hope, who has for the past few months held a responsible position at the American Cereal Company's works, leaves this morning for Port Arthur. He will probably go to Winnipeg to take a position offered him in that city.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bartlett, of Stratford, spent the holiday with Mrs. Shera, 621 Water street. Mr. Bartlett, who was on The Times staff for a long time, returned to Stratford yesterday. Mrs. Bartlett will be the guest of her mother for a few days.

Rain Holds Fire Hall Work Back.

Work is being rapidly pushed on the new fire hall building. The piers for the floor columns are already laid and the stone work at the east or front side of the foundation is now finished and ready for the joists, which will probably be placed today. The contractor has had great difficulty with the recent heavy rains. The east foundation has been washed out three times. This will probably be taken into consideration should the building not be completed within the time limit.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday's session of the police court was short and only included one case of jaglet. George Harris was charged with being drunk in a public place and pleaded guilty.

"Do you want to pay a fine or go to jail?" remarked the magistrate.

"I'll pay my fine," George replied.

George was assessed $2 for his little indiscretion and was given ten days in which to raise the necessary.

WIVES' LETTERS.

According to a Man, They Should Avoid All Mention of Love.

The wise wife will avoid all mention of love in letters to her husband. A man who is married to the woman he loves resents as a husband more than he did as a lover any crude and frank confession, and if there is one thing more than another that bores him it is the conventional monotony of his wife's letters or such parts of them as attempt to give expression to her feelings, and this not because men are brutal, not because they are less sentimental than women—for in truth they are more so—but for the very sound reason that men are more logical, more artistic and have a greater capacity for sensing the eternal fitness of things.

In other words, a man reasons that when he has once told a woman he loves her she will accept the statement as truth, and it offends his sense of self respect to be obliged to repeat himself. Particularly is it offensive to his sense of delicacy as well as to his most sacred feeling for her that he should be obliged to translate his passion into the feeble inadequacy of words and phrases. As a consequence a man very much in love will say or write almost anything rather than the words a woman most desires to hear—those three little words, "I love you."—"A Man Who Knows" in New York World.

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.

Father of Plaintiff Used to Sit Up Until 2 a. m. While Clerical Suitor Wooed His Daughter.

The Rev. Joseph Jennings Smyth, the incumbent of St. Donard's, Belfast occupied the unenviable position of defendant in a breach of promise action, which was partly heard by Lord Chief Baron Palles at Belfast recently.

The plaintiff was Miss May Robinson, who has not yet reached the age of twenty-one, and who lives with her parents at Dunmurry, a picturesque suburb of Belfast, on the Lagan. She estimates that it will take £1,000 to console her for the loss of the incumbent.

It is not often that the public has an opportunity of criticising the methods of love-making employed by the beneficed clergy, but Serjeant Dodd, K. C., who tore aside the veil on behalf of Miss Robinson, made it plain that their methods do not differ widely from those of other men.

The romance—"as pretty a little love-story as I have ever come across, either in actual fact or in a story book" was Serjeant Dodd's description of it—had its inception when the Rev. Joseph was a mere curate in the parish of Derriaghy, four miles from Miss Robinson's home.

He posed as her suitor, the serjeant said, and practically became the son of the family.

Proud of His Feet.

He was passionately fond of her, though at the time the passion was more on his side than hers. She was a little bit shy, and he more than a little ardent. He caressed her, and insisted on his right to kiss her, to put his arm round her, to pull her on his knees, as he eventually came to do in her mother's presence.

He used to take off his boots when he came to the house, and use Miss Robinson's. "Perhaps he was proud of his feet," suggested Serjeant Dodd, and the court gave itself up to uncontrollable laughter.

Miss Robinson's heart went out more and more to the curate, until at last he had her affections in their entirety.

Mr. Smyth went to Cork in 1903, and wrote a series of letters, which were unparalleled, said counsel, for they were absolutely free from demonstrations of affection and those effusions which sometimes amused the gallery. And this, in spite of the fact that Miss Robinson had written: "If my nice Mr Smyth were here, I would not have felt the cold," and always signed her letters with "love."

Papa's Philosophy.

The clerical lover became cool at time. On one of these occasions, Miss Robinson became ill. Mrs. Robinson was annoyed, but Mr. Robinson took the matter philosophically, and said: "If they fall out, they can fall in again."

After he obtained a living Mr Smyth went to the house and explained that although he loved Miss Robinson he could not marry her, as the clergy told him her position was not good enough.

Then he put her arms round his neck and took her on his knee. "I thought my daughter was sitting on the knee of an honorable gentleman," was Mrs. Robinson's indignant remark.

Sounds Like Burfus.

Many of the little rifts within the lute appeared when Miss Robinson was sitting on the parson's knee.

Once she was in that position and toying with his ring. She took it off, with the gentle words, "I will keep it now, Joe, till you get me my engagement ring." He had to go away without his ring, and he did not regain it until he had written a very cross letter.

It was followed by one dated Jan. 6, 1906, in which were the ominous words: "There never was any engagement between us."

Why, asked Serjeant Dodd, was he there at all, kissing the girl, accepting the father's hospitality, and keeping him up until two in the morning if there was no engagement?

He had said that in his professional position he was on friendly terms with the family. Was it part of his professional duty to kiss the youngest girl and take her on his knee? Was that the way he interpreted his mission on the earth to preach the gospel?

After evidence had been heard the case was adjourned.

The Best Guaranty of Merit Is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world famed medicines leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken-down, nervous women contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, habit forming drug, as will be seen from a glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them—people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines. Every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines has the strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like purposes has any such professional endorsement.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

VOL XXXIV, NO. 161 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS

Bell Telephone Co. Officials Here

Prominent Officers Come to City to Locate Badly Needed Lines for the Company.

Mr. W. H. Winter, general superintendent of construction of the Bell Telephone Company, with head offices at Montreal, accompanied by Mr. T. H. Wadland, superintendent of construction of the Ontario Department of the Bell Company, were in the city yesterday to look into the matter of overhead wiring and additional cables necessarily resulting from the recent action of the council in not accepting the very reasonable terms offered by that company to place their wires underground.

It will be remembered that recently The Times published an article calling attention to the very extraordinary action of our city fathers in refusing to do what other towns and cities are only too anxious to pay for, viz, getting our streets clear of the dangerous and unsightly forest of poles that would at present hamper the firemen in case of trouble.

It is well known to our readers that a few weeks ago, the Bell Company, had a gang of men, with their tools and appliances in this city ready to go ahead with removing the poles and wires from George street, and to place their wires underground.

The council, greatly against the policy advocated by The Times, whilst not absolutely refusing to grant the company permission to do this work so badly wanted in the city's own interests, stood the company off, pursuing a policy of delay, by presenting conditions that the company could or would not accept.

In view of the rapidly growing business of the local Bell Telephone Co., and owing to their fast increasing number of subscribers, the company, to supply their customers' requirements, have to string more wires. To accommodate these new subscribers there are simply two ways open, either to place more cables and wires overhead, thus endangering the buildings of our principal streets, in case of fire, or to placing their cables under ground, and thus relieve that already too prevalent use of poles through the streets.

As was pointed out, in our former article, the company, by their charter has every right to proceed with the underground work as proposed by them, but the company does not make a practice of carrying through all their charter grants them. They prefer to try and make amicable arrangements with the officials of such places as they do business in.

Now the two gentlemen above mentioned, Messrs. Winter and Wadland, came to make arrangements whereby the new subscribers to the Bell Co. can be served. This will involve at least, 500 more wires strung along George street, our main thoroughfare should the council still persist in obstructing the welcome underground work as proposed by the company to be done at their (the company's) expense.

Whilst The Times is always anxious to back up our council in their endeavor to promote the interests of this city, we cannot but think, in this matter, they have made a sad mistake.

The Bell Co. must, of necessity, run wires to all their new subscribers. Now would it not be better to have not only these new, but more particularly the old subscribers wires underground than to have an obnoxious and positively dangerous complicity of poles and wires filling our streets and making George street a death trap in case of a fire that might occur any time.

It is perhaps not too late for the council to wake up and ask the Bell Co. to go ahead with their underground wiring at their own expense. Other towns are only too glad to grant concessions to get what Peterborough can get for nothing.

Growing Trade of Big Railway

C. P. R. For Year Shows Earnings of $61,612,410.

Montreal, July 5.—At the close of the Stock Exchange this afternoon, the Canadian Pacific gave out its earnings for the last week of June, its final week of the fiscal year.

The gain was $306,000, and thus the greatest year in the road's history was brought to a close.

The earnings for the year amounted to $61,612,410.

The gross earnings of the year previous were $50,451,883.

The road showed a steady string of weekly gains throughout the year and in five months out of the twelve the increases were bigger than those shown by any railroad in America.

The way the stock has held in view of the slump in New York indicates that the earnings have created a very strong impression upon the speculative mind in Wall Street and Europe.

IMPLICATED IN MURDER

Former Judge and Sheriff Are Now Mixed up in Sensational Shooting Affray.

Beattyville, Ky., July 4.—A sensation was caused here yesterday at the trial of former Judge Hargis and former Sheriff Callahan, of Breathitt county, charged with the murder of James Marcum. Asbury Spicer, it was announced, had made a confession implicating the two chief defendants. Spicer stated that he was offered $500 to kill Marcum. The offer, he said, was made a few days before Marcum was killed. Spicer said he had refused to kill Marcum, and that he had also refused previously to kill "Jim" Cockrill.

POOR ESCHEW SAUSAGE

East Enders of London Refuse to Buy Prepared Meats.

London, July 5.—The iniquities charged against the American meat packers have led to an indiscriminate revulsion against all canned and preserved meats. One London maker says his trade has declined 75 per cent. in ten days. Others say that if the boycott continues they will be ruined.

East Enders, who correspond to the East Siders of New York, usually are large consumers of cheap preserved meats, such as brown sausage. It is estimated that 150 tons of so-called "German sausage" ordinarily is sold in the East End, but the makers will regard themselves as fortunate if the present week's sales amount to twenty-five tons.

One maker says his output has declined since the scandal became public from a normal five tons weekly to sixteen hundred weight. He has been compelled to discharge several workmen.

Local Man in Large Plantation

Mr. H. G. Boswell Engineer in Honolulu, T. H.

Mr. Walter F. Boswell, 575 Aylmer street, has received a copy of the Industrial Edition of the Evening Bulletin, of Honolulu, T.H., issued May 1906. On page two of the Bulletin is a description of the Ewa Sugar Plantation Company, of Oahu, and of which Mr. H. G. Boswell, is chief engineer in the mill. The Ewa Plantation was formed in 1890 and has a total acreage of 8,083.25 of which 7,500 are suitable for growing sugar cane.

It is all irrgated land and the irrigation plant is an immense one. During 24 hours 60,750,000 gallons of water are used from artesian wells. This investment alone represents $800,000. There are seven pumping stations and eleven engines aggregating 22,100 horse power and three and threesenth miles of pipe are used in pipe lines for carrying the water.

C. O. F. Excursion to Sturgeon.

St. Peter's Court, C.O.F., will hold their annual excursion on civic holiday, August 13th. Sturgeon Point has been decided upon, and the committee is preparing to make the affair one of the most successful ever held. The Foresters will be joined in their excursion by Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, who are also assisting in the arrangements.

Big Excursion From Lindsay.

Over five hundred Lindsay people arrived in the city yesterday morning on a special train from Lindsay. The excursion was under the auspices of the Sunday schools of Queen street and Cambridge street Methodist churches, and was a great success. The train stopped at Jackson Park and many of the excursionists got off there. Many of the visitors went over to view the lift lock. All present enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

James Lyle, who was remanded last week, appeared again in the prisoner's dock at police court yesterday morning. He was allowed to go on his word that he would quit fighting the booze.

A young man was fined $4.60 for being drunk and disorderly.

Our readers will remember that a young man, some time ago released from a public institution on account of ill-health was charged with stealing a horse and rig from the Montreal House on Saturday evening, whilst "under the influence." His case was enlarged until 3 p.m. Saturday.

One case that caused some interest yesterday was that of J. Rice charged with having taken money from a man named McGee, in Victoria Park on June 15th.

McGee said he came to the city from the lumber camps with about $80 in his jeans.

On Saturday he got drunk, good drunk, so drunk in fact, his only clear recollection of that red letter day in his career was waking up in the afternoon, in Victoria Park, and finding that his $80, together with his watch and part of his chain, had secured a divorce from him, and no alimony paid either. He had an indistinct recollection that Rice and he had been together.

Before telling his tale of woe further concerning Saturday's "touch," he noted that he and a $10 bill had parted company in a local hotel, but that this $10 had been given back to him the same night.

To resume, when waking up and discovering that his watch and wealth had wandered, McGee learned that Rice was in a certain hotel at the time and went after the missing property.

He found Rice in the aforesaid dispensary of wet goods, when Rice handed him back $23 and his watch. The main part of his evidence, however proved that the witness had more jag than judgment aboard that Saturday.

Several other witnesses gave evidence practically confirming what McGee had told.

Mr. Chuan testified to having met Rice on George street Saturday evening, at about 8.30. Rice told him he had drawn $200 from the bank and was going off to enjoy himself at Havelock. Chuan told Rice the train for Havelock had gone. Rice pulling out a handfull of bills, in which the red-backed Bank of Ontario $5 bills were plentiful, displayed the wealth as a guarantee of the time he was intending to have.

This was several hours after Rice handed back the watch and $23 to McGee.

The magistrate thought this evidence was enough, and committed Rice for trial.

Millbrook Men Meet Visitors

Prominent Residents of Our Southern Suburb Welcome Their Guests.

Yesterday morning a party of Millbrook gentlemen arrived in the city and took charge of the tourist lacrosse boys who arrived Wednesday night from Montreal.

Millbrook is entertaining the boys and giving them a right royal time. A deputation was sent here to meet them and to give them a trip over the lift lock. They returned in time to take the 11.45 train for Millbrook. The Millbrook people in the city were—Reeve W. S. Given, Councillors J. C. Kells, R. J. Doak, Messrs. T. T. Kells, John Degell, H. M. Wood and Alex. Allen.

At Millbrook the boys were met at the station by a large crowd of citizens who gave them a hearty welcome.

More Trouble at The Lift Lock

Much disappointment was caused yesterday, when it was discovered that something had gone wrong with the lift lock. One of the gates would not work properly, and it was found necessary to stop navigation again, close the gates at Norwood and bridge and let the water out of the canal above the lock. To make the necessary repairs was impossible so as not to interfere with navigation and during the afternoon the upper part of the canal was drained out. As soon as the water disappears the mechanics will get to work to find out the trouble and then make the necessary repairs.

At the present time it is not known how long navigation will be closed. It depends entirely upon the amount of repairs needed and the length of time it takes to make them.

Mr. McClellan the superintendent of the canal, was yesterday one of the busiest men in the city, and had a horse and rig constantly in use driving to the scene of the trouble.

Member Assaulted by the Russian Police

Incident Was Followed in Lower House Yesterday by Scene of Unexampled Fury---Ministry Promise An Investigation.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—There was a stormy scene at the opening of the Lower House of Parliament yesterday, which further emphasized the split between the Constitutional Democrats and their Radical allies and the group of toil.

M. Sedelnikoff, a Radical Cossack member of the House, was beaten while in the hands of the police last night, after having been arrested for exhorting a crowd of people to resist the police, who were breaking up one of the mass meetings which are becoming more frequent. He was released later in the evening.

When the House opened, M. Sedelnikoff gave his version of the affair, and proposed that the House interpellate the Minister of the Interior, asking him what measures had been taken to punish the policemen who were guilty of assaulting a member of Parliament, and to prevent a recurrence of such incidents in the future.

M. Alladine, the fiery Dunton of the House, then made a wild harangue denunciation of the Government for permitting such violations of the persons of the members. The statement of M. Alladin became so violent that President Muromtzeff repeatedly called him to order, and the speaker finally was forced, amid a wild tumult, to leave the tribune.

Interior Minister Stolypin gave the House his personal assurance that ample measures will be taken to assure the inviolability of members, and if the police were guilty in this case they would be punished.

OUR GROWING TRADE

The Times Has Just Booked a Order From Newfoundland.

Yesterday The Times received an order for printing from "Nippers" Harbor, Newfoundland. This is only one of many orders from afar that finds its way to this office. The fame and excellence of the product of our jobbing department and bindery has spread from one end of the continent to the other. We have recently filled several orders for blank books with special rulings, from the western provinces, and also from points east as far as Newfoundland. A few weeks ago we executed an order from a Toronto institution for $1,200 worth of blank books, which, we are safe in saying, are among the best lot of books ever turned out of any book manufacturing establishment on the continent.

To Stupid to Have Trusts

New York, July 6.—Lord Northcliffe, better known as Sir Alfred Harmsworth, the publisher, arrived yesterday on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse to visit to 600,000 acres of forest land in Newfoundland which the Harmsworth corporation has secured from the colonial government for the manufacture of paper pulp for its publications.

Lord Northcliffe goes to Newport on Saturday, and thence to Newfoundland, and from there to be the guest of Lord Strathcona at Tobique River, where is the finest salmon fishing in the world. He will return to England in two months.

Of the American insurance scandals, Lord Northcliffe said: "A great deal of harm has been done by the preliminary swindling, but much more harm has been done by the very clumsy attempts at whitewashing; but I do not believe American companies remaining in England, unless they put up a surplus sufficient to meett heir claims, will be able to do business."

Speaking of his leased timbered lands he said they grow the best kind of spruce for paper pulp, and that was what he wanted. The manufacture of the pulp is soon to begin, and it will probably be transported to England in chartered vessels.

"Do you have a paper trust in England?" he was asked.

"We don't have any trusts at all," said he. "No trusts. John Bull is so stupid that we won't have any trusts."

He Could Not Stop Drinking

Detroit, July 6.—Edward F. Gough, a resident of Toronto, attempted to commit suicide by drowning himself in the Detroit River. He was rescued by Robert Giridine, a watchman, and when taken to a hotel he was so overpowered with joy at his rescue that he wept.

Despondency over the fear that he could not stop drinking was the cause of Gough's rash act. He went to the river, laid his hat and coat on the bank near the ferry slip, and plunged into the water.

Giradine pulled him out of the water with a pike pole, catching the hook in Gough's clothing.

In the pocket of his coat was found the following note addressed to Mrs. Esther Gough, at the Brandon House, Toronto: "Drink has me in its clutches mother, I can't resist it. It is better for me to die. My insurance will take care of you. Good-bye."

Gough was employed as a traveling salesman by the American Novelty Company, of Chicago.

UNREST AMONG TROOPS.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—The gravest news regarding the rebellious spirit among the troops in the Caucasus continues to arrive here.

Owen Sound Local Option Is Quashed

His Lordship Holds That There Were Irregularities Sufficient to Stamp the Owen Sound Bylaw as Illegal.

Toronto, July 6.—Mr. Justice Mabee has given judgment quashing the vote cast in Owen Sound on the local option bylaw, and which resulted in a majority in favor of local option.

The costs of the action are to be paid by the corporation of Owen Sound, to Mr. W. H. Sinclair, the gentleman who made the application. Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., representing Mr. Sinclair, charged that lobbying and irregularities of various kinds had been used to influence the vote.

"It is only for the best of reasons that the court interferes in a case of this kind," he says, "The applicant complained of many irregularities," he continues, "and certainly many existed."

The vote stood at 1,238 for and 762 against. Mr. Justice Mabee quoted the Act to show that the ratepayers should have been allowed to vote in each ward in which they were qualified. The town clerk had claimed that the wards were abolished by a bylaw in 1898. According to his Lordship, however, the bylaw did not have this effect.

The proclamation issued by the town clerk stated that the voters must poll in the sub-divisions in they resided, and called attention to the statutory penalty for voting more than once.

"The clerk," the judgment continues, "had no authority to give this kind of notice. He was a friend of the bylaw."

As a result of this notice, it was claimed, 257 ratepayers who should have had 573 votes, because they held property in other wards, did not cast them. The judge holds that there is nothing to show that this was not the case.

The judge also states that very many omissions and irregularities appeared in connection with the vote, leading to the irresistible conclusion that officials were selected without regard to fitness. The judge found that 316 votes against the measure were thrown out which should have been counted, and that one hundred illegal votes were recorded.

Millionaire Must Serve Half Time.

Paris, July 5.—Elliott F. Sheppard, of New York, grandson of the late W. H. Vanderbilt, will have to serve at least six weeks of the three months' term, as well as pay fines of $150 and $4,000 for running down a little girl with his automobile at St. Ouen, in April, 1905. The Ministry of Justice refused to recommend a remission of the penalty, but will advise President Fallieres to reduce the term to six weeks.

Local Lady Gains Artistic Fame

The many friends in this city of Miss Wallis will be glad to learn of her most recent success in sculpture. A statuette "Dachshund," sent to the Royal Academy was sold immediately and a prominent house in Bond St. will endeavor to bring it before the notice of her Majesty, Queen Alexandra. Miss Wallis, has been in Paris for a number of years, but her friends in this city will extend congratulations over her great success.

A Splendid Lunge Caught

Mr. E. Elcome has received a 40 1-2 pound maskinonge from Mr. W. P. Corbett, a New York gentleman, who is spending his vacation at Cornwall, Ont. Mr. Corbett caught this splendid fish in the St. Lawrence river near, that town, with an eight ounce steel rod.

The lunge is 53 inches in length and 20 inches in the girth. Mr. Elcome says that this is the largest specimen of the maskinonge he has seen. The color of the fish is not as dark as those in Kawartha lakes, but is beautifully sported.

The lunge will be at Mr. Elcome's residence, Harvey street, for the next few weeks.

Complaints About Y.W.C.A. Suppressed

The Times yesterday was in receipt of a letter signed "Themis" and also countersigned by the writer's name which we do not publish. This communication cast some very unflattering comments upon certain matters connected with the local Y.W.C.A. management. Before publishing such a letter The Times naturally called up some of the Y.W.C.A. officials, and, from their replies, we are assured that the complaints made by "Themis," are either frivolous or unfounded. The Y.W.C.A. is an institution that is doing good work and we consider that complaints as made by Themis, require good and strong corroborration before rushing such into print.

Secret Is Out

Formula of Mi-o-na Made Public--A Cure for Stomach Troubles.

Our leading druggists are very anxious to have Mi-o-na, a remedy which they sell as a cure for stomach troubles, tested rigidly in every case of heart-burn, acute dyspepsia, wind on the stomach, loss of appetite, annoying dreams, sleeplessness, general weakness and debility, or where the digestive organs do not act as they should.

Mi-o-na is composed of bismuth subgallate, by all odds the very best medicine known for intestinal diseases. It combines with the free sulphur compounds in the bowels forming a black substance which is passed off from the body without harm. It also has a soothing effect upon the nerve endings in the stomach.

With this is combined cerium oxalate, a standard remedy in the treatment of all irritations of the stomach and digestive organs.

Sodium bicarbonate is then added to overcome the excessive acidity usually present in stomach troubles, and nux vomica for its general tonic and nerve-strengthening powers.

This combination of reliable remedies makes Mi-o-na a positive cure for all stomach troubles, and, perhaps the only one that can be sold under a guarantee that it costs nothing unless it cures.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets is sold for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist, which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth, Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

COBALT

—THE—
WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Terror of Spring is Sickness

What Are You Doing to Protect Your Weak Body Against Spring Fevers?

A delay gives the germs and weakness a better chance to take hold.

Don't wait, think of your small resisting powers, and begin building up today!

For weakness, overwork and debility the doctors prescribe Ferrozone; let it help you now.

Vitality and power are instilled into the blood; this means new strength for all weak organs.

The fire of youth will dance in your veins, and new found energy will increase your desire to work.

Ferrozone supplies the nourishment and tissue-building material your system lacks. Isn't this "a reason why."

From Combermere, Ont., Mrs. Jno. Oram writes as follows: "For a number of years I was sickly in the springtime. I felt tired, nervous and had headaches. My blood was weak and damp days brought on rheumatism. My nervous system was unstrung, and I felt utterly worn out. Ferrozone revived me in a short time. In two days my appetite increased and I could feel a building up process going on. This great tonic made a new person of me, and I don't think a more strengthening medicine for the spring can be found."

Wouldn't it be just fine to get back your old time spirits and vigor? Easily done with "Ferrozone;" commence today. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

KEEP THE CLOCK FAST.

A Suggestion That May Prove of Value in the Home.

In one of the best known hotels in this country there is a clock in almost every room in the great building. Each one of these timepieces is run by electricity, which keeps them at precisely the same hour, minute and second of the clock in the main corridor. Not one of them, however, if compared with accurate railroad time, but shows its hands pointing just five minutes ahead of the exact hour.

It is a trick which has been tried in this hotel for a number of years for the benefit of patrons as well as for the many hundred employees, and it has worked with admirable results. The missing of trains and tardiness of service alike are unknown in this well ordered hostelry, and a simple subterfuge has developed into a most practical working system.

This little trick somehow seems to have a practical value in the home as well as in the public hotel, and it can be applied equally as well in the matter of morals, money and manners as in the matter of time.

How would it be, for instance, if the clocks all through the home were kept five minutes fast, not the actual time pieces, but the machinery which keeps family life running? Suppose the breakfast every morning was ready five minutes before instead of five minutes after the working members of the household sat down at the table. It is more likely than not that father and brothers and sisters would leave the house in plenty of time to reach their offices ahead of the appointed hour.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Thin sirup may be made thicker by boiling it down.

By long beating cake will be fine grained, although light and delicate with a small amount of beating.

Peanuts mashed into powder in a mortar, seasoned with salt and moistened with cream make a good sandwich filling.

It is said that if a clean cheesecloth is spread over the mixing board and well floured cookies may be rolled in a much softer dough than otherwise.

When frying croquettes the wire basket should always be plunged into the hot fat before the croquettes are put into it; otherwise they are apt to stick to the wire, which will make them fall apart when being taken out.

Mustard and horseradish mixed makes an excellent relish for cold meats. Mix yellow mustard and add to it an equal quantity of grated horseradish which has been boiled ten minutes in water. Thin the mixture with a little of this water.

Selecting a Hat.

A certain society woman who is noted for her original ideas on all topics was on a shopping tour with a friend one afternoon. At length she began to feel quite tired and after a glance in a mirror said to her companion, "I'm perfectly worn out, and I look a fright, so I'm going to get a hat." "Why don't you wait until you feel better?" asked the other. "No; I always try on hats when I look the worst, and then I can tell without doubt whether the hat will suit me or not. If it looks halfway decent on me with my hair stringing in my eyes and when I'm wearing a worried look I am sure it will look fine when I am fresh and have a new wave on my hair. I always want to know the worst about a hat. I can imagine the best."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Less room for your cursed experiments, I suppose, Charles. You were always fond of them at Halifax," commented the single spectator in an Irish brogue. "Why, my, lord, I remember just before he sailed (may you never run another jail, Charles) he let a rascal out on a secret service and took his promise in writing to come back to him in a month to the noose. I hope you'll invite me to meet him when he returns. Eh? What! May I bet the devil my head, but there he is now!"

The pair at the table looked at the face of the man who had entered and

"My obligation is at an end!"

at his dress of purple velvet frayed with travel, and Lord Chetwynde started to sudden incisiveness.

"Louis Armand!"

The newcomer bowed and stood silent, waiting.

"You return in accordance with our contract, I presume?"

"Yes, your lordship."

"You are a day late."

"I was not aware of your lordship's transference."

"Burn me, but he's been to Halifax!" exclaimed Lord Chetwynde under his breath.

He sat a moment nursing his chin. Then he seized a paper, wrote a line and added his signature. "I am already informed of your attempt," he said, "and of your failure. Egad, these petticoat patriots are everywhere! However, that was not your fault. I regard only the honesty of your purpose. Here is your release from the penalty. Consider yourself at liberty."

Armand read the paper and then handed it back. "I cannot accept it, your lordship," he said.

"Why not?" demanded Lord Howe in astonishment.

"I did not intend to deliver the message given in to the congress. Had I been admitted I should have delivered a very different one."

"May I bet the devil my head!" ejaculated Sir Evelyn.

Lord Chetwynde flung away his cigarette, his keen eyes on Armand's, and tore up the paper slowly. "That alters the case," he said. "My lord, I suppose I shall have to trouble you to hang this honest renegade for me."

"Too pleased!" said Howe. "The first thing in the morning, Charles. Take him on deck and come and finish the game."

"My obligation is at an end?" asked Armand.

"Of course, of course," acquiesced his lordship. "Excuse me, my lord; I'll be back presently. Precede me, if you please."

He opened the door, and his prisoner passed before him to the star lighted deck. The next instant Armand had leaped to the bulwarks and thrown himself into the sea.

There was strident confusion, a running forward of marines and a turning of lanterns on to the water. "Better lower a boat," advised Lord Chetwynde.

"No time for that." Sir Evelyn's voice was at his elbow. "A hundred yards and you'll never find him. Guard, send your surest marksman here to pick him off."

"There he is!" bawled a voice as the sharpshooter came forward. "I see his head."

"I think," said Lord Chetwynde, "laying a hand on the weapon, "that I'll have a shot myself." Taking it from the man's hand, he laid the long barrel on the rail and drew a slow and careful sight.

"Better be quick, sir," counseled the guard anxiously. "He's a strong swimmer. He'll be out of range presently."

"Sir Evelyn," spoke his lordship testily, "a little farther from my elbow, please. There, I've lost sight of him! Eh? Where? Oh, yes." He sighted again with deliberation and fired.

"Missed, by Harry!" he cried in a tone of chagrin.

The stars rocked dimly in the tide. "Too bad, sir!" said the captain of the marines. "No use to lower a boat now. 'Tis too dark to find a whale. He'll be ashore in twenty minutes."

"Another of your blasted experiments, Charles," said Sir Evelyn.

CHAPTER XVII.

IT was a gloomy Virginia to which Anne returned that anxious fall a Virginia whose heart beat with the north, where Howe was weaving his famous cord to encircle the throat of the monster rebellion. Pastoral life had ended abruptly; the golden age had become one of iron. "And all the women that were wise hearted did spin with their hands."

Gladden Hall suffered with the rest. Colonel Tillotson was much away on affairs of the committee of safety or at Williamsburg conferring with his excellency Governor Henry, and the looms which wove at all turned out cloth for Continental uniforms. Across the plant rows, where the negroes hoed, Groom, the overseer, with cowhide under his arm and his old Fontenoy bell-mouth tower musket strapped on his back, still walked his horse, with ferret eyes under his broad brimmed hat. But there was little leaf raised, and the wharfs at the foot of the lawn were overgrown with weeds.

Inside the great house there were the same candle lighted dining room, the high backed chairs, the tall, cumbrous clock, the portraits, the polished sideboard reflecting the slender stemmed glasses. But the meals were silent.

Anne's trouble hung over the household in a shadow that was not lightened by the presence of vaster ones near at hand. She had sorrowed with that festering sorrow that is self accusatory.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Improve Your Complexion

Give Up Cosmetics and Seek the Cause of Your Bad Color.

When it's so easy to bring back the bloom of youth, to remove the blemishes and fill the hollows, isn't it foolish to plaster on cosmetics?

Sallowed skin and fallen in cheeks are produced by disorders of the alimentary canal.

Remove the cause—correct the condition that keeps you from looking as you ought. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and very soon you'll have a complexion to be proud of.

Just imagine how much happier you will feel when those pimples and murky look have gone.

Dainty Ioka came to Miss Vrooman, a well-known resident of Belfast, from using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Read what she says:

"My friends all admit that I have a very delightful complexion. This I owe positively to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I used to look so yellow I thought it might be jaundice. There was simply no color in my cheeks at all. Today my skin is clear and never gets that murky, dull appearance it had before. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have also given me a good appetite and improved my general health also."

Not only the complexion, but every organ of the body is strengthened, cleansed and made healthy by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Buoyancy, vim and a feeling of vigor invariably follow their use. Sold in yellow boxes by all dealers; 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Bad Sidewalk in East Ward.

Residents of the east ward complain bitterly of the state of James street sidewalk from Burnham street east. Yesterday two well known citizens called at The Times office, and said that the sidewalk on the north side of James street is in a disgraceful state of disrepair. They added that it is positively dangerous to walk along this street after dark, as the boards are more in absence than in evidence, and that some one will assuredly break a limb there before long, and thus cost the city dear for a law suit.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Mr. Londry a Victim By Fire

The Brigade Turned Out Last Night in Quick Time.

Yesterday evening about 7:30 or just as the unmarried men of the fire brigade were about to start out and take their best girls to Jackson Park or elsewhere, the fire addies were unceremoniously called from such delights by the clanging of the fire alarm bell.

The brigade was as usual promptly on hand, in fact the hose wagon was out of the fire hall and on its way before the alarm was sounded.

Volumes of smoke arising to the west showed them where to go, viz., to the house on Bethune street, just south of Brock street, recently reshingled and fixed over by its owner Mr. Londry.

On arrival, it was ascertained that the fire had started in, and was rapidly destroying the summer kitchen, and sheds. The brigade in short order had the hose connected up and playing on the flames, which were soon placed hors de combat.

It was generally said that Mr. Londry had the place insured for enough to cover the damages. The house proper was not burnt, but some damage was caused by smoke.

Mr. I. Lane of Apsley in Town.

We had the pleasure of a call on Wednesday from Mr. Isaac Lane, of Apsley, one of the back country's most progressive and prosperous farmers. Mr. Lane said that the outlook for his district is brighter this han for several years past. The crops in that part of the country given splendid prospects.

School Sheds Coming Down.

Yesterday the work of tearing down the old play sheds at the central school commenced. The contract for tearing down the buildings, removing the debris, etc., has been awarded by the Board of Education to Mr. Jos. Grey, who commenced work yesterday morning.

These sheds have stood for forty-six years.

Croft's Early Risers.

A well known citizen called on The Times yesterday and stated that he had been shown a sample potato, grown by Mr. Croft, our popular ginger beer manufacturer, which, to use the vernacular of the day, is a "corker." He called the sample "Croft's Early Risers." Our informant says that this potato will probably go 110 pounds to the bag.

Local Man Has Good Mine.

Mr. Geo. Ritchie, a local man, who as noted in a recent issue of The Times, lately discovered a valuable mine near Blue River, yesterday received an official assay, from the provincial assay office at Belleville, Ont., of the ore from his mine. This report says that Mr. Ritchie's mine show. 63 per cent. of copper, which is a grand showing. Mr. Ritchie is stopping in the city for a few days to purchase some heavy draught horses for use in the mine.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Cook's Bereavement

Wm. Edward Cook, the three years and eight months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook, 480 Driscoll Terrace, died yesterday morning after several weeks' illness. The deceased was a bright child, and a great favorite with his playmates. Mr. and Mrs. Cook lost another son about two years ago. They will have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Council in Com. of Whole Tonight.

A meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council will be held tonight for the purpose of meeting the committee on reception from the I.O.O.F. It will be remembered that the Oddfellows requested the city to assist in entertaining the delegates to the Grand Lodge meeting, to be held here on August 7th, 8th and 9th. A committee from the Board of Health will also be present as the chairman has several matters to bring before the council. Among other things are the old isolation hospital question, sewer connection to the terraces, and a few other things.

Local Lumberman in a Swamp.

On Wednesday night a well known "Lumber Jack," or to be accurate "Lumber Tom," hired a horse and took a lady friend out driving. They discovered before returning home the recent heavy rains have made some of the nearby swamps dangerous spots for courtship locations on dark nights. As the couple were driving through a dense swamp a few miles from town and as the combined weight of the couple, the lady being more of the Juno than the Diana build, the buggy wheels and horse began to sink in the black mire. What to do "Lumber Tom" did not know. Thoughts of dangerous quick sand flashed through their minds, but to be drowned in a swamp did not appeal to Tom's romantic idea. Fortunately a couple of farmers came along and helped them out of the swamp.

They Stand Alone.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone, and as a conspicuous example of open, frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, are Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, over-worked, debilitated, nervous, "run-down," pain-racked women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous remedy for weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, all catarrhal affections whether of the stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, nasal passages, throat, bronchia, or other mucous passages, also as an effective remedy for all diseases arising from thin, watery or impure blood, as scrofulous and skin affections.

Each bottle of the above medicine bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it—printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves, and is the best guaranty of their merits. They cannot be classed as patent nor secret medicines for they are neither —being of known composition.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. Therefore, the afflicted do not have to rely alone upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation as to the curative value of his medicines for certain easily recognized diseases.

A glance at the printed formula on each bottle will show that no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines, they being wholly compounded of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American forest plants. These are best and safest for the cure of most lingering, chronic diseases. Dr. R. V. Pierce can be consulted FREE, by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y., and all communications are regarded as sacredly confidential.

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.

Council Will Assist In Entertaining

Delegates to Grand Lodge of Oddfellows, With a Spending Limit of $250 in the Hands of the City's Reception Committee.

The city fathers met in Committee of the Whole last night, when there were present His Worship Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Hicks, McWilliams, Duncan, Graham, Elliott, McIntyre, Wilson, Adams, Johnston, Ball.

Messrs. Col. Miller, F. A. Clarke, H. Morgan, W. Madill, J. Emmerson, B. Lastar, Wm. Cowie, J. McFadden, W. Savage and J. Smith, were a deputation from the Oddfellows to urge upon the Council their acquiescence in the request of the local lodges for financial aid in receiving in an appropriate manner the delegates to the Grand Lodge convention to be held here on August 7th, 8th and 9th next. Seven hundred representative men, with their friends, will be present on these dates, when the whole Province of Ontario will be represented in this city. When the Grand Lodge met here eighteen years ago, Col. Miller explained, the town made a grant of $500 to assist in entertaining the visitors. Almost every place where the Grand Lodge meets, the colonel explained, the municipality assisted financially in putting up an acceptable reception for the delegates of the three links. The mayor of Brockville had stated that last year, when grand lodge met in Brockville, the delegates left quite $10,000 in that city. Steamers will be engaged to convey the visitors over the lift lock, the lion of Peterborough.

Mr. Cowie explained that all monies will be spent in showing the visitors what the city is and pointing out to what proportions it is liable to grow, thus advertising Peterborough in the best possible manner.

Mr. F. A. Clarke also pointed out that the visitors will undoubtedly leave a large amount of money with our merchants, and indirectly thoroughly advertise the city throughout the whole Province.

The Reception Committee, assisted by the whole council, will later decide upon what shape their share in entertaining the visitors will take. The chartering of a steamer to take the delegates over the lift lock was mentioned incidentally.

City Clerk Armstrong looked up the town's minutes of '87 when the grand lodge last met in Peterborough and found that Councillor Kelly moved, seconded by Councillor Stinson,—That the Oddfellows receive a grant

Councillor Menzies moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor W. H. Moore,—That the grant be $200.

The amendment was carried.

This was during the time of Mayor Stevenson.

After considerable discussion on this matter the Council decided that they would prefer to assist in entertaining the visitors through their own committee, rather than making a straight money grant to the local reception committee of Oddfellows. By this course of action the delegates would thoroughly understand that they were being entertained in some particular way by the city itself.

Ald. Ball remarked that after the grant to the bowlers, the mayor could count him against any future grant to any organization of any kind whatsoever.

Ald. Mason suggested that the Finance Committee be empowered to entertain the visitors, not to spend more than $200.

Ald. Graham said that if the city took any $200 with which to remove the loose stones from off the streets, thus giving cyclists a chance to wheel, the money would be better applied.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre,—That the city's Finance Committee be authorized to spend a sum not to exceed $250 to assist in entertaining the delegates to the Grand Lodge of Oddfellows to convene here in August next.—Carried.

Ald. Ball and Hicks opposed the motion, Ald. Ball on principle, and Ald. Hicks on the ground that he considered $150 ample for the purpose.

The reception committee is composed of the Finance Committee.

AS YOU LIKE IT.

Ald. Ball moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That the city clerk be authorized to reply to all future applications from any society or organization looking for grants that are illegal, that such grants are illegal, and cannot be brought before the Council.

This motion was done on the following vote:

Yeas—Ald. Graham, Ball, Duncan.
Nays—Ald. Johnston, Wilson, McIntyre, McWilliams and Hicks.

Ald. Adams and Elliott did not vote either way. Ald. Mason had left the meeting.

It might be pointed out here that the Council have voted no straight money grant to either the Bowlers or the Oddfellows. But they have empowered the city's reception committee to assist in entertaining these visitors up to a certain money limit in the hands of that committee.

INSPECTOR'S OFFICE.

The application from the license commissioners for an office for the new license inspector, was considered by the council to be a question in which they should not be considered to interest themselves.

TO REPAIR DRAINS.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—That the chairman of the Board of Works be empowered to have the drain on Bethune street, the creek opened up, and put into effective condition; also the drain on McDonnel and Aylmer Sts. repaired.

Some of the aldermen thought it a pity to spend so much money for this purpose when the Aylmer creek is to be diverted.

However the motion carried on the understanding that Ald. Hicks uses his discretion in this matter and do the work as economically as possible.

DIVERSION OF CREEKS.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw to authorize the issuing of debentures to defray the cost of diverting the creek on Aylmer street and the creek in Ward Five; and to provide for relieving the property contingent to the Park street drain of charges therefore.

Ald. Mason thought the Aylmer street drain should be left out of the resolution pending the possible diversion of the creek along the Grand Trunk Railway track by that company themselves.

Ald. Ball thought the Downie St. creek should be diverted back from the street to its original course; it was a mistake to ever divert this creek along Downie street. He moved that this water course be included in the resolution, and diverted back to the lands where it originally belonged. This was acquiesced in, and embodied in the resolution, which then carried.

TO REPAIR ROAD.

Ald. Duncan drew the Board's attention to the hill on Argyle street, up to the hospital, which is in a bad state of repairs. This will be done.

EXHIBITION GRANT.

Ald. Hicks again raised the question of a grant to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. Rather than see this event dropped for this year, he would be willing that the city gave them a grant of $400, with a guarantee of another $100, in case of bad weather or any inforseen causes leaving the directors with a deficit at the end of the year. Further, he understood from Mr. Larmouth that the Street Railway Company would agree to step into the gap with a straight grant of $50, or a guarantee of $100.

The Council would take no further action in this matter.

The Council then adjourned.

Local Company Pays Dividend

Peterborough Cereal Co. Pays Seven Per Cent. Per Annum.

At the directors' meeting of the Peterborough Cereal Co., and the Ohonabee Power Company, a dividend of 7 per cent. was declared in both companies. This speaks well for the management and for the goods produced. The cheques have been issued to the stock holders. The annual meeting of the companies will be held in September as usual.

Mr. A. R. Kidd is Doing Well

Mr. A. R. Kidd of the local customs house staff, who on Wednesday evening had the misfortune to meet with a very painful accident, is doing as well as could be expected.

It seems that Mr. Kidd, who was coming up George street on a street car, tried to get off before the car stopped, at the corner of Murray and George streets, in some way got his feet caught and he was thrown violently to the ground, dislocating his left shoulder.

It is expected that Mr. Kidd will be able to attend to business in a couple of weeks.

No Summer Race Meet This Year

The summer race meet of the Peterborough Turf Club, which was to have been held about August 9th, has been called off.

The directors feel that to hold the meet would mean a loss of money as the people have not turned out in large enough numbers to make the race a paying proposition. In former years when Peterborough was in a circuit along with Lindsay, Port Hope, Belleville and other surrounding towns, some of the best horses in Ontario competed at the local meet but now that there is no circuit the horsemen from a distance cannot afford to bring their horses here for only one meet.

The Turf Club formerly derived considerable revenue from the Industrial Fair, but this year this money will not be forthcoming. This means that the club will have to make up the rent with only the receipts from the circuses to pay it.

It is not unlikely, however, that a race meet may be held in the fall during the time the fall fairs are in progress. There would then be some good horses likely to compete as they would be in training for the speed events at the local exhibitions.

Local Citizens in Omemee.

The Omemee Mirror says: Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Kennedy and children, of Peterborough, spent Dominion Day with Omemee friends. Mr. Kennedy is always pleased to get back to the "old town," and his numerous friends are glad to welcome him any time he can make it convenient to visit here.

Joseph Stewart Now Inspector

Mr. Cochrane's Books Have Been Examined and Found Correct.

Mr. J. W. Gordon, chief license inspector, of Toronto, has examined the books and papers of Mr. George Cochrane, late license inspector for West Peterborough, and found them correct. Mr. Cochrane handed the books over to Mr. Gordon, who transferred them to Mr. Jos. Stewart, the new inspector. Mr. Stewart entered partially upon his duties on Saturday, and will now assume the full responsibility of the office. Arrangements are being made for an office for Mr. Stewart in the central part of the city.

Yesterday morning Mr. Stewart quitted the local police force, after eighteen years and four months' service. He has been a resident in the city since 1880, and has always been a good citizen and will probably make an energetic and efficient inspector. During his eighteen years of service as a police officer Mr. Stewart has had established a record of faithful and efficient work.

Two New Officers On Local Force

To Fill Places of P. C. Stewart and P. C. Rutherford, Both Resigned.

Our readers will remember that the Times some weeks ago stated that ex-P. C. Stewart, having been appointed license inspector, to succeed Mr. Geo. Cochrane, resigned, would have to leave the local police force.

This efficient officer was requested to continue on duty until another man could be secured. On Thursday the resignation of Policeman Rutherford, who had just recently been appointed, was received by the police commissioners. Both the resignations were accepted, and Samuel Newhall and John Meharry were appointed to fill their places. Samuel Newhall is about 30 years of age, five feet eleven inches tall, and has lived in the city for the past two years. He is a native of the old country, but came to Canada and lived here several years. He then went back to England and was successful in getting into the Metropolitan police force of London, on which he served for some time, and also on the Liverpool police force. He was sworn in yesterday, and went on active duty the same day.

Mr. John Meharry is a native of Peterborough, and a son of Wm. Meharry. He is 26 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and is well built. For some time he was employed on the Trent canal and lately has been with the Peterborough Light and Power Co. He was sworn in yesterday morning and went on duty at once.

The police commissioners also passed a bylaw, regulating and licensing cabmen. It is practically the same as the old carters' bylaw.

A Baby's Taste guided to Grape-Nuts

A minister says: "A few days ago an incident occurred in my home that may interest you.

"Our baby boy, a fine specimen of two years and three months old baby hood, was brought down again immediately after he awoke.

"He was teething, and had eaten but little food for two or three days and had to be coaxed to do that. On this particular morning his first request was for Grape-Nuts, of which he is very fond. His mother had some cornmeal mush cooked, and served him with that instead, but after he had looked at it for a moment, he pushed it away indignantly, saying "I don't want that; I want Grape-Nuts." He would not be satisfied until Grape-Nuts was served to him, which he ate with evident enjoyment. We were interested in his discrimination, and you will doubtless appreciate the boy's taste."

Probably no food in existence—not even excepting the very best prepared baby foods—is as well adapted to the use of infants as Grape-Nuts, well-soaked in warm milk.

It contains the elements required for building the bones, also the gray matter in the nerve centers. A child or an adult fed on Grape-Nuts will show marked improvement in physical and mental ability. Many of the elders testify to the renewal of physical ailments by abandoning portions of the food that have been in use, and taking up Grape-Nuts regularly.

Sold by grocers everywhere, and made at the pure food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

Englishman vs. Boarding House

Yesterday morning, about 11:30, quite a number of people gathered in front of a boarding house, situated on Aylmer street, a few doors north of Charlotte street.

It seems that a very fresh young Englishman, by name Mitchell, with an accent that is broad as the ocean which divides him from his old home, attempted to get his worldly effects, to wit one wooden box, brass bound, from his boarding house, without settling his account with the landlady.

The Times found that this man, in company with his chum, Hayward, went to the boarding house when they came to the city, and the landlady said that Mitchell had given her a lot of trouble.

The two men were yesterday asked to pay their board bill. Mitchell said he would settle up as soon as his bill became due, i.e., today at noon, but as the landlady was aware of the fact that he intended to remove from the city, she had his trunk seized when he went to take it on yesterday morning. Mitchell had an express man call for his baggage, but when Curtis, the expressman called, P. C. Adams had already arrived on the scene and had advised the woman to swear out an information.

The Englishman persisted in commanding the expressman to "tyke the blooming trunk to the station, I tell you." A citizen stepping up to the expressman, who wanted his money for coming for the trunk, said, "Say, Curtis, this man did not say which station he meant, why don't you take it to the police station and thus settle the matter?"

The express man quickly saw the hint and throwing the baggage on his rig drove off with it.

P. C. Co. Now Using Their New Plant

Peterboro' Cereal Company's Steam Drying Plant Working Well.

Work has now been completed upon the new steam drying plant of the Peterborough Cereal Co. This drying plant is used for drying the cereal goods in the ovens and is replacing the gas drying system. Messrs. Wm. Hamilton had the contract, and they made a good job of it. The steam drying will be used in the manufacture of Corn-Krisp, the new cereal food, as well as Canada Flakes.

9 Per Cent. Paid in Six Months

Home Bank of Canada Does a Record Business.

The Home Bank of Canada has held its first annual meeting whereat a most encouraging report was presented by the directors.

This young but lusty financial institution already holds a prominent place among the banks of the Dominion. After only doing business for five months the Home Bank has been enabled to pay a 9 per cent. dividend to its shareholders; this is almost a record in banking circles and demonstrates emphatically that its management is progressive and aggressive in their catering to the public's financial requirements.

Whilst the Home Bank under its present title has only been six months in business, its charter dates from 1854, when granted to the "Toronto Savings Bank." In 1878 this bank became the "Home Savings & Loan Co."

The Home Bank has been and now is run on very conservative principles, its reserve fund being equal to one-quarter of the entire subscribed stock. This is a matter that should strongly appeal to both shareholders and depositors.

The profit and loss account of $30,503.28. Depositors have further cause for an absolute feeling of security, when it is noted that nearly four millions of the people's money held by this bank is placed, so that it can readily be converted into cash. The securities of the bank are of the strongest and most conservative type, thus rendering the Home Bank of Canada one of the safest in this country.

Mr. Eugene O'Keefe was re-elected to the presidency, and in this choice the bank has one of Toronto's most ablest and best known men at the helm.

SUCCESSFUL PUPILS

Musical Students Who Have Reflected Credit in the Conservatory of Music By Successfully Passing Their Examinations.

All the pupils of Miss Alice H. Roger, of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, who tried the recent examinations in music have been successful. The list is as follows:

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO.

Senior Piano—Miss Grace Taft, 2nd class honors.

Junior Piano—Miss Lottie Davidson, Miss Genevieve Sanderson.

TORONTO COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Senior Piano—Miss Edith Aylmer, 1st class honors.

Intermediate Piano—Miss Gladys Seward, 1st class honors.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO.

Junior Theory—Miss Grace Taft, 1st class honors; Miss Ida Sanderson.

TORONTO COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Senior Rudiments—Miss Annie Sisson, Miss Julia Choate, Miss Mollie Meldrum, Miss Gladys Seward, all 1st class honors.

Miss Edith Aylmer, honors.

Miss Agnes Hall, pass.

Miss Alice H. Roger, teacher of the above clever students in music, is to be congratulated on the splendid results of her arduous labors, as exemplified in the above.

Max Hamilton Off For the West

Mr. Max Hamilton, as noted in a former issue of The Times, a few months ago, returned to his old home, Peterborough, after 18 years absence at Peace River, as accountant of the Hudson Bay Co.

Mr. Hamilton has recently had several flattering offers from the H. B. Co. authorities, to resume his old or a better position with that company. "Max" will leave by the 5 o'clock C.P.R. train this morning for Winnipeg. In that city, Mr. Hamilton will thoroughly look into the offer made by the Hudson Bay Co., and if such on investigation prove as good as they now seem, he may return for a few years, say two or three to the Peace, or even possibly to the Mackenzie River.

Mr. Hamilton, whilst disliking to leave this city, and his relatives of "Auburn," told The Times yesterday evening that he will, in case of accepting the Hudson Bay Co's offer, take precautions as will enable him, at short notice to return to Peterborough, either for a time or permanently.

Bad Log Jam at Hunter St. Bridge

Some excitement was caused at the Hunter street bridge yesterday afternoon, as the river drivers tried, with ultimate success to break a log jam that had formed just south of the bridge. The drive belongs to the Dickson Company and the logs were running all day. Shortly after noon a couple of logs caught on a rock near the centre of the river, and although the river drivers were soon on the job with their cant-hooks and other tools, they were unable to get the jam clear.

After about an hour's hard work they succeeded in getting the logs moved, and thus clearing the jam.

Doom of Songster Is Now in Sight

JOHN P. SOUSA.
The Great Musician.

John Philip Sousa Says Singing Will Soon be Lost Art.

Washington, July 7.—Beware of the phonograph! The germ of destruction to the human voice lurks in its cylinders and funnels. It is taking the musical initiative from the people. By and by the human songster will be extinct. The banjo and guitar and mayhap the piano will live only in historic phonographic records. Only the talking machine and the hurdy-gurdy will remain.

This was the warning and prophecy uttered yesterday by John Philip Sousa before the congressional joint committee on printing. The noted bandmaster appeared primarily to argue in favor of the provision in the copyrighted musical compositions without the consent of the owner of the copyright. Mr. Sousa declared the talking machine people are using his compositions without paying him anything for them. He wants "the piracy" stopped. Then he denounced the talking machines as the destroyers of musical culture.

SINGERS TO BECOME EXTINCT.

"I tell you the human voice is not heard as it used to be, and I prophesy that the vocal cords may become useless for singing by this disuse," declared Mr. Sousa. "Last summer I was in one of the largest summer harbors, which was filled with yachts. I went among them. Was there the old-time singing? No, it was nothing but the phonograph.

"When I was a boy—and I was born right here in Washington—it was the custom of the young people to sit on their porches and steps in the evening and sing the old songs and the songs of the day. But you don't hear these songs any more. What do you hear? Go along the street in the evening—it is nothing but the phonograph.

"Another evidence that the machines are taking the musical initiative from our people is that the sale of the banjo, the mandolin and the guitar are decreasing greatly, and the dealers tell me this is on account of the increased use of the talking machines."

SAYS MARCHES ARE STOLEN.

Complaining of the personal injury he suffers at the hands of the phonograph "pirates," Mr. Sousa said that in each of the catalogues of the manufacturers of the machines there was a list of twenty to one hundred of his compositions, but he never had received a cent of compensation. The manufacturers are fighting the provision of the bill which Mr. Sousa wants retained.

Victor Herbert, the composer, also argued in favor of the provision, declaring he spoke for many who had not the money to come and speak for themselves.

Mr. Sousa says a talking machine company would gladly pay an opera singer $3,000 to sing one song for a record, while the best cornet player would receive $1 for a record. This it was declared, emphasized the desire still existing to hear the human voice in preference to instruments.

At the conclusion of his argument Mr. Sousa was recalled by Senator Smoot of the committee on patents, who was anxious to know more about the theory that the voice may become extinct through disuse. The Utah senator thought the people did not live as close to nature as they did formerly, hence do not sing as much.

Mr. Sousa persisted in maintaining that the trouble lies with the talking machines.

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to "brace up" with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but its uselessness is plain to everyone.

Better follow Nature's plan; it's always a sure one.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie E Illsley, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

ECHOES OF THE SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE

Echoes of the San Francisco earthquake continue to be received from all parts of the world in the shape of comments, wise and otherwise, on the event, its cause and its consequences. From a material point of view—a building material point of view—probably the most interesting contribution to the subject was the statement of the Japanese expert, who was sent over from the land of earthquakes to investigate the results of the disaster. He gave it as his unqualified opinion that the damage done by the earthquake was almost entirely due to the use of a poor quality of mortar, the same, of course, being used in order that a few unscrupulous contractors contractors might get, without earning them, a few more dirty dollars. Two thousand years ago the Romans made mortar that is today stronger than the stones which it holds together. In those days, however, they had a simple and practical habit of tumbling the head of a thieving contractor into a bucket, if they did not nail him upon a cross for the vultures to pick at.

Turning from the material to what we might perhaps call the psychic side of the San Francisco catastrophe, we find that quite a number of men and women have been discussing the earthquake as an "act of God." We cannot very well be surprised at this, because even in these late days, insurance companies will carry such a phrase in their policies. A discussion of the question as to whether God was in the San Francisco earthquake precipitated a long debate in a Methodist church. One minister was reported as saying:

"I believe God was in the earthquake as much as I believe He was in the one that sunk Sodom and Gomorrah. This is the attitude I believe every minister should take if he has authority to preach at all.

"I am sorry to say that it has been said from pulpits, even from some Methodist pulpits in this city I believe, that God was not in the earthquake."

Commenting upon this another preacher drew attention to the fact that the greatest amount of property lost, relatively speaking, as a result of the disaster, was at Stanford and that Stanford is a moral institution, while the greatest number of lives lost, relatively speaking, was among the helpless insane patients at the Agnew asylum. The speaker, a well known preacher, added: If God struck that town because it was like Sodom and Gomorrah, He killed a lot of innocent people, and a God that will kill a lot of innocent people is not the God I worship."

It might have been added that a majority of the church edifices in San Francisco were destroyed by the earthquake and flames, while the Cliff house, that has probably been the scene of as much debauchery as any building in San Francisco, was uninjured. However, all such discussion is futile and foolish. Whenever we seek to make God responsible for occurrences that we cannot understand we are simply beating about the bush, and getting ourselves into a mental jungle from which there is no outlet. How often do we seek the good and the noble and the wise taken, while the bad, the mean and the ignorant are left. To charge this to the direct and deliberate action of an Omnipotent Being is to [illegible] Him in the category of an intelligent man. It is impossible to [illegible] God for [illegible]

Canadian 'Hall Mark'

Bill to Provide One on Gold and Silver Articles Gets Third Reading

Ottawa, July 6—The Commons Banking and Commerce Committee yesterday passed the Senate bill respecting the sale and marking of manufactures of gold and silver, and to establish a Canadian Hall Mark.

Mr. W. K. McNaught, M.P., of Toronto, explained that there was much misrepresentation as to goods made from gold and silver and impressed the committee by showing drawn a variety of articles, some solid gold, some plated, which could not be told apart.

One article shown was a watch case, guaranteed for twenty years. It would not last for three years, Mr. McNaught said. There were 2,000,000 of these in Canada, he added. The maker was out of business.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Lost Family.

A great crowd had gathered to witness the closing exercises of the village school. It was 10 o'clock at night when they finished, and everybody started for home. Then suddenly some one shouted aloud, "Little Paul Chilton is lost!" Now, Paul was only four and a half years old.

The minister hurried alone down the path to the spring, hoping the little one might have taken that familiar walk. Ah, sure enough, a tiny figure was coming with brave little steps up the sloping path!

"Oh, Paul," cried the minister, running toward him, "how did you come to be lost?"

"I don't fink I's losted," answered the little fellow, a quaver of relief in his voice as the big man gathered him in his arms. Then he went on in a tired little tone, "But the rest of the family must be losted, for I can't find 'em anywhere."

Royal Mechanics.

Perhaps you may be surprised to hear that many members of the royal families of Europe have learned ordinary trades. King Edward of England learned in his youth how to make stockings; his son, the Prince of Wales, can make ropes; the late czar of Russia was a practical farmer; the German emperor is a typesetter; King Humbert of Italy was a shoemaker and Queen Victoria was quite expert with knitting needles.

Beware of "By and By."

If you have hard work to do,
Do it now.
Today the skies are clear and blue;
Tomorrow clouds may come in view;
Yesterday is not for you;
Do it now.

If you have a song to sing,
Sing it now.
Let the notes of gladness ring
Clear as song of bird in spring;
Let every day some music bring;
Sing it now.

If you have kind words to say,
Say them now.
Tomorrow may not come your way;
Do a kindness [illegible]
Love[illegible]
Say them now.

PAYMENT OF M. P.'S.

Pall Mall Gazette Makes Some Observations Thereupon.

Parliament to a large extent makes its own work, so that the idle member who has a safe seat, if he is given a salary, is tempted to draw it, and then stay away as much as he dare, and try to shorten the session as much as he can, says The Pall Mall Gazette. If he is paid by the day — as he is at the Cape, in Natal, in Canada, in Austria, and elsewhere—it is to his interest to protract the session, in fact, he loses money by getting through business efficiently. This was found in Norway where there is a need of ready money—and sessions grew longer and longer.

To avoid this, then, the daily payment has been arranged only for a limited number of days at the Cape and in Canada; after that the representative talks at his own expense. The experiment has been tried in other countries of paying a salary and then fining the member for absences, and this undoubtedly saved whips a great deal of trouble.

In Norway the mistake has been made of allowing representatives in the Storthing all-wances not only for traveling expenses but for "medical treatment," and other items, and at times members have interpreted these terms in the widest sense, and returned among their expenses Turkish baths, port wine, and, in fact, anything in the slightest degree connected with medicine. Parliament became a sort of system of outdoor relief for needy politicians, and even the length of railway journeys were in the returns "greatly exaggerated."

In Japan payment of members was a failure, probably owing to the acuter business instincts of that race. A politician in debt stood for a constituency, and his creditors never rested until he was returned and in receipt of a salary. Ministerial posts have been obtained in our colonies in the bad old days in a similar way.

"Franking" letters, which used to exist in England, suddenly swelled a member's correspondence to a suspicious extent, until his remotest relations, even to the third and fourth generation, came long distances for his signature, autograph-hunting in this way became a nuisance. In New South Wales the system is in use (as well as free traveling for members by rail and tram), but not abused.

In the colonies generally, the payment of members has greatly purified public life rather than the reverse. The yearly salary, not the daily wage, has been generally accepted in Australasia. In Canada, Newfoundland, Western Australia, and South Australia both Houses are paid. Traveling expenses are almost universal; either a small medal is given the member, which hangs on his watch chain and passes him on all lines, or an allowance is made him calculated on the mileage from his native town. In Hungary (where he is also allowed house rent) the curious custom is in practice of allowing him to travel first-class on a second-class ticket.

It seems to be forgotten by the public that payment of members in England existed for 400 years, and only came to an end (in the sixteenth century) because, owing to the rise in prices, the salary was not worth taking, and partly because a seat in Parliament came to be sought after as a privilege. Nearly forty years ago the subject was revived, motions made several times since then, and twice it has even had a majority of the House.

The Descendant of Kings.

The little village of St. Columb Minor, near Newquay, Cornwall, celebrated the other day, amid great rejoicings, the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of its parish clerk, Mr. James Carne.

The old gentleman, who has been clerk of St. Columb since 1846, was publicly presented by the vicar with an oaken armchair of old English pattern, bearing an inscription on a silver plate. While the presentation speech was being made old Mr. Carne stood in the midst of his descendants, many of them of the fourth generation.

Several speeches were made, and Mr. Carne, who appeared to enjoy the proceedings immensely, received hundreds of congratulatory messages, including a cablegram from America.

For his age Mr. Carne is possessed of extraordinary vitality. He is still able to fulfill all his duties, and a week ago he attended the annual vestry meeting, and took an active part in the proceedings.

The centenarian is a descendant of the old Cornish kings. His lineage has been traced back to Clemens ap Bledre, of the Cornish royal blood, who flourished in the fifth century.

All the members of Mr. Carne's family have been renowned for longevity. His grandfather, who died in 1861 at the age of eighty, was parish clerk of St. Columb for half a century, and was succeeded by his son, who held the post for fifty-four years.

Some time ago a photograph of Mr. Carne was sent to King Edward.

Lord Milner and Governments.

Lord Milner, in a recent speech, said: One is particularly stirred by the fact that from time to time in party stress it is not always possible for the man who has been, or has tried to be, the faithful agent of the Government of his day—it is not always possible for him to be regarded at any rate with equally favorable eyes by another Government and Parliament. I do not think we should make too much of this. Personally, I always feel that so far as praise or blame is concerned that you sometimes get praise when you do not deserve it and you often get blame when you do not deserve it. (Cheers and laughter.) Therefore, in my opinion, the wisest thing to do is to bank the praise when you get it, live upon it when you are in blame, and not pay to much attention to it either way. (Laughter and cheers.)

Overworked Clergymen.

A few examples of the way in which some Church of England clergymen are overworked were given at a meeting of the Additional Curates' Society. A great parish in the north of London had only three clergymen for 19,000 persons. A parish in Durham diocese had only two clergymen for a population of 15,000; while two Glamorganshire parishes with more than 10,000 people in each had only two clergymen.

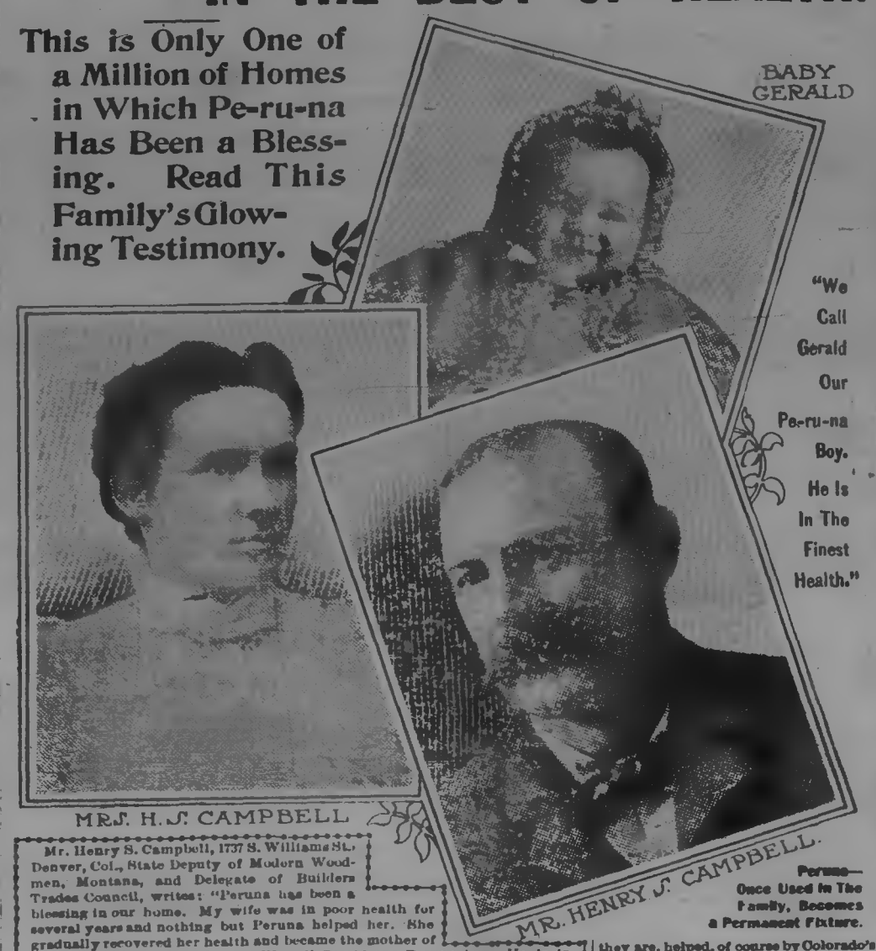
PE-RU-NA KEEPS THE FAMILY IN THE BEST OF HEALTH.

This is Only One of a Million of Homes in Which Pe-ru-na Has Been a Blessing. Read This Family's Glowing Testimony.



"We Call Gerald Our Pe-ru-na Boy. He Is In The Finest Health."

Mr. Henry S. Campbell, 1737 S. Williams St., Denver, Col., State Deputy of Modern Woodmen, Montana, and Delegate of Builders Trades Council, writes: "Peruna has been a blessing in our home. My wife was in poor health for several years and nothing but Peruna helped her. She gradually recovered her health and became the mother of a boy which blessed our home. We call Gerald our Peruna boy. He is in the finest of health and his mother has never enjoyed such excellent health.

"I have personally found Peruna of great value to me while traveling. Getting irregular meals and often poorly prepared food ruined my stomach, but Peruna toned up my digestive organs and brought fine health to me.

"We are never without Peruna in our home and know by experience that it keeps us all in the best of health."

Peruna—Once Used In The Family, Becomes a Permanent Fixture.

A RECENT LETTER.

A recent letter received from Mr. and Mrs. Campbell is, as follows:

"We still use Peruna and in addition to our son, Gerald, who is a fat and saucy lad of 28 months, we have another son, still larger for his age. He is now ten months old and is always healthy.

"His mother says Peruna has surely made both of our children as healthy as they are, helped, of course by Colorado's healthy air.

"A bottle of Peruna is at all times a welcome visitor to our home."

A multitude of families have discovered that Peruna is their standby.

In all the catarrhal ailments which are likely to beset the various members of the family, Peruna is the remedy that brings quick relief.

No matter whether it be a catarrhal condition of the head or lungs, or a derangement of the stomach and bowels, Peruna is the remedy.

His Presence of Mind.

Lord Curzon, who was young man, and long before he succeeded to the title, was traveling in Corea, says The London Chronicle. He had been warned not to admit that he was under forty, for previous to that age a man commands small respect in Corea. The president of the Foreign Office asked his age and Mr. Curzon replied "forty." "Dear me," replied the Corean official, "you look very young for that. How do you account for it?" "By the fact," was the reply, "that I have been traveling for a month in the superb climate of his Majesty's dominions." Finally the president said, "I presume you are a near relative of the Queen of England?" "No," replied the traveler, "I am not." But observing the look of disgust that passed over the countenance, Mr. Curzon added quietly: "I am, however, as yet an unmarried man."

Substitute For Soap.

For those complexions that cannot endure soap almond meal will be found an excellent substitute. It should be used with warm water and is not only cleansing, but is also refining to the skin. Formula: Four ounces of orris root in fine powder, four ounces of wheat flour, one ounce of powdered white castile soap, one ounce of powdered borax, ten drops of oil of bitter almonds, two fluid drams of oil of bergamot, one fluid dram of tincture of musk. Mix well and pass through a sieve, rejecting all coarse particles.

Hollow Cheeks.

If the cheeks are hollow it is because the muscles have become weak. To strengthen them wet with cold water and rub gently and deeply round and round with a soft Turkish towel.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

And to know that never so few, aware of her part in that Philadelphia scene, believed her to have done a heroic thing was like an added death to her. For a time she had fled for refuge to her old passion for the cause. But the effort failed.

One day early in the new year, when the world was dusted with delicate frost like seed pearl, Colonel Tillotson brought to Gladden Hall the news of how "the old fox of Mount Vernon," by a wily double across the icy Delaware, had taken the Hessians at Trenton. Anne heard it apathetically. To her despair, victory and defeat spelled the same.

When the door closed upon her, the colonel looked at his wife silently. "And she still believes in him!"

"As she believes in us," replied the lady softly. "Colonel," she said keenly, "you have heard news."

"Aye," he answered after a pause, "I have. A reply came to Mr. Henry's confidential inquiries today. There is no doubt that Armand is the same prisoner who escaped from the Duchess of Gordon off Amboy last August."

"Thank God!" breathed Mrs. Tillotson fervently. "I am glad. I can't help it."

"Anne had better not know. 'Twill do her no possible good."

"Colonel," said the lady decisively, "in this I must have my way. I am going to tell her just as fast as I can." She rose, laid aside her knitting, took up a candle and left him standing dubiously before the fire.

The light came back to Anne like the spring sun. The great horror was gone, and in spite of the war's gloom Gladden Hall grew more cheerful again. She devoured the columns of the Gazettes and read eagerly letters which came to Henry from abroad.

These told her how the Reprisal, dodging the British sloops of war, had landed Benjamin Franklin safely at Nantes, of his meeting there with Beaumarchais and of his reception in Paris at the little hotel in the Rue Vieille du Temple, where a mercantile sign of "Roderique Hortalez & Co." hid a pleasant conspiracy whose object was the furnishing of war supplies to the American colonists, and whose silent partners were a prime minister and a king. Somewhere, she thought, there in his own land perhaps Armand was safe, not believing in her, but free and uncondemned.

The sound of war came nearer when Howe's fleet sailed into the Chesapeake and when Henry, summoned in haste from Hanover, called out the militia. She watched them march through Williamsburg, sixty-four companies strong, but the fleet and the army it carried sailed on to Head Back Washington at Brandywine, to enter Philadelphia and turn the grave town into an orgy of Tory rejoicing.

So the months passed in alternate hope and despair. Spring unfurled, summer dropped its blooms, autumn singed glebe and copse, snow fell and purified the earth stains. And at last Virginia knew that Burgoyne had been entrapped in the northern forests; that Philadelphia had been evacuated; that the cord which was to encircle the throat of the rebellion had snapped; that France had recognized independence and made a treaty of alliance with the United States.

There followed a closer campaign when Lord Germaine, the king's war minister, having failed to strangle the monster, attacked its extremities, when the redcoats swept into the southern harbors, when Savannah and Augusta fell, when Lincoln's army was caught at Charlestown and Gates routed at Camden, and these were the south's darkest days.

It knew there was no hope from the army in the north, meager, ill clothed, half starved, without magazines, arsenals or credit. Washington lay watching like a hawk Clinton's 10,000 men at New York, hoping for an effective force from France, waiting with the sublime patience which more than all else made him a great soldier.

Virginia bore her burdens uncomplainingly, giving of her substance to the struggle, while the slaves which Cornwallis sent scampering from burned lower plantations trailed through her borders, sowing insurrection among the faithful blacks.

"John the Baptist," demanded Anne sternly one day after Groam had reported that scarce fifty slaves remained in the quarters, "an the British come here, are you going to run away too?"

"Mis' Anne," he complained appealingly, "don' yo' know no 'spectable nigger gwine ter list'n ter dem shiftless trash whut go ramshacklin' erroun' widout no homes? Dee ain' no 'count. Yo' couldn' swap 'em off fo' shucks. Yo' knows I ain' nuvver gwine leabe de plantation whar I wus drug up. Dat Cornwallis! Huh! Dis nigger smell de brimstone whut's huntin' fo' him."

When the sky looked blackest came General Nathanael Greene into the south, young, light hearted and eager. And what did he not accomplish? He welded anew the scattered remnants of Gates' army, fanned North Carolinian Whiggery into a blaze, beat Tarleton, sent Cornwallis back, breathing hard, to the seacoast. It was the end of the second campaign.

"What will King George do now?" Anne asked Henry jubilantly.

His face was very grave as he answered: "There is only one thing left. 'Tis a stroke at the heart of the rebellion. And that heart is here in Virginia." He guessed truly.

There were busy preparations for flight throughout the lower peninsula on that snow shod day when the traitor Arnold's fifty ships came to anchor off Jamestown island. The sky was a ceiling of translucent gray. The stubby cedars trailed sweeping boughs of crystaled beryl, and every shrub was cased in argent armor. Fleet horsemen had ridden from Williamsburg in all directions rousing the frozen countryside.

At noon Anne took her place in the chariot beside Mrs. Tillotson, bound for Dr. Walker's of Castle Hill, far enough north to be beyond the reach of the invaders. Her aunt was to fare even farther, to Berkeley.

They waved brave goodbye through tears to the little group of house negroes whimpering on the porch. Rashleigh was to go with the remaining servants to Brandon, Mammy Evaline was left in charge of the place, and John the Baptist, her son, was to care for the horses and run them off on approach of the British. The house linen and silver Anne had buried with her own hands, and the family portraits had been hidden under the stables.

It was a sad journey, but one performed that day by more than one household.

Colonel Tillotson rode a part of the way beside the coach. "'Twill not be for long," he insisted cheeringly. "I have assurance from Mr. Henry that Washington will send troops before spring breaks. He thought it would be General Lafayette—the young French marquis who passed through Williamsburg, you remember. Would Washington himself could come!" he added fervently.

But his wife was not to be comforted. "Colonel," she cried brokenly, "I feel sure we shall never see Gladden Hall again."

More than once before spring came tiptoeing down the trees Anne looked out to the north from quiet Castle Hill, homesick for a sight of Greenway Court and Baron Fairfax. Weakness and age had at last sent the old man to his chair, and he sat through the long days sorrowfully patient, as his ancestor, the hero of Naseby fight, sat at Denton in Yorkshire, waiting the coming of the victorious banners of the king.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $230,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

SYMPATHY.

He lives more lives than one who shares
The weight of human woe;
Whose willing shoulder bravely bears
The yoke of friend and foe.
He lives more lives than one who seeks
Ambition's lofty goal;
Whose every effort but bespeaks
A grand, responsive soul.

He lives more lives than one whose love
Breathes incense, warm and rare;
Who, loyal as the stars above,
Yields homage ever fair
He lives more lives than one and dies
A thousand deaths who gives
A sympathy wide as the skies
To everything that lives.

A CURIOUS INDIAN TALE.

Gen. Kuroki a Reincarnation of Late Sir Hector Macdonald.

A curious tale is going the rounds of the bazaars in India. It is believed by every native that Gen. Kuroki, the marvelous Japanese commander, is no other than Sir Hector Macdonald. Many people have never believed that the brilliant English general is dead, and not long ago there appeared in The London Times an offer of a reward of $5,000 to anyone who had seen his dead body.

It is also a fact that Sir Hector was once invited to go to Japan to train the Japanese army, and he actually mentioned it to Lord Roberts. No honor has ever been publicly bestowed on Kuroki, who appears to have vanished as suddenly and mysteriously as he appeared.

Even the Japanese, with all their reticence, confessed to a correspondent that Kuroki had much foreign blood in him, and one American journalist declared he was a Dutchman.

Rudyard Kipling first lifted the veil showing a little of the mysterious workings of the Indian bazaars. The [illegible] of events taking place at great distances is familiar to all Anglo-Indian [illegible] them. The mutiny of the Sepoys was known throughout India almost as soon as it occurred, and it has been an unexplained mystery up to to-day how the information was so rapidly disseminated.

Both the life and death of Sir Hector Macdonald were full of romance and mystery. His exact age is not known, the circumstances of his death and burial are obscure. What is known is that Macdonald was a Scotch crofter lad, that he enlisted in 1871, and that he served in the ranks ten years. His rise to a major-general and K. C. B. was the result of pure soldiering.

In the Afghan campaign, at Kabul, on Majuba Hill and at Omdurman he won fights and fame. After the Boer campaign he was given a high command in India, and then, in 1903, came the report that he had suddenly left Hindustan "on private business."

On this business he reached Paris, and there read in a newspaper that he was to stand a courtmartial on "grave charges." Then came the report that immediately on reading this paragraph he went to his room and shot himself.

At first it was decided that the general was to be buried in Paris, but a new surprise appeared in the person of his widow, of whose existence the War Office did not know. By the express wish of Lady Macdonald the body—or, as rumor says now, the coffin — was sent to London and unceremoniously huddled away to Scotland in a baggage van. The body or the coffin, was quietly, almost secretly, buried in a public cemetery at half past 8 in the morning. The coffin was not opened from the time it left the Paris hotel.

IMPLICATED IN MURDER

Former Judge and Sheriff Are Now Mixed up in Sensational Shooting Affray.

Prattyville, Ky., July 4—A sensation was caused here yesterday at the trial of former Judge Hargis and former Sheriff Callahan, of Breathitt county, charged with the murder of James Marcum. Asbury Spicer, it was announced, had made a confession implicating the two chief defendants. Spicer stated that he was offered $500 to kill Marcum. The offer, he said, was made a few days before Marcum was killed. Spicer said he had refused to kill Marcum, and that he had also refused previously to kill "Jim" Cockrill.

While the Play Was On

By Virginia Lelia Wentz

Copyright, 1905, by Beatrix Reade

They came in rather late—the first act was well under way. The girl in her soft evening gown swept quietly down the aisle and took the seat indicated by the usher with serene noiselessness. The man with waxed mustaches and flashy diamond studs followed ostentatiously. He sat down, much to the annoyance of the party directly behind, after unduly pompous delay. Ostentation and pomposity were in Mr. Smart's line.

Mechanically the girl drew out her opera glasses from their bag, but she did not use them. Instead, with a little sigh of content, she leaned back against her wrap, a gorgeous thing, ermine lined, belonging to her aunt, which she had been coaxed into wearing. The lights of the house were low, and as she leaned for a second, a billowy mass of chiffon and lace against the ermine, her heavily lashed eyelids half closed, and she smiled faintly.

Ah, it was so good to be faultlessly dressed from the top of her head to the tip of her shoe all at once—just once sure of herself all around! Not as it had always been with her down in dear old Kentucky—a gown achieved just as her hat was going out of fashion, a new wrap when her evening dresses were beginning to look a bit worn, boots a little shabby just as she was able to get fresh gloves and veil. Her eye fell on the billowy blouse of her bodice. How all her life she had loved lace—real, cobwebby lace! And ermine to nestle against—the lordly "feel of the thing!"

Well, now—she was in the way to have it all. This month's visit with her aunt in New York had been fecund in results. Dances and dinners, suppers, theater parties, had filled the hurrying days and nights, but still, with her aunt's worldly insistence, she had found time to engage herself to the man beside her. "Capital, my dear!" her aunt had said when she heard the news, kissing her lightly on the cheek. "You see, Alberta, I knew what I was doing when I sent for you to come up from that poverty stricken Kentucky, and you had only to come to conquer. Of course Mr. Smart isn't exactly a paragon of beauty, and he's a bit 'new,' but think of his cool little million, his yacht, his horses, his splendid motor and all that sort of thing. Oh, I'll be proud of you yet, my poor little southern niece!"

"Beastly stupid play!" broke in upon Alberta's reverie. Mr. Smart spoke in a voice a trifle louder than conventional good form allows.

The girl lifted her eyebrows slightly and then nodded her head in indifferent acquiescence. As a matter of fact, she hadn't noticed a single bit of "business" on the boards nor heard a single line. Now, however, she raised her glasses. It gave her right hand some occupation. It had been lying perilously close to his, she observed.

During the second act the man fidgeted more than ever. "Come," he said finally; "don't let's waste any more time on such twiddle twaddle. It's weak tommyrot. We'll run up and order our supper instead."

But a girl with an ermine cloak thrown over the back of her chair was leaning forward, her elbows resting on her knees, her chin in the cup of her two hands. Her eyes were strangely wistful as she watched the players on the stage.

"No," she whispered oddly without turning to Smart; "I like it. Let's stay."

'Twas a simple enough little scene that she watched; a homely enough setting, too—a lane hedged with wild roses and honeysuckle, at one end of which stood a white cottage, sunny in the light of early morning. Just outside, by the hollyhock bushes, was a man fair and strong, looking like a young god in his splendid strength. He was catching up a child playfully and holding it high in the air, as is the way with proud fathers. Then out of the cottage, rosy, smiling, came a girlish figure with her sleeves rolled up and an apron on, to say goodby to her lord before he went to his day's labor. The sire kissed his child and set him down, patting the curly head. Then he drew the woman to him. "Goodby, and God bless you, dear, till I come home tonight," he said in a voice softened with reverence.

There were actual tears in Alberta's eyes. Homely as was the setting, simple as was the scene, it had brought to her a revelation. After all, that was the real sum of life, was it not, dear God—love and a home and a clear, unbartered conscience?

"Well, if you still want to stay, I'm going out for a whisky and soda," Smart laughed unctuously, laying his heavy hand on hers as the curtain dropped on the second act. "You don't seem up to conversation tonight. I might as well have taken your aunt out—old lady's a corker when talk's scarce! If I'm not back by the time the curtain goes up don't get frightened. I'll be here before the bloomin' thing's over."

As he was turning out in the aisle unconsciously even to herself Alberta's eyes swept him from head to foot—shambling physique, obtrusive jewels and all. She shuddered involuntarily, pressing his ring which she wore rather sharply into her flesh.

Oh, if only the orchestra would play that "Spring Song" of Mendelssohn's She had been trying so hard to shut Robert Harvey out from her life, and this fetched him so vividly before her!

But, if I live with Idas, then we two
On the low earth shall prosper, hand in hand—

Those were the words from Stephen Phillips' "Marpessa" which Harvey had been wont to set to that music, saying, "They seem to be made for each other—just like you and I, sweetheart."

How ever in the world had she made herself able to give him up? It was her cursed love of luxury, she told herself, and what would luxury profit her without him? What a fool she had been! But the worst was yet to do. Tomorrow she was to write the letter which was to stab his dear heart like a knife.

—"and an awfully stunning fellow, regular Gibson type, you know. We tried to induce him to join us tonight; but, you see, he lives in Louisville."

Alberta turned her head ever so slightly. The people back of her who had been annoyed at Mr. Smart's inconsiderateness when he first came in were talking.

"And he leaves for the south tomorrow. Fancy arriving in fascinating old New York one day and leaving it the next! Ma says she'll warrant he has a sweetheart in Louisville, for he's dead set on going there immediately. This morning on deck just before we sailed into the harbor"— But "ma," who was from Chicago and full of western enterprise, finished the sentence for herself.

"I came on him unexpectedly, and what d'ye think he was doing? Leaning over the rail and looking at a picture in his watch. 'Ah-ha, Mr. Harvey!' I cried. 'You're caught at last! Will you let me see her picture?' 'In a few moments I'll show you the statue of Liberty instead,' said he, closing his watch softly and unstrapping his field glasses. And, would you believe it, the winning sweetness of his smile took all the sting out of his refusal."

"Why don't you strike for him, Maude, and cut the Louisville girl out?" came a laughing poser. "Or wasn't he looking for a rich wife?"

"Don't know, I'm sure," was the response. "But anyhow he's not rich. Got the information from his chum coming over—the one who's going to take us to the Union League reception tomorrow. He owns some sort of a plantation in Kentucky, however, and people there call him le grand seigneur 'cause he's considered so exclusive. It appears Mr. Harvey in his aristocratic poverty had a horror of the nouveaux riches." She snifled daintily and giggled.

The lights went down, the orchestra stopped playing, and the curtain went up on the third act.

Presently, having had one glass of whisky and soda too much, Smart came back. He looked at Alberta closely with a look before which she suddenly shrank. She'd seen it focused ere this on many things—his automobile, his diamonds, his horses—but never wholly on herself. That glance of possession shot through her nerves with a sickening humiliation.

"You'll loosen the stone in your ring if you keep turning it round like that," said Smart in a blurred whisper. "An' that sort of diamond ain't stumbled against every day, let me tell you."

At the close of the third act, although there was still the fourth to be played, Alberta turned to her companion.

"We'll go now," she said simply. But as he helped her on with her wrap he wondered at the strange, soft illumination of her face. It was an illumination he had never seen before, an illumination in which he knew instinctively he had no part.

When Smart, having got his hat and coat, joined her in the lobby and was about to call for a cab, one of the girl's hands went out to his ready arm, but the other deftly handed him his ring.

"I've decided you'd better keep it," she said calmly, while, his fingers closing tightly about the jewel, Smart gazed with amazement at her strange smile. "I'll explain to you as we walk along. No; not a cab. I prefer to walk. It isn't far to auntie's." She would not suffer his proximity, however brief, in a carriage.

"Have you gone mad?" he demanded, putting the bauble securely in his wallet. "Of all idiotic nonsense! And, besides, you're not dressed for walking."

"Oh, what does a little thing like that matter?" cried she, with almost a child's fresh joy in her voice. "Nothing matters now but the big things." And, gathering up her skirts, she added, half to herself, with a queer little thrill: "I'm going home tomorrow! I'm going home to Louisville tomorrow!"

Fought the Whole Class.

Many a year ago a "plebe" at the Naval academy astonished an upper class man by going to him and announcing, "See here, I don't like the way my class is being treated." The upper class man was nearly surprised out of his wits, but, recovering from his stupor (and only one who knows the full meaning of "rate" among the midshipmen can have a correct appreciation of what that announcement from a "plebe" to an upper class man carried), the "rating" demanded, "Midshipman, do you want to fight?" "That's what I am looking for." The fight was arranged and the "plebe" whipped his man, says the New York Herald. Then another youngster was supplied, and he went the way of the first, and so on until a half dozen had been discomfited. Sometimes several fights would follow in succession, when the "plebe" would say: "Gentlemen, I am tired now. I'll see you again another day." The academy authorities found out what was in progress and sent for the "plebe," and then, before official authority, he announced, "I can whip the whole class." It turned out that the "plebe" had been a prize fighter before entering the academy.

Millionaire Must Serve Half Time.

Paris, July 5.—Elliott F. Shepard, of New York, grandson of the late W. H. Vanderbilt, will have to serve at least six weeks of the three months' term, as well as pay fines of $150 and $4,000 for running down a little girl with his automobile at St. Ouen, in April, 1905. The Ministry of Justice refused to recommend a remission of the penalty, but will advise President Fallieres to reduce the term to six weeks.

SUBJECT DISARMAMENT

LORDS DISCUSS ARMAMENT VS. ARBITRATION.

Opinions of Three British Premiers, Lord Beaconsfield, Lord Salisbury and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman — Huge Sums Involved — The Proportion Between Navies Unchanged—Growth of Arbitration.

In the British House of Lords the other day there was a most important and interesting discussion on the subject of disarmament. So far as practical politics is concerned the question is one of reducing or limiting expenditure on armies and navies, and has traditional charms for a Liberal Government. The launching of the Dreadnaught and the order of the United States Government for the construction of a still larger vessel are recent events that seem at variance with the pious aspirations in the House of Lords. Nevertheless they may well have suggested them, for they tend to show the absolute waste of much of the huge sums that are annually expended on ships and armament. A vessel that is the wonder of the world to-day may be surpassed to-morrow, and of not much more value than a last year's straw hat. Intrinsically it may be as good as ever, but in comparison with its newer rivals it makes a sorry showing.

Three Premiers' Opinions.

Lord Avebury, in raising the question, quoted the opinions of the late Marquis of Salisbury, and Lord Beaconsfield. The former, in one of his last speeches, said the one hope we had of preventing the competition in armaments "from ending in a terrible effort of mutual destruction, which would be fatal to Christian civilization, is that the powers may gradually be brought to act together in a friendly spirit on all questions of difference which may arise, till at last they shall be wedded in some international constitution which shall give to the world, as a result of their great strength, a long spell of unfettered and prosperous trade and continued peace." Lord Beaconsfield, according to Sir Spencer Walpole, "saw more clearly than almost any other leading statesman that the strength of the country lay not in increased armament, but in its growing resources, and that if these resources were squandered in time of peace they would not be available in war."

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said in a speech delivered last December, "that, as the policy of huge armaments feeds the belief that force is the best, if not the only, solution of international differences, it becomes one of the highest tasks of the statesman to adjust armaments to the new and happier conditions."

Huge Sums Involved.

In the course of his address Lord Avebury gave some statistics of the amounts spent on armament by the great powers. He said that in the last ten years Britain had increased national and local expenditure by about £120,000,000, population has increased 10 per cent., indebtedness 21 per cent., and national expenditure 30 per cent. Evidently, therefore, the position was most serious and the matter urgent. Ten years ago naval and military expenditure was £95,600,000; last year it was £66,270,000. It was often said that this enormous increase had been forced on us by the increases in the armaments of foreign powers. The fact was that in the last ten years Italy had increased her naval and military expenditure by £1,500,000, France by £6,000,000, and Germany by £8,700,000, as compared with our increase of £20,000,000. The time seemed very suitable for some such action as was indicated in the Prime Minister's speech. Russia required rest to recover from the ruinous losses of the last war. France was friendly; Italy, certainly, was not for war. Austria, to her honor, had long been an influence making for peace, and all the great commercial cities of Germany knew, as we did, that peace was most important for each of us. The anxiety and uncertainty created necessarily tended to paralyze industry and drive manufactures into more peaceful regions. The United States had a population of 90,000,000 and Europe a population of about 350,000,000, some four times as great, and the area was about the same. But the expenditure of Europe on armaments was over £260,000,000 and that of the United States £40,000,000, while the number of men under arms was about 4,000,000 in Europe, against 100,000 in the United States. It was obvious that European manufacturers were heavily handicapped as against those of the United States."

The Proportion Unchanged.

The last point was well taken, but Lord Avebury might well have regretted that Germany, with a terrible disability of conception, which takes three years from the life of every able-bodied man, is yet forging to the front, and in many important lines is the greatest manufacturing country in the world. He went on to emphasise the weak point in the continual struggle for greater armies and more powerful vessels. The proportionate strength of navies remained about the same, whether Britain's naval power were estimated at 1,900,000 tons, France's at 730,000 tons, and Germany's at 750,000 tons, or whether all the cyphers were struck out. A portentous, even a wicked, waste was his characterization of this contest. Misery and revolutions he predicted unless something were done to limit the sums spent in armament.

The Growth of Arbitration.

The Bishop of Ripon feared that for the present disarmament was out of the question, but he dwelt upon the development of arbitration. From 1820 to 1830 only three disputes were thus settled, but from 1850 to 1890 there were 21. His hope was that the great nations might inaugurate some league of peace, but Lord Sanderson, who followed, showed that The Hague Conference of 1899 had failed to discover any formula fair to all nations. Moreover, there was no tribunal that could enforce its decisions against nations. War would be necessary to prevent war, an absurd conclusion. The world must be satisfied with slow advances. Peace was a plant that grew by decades.

At the Hague.

Lord Fitzmaurice, speaking for the Government, said it would be proper for Britain to protest in a friendly spirit against another power increasing its armament in the belief that Britain meditated some act of aggression. That the representatives of the British Government would bring the whole matter up for discussion at the next Peace Conference was a half-promise that may properly be considered of much importance.

BOY ROVER'S FUTURE.

Lad Who Went Through Canada on 10,000 Mile Trip to Be a Sailor.

Young Stanley Condor, the adventurous boy traveler, whose latest exploit was a stowaway voyage from New York to Liverpool, had his future decided for him by the deputy-stipendiary of Liverpool.

Recently Stanley was remanded to the workhouse, the suggestion being that he should be placed in a reformatory. Mr. Kinghorn, however, has fallen in with the view expressed by The Weekly Dispatch that a lad of such qualities as Condor should not be placed in the restrictive confines of a reformatory. The other day the deputy-stipendiary said that he was reluctant to send the boy to such an institution. There was nothing criminal in his roving propensities and he had the making of a good man in him. He had, therefore, decided to send him to the training ship Clio, stationed at Bangor, until he was sixteen years of age.

The Clio is a vessel on which only unconvicted boys can be received. Young Stanley Condor will there be trained for the merchant service.

Stanley Condor was taken to Winnipeg by his father early this year, and was twice detected by the railway authorities concealed on trains for Montreal. His third attempt succeeded and from Montreal he traveled in the same way free to New York, where he stayed three days, doing odd jobs. Tired of American life, he secreted himself on the liner Victorian for Liverpool.

There was a pleased expression on his face when he knew he was to be sent to the Clio. It was somewhat amusing to notice how closely he was watched by the police officials in court. He has a reputation for slipperiness, and those who had charge of him seemed possessed with a haunting fear that he might vanish before their eyes.

Costly Old Chairs.

There seems to be no limit to the prices people pay nowadays for old furniture, prints, paintings, or china. More than £28,000 was realized at Christie's, London, recently by the sale of exceptionally interesting and valuable art objects.

One of the principal features of the sale was the disposal of a set of eight Chippendale mahogany chairs, which, after exceedingly brisk bidding, were knocked down for the record price of 1,160 guineas.

The chairs have rectangular seats and backs covered with old English petit-point needlework, with compositions of figures, trees, and views of buildings in colored silks. The borders and legs are pierced and carved with trellis work, foliage, and rosettes under Chinese influence.

Enormous interest was taken in the chairs, and when the bidding closed at 1,260 guineas, or the record price of nearly 160 guineas a chair, there was an outburst of applause.

A set of seven old Worcester vases fetched 2,500 guineas—the highest price ever given for specimens of English porcelain.

The vases have a mottled dark blue ground, the necks being pierced with a band of diamond-shape panels. Each vase is finely painted with exotic birds and branches in colors in heart-shaped panels, with gilt scroll-pattern borders.

Another group of fine Worcester vases brought only 620 guineas.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4... of the Statutes of Ontario, 1906, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $3,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, dated 1st July, 1906, and payable

$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1926,
$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1936,

with coupons attached for interest at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st January and the 1st July in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto. Bonds will be of the denominations of $200, $500, and $1,000, and will be payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders may be exchanged for Ontario Government Stock bearing the same rate of interest.

The issue price during the month of July, 1906, will be par, and after the 31st July, 1906, the issue price will be par and accrued interest.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of amounts up to $1,000 will be required to send certified cheque with the application. For amounts over $1,000 payment for subscription may be made in instalments 10 per cent. on application, 10 per cent 1st August, 10 per cent. 1st September, 10 per cent. 1st October, 10 per cent 1st November, and 50 per cent. 1st December, 1906, with privilege of paying at an earlier date, the interest on instalment subscriptions being adjusted on 1st January, 1907.

In the event of any subscriber for bonds payable by instalments failing to make payment of subsequent instalments, the bonds may be sold and any loss incurred will be charged to the purchaser in default.

Forms of subscription (when payable by instalments) may be obtained on application to the Treasury Department.

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario and is chargeable thereupon.

All cheques should be made payable to the order of "The Provincial Treasurer of Ontario," and subscribers should state the denominations and terms (20 or 30 years) of bonds desired.

A. J. MATHESON,
Provincial Treasurer.

He Could Not Stop Drinking

Detroit, July 6.—Edward F. Gough, a resident of Toronto, attempted to commit suicide by drowning himself in the Detroit River. He was rescued by Robert Girdine, a watchman, and when taken to a hotel he was so overpowered with joy at his rescue that he wept.

Despondency over the fear that he could not stop drinking was the cause of Gough's rash act. He went to the river, laid his hat and coat on the bank near the ferry slip, and plunged into the water.

Girdine pulled him out of the water with a pike pole, catching the hook in Gough's clothing.

In the pocket of his coat was found the following note addressed to Mrs. Esther Gough, at the Brandon House, Toronto: "Drink has me in its clutches mother, I can't resist it. It is better for me to die. My insurance will take care of you. Goodbye."

Gough was employed as a traveling salesman by the American Novelty Company, of Chicago.

A Perfect Bowel Laxative for constipation, sallow complexion, headache, dizziness, sour stomach, coated tongue, biliousness. Lax-ets act promptly, without pain or griping. Pleasant to take—Lax-ets—only 5 cents. Sold by J. D. Tully.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Improve Your Complexion

Give Up Cosmetics and Seek the Cause of Your Bad Color.

When it's so easy to bring back the bloom of youth, to remove the blemishes and fill the hollows, isn't it foolish to plaster on cosmetics?

Sallowed skin and fallen in cheeks are produced by disorders of the alimentary canal.

Remove the cause—correct the condition that keeps you from looking as you ought. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and very soon you'll have a complexion to be proud of.

Just imagine how much happier you will feel when those pimples and muggy look have gone.

Dainty Looks came to Miss Vrooman, a well-known resident of Belfast, from using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Read what she says:

"My friends all admit that I have a very delightful complexion. This I owe positively to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I used to look so yellow I thought it might be jaundice. There was simply no color in my cheeks at all. Today my skin is clear and never gets that murky, dull appearance it had before. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have also given me a good appetite and improved my general health also."

Not only the complexion, but every organ of the body is strengthened, cleansed and made healthy by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Buoyancy, vim and a feeling of vigor invariably follow their use. Sold in yellow boxes by all dealers: 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Fishery Inspector Seizes Nets

Inspector Johnston Seizes Two Gill Nets at Riddell's Bay.

Fishery Inspector D. Johnston, who returned to the city yesterday on Wednesday night was down the Otonabee on the watch for lawbreakers. About 10.30 he sent a breakers. About 10.30 he saw a couple of men in a canoe, paddling along in the shadow at Riddell's Bay near Bensford Bridge. The actions of these men raised suspicion, and Mr. Johnston began to get busy. In the bay across the creek he found two fine new gill nets stretched. These he at once seized and brought to the city yesterday.

The two men who had placed the nets made their escape in the dark.

Local Industry is Mentioned.

The Hamilton Times says: — The Canadian General Electric Works, of Peterborough, have imported thirty-two young mechanics to work in the factory. They are from England, Scotland, Germany and Switzerland, and all were working in England. Most of them left good jobs to come here. They are tool makers, fitters, machinists and brass fitters. We suppose the company must have failed in getting such men in Canada before going abroad for them.

The Half-Holiday Not Generally Kept

It now seems as though the Thursday half holiday idea were going to die a natural death. Yesterday several of our local merchants called up The Times to say that the Thursday half holiday, unless observed generally is an imposition on those who keep it, as others do not close up, and thus catch customers of the merchants closing their stores. It is now up to the merchants to decide whether this matter of the half holiday is to be a general affair or not.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

That the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at the published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous or harmful agents and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful ingredient in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

A booklet of extracts from eminent, medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday morning the Tired Tim and Weary Willie clubs had a feast of reason at the police court.

Four boys named Killinbeck, Moss, Beckill and McClelland were charged with trespassing in Mr. Alf. Pearson's strawberry patch. All pleaded guilty except Killinbeck, who was proved not to be connected with the case.

The magistrate fined each of the three boys $2 to be paid forthwith or ten days in gil. He said he was not going to have boys robbing people's grounds and if they appeared before him again they would get a heavier fine.

Charles Finn pleaded guilty to being drunk and was assessed $2.00, which he paid.

John Pogue was charged with assaulting Ernest Wood. Wood failed to prove his case and it was thrown out.

Robert Smith was charged with using grossly insulting language toward Alfred Sherwood. Smith denied the charge and as Sherwood only had his own evidence, he failed to proved it, so the case was dismissed.

A resident of the east ward was charged with having turned too long with the alluring booze but was dismissed with a warning.

The Lacrosse Game is Postponed

The big lacrosse match, which was to have been played here this afternoon between the Ontarios of Port Hope, and the Peterborough Shamrocks has been postponed till Thursday, July 12th, which will be a half holiday here.

This game will be one of the best of the season, and, being played on the holiday, should attract a large crowd.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy—when used faithfully will reach chronic and difficult cases heretofore regarded as incurable by physicians and is the most reliable prescription known to clean out and completely remove every vestige of rheumatic poison from the blood. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Mean Thieves at Jackson Park

Yesterday afternoon the wife of a well known local railway official, took her children out to Jackson Park, intending to take supper at that beautiful spot. The lady, who for obvious reasons, desired her name omitted in this report, after leaving her basket under a tree in the park, took her little ones for a stroll.

On her return to have supper she found three hulking fellows in the act of eating the last of the lunch she had brought out.

When she attempted to remonstrate with these contemptible thieves, they simply laughed at her and walked away.

If this sort of thing is allowed to go on Jackson Park will soon miss the patronage it now gets. An example should be made of such fellows.

Home Bank Is Well Fixed Has Surplus--Pays Dividend

After Only Five Months a Six Per Cent. Dividend is Paid--Reserve Fund to Start Out With---Interesting Meeting Held.

The Toronto daily papers have given an unusual amount of attention to the prosperous affairs of The Home Bank of Canada. The fact that this institution has secured one of the most centrally located banking premises in Toronto, and is able to report a surplus and pay a six per cent. dividend after only five months' work, has called forth some favorable notice. The Toronto "World" of June 27th, made the following editorial comment:—

"The annual meeting of the Home Bank of Canada, brings to public notice features of banking that rather exceed the general anticipations of what a new institution of this status may accomplish within a given time. It is scarcely to be expected that a new bank shall pay a dividend within the first five months of its active operations, but since the Home Bank has really declared a dividend, very much within the prohibited time, it ought be explained that the Home is not an entirely new institution. Just as the Toronto Savings Bank of 1855 carried its resources into the Home Savings and Loan Company of 1878, so the Home Bank of Canada begins life with the experience and support of the 28 years activities of the Home Savings. The Home Bank has done well, but it must be remembered that it has not started from the very beginning, and therefore may enjoy a decided advantage over the several banking institutions that have recently been launched with new charters and a clientele yet to be acquired."

TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS EXPERIENCE

The following account of The Home Bank's Annual Meeting is taken from the Toronto "Globe" of June 28th. It will be noticed that the "Globe" does not speak of The Home Bank as being an entirely new institution:—

The first annual general meeting of the shareholders of The Home Bank of Canada was held on Tuesday at the head offices, 3 West King street. The original charter of the institution dates from 1854, when the Toronto Savings Bank was launched. In 1875 the bank developed into the "Home Savings & Loan Company," and operations were begun under a form of charter which entirely filled the needs of the time. Of recent years industrial activities in Canada have made a wider prospect for the scope of business banking, and so the Savings & Loan Company, after twenty-eight years' activity in most of the departments of finance associated with banking, took up the original scope of its charter again and became The Home Bank of Canada.

THE SHAREHOLDERS' SECURITY.

The Home Bank of Canada is just six months old this present month. If it were entirely a new bank, with a new list of shareholders and a new executive, it would not have to be reported that a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. had been paid for the first five months of the bank's operations. But aside from the dividend, the general statement, issued recently, shows some very conservative figures. There is a reserve fund equal to one-quarter of the entire subscribed stock. This is an item of security for the shareholders, which, like the dividend, can scarcely be produced within any short period of development, and in addition there is a profit and loss account of $9,503.28.

WHERE THE DEPOSITORS COME IN.

The depositors of The Home Bank of Canada may read with satisfaction that the sum of nearly four millions of dollars of the public's money which the bank holds is placed so as to be readily convertible into cash. In fact the great bulk of this money is a cash asset for the bank. Something over three million four hundred thousand of this sum is secured by collateral loans on stocks, bonds and debentures, and the money is therefore returnable to the bank at any time it may be demanded. Of the remainder, over $400,000 is in debentures, and the balance, nearly $700,000, is actual cash. The current loans to businessmen, and paper discounted for their accommodation, is a small item in comparison, amounting to $284,000.

HAS FOLLOWED THE TRIED METHODS.

An analysis of The Home Bank's general statement shows that the institution has taken its place solidly among the chartered banks of Canada without any resort to methods of "high finance." Although there has been a change of name and a broader scope of activities, the newer institution has carried the support of its old clientele, while the new charter has brought in a very perceptible gain of deposits. The notes issued by the bank have proved most attractive, and the circulation is rapidly increasing.

A REPRESENTATIVE MEETING.

The meeting was called to order at noon. Among those present were:—D. E. Bull, T. H. Bull, John Batho, Wm. Cooke, Wm. Crocker, Lieut.-Col. John I. Davidson, Arthur R. Denison, Lankt Fitzgerald, Major F. A. Fleming, Thos. Flynn, Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., Edward Galley, E. G. Goodorham, W. J. Green, James Gunn, M. J. Haney, C.E., Widmer Hawke, Joseph Hobson, H. T. Kelly, W. T. Kernahan; Wm. Lavole, Paris, Ont.; Lieut.-Col. James Mason, Isaac Moody, W. Parkyn Murray, J. Cooper Mason, R. L. McIntyre, Dr. Alex. McPhedran, C. E. P. McWilliams, Eugene O'Keefe, W. H. Partridge, Lieut.-Col. Sir H. M. Pellatt, Alex. Robertson, J. S. Robertson, James Scott, R. B. Street, Arnold W. Thomas, Milton A. Thomas, J. A. Todd and John White.

THE ORDER OF BUSINESS.

It was moved by Mr. Wm. Cooke, seconded by Mr. M. J. Haney, C.E., that the President, Mr. Eugene O'Keefe, should take the chair.

It was moved by Mr. Wm Crocker, seconded by Mr. Widmer Hawke, that the General Manager, Lieut.-Col. James Mason, should act as Secretary. The Secretary then read the Directors' Report as follows:—

"The directors beg to present their report showing the result of the business of the bank for the period ending the first of May, 1906, and its position on that date.

"In accordance with and under authority of the resolution duly passed for that purpose, the bank on the first of December, 1905, took over and assumed the liabilities of the Home Savings & Loan Company, Limited, consisting entirely of deposits amounting to $3,339,675.37, and received from that company assets of equal value and amount, and such as the bank could legally hold and acquire.

"The bank opened for business on the next legal day, the 2nd of January, 1906, in its new premises, Nos. 3 and 13 West King street, and also in the two offices in which the company had been doing business, viz., No. 73 Church street and No. 522 West Queen street, all in Toronto. Since then branches have been opened at the following points:—Alliston, Walkerville, St. Thomas, Brownsville, Shedden, and Lawrence Station, all in Ontario. Arrangements have also been made for the opening of a branch at Fernie, B. C., and business will be begun there shortly.

"The profits for the five months during which the bank has been doing business have enabled your directors to declare a dividend for that period at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, and add the sum of $9,489.80 to the profit and loss account, which now amounts to $9,503.28."

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President moved the adoption of the report, which was seconded by the Vice-President, Mr. Thomas Flynn. The President then spoke as follows:—

"We now meet at the first annual general gathering of the shareholders of the bank to receive and adopt the annual report of the directors and to elect directors for the new year.

"You will see by the statement now in your hands that the bank has been successful in its first five months' business, the net profits for that period being equal to 10 per cent. on the average capital paid up for the same term, which was about $500,000. A dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum has been declared, and paid, and the balance placed to profit and loss account.

"The taking over of the business of the Home Savings & Loan Company, Limited, was carried out on the 31st of December, 1905, and in a manner most satisfactory to both institutions.

"The preliminary expenses, which must necessarily accompany the organization of a new bank, have been paid off and a substantial amount placed to the credit of profit and loss account to meet future development.

"The stock has been well taken, some $510,000 being now subscribed, and $781,000 paid thereon. The shares are well distributed and divided among over four hundred shareholders. The directors have been very fortunate in having been able to secure for the bank's head office so handsome and so centrally situated premises. The other city offices will be in keeping with their locations.

"Branches have been opened at points considered suitable and advantageous for business, and the bank's operations will be extended whenever thought desirable.

"It is satisfactory to note the increase in the bank's deposits over the amount taken over from the Home Savings & Loan Company, Limited, when the fact is considered that the business has been practically confined to the city of Toronto and to three branches.

"The zeal and ability displayed by the officers of the bank have been very satisfactory."

THANKS TENDERED THE EXECUTIVE.

After the adoption of the report it was moved by Mr. D. E. Bull, seconded by Mr. M. A. Thomas, that the thanks of the shareholders are due and are hereby tendered to the President, Vice-President and Directors for their careful attention to the interests of the bank.

On motion by Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., seconded by Mr. James Gunn, the following motion was adopted:—"That the thanks of the shareholders be tendered to the General Manager and other officers of the bank for the efficient manner in which they performed their respective duties."

It was moved by Lieut.-Col. John I. Davidson and seconded by Mr Henry M. Pellatt, that the poll be now opened for the election of directors for the ensuing year, and that the same be closed whenever five minutes shall have elapsed without a vote having been tendered, and that Messrs. W. T. Kernahan and F. A. Fleming be the scrutineers to take the vote, and that they report the result to this meeting.

THE OLD BOARD RE-ELECTED.

The ballot resulted in the re-election of the old board as follows:—Eugene O'Keefe, Thomas Flynn, Edward G. Gooderham, M. J. Haney, C.E., W. Parkyn Murray, Lieut.-Col. J. I. Davidson and Lieut.-Col. James Mason.

At a meeting of the new board, held immediately after the close of the above, Mr. Eugene O'Keefe was re-elected President, and Mr. Thomas Flynn re-elected Vice-President of the Bank.

Chloride Gold Mining Co.

I believe, one of the best mining propositions ever placed on the Canadian market. The capital stock of the Company is $1,000,000, divided into one million shares par value of one dollar each. All stock fully paid and non-assessable, with no personal liability whatever. The Company is splendidly officered, the President and Manager being an experienced practical miner.

The property is situated on Shrum Shrum Mountain, 1 1-2 miles east of the Town of Chloride, Arizona, and the Jumbo Group, 2½ miles distant. 120 acres in all.

I unhesitatingly recommend this stock to my clients, and will be pleased to furnish further information on application. In a few days a full description of the property will appear in these columns. Watch for it.

All Night Voting On Amendments

It Was 3.25 Saturday Morning When Sunday Bill Passed--Bourassa, Monk and Borden Amendment Successfully Voted Down.

Ottawa, July 8.—In the cool gray dawn of "a morning after," the Sunday bill, at 3.25 Saturday morning, received its third reading. The vote was 77 to 39 and was a party one, save that Bourassa and Lavergne voted with the Opposition. The climax came after a series of votes on amendments. Bourassa's amendment "that a clause be inserted providing that the act should not go into force in any province of Canada until the legislature of the province has enacted that said act shall apply to such province," was lost—years 15; nays, 104.

Monk's amendment "that the House while recognizing the sanctity of the Lord's Day and the necessity of securing to all classes proper legislation for the proper observance of the that day according to each one's conscientious convictions, is of the opinion that the matter of Sunday legislation should be left at present with the various provinces of the Dominion," was lost by 15 yeas to 102 nays.

R. L. Borden's amendment "to prohibit, except where authorized by provincial legislature, any games on Sunday, even when not played for reward or gain, and to permit the charging of an admission fee to places where divine worship was conducted was defeated by 39 to 77.

The vote on the third reading was then taken and resulted; Yeas 39, nays 77.

BOURASSA'S ARGUMENT.

It was broad daylight when many members of the house and gallery left the building. Never has the House appeared to such small advantage as during the debates and divisions that concluded the Sunday bill.

Mr. Bourassa made a good speech, but it had the Ottawa failing. It was five times too long. One remarkable declaration was to the effect that perhaps after all education should have been made an exclusively provincial matter. He pointed out that under the guise of criminal law this Parliament might usurp every function intended to be provincial, and said;

"By following this precedent, which has been adopted for the first time since confederation, we could under the name of criminal law, enact legislation which would interfere with the liberty of the individual as well as with the liberty of the province. We could for example step in to the place of the province and declare it a crime to spit on the sidewalks; we could declare it a crime to allow animals to wander free on the roadways; we could declare it a crime to hold religious processions on the streets; we could declare it a crime to wear religious garbs on the streets; we could declare it a crime for parents to send their children to separate schools instead of public schools. Sir, if we adopt this principle which is at the bottom of this legislation, there is no reason why any future parliament of Canada should not encroach upon the rights of every province—rights which have hitherto been exercised by the provinces under sections 92, 93 and 95 of the British North America Act. And instead of leaving these provinces free to adopt laws for the policing and good order of their inhabitants, we could step in and define criminal offences, and thereby take it upon ourselves to control the policy of all the provinces of Canada.

THE DESIRE FOR A LAW.

"But, I am told, everybody in Canada wants a Sunday law. Yes, everybody in Canada wants a Sunday law just as everybody in Canada wants a school law, and municipal law, and police laws. But just as we want police laws, and school laws and municipal laws to be left to the provinces, so that they may be framed according to the wishes, habits, the traditions and the needs of the people of each province, in the same way we want a Sunday law to be framed according to the needs, the habits, the traditions of the various provinces.

"The fathers of confederation wisely thought that these matters which came in contact with the religious beliefs, the social conditions, the secular habits of the people should be left to the provinces, so that this parliament might not be the theater of social and religious strife, and so it was decided in our constitution that questions of this kind should remain within the jurisdiction of the provinces.

AN ACT OF ENCROACHMENT.

"So in the same way it was in their mind that legislation of this kind should remain within the jurisdiction of every province, and I repeat that by this act of legislation we are for the first time encroaching in the most direct way upon the spirit of the constitution and upon one of those questions, which in the minds of the fathers of confederation, should be left outside of the province of this parliament.

"It is enough, sir, that in their wisdom—or perhaps in their lack of wisdom this is a question that has never yet been decided—it is enough that the fathers of confederation should have thought proper to enact one article by which some jurisdiction has been given to this parliament to interfere in the educational laws of the various provinces.

"We all know the sad experience we have had in this country as to the operations of clause 93, and we should now enlarge the door and open the gates for further troubles that come in close touch with those religious feelings and social habits of the various peoples who have this country, even more perhaps than do a social legislation."

Although the house did not adjourn till half-past three Saturday morning, there was a fair attendance at the session which opened at eleven o'clock.

MR. AYLESWORTH OBJECTS.

Mr. Aylesworth rose to a question of privilege. Two days ago he had been misjudged in the Toronto World. He was reported as saying that he believed and hoped that there was no likelihood of public ownership in Canada. He had not used the expression "hoped." The House recognized the verbal distinction because the minister of justice did not deny that as a matter of fact he did hope and desire the prevention of public ownership.

When he had finished, Hon. George E. Foster rose and with mock solemnity extended his assurance of profound sympathy.

"Is nobody to be brought to the bar?" asked Mr. Fielding, jocosely, and the incident closed amid a general chorus of merriment.

The estimates of the department of agriculture were taken up. On a vote of $20,000 for the archives branch, Mr. Fisher urged the importance of the work of collecting historical art here and in Europe.

Dr. Stockton invited the minister to ask for a sufficient amount to have the cataloguing work brought up to date. The House should not be niggardly.

Hon. George E. Foster urged that Dr. Doughty, who is in charge of the branch, be given enough to enable him to do the work effectively.

R. L. Borden paid a very high tribute to Dr. Doughty.

EARTH'S LIFE WILL BE LONG

Prof. Thwing Declares Planet Will Exist Hundreds of Millions of Years.

ASTRONOMERS IN ERROR

Internal Heat From Radio Activity Hailed as The Preserving Element.

Cleveland, O., July 9.—In a war lasting for centuries the geologists have won from the astronomers. The question at issue was as to how long this earth will be habitable.

Professor Charles Burton Thwing, of Cleveland, is the man who, single-handed, has put the men of the stars to rout.

Not all of the enemy have been vanquished as yet, but they will be in a short time. There still remain a few details to be cleaned up about the edge of the battlefield before the astronomers will acknowledge absolute defeat. That this will be done Professor Thwing is confident.

Men of science are said to have the patience of Job. So it is that a matter of a few weeks, more or less, in announcing that geologists had won the last battle of the long war did not disturb the winner or his associates, and the formal announcement was not made to the public until Friday.

Then it was that the earth first learned that it would not be left alone in the course of ten or fifteen million years, as it long supposed, but would be forced to bear an ever increasing population for many hundred million years. It is said that the earth trembled perceptibly upon being informed of this fact. At least that is the cause ascribed for the nervous wanderings of the tracing needle of the seismograph in college laboratories.

RADIO ACTIVITY IS WINNING FACTOR.

The winning stroke of the war was that all common metals, rocks and other materials have an internal temperature due to radio activity. Although his measurements have all been in millionths of a degree, Professor Thwing has estimated that there is enough of this internal heat, together with that from the sun, to keep the earth at its present temperature for several hundred millions of years. This is what geologists have always claimed but have been unable to prove. The astronomers long have declared it could not be proven because it was not so. They figured the habitable life of the earth at ten million years, or thereabouts. Lord Kelvin was willing to stake his reputation on the assertion of the astronomers, but at the last minute he added to his statement, "if there is no other source of heat." The "if," Professor Thwing says, keeps Lord Kelvin's reputation intact.

RESULT OF MUCH STUDY.

Professor Thwing has worked long and hard to solve the problem of where radio activity can be found. In a small room in the basement of the physics laboratory at Western Reserve University, he has worked day and night since last fall, and to him but a small part of the labor is over. He has found radio activity in only a few substances, and it takes at least four days to test one substance.

The discovery was made through the agency of a delicate galvonometer. It is a recognized fact in physics that when two opposite metals are joined together and the joint heated, a current of electricity will flow through the metals, and can be noted when the metals are connected with a galvonometer. Professor Thwing wound 116 of these joints about the material he tested, figuring that if there was any internal heat it would warm the joints and send a current of electricity into the galvonometer.

SUCCESS CROWNS EXPERIMENTS.

To keep his materials at a uniform temperature he packed everything except the galvonometer in a refrigerator. When the materials had been cooled to the same temperature as the ice, there still was noted a slight temperature. It was only the smallest fraction of a degree, but it continued for days. This temperature; Professor Thwing says, is due to radio activity. The estimated radio activity in a carload of coal, sixty tons, Professor Thwing said, would be something less than one-thousandth of a degree Fahrenheit.

Professor Thwing is conducting his research under the auspices of the American Society of Arts and Sciences, which has a fund devoted to defraying the expenses of scientists who care to work for the common good.

Professor Thwing, although still a young man, has devoted many years to scientific work. He was with Dr. Leonard, of Germany, whose "Leonard rays" were taken up and developed by Dr. Roentgen. Prior to coming to Cleveland Professor Thwing taught for four years in Syracuse University. He is a distant relative of President Thwing, of Western Reserve College.

Guard Shoots Picket.

New York, July 9.—In a fight between a number of striking truck drivers and two guards employed by the firm against which a strike was declared, one of the strikers was wounded, probably mortally, another slightly hurt, and two guards painfully injured.

Will We Have Races This Year?

There is still a possibility that this city may have races during the present season. It seems that some difficulty exists in getting a few of the members to pay in their subscriptions to stock.

In 1902 the Peterborough Turf Club was reorganized with J. M. Brooks president, R. H. Munro, treasurer, and A. Rountree, secretary. The club started with an empty treasury, but were able next spring to put four nearly $400 on the track and other improvements, and also to obtain a charter for the track. In the summer of 1903 a most successful race meet was held at which $2,300 was given in prizes. There was between $100 and $200 in the treasury, when new officers were elected. Each man had two shares of stock paid up.

Messrs. Munro, Jackson and Rountree, held a meeting last summer and cleared off the debt, leaving the club in a most healthy financial condition. The rent is paid up for 1907. If such could be done it seems a pity that a city the importance of Peterborough cannot even raise enough money to hold at least one successful horse race during the summer.

The Cause of Appendicitis.

Paris, July 9.—The discussion of appendicitis continues in the Academy of Medicine. The presence of intestinal worms in the appendix is the cause, according to one section. Of rare occurrence the lodging of a cherry stone or some such foreign body in the vermiform appendix is the cause of the disease.

CAN'T DO IT, SAYS MAXIM

Wellman Will Never Reach the Pole in a Balloon.

London, July 9.—Sir Hiram Maxim, the well known engineer, is sceptical concerning Walter Wellman's chance of success in his forthcoming attempt to reach the North Pole by means of an airship. Sir Hiram says: "Any balloon, whether it is called a gas bag or an airship, is completely useless for Arctic exploration. No motor-propelled balloon has yet been invented that is manageable except in a dead calm. The invention of a really dirigible airship may be accomplished in the near future. We have the motors, materials and necessary mechanical skill, but an immense sum of money is necessary for the experiment. That is the drawback. It will be done some day, and we will then be able to go to the Pole and return in safety, but Wellman's so-called airship, which, in plain English, is a balloon, will not do it."

Two Charged With Killing Thirteen.

Altoona, Pa., July 9.—Two Hungarian miners, brothers, employed at the Puritan Coal Company's mines, are under arrest charged with murdering thirteen non-union miners. They are accused of having released the brake on a car and starting it down the steep grade towards Martin's Curve, where it jumped the track and ran down the men.

Labor Union Official Arrested.

New York, July 9.—Samuel Platt, secretary of the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union, was held in $2,500 bail in police court on a charge of grand larceny. Louis Miller went to a warrant on which Platt was arrested, that he had paid Platt $20 for credentials, certifying that he (Miller) was a member of the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union. Assistant District Attorney Murphy states that seventeen witnesses will swear that they paid Platt and two other officers like sums for union cards. The applicants for membership must pass an examination before representatives of various locals, and pay a fee of $25.

57th to Go to Niagara Falls.

There is good reason to believe that the 57th Regiment will visit Niagara Falls for the annual trip of the corps next summer. The regiment was invited there this year and the invitation was considered at the same time as the Brantford invitation, but it was deemed advisable to go to the Telephone City.

Messrs. Jas. Johnston, J. Weir, Ed. Flaherty, wife and family, J. E. Best, John T. O'Connell and other local citizens, who have been spending a few days in Rochester returned home yesterday morning after a very rough passage both ways.

Ulcer of the Stomach

Insidious Nature of the Disease--How to Recognize and Cure It.

Ulcer of the stomach may exist for years without very marked symptoms, excepting those caused by indigestion.

In good health, the stomach resists the action of the gastric juices, but when weakened, the membrane is badly nourished and the digestive fluids act upon it as well as upon the food, keeping up until perforation of the stomach occurs. In advanced cases of ulcer of the stomach there is much discomfort after eating, with a constant gnawing sensation between meals, pain from the pit of the stomach back to the shoulder blade.

At the first symptoms of indigestion, treatment should at once be started with Mi-o-na. This is a scientific remedy adapted specifically to one purpose, the cure of stomach.

Mi-o-na is not a patent or secret remedy, but is a combination of the purest and most reliable of remedies for strengthening the digestive organs and building up the whole system. It costs but 50c. a box. Use it for a few days and there is no reason why you should not be able to eat any food you like at any time without fear of distress.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The E. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

Runaway Cars Crash Into Engine

Bad Accident on T. & N. O. Railway Near New Liskeard---Victims Were on Platform of Two Coaches Which Broke Away.

New Liskeard, Ont., July 8.—The first bad accident on the T. & N. O. occurred at 6.20 o'clock last night when, through the breaking of a coupling while a train was pulling up a heavy grade, three men were killed and several others injured, among the hurt being G. S. Stearns, the Grand Trunk Pacific agent at New Liskeard, whose leg was broken in two places. The accident occurred about 35 miles north of New Liskeard on the portion of the line operated by Contractor A. R. McDonnell.

At a point known as Swanson's Cut there is a grade so heavy that an auxiliary engine is kept on hand to push the trains over the rise. Yesterday afternoon a heavy train under Engineer O'Connor made a dash at the grade and the auxiliary in charge of Engineer Brown followed to lend assistance. When the train had climbed a considerable distance Brown noticed that the two rear coaches had broken away and were pushing down upon him.

He brought his engine to a standstill, but had not time to back away before they smashed into his cow-catcher. The first of the passenger coaches stopped dead, telescoping the baggage car, which followed.

The three unfortunate men were standing on the platform between the two cars and were instantly crushed to death.

In the car the passengers were thrown about violently, a number being scratched and cut, though not seriously, and Mr. Stearns having his leg broken. He is resting easily in his house in New Liskeard. The three deceased are also of New Liskeard.

THE DEAD.

L. C. Potter, who is a man of advanced years, is said to have a wife but no children in Yarmouth, N.S.

F. Mills, who is a prospector, is a man of middle age, about whom practically nothing is known. In his pocket was found an envelop containing a letter addressed to F. Mills. It bore a Detroit postmark.

Percy Jordan, a cook, in whose pocket was a letter from his wife in Carleton Place.

The train officials, all escaped and the damage to rolling stock is trifling.

City May Lose Growing Industry

It now seems that this city may lose one of its most promising industries. It is understood that the directors of the Colonial Weaving Company, one of the city's rapidly growing industries, has decided in view of the fact that the city council had broken faith with the company in connection with the bylaw giving the property a fixed assessment, and finding it necessary to secure larger premises to accommodate the growth of the business, to open negotiations with some other town or city.

About two years ago a bylaw was passed in the council granting the company a fixed assessment of $4,000 on the property here, but a clause provided that it should be inoperative until it should have been sanctioned by the legislature, as the law provided. After passing the bylaw, however, the council allowed it to drop and it was not included in the private bill introduced into the Legislature at the next session.

The company now employs some 85 hands and pays out $11,000 a year in wages.

Millions of Feet of Lumber Burned.

Beaumont, Tex., July 9.—A total loss of $700,000 is estimated as the result of a fire which destroyed the Sabine Lumber Mills, together with 25,000,000 feet of lumber and numerous buildings.

Told Sixteen Years in Mortar.

Hespeler, July 9.—While repairing the tower of the Evangelical church here, built some sixteen years ago, workmen found a toad which had evidently been immured there in the mortar since the tower was erected. The toad is lively and evidently enjoyed his close quarters.

Liquor Men Gleeful at Owen Sound

Owen Sound, July 8.—The ecstasy of the liquor men of the town, resulting from the quashing of the local option bylaw by Mr. Justice Mabee's decision, has scarcely yet subsided. When the news reached town yesterday afternoon the liquor men promenaded the streets of the town, laughing and shaking hands with [illegible] were crowded with men, but very few were seen intoxicated. Flags are floating above every hotel, with the exception of the Owen Sound Hotel Company's two temperance hotels. The temperance people are, of course, somewhat crest-fallen, but hope to win the appeal which will be entered by the Town Council.

Child Burned to Death.

Winnipeg, July 9.—The 19 months old daughter of Robert White, of Colton, five miles north of Lacombe, Alta., was burned to death in a fire which destroyed the farm house. The child was sleeping at the time.

COBALT
—THE—
WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited
Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq. Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.
SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Send for full particulars to

DANIEL SIMPSON,
Address for next 60 days, Queen's Hotel, Toronto
Permanent Address: P. O. Box 129, COBALT.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE-GERMS?

Yes, and becomes "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter.

With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and instills vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No abler restorative is known than Ferrozone; its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Walton, P.O., Que., who received enormous benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"I didn't get enough sleep at night and felt poorly in the day time.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

ARBITRATION DISPLACING WAR

Any one who has carefully followed the arbitration movement during the decade since 1896, including the work and results of The Hague conference, to say nothing of the nearly 200 cases of dispute settled by this means in the previous eighty years, knows that arbitration can no longer fairly be spoken of as an experiment.

Arbitration is not any longer an experiment, nor even a series of experiments. It is now the settled practice of the civilized nations when disputes arise between them, and is universally recognized in international law. A government which will not try arbitration before resorting to arms is, in these days, scarcely considered respectable. War, instead of being the general practice of nations, as it was a century ago, when serious disputes arose between them, is no longer resorted to except in rare instances, and in most of these instances the causes run back into the past and have created deep prejudices and deeply-rooted feelings of distrust and animosity which do not readily yield to pacific treatment.

During the decade of which we are speaking there have been four wars; the Chinese-Japan war, the Spanish-American Philippine war, the Boer war and the Russo-Japanese war; or nine if we add to these the Boxer conflict in China, the German war in South-Western Africa, still going on, the Venezuela blockade, the Thibet expedition and the bloodless Panama revolution. But during the same period there have been almost a hundred settlements by arbitration.

All of these have been important, and some of them of the most difficult and delicate character; as for example, the boundary dispute between Chile and the Argentine Republic, the British-Venezuelan boundary dispute, the Alaska boundary controversy, and the North Sea incident between Great Great Britain and Russia, which, though adjusted by a commission of inquiry, was really an arbitration of the first order.

CALGARY'S GROWTH

Watching Winnipeg's growth in population and business, it is possible we may overlook the progress that Calgary is making. A journal in that city referring a few days ago to the fact that three new wholesale firms had decided to open branches there, stated that the advent of these firms would make seventy-two wholesale houses in Calgary. Nothing, perhaps, could illustrate more forcibly the changed conditions of the territory tributary to Calgary. Only a few years ago that vast region was regarded as merely a ranching country and Calgary as a supply and shipping point for the stockmen of the vicinity. Now the big ranches and large herds are giving way to the settler and the system of mixed farming and Calgary is a commercial centre with a population estimated at [illegible] wonderful change from the early eighties with only the Hudson's Bay and Baker stores.

WHERE BRITAIN KEEPS AHEAD

The British are still far ahead of every other nation in the matter of shipbuilding. Lloyd's returns show that in 1905 the United Kingdom launched 712 ships, with a total displacement of 1,286,164 tons. Thirty-seven ships of war were also launched within the year, the tonnage being 127,156. One of these, the Carolina, has the enormous displacement of 20,000 tons, while the Victoria, of 15,000 tons, is the biggest turbine warship afloat. England's most formidable shipbuilding rival is the United States, which launched 225 merchant ships of over a hundred tons each, the total tonnage being 248,518. Uncle Sam also launched 19 ships of war with a total tonnage of 179,986. Germany is third on the shipbuilding list, with 149 new merchant vessels, aggregating 249,000 tons to her credit in 1904, besides 11 warships, with a tonnage of nearly 45,000. Next comes France, with 90,000 tons in 87 merchantmen and 43,000 tons in nine ships of war. In ordinary times Russia might have had fifth place, but instead of her, Italy enjoyed the distinction, with the modest output of eight merchant vessels and eight warships, with a total tonnage of 54,462.

Local Combine Should Follow

Anthracite Coal in Toronto Drops One Dollar Per Ton.

In view of the exorbitant prices charged in this city, and which are altogether out of proportion, even considering freight rates, charged in Peterborough for hard coal, it is interesting although sickeningly enjoyable to have to note that the Toronto papers announce a big drop in coal prices in that city from $6.75 or $7.00 per ton to $6.00. The Globe says: "Yesterday the price of hard coal dropped suddenly from $6.75 to $6. The former price was the low figure for May. The first move was made by the Elias Rogers Company, Limited, and the other dealers quickly followed the lead. The dealers say that the conditions at present warranted a lower price, and the public was given the benefit. Further, the dealers stated that they could not tell how long this price would last, since the mining companies controlled production and would make no contracts for a longer period than a month. During the winter the ruling price was $7, but last month 25 cents was knocked off this."

Unless a radical change is made, or the county crown [illegible] considers the legal aspect of the case, our readers need not look for any present relief from the present extortionate prices charged by the combine.

This latter is so strong and united that a man with $10,000 in his pocket could not go to Buffalo and buy coal in car load lots at lower prices than charged by the combine. It is time our citizens should investigate this matter and ascertain why our city or town pays $7.50 for coal, that another, with not more than 15 cents more charges per ton in freight charges, pays for its coal.

It is time that the many should strenuously fight paying exorbitant prices to the financial benefit of the few.

The combine, when not so strongly organized as at present would take orders for a householder's winter supply of coal at summer prices. If the householder's cellar would not hold his whole order, part would be delivered, and the balance later, the coal to be paid for as delivered.

Now that the combine has firmly fastened its grip on the public throat to save 10 cents per ton per month as ordered by said combine, the householder has to pay for his any either ton or ten tons when ordered, and thus the combine uses the householder's money for perhaps months before they deliver this high-priced fruit of organized effort to bleed a suffering public.

It is time for our citizens to demand that equal terms be given to all.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 4, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1906, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $3,000,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, dated 1st July, 1906, and payable

$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1926.
$1,500,000 on the 1st July, 1936.

with coupons attached for interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 1st January and the 1st July in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto. Bonds will be of the denominations of $200, $500, and $1,000, and will be payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders may be exchanged for Ontario Government Stock bearing the same rate of interest.

The issue price during the month of July, 1906, will be par, and after the first July, 1906, the issue price will be par and accrued interest.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATSOEVER.

Purchasers of amounts up to $1,000 will be required to send certified cheque with the application. For amounts over $1,000 payment for subscription may be made in instalments 10 per cent. on application, 10 per cent 1st August, 10 per cent. 1st September, 10 per cent. 1st October, 10 per cent 1st November, and 50 per cent. 1st December, 1906, with privilege of paying at an earlier date, the interest on instalment subscriptions being adjusted on 1st January, 1907.

In the event of any subscriber for bonds payable by instalments failing to make payment of subsequent instalments, the bonds may be sold and any loss incurred will be charged to the purchaser in default.

Forms of subscription (when payable by instalments) may be obtained on application to the Treasury Department.

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario and is chargeable thereupon.

All cheques should be made payable to the order of "The Provincial Treasurer of Ontario," and subscribers should state the denominations and terms (30 or 20 years) of bonds desired.

A. J. MATHESON,
Provincial Treasurer.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

COPPER IS KING!

Do you know that the enormous demand for Copper, caused by the daily increasing output of electrical apparatus and machinery, is already beyond the supply. We have six claims in the Silver Mining District, twenty-three miles from Cheyenne, Wy., on the main line of the U. P. Ry., with good waggon road connection. The Copper on this property is at the grass roots, and is easy of extraction. We are until July 1st offering our

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

The beginnings of the struggle had found him doggedly wrathful.

"'Bill of rights,' algh?" he would shout. "I want no benefit of it. I am a colonial and loyal."

And when his neighbors contended that what they stood for was the old issue for which their ancestors broke pikes at Marston Moor he turned his back upon them.

In the Old Dominion there was comparative tranquillity, but even in the forest he had heard the first blare of the king's armies in Boston and New York with a hungering fear that drew his eyes often wistfully toward Mount Vernon. There sat the lad he had trained and molded, "the first soldier in Virginia," a grave man. They whispered evil things of this man's loyalty now, but the baron for long shut his ears and would not hear.

The time came soon when Tories were hated, despised, driven by fire from their homes, their property confiscated. But this old man alone was not touched.

"Let the rebels come!" he had roared, pounding the floor with his thorn stick. "Let them come! I met the Indians here in '55, and I leave for no cursed rebels. The king may not be able to protect, but he will reimburse me."

But Tories and Whigs passed by alike, and not a pound was touched in his storehouse, not a horse taken from his stables. When the foragers swept the valleys his field slaves slunk away with the rest, but he had not a house negro who did not stay with him to the end.

The final chapter was opened at last. Lafayette was marching southward with twelve hundred of Washington's own light infantry. The word had struck sharper than an adder's tooth—the bloody snows of Valley Forge, the pelting retreat through the Jerseys, want, rout, discouragement and despair! The king must win, and George Washington was gone too far even for love's forgiveness. Now he sent his rebels to his own natal colony to hurl them in a final desperate attack at the king's throat.

After this news the baron took to his couch and closed his doors against report. Through all the war Washington had found time to send gentle and tender letters to his old friend. These my lord had read, longing for some sign of sorrow or of turning, but they had brought none. Now he read no more.

One morning Anne stood at the deep set window of her room at Castle Hill. Far away, their dim splendor relieved by golden gorges of early sunlight, reared the solitary mountains, hung with pale green, pale gold and light lavender and graylike faded tapestries. The June breeze was soft with the first thrill of summer, blowing across the shelving fields. Birds were fluting in the tulip trees, and the dewed odor of roses lay on the garden, drenchingly sweet. The place seemed safe folded from the war that lay, a sullen fiend in a cloud, far away across the Virginia hills.

A distant clatter came to her, and she looked and listened where the eastern road bent behind clusters of trees. Almost before she had guessed the meaning of the sound a troop of dragoons, whose red coats proclaimed them British, dashed into view and rode at top speed toward the house.

The British! So far to the westward! What could it mean? Then, in clutching apprehension, she fled downstairs to Mrs. Walker's room, to find that lady already dressing with speed and trepidation. As she opened the door, the yard below swarmed with a confusion of soldiers and shrieking servants.

"Stay where you are," came Dr. Walker's voice from the next room. "I am going."

"No, doctor," Mrs. Walker opposed. "I am going myself." And go she did, Anne with her.

Aunt Daph', the cook, having fled from the kitchen, was crouched, shuddering, at the foot of the stair. "Dem's de Britishers, missus!" she moaned. "Dem's de Britishers!"

"I know it," answered Mrs. Walker calmly as a knock thundered at the door. "Go back to your kitchen."

The figure on the threshold bowed till his plumes swept the sill.

"Pardon me, madam—ladies," he began, "but I must ask of your hospitality a breakfast for myself and my officers. I may introduce myself? Colonel Tarleton of the British legion, at your service."

Anne caught an astonished breath at realization that she was standing before the most dreaded of Cornwallis' cavalry leaders. Could this red cheeked, petulant lipped lad be the dragoon of whose cruelty and daring she had so often heard? She courtesied slowly to his bow.

"I might add," announced the visitor, "that no harm shall be done this property. We have business farther on."

Farther on! Anne's mind leaped to the thought of Charlottesville, only six miles away. The Virginia assembly was in session there. And Henry! She must gain a little time.

"Let me see to the breakfast, Mrs. Walker," she volunteered. Aunt Daph' is quite distracted."

Tarleton smiled, bowed again to her and clanked to the door. Then Anne caught Mrs. Walker's hand and whispered: "'Tis a raid on the assembly. We must keep them here as long as possible. Tell the doctor."

She had no time to speak further, for Tarleton re-entered with the others.

"I have been obliged to set a guard about the negro quarters and at the front and rear entrances of the house," he said. "We shall soon relieve you of this inconvenience. Ah, doctor, good morning!"

Anne betook herself to the kitchen and stirred Aunt Daph' to activity. While the great fire roared her brain was busy. She must get through that cordon of redcoats—must—must!

As the cook piled the irons with fragments of chicken, Anne's eyes, through the back door and window, took in the situation. Full a dozen troopers were grouped there, stretched lazily in the sun, their horses bobbed and cropping grass eagerly in a wideuing half circle. The quarters were on the farther side, out of sight from the kitchen. Seeing, she bade Aunt Daph' lay more of the chicken on the racks and herself fed the fire till its heat scorched her cheeks.

"'Clar' ter goodness, Mis' Anne, yo' got 'nuff dar fo' forty, 'stid o' fo'!"

"Hush!" Anne commanded. "Go and lay one of the tables in the milk room."

The negress raised her hands.

"Wid all dem sojers out dar? Honey, dee jes' split my haid wide op'n!"

"Do as I tell you," said Anne. "They won't hurt you. Make no noise, and come back quickly."

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling &, Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 36 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Stop That Headache!

Foolish to Suffer When a Simple Remedy will Prevent and Cure

Ever stop to think what caused your headaches?

Probably not. Then look to the bowels and stomach, and you'll find plenty of cause. Chances are you'll find constipation, liver is sluggish, stomach overburdened with half-digested food.

No wonder you are dull, tired, restless day and night.

You need the cleansing influence of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which cure your condition in short order.

Being composed of natural vegetable remedies Dr. Hamilton's Pills possess great power, yet they are harmless. They aid all organs connected with the stomach, liver and bowels. In consequence food is properly digested, the blood is pure and nourishing, the body is kept strong and resists disease.

Headaches never come to those who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and this fact is vouched for by the Assistant Manager of the Poultry Success Magazine, of Springfield, O., Mr. J. H. Callandor, who writes: "No better medicine than Dr. Hamilton's Pills. We use them regularly and know of marvelous cures that resulted everything else. They cleanse the whole system, act as a tonic on the blood, enliven digestion, help the stomach, and make you feel strong and well. For headaches, indigestion, and stomach disorders I am confident that the one prescription is Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

You can rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills with implicit confidence; their effect is wonderful. Sold by all dealers. Price 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Dr. Montgomery at Sanderson & Co.

Rare Opportunity to Have Defects of Vision Corrected.

Mr E. Wansborough says that the citizens of Peterborough, have kept Messrs. W. A. Sanderson & Co., so busy during the past week or two that the staff has had hard work to wait on customers.

As is known to most of our readers, Dr. Montgomery, the celebrated eye specialist of Toronto, has been at Messrs. Sanderson & Company's large jewellery establishment on professional business. Many hundreds of those, whom various defects of vision, have to use glasses, have called and had their vision corrected and better glasses adapted to their special requirements.

It is not generally known, but nevertheless fact, that persons who use glasses not suited to their individual defects of sight are injuring the sight more by using such glasses than going without spectacles at all.

Dr. Montgomery will be at Messrs. W. A. Sanderson for this week only and all those constrained to the use of glasses would do well to consult this eminent specialist.

Dr. Montgomery's adv. appears in another column of this issue.

First License Is Taken Out

Mr. Peppas Takes Out Cigarette License and Pays the $200 Fee.

The chief is now out with "The Big Stick," as our American cousins say, after those selling cigarettes without taking out the $200 annual license now required by city by-law.

On Saturday Mr. Mike Peppas, the Dundas street tobacco dealer took out the first of these cigarette licenses, paying in his $200.

The police are now going to watch all places where cigarettes are sold, and as the penalty is a heavy one, it behooves all dealers to either go out the coffin nails or pay up their license.

The chief thinks that those holding liquor licenses will be able to sell coffin nails without taking out the specific cigarette license, but considers such action will have much bearing on their obtaining a renewal of the liquor license next year.

Peterborough People in Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Rose of Peterborough, spent a few days in the village this week visiting friends.—Mrs. R. J. McWilliams of Peterborough was visiting friends in the village this week.—Mrs. Day of Peterborough is at present in the village visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. Maude.—Lakefield News.

Mr. J. Robson Completes Contract.

Without desiring, to borrow an expressive slang term, to "throw bouquets at Mr. John Robson, the coal contractor, who on Saturday completed the 1000 feet of sewer on Hunter street east, we must note that this work was done in a manner well worthy of emulation by others in the same business. The street now that Mr. Robson has finished his work is positively in better condition than before this big ditch was dug.

The one remedy which many physicians rely upon to free the system of the Rheumatic Poisons which are the cause of all Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, is Dr. SHOOP'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY. Dr. Shoop spent twenty years in experimenting before he discovered the combined chemicals which made possible the almost always certain cure for Rheumatism, viz. Not that Dr. SHOOP'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY can turn bony joints into flesh again—that is impossible. But it will drive Uniform and from the blood the poisons which caused the pain and swelling. And then that is the end of the suffering—the end of the pain and swelling—the end of the suffering—the end of Rheumatism. This remedy never fails where a cure is possible. It is now put up in tablet or liquid form—ask for either. You who have suffered and are suffering today from pains and aches which you know to be Rheumatism; you who experience soreness or twinges of pain in damp weather; you who easily become stiff and lame without apparent cause—just try DR. SHOOP'S RHEUMATIC CURE. It is just the kind of a remedy that accomplishes results. Sold and Recommended by

Orangemen Go To St. Andrew's

District Lodges, Some 600 Strong Hear Rev. Mr. Potter.

Yesterday George street was crowded as to its pavements four deep by people come out to see the local District Loyal Orange lodges march from Lodge No. 80, Simcoe street, to St. Andrew's church. The procession which marched in two files, reached from Simcoe street and round the corner of Brock street.

They were headed by a brass band in dark blue and neat uniform, whilst some distance back the band of Nassau Lodge No. 457, played some good selections.

The turnout was under control of District Master A. Young, and was under auspices of Diamond L.O.L. No. 80. The Orange Young Briton, resplendent in silk sashes and white caps led the way ahead of the elder brethren. Many outside lodges, including a good representation from Douro, Emily, Cavan and others were represented.

On arrival at St. Andrew's church the brethren marched to the central pews which had been specially reserved for them. Mr. Geo. Barclay, master of L.O.L. No. 80, took a prominent part in directing the proceedings.

Rev J. G. Potter delivered a patriotic and eloquent address, that was listened to with much interest.

After church the Orangemen marched back to the lodge room and dispersed.

Flirting With Death.

A gentleman recently arrived in the city, who has not been used to canoes, called at the Times office on Saturday to tell us of what in his own words was "flirting with death." This gentleman said his heart was in his mouth most of the time an exhibition of canoemanship was given at the locks dam. Two young men would take their canoes and paddle to the fall of the dam, and standing right up in these frail crafts would run the rapids. One of them, a "Stocky" built man also ran the dam in his canoe.

Adjt. Jennings Going to Halifax.

Adjutant Jennings, of this city, who has for more than a year been in charge of the Salvation Army's immigration department in the eastern part of the province, has received word from his superior officer, Brigadier Howell, Immigration Secretary, directing him to go to Halifax and take charge of the department for the Maritime Provinces. He will leave here on Thursday, accompanied by his family, who will reside in Halifax, while the adjutant will for the greater part of the time be travelling.

Smith Street Bridge Repairs

The Smith street bridge is at present undergoing repairs. It has been closed to traffic for the past four or five months, and has caused a great deal of inconvenience. A number of workmen on Saturday were at work tearing up the planks, and the bridge is now also closed to pedestrians, who have either to cross at London street or on the Grand Trunk foot bridge farther north.

Mrs. John R. Gibson Passes Away

On Saturday morning, Mrs. Gibson, relict of the late John R. Gibson, passed away at her residence, 374 1-2 Water street. Death was due to heart failure. The deceased lady was 57 years of age and had only resided here since January. She was born in Perth, Ont., and afterwards moved with her parents to Springville, Cavan townships, where most of her relatives reside. Her husband predeceased her 11 years ago, and she leaves one daughter, Miss Mary, Water street, and two sons, Geo. H. Gibson Springville, and Arthur John, Regina, Sask.

She was a Presbyterian in religion, and had since coming to the city attended St. Paul's church. The funeral will take place today at one o'clock to the 9th line of Cavan Cemetery for burial.

Eminent Doctors Praise its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indications for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding) due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and cancerine dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

Submit Troubles To Arbitration

Guatemala and Salvador Are Making Overtures in That Direction.

Washington, July 9.—Guatemala and Salvador are making overtures for the arbitration of their troubles resulting from the alleged activity of Salvador in supporting revolutionary movements against General Cabrera of Guatemala, and it is likely that the United States will be selected as the country in which the board of arbitration will meet.

The American State Department has been advised of the desire of the two countries, which are almost at the point of making war against each other, to have their differences settled by arbitration, and there seems to be but little doubt that an amicable settlement finally will be effected.

At the first intimation of outside interference in Guatemalan affairs, the State Department sent the Marblehead from Panama to prevent meddling, and Mexico and the United States both made it clear that they would look with disfavor on any combination of Central American powers to overthrow President Cabrera, of Guatemala. When the position of the United States became known, Salvador announced the appointment of a special envoy to present the Salvadorean position to American authorities and prevent any serious international complications. The State Department has been advised of the departure of Mr. Pacus, the special envoy, for the United States, but it is not believed that he will arrive in Washington for several weeks, because of difficulty in reaching this country from Salvador.

Russia Bears a Religious Burden

The Priesthood and Nobility Oppress the People as They Did in Old France.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—Like Russia now, France more than one hundred years ago supported a great body of nobility and a priesthood, taxes paid by the masses were high, wages were exceedingly low, and the common people had practically no voice in the Government.

There were 23,000 monks in France, 60,000 curates and vicars, 37,000 nuns, 2,500 monasteries, 1,500 convents, and 60,000 churches and chapels. In all there were 130,000 persons in the religious establishments of France. Like the great religious dead weight, now borne by the Russian people, his vast body contributed nothing toward the welfare and prosperity of France.

There were also 140,000 nobles in France, while the noble families numbered 30,000. On each square league of territory and for each 1,000 inhabitants there was one castle and one noble family. Almost precisely similar conditions now prevail in Russia, where the great mass of landed proprietors hangs like a dead weight on the country.

Just as in Russia today the vast bulk of valuable land is entirely in the hands of the noble and aristocratic classes, so in France, three-fifths of the real estate of the kingdom was held by privileged orders, and, furthermore, these three-fifths were by far the richest and most valuable of all.

CORRUPTION AND GRAFT

Corruption and graft were prevalent throughout France, favorites of the Queen and privileged officials taking enormous sums from the funds which should have gone to alleviate the sufferings of the poor. As in Russia, the deadweight of the nobility, the priesthood, the sovereign, and his court constituted a burden which at length drove the people to frenzy.

The ignorance of the French peasant class was almost unequalled, but travellers who have studied the conditions of the masses in Russia believe that the ignorance of the Russian peasant of today is fully as great. Immorality, wastefulness, extravagance, and tyranny of the noble class in France has perhaps never been paralleled except by the Russian aristocracy. The element of immorality, and the fact that the institutions of the family and the home had lost their inviolability, were among the most important causes of the downfall of the ancient institutions and political structure in France.

Beginning with futile appeals to the sovereign for aid and for the amelioration of their condition, the people of France quickly progressed to open defiance of king and government. The army, like that of the czar, early showing unmistakable signs of siding with the people, and in the end the old institutions of France were swept away, and Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette, his Queen, gave their lives.

Great Activity In the West

C. P. R. Building Many New Branch Lines

Montreal, July 9.—Work on 19 new branches, which the C. P. R. is constructing throughout the West, and also upon the double-tracking between Winnipeg and Fort William, is proceeding rapidly. The heavy rains in June delayed the work considerably, but the fine weather of the past week has allowed the contractors to get to work on grading and construction with redoubled energy. Thousands of men are being employed, with hundreds of teams. There are no reports about a shortage of men.

The two lines on which the most engineering progress are the new main line from Winnipeg to Edmonton through Saskatoon and on the grade reduction work on the through main line at Medicine Hat. Construction on the Edmonton line is going on from Wetaskiwin West, at Saskatoon, in both directions, and from Strassburg north. At Wetaskiwin, J. D. McArthur has a force of 1st teams and 120 men on his contract, and Breckenridge and Lund, 34 teams and 50 men. From Saskatoon west the work is proceeding rapidly, there being 200 men at work, while the contractors have started in earnest working east.

On the extension of the Winnipeg branch line, twenty-three teams and thirty-five men are at work. On the Tuhon extension there are twenty-eight men and five teams employed. The majority of the teams last week were engaged in freighting supplies. There are also teams at work repairing the old grade. On the Shebo branch thirty-five teams and forty-seven men are now at work. Two carloads of mules have been shipped to Shebo which will increase the outfit to seventy-five. The Stoughton and Wynburn branches, thirty-seven miles in length, is being particularly rushed, as it is hoped to have it ready by the fall. Eighty-four teams and at work. On the Medicine Hat grade 224 teams, with a corresponding number of men and teams are at work. On Golden extension there are 131 men and thirty-five teams working. Construction at Bredenburg has been delayed owing to wet. Eighteen teams and thirty men are employed.

CURES WORST CATARRH

Just Breathe Hyomei Four Times a Day and Be Cured.

Not until Hyomei was discovered, had it been possible to say truthfully that a remedy for catarrh was known.

Hyomei cures the worst cases of catarrh simply by breathing the remedy through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. Using the treatment in this way for a few minutes four times a day, every particle of air taken in the air passages and lungs is laden with germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei.

Stomach drugging often causes disordered digestion, and never makes a permanent cure of catarrh. Hyomei not only kills the germs in the throat and nose, but penetrates to the minutest air cells in the lungs and enters the blood with the oxygen killing the catarrhal germs in the blood.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a vest-pocket inhaler and medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1. If this does not effect a complete cure, extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

END OF SILVER DEPORTATION PLAN

Dominion Government Not Satisfied With its Advantages.

BANKERS THINK TIME SHORT

Arrangement With Canadian Bankers' Association for Sending Back U.S. Silver At An End.

Montreal, July 9.—The arrangement between the Canadian banks and the Dominion Government for the deportation of United States silver terminated on Saturday, June 30.

The shipping out of American silver began on March 1st, all the chartered banks entering heartily into the movement. From that time until June 16 the amount forwarded back to the country of its origin was $760,4.5.

Upon the completion of arrangements shortly after the first of the year, between the Dominion Government officials and the Canadian Bankers' Association, the several banking houses notified their large customers, such as departmental stores, breweries and others that they would be pleased to receive American silver for the purpose of exporting the same. Very shortly it began to pour in. In the banking houses the metal was either bagged or boxed and shipped on to New York by express, part of the arrangement being that the Government would pay the cost of transportation. The banks themselves, however, furnished the boxes and bags, these expenses along with the sorting and other handling be made up by a charge of 3-4 of 1 per cent., which the Government paid to the banks upon the amounts shipped out by them.

The Canadian Bankers' Association arranged that all this foreign silver was to be sent to the Bank of Montreal agency in New York city, and from there in turn it was sent on to the United States Sub-Treasury.

NOT A FAIR TRIAL.

The Dominion Government officials have complained that the taking away of this foreign silver has not appreciably increased the output of the Canadian article. This fact the bankers explain, by stating that during the early spring months the demand for funds of this character has not been abnormally large, but with the advent of summer, there can be no question but that it would make an appreciable difference in the amount of Canadian silver in circulation.

Some disappointment was expressed in banking circles that the Dominion Government had determined to call the arrangement off at so early a period. A prominent local banker stated that already American silver was becoming scarce in the ordinary channels of trade; this was evident to any observer, and if the same system had been continued for, say six months or a year, practically all the United States small currency would disappear. Now, however, with the advent of the summer tourists who are coming in in thousands from all parts of the United States, there would be an appreciable increase in the amount in circulation by the time autumn arrives.

This banker stated that it was utterly impossible to even give approximately the amount of foreign silver in circulation in Canada, but he thought that from one-half to one-third had been exported.

The displacing of American silver by the Canadian coins means a large profit, comparatively speaking, to the Dominion Government. As all are aware a silver coin is not worth intrinsically over 50 per cent. of its face value; and hardly that at the present price of silver bullion. Therefore, every hundred dollars coined means a handsome margin, even after the cost of coinage and the transportation charges to the different centres from the Mint are taken into consideration.

The banks state that so far as they are concerned the deportation of this foreign silver is largely a labor of love, the allowance made them being barely sufficient to pay for the packages utilized and the time expended in the general handling.

List of Those Who Passed

Successful Candidates Who Tried the Entrance Exams.

The list of those who passed the entrance examinations in Peterborough for the entrance examinations for the Collegiate Institute, was in the hands of Inspector Walker on Saturday night.

The Times, as usual anxious to satisfy their readers, sent a representative to Mr. Walker on Sunday night, knowing he knew the results, in order that those on the anxious seat might know the result Monday morning.

Mr. Walker informed our representative that whilst he had the returns, he could not let us have them for Monday's paper. This he explained by saying that the act says he must mail a copy of the list of successful candidates to Toronto, before giving such out for publication. This may be so, but it does seem to us ridiculous that where scores of children and parents are anxiously awaiting the results, that a piece of red tape should compel such to wait until the next evening papers come out to get what an enterprising morning paper could, and was ready to give, yesterday morning. However as we were deprived of the pleasure of helping our readers out, we might say that there were 189 candidates, of which 105 were successful. The total number of marks obtainable was 650, to take honors required 488, and to pass 390.

Scholarships, which entitle the student to one year's free tuition in the Collegiate Institute, were won by Margaret Anderson and Willie Giles.

Mr. R. Sheehy Gets Contract For Sewers

Clearly Shown That the City Cannot Compete Favorably With Contract Prices.

Yesterday afternoon the Board of Works held a special session in the council committee room, with Chairman Hicks in the chair, and a full attendance present.

The matter of letting contracts for eighteen proposed sewers was at once taken up, and the contracts submitted by Contractors Sheehy, Robson, Bogue, Hayes and City Engineer Hall, the latter by day labor, were opened and considered.

The streets on which sewers were contracted for, with respective distances in each case were:

NINE-INCH PIPE.

1. Stewart to McDonel street, 200 feet, 85c.

2. Stewart, London to Edinburgh street, 95c.

3. Downie, Charlotte to Hunter, 97c.

4. Downie, London, to Smith, 97c.

5. Smith, Downie to Reid, 88c.

6. Reid street, Smith to Stewart, 97c.

7. Reid, Sherbrooke to Park, 12-inch pipe, $1.13.

8. Dublin, Water to lot 2, 9-inch pipe, 89c.

9. Simcoe, Water to Queen, 85c.

10. Queen, Simcoe to Hunter, 9in, $1.07.

11. Maitland avenue, King to Charlotte, 83c.

12. Bethune, McDonel to London, 87c.

13. Murray, Downie to 215 east, 9in., 75c

14. Cedar, Park to Cross, 9in., $1.13.

15. Hunter, Rogers to Concession, 8in., 99c.

16. Mark, Hunter to Robinson, 98c.

17. Mark, Hunter to Douro, 8in., 97c.

18 Burnham, Hunter to James, 8 and 10in., 93c.

The other tenders were respectively as follows:

J. E. HAYES.

75c, 99c, $1.04, $1.10, $1.00, $1.03, $1.25, 80c, 95c, $1.00, 90c, 85c, 70c, $1.05, $1.03, $1.06, $1.05, 95c.

D. ROBSON.

75c, 1.08, 1.12, 1.10, 97c, 95c, 1.19, 75c, 1.07, 1.07, 95c, 95c, 75c, 1.23, 1.28, 1.10, 1.10, 1.15.

JAS. BOGUE.

85c, 1.05, 1.05, 1.10, 1.05, 1.0., 1.3., 1.00, 1.10, 1.10, 1.15, 1.05, 85c, 1.05, 1.00, 1.05, 1.10.

CITY ENGINEER.

85c, 1.14, 1.10, 1.17, 1.10, 1.12, 1.22, 90c, 1.12, 1.12, 95c, 1.00, 75c, 1.15, 1.17, 1.10, 1.05, 1.10.

Contracts for Nos. 4, 5, and 6, i.e., on Downie, Smith, Reid streets, and No. 8, Dublin street, were cancelled, owing either to insufficiently signed petitions or adverse petition properly signed.

Some discussion arose about letting the contract, some of the aldermen thinking that the tenders should be thoroughly investigated and the separate portions as above enumerated be to the individual contractors tendering on such parts of the work. It was however pointed out that this would be an injustice.

Ald. Graham moved that the city engineer award the tender for the whole contracts to the average lowest tenderer. Ald. Adams moved in amendment that the city engineer consider the tenders and report to the committee for them to act on. The amendment was lost and Ald. Graham's motion carried, hence Mr. R. Sheehy who is about through with the Rogers street sewer, now has the whole contract on hand, excepting such sewers as above mentioned were cancelled. Mr. Sheehy, judging by his past record in sewer building will doubtless give the city good work and thorough satisfaction.

English Immigrants From Albion Here

Yesterday a large bunch of English immigrants arrived in the city per G.T.R., consigned through this city by an Eastern Society of the City of London. The crowd were the typical degenerated, poverty stricken appearing, undersized Cockneys that the Mother Country seems only too glad, at some one else's expense to unload on her colonies. The men were dressed in clothes that would give a tailor St. Vitus Dance, and [illegible] The women each carried from one to any number of babies and bundles. Some of the men (?) during their brief stay in town rushed to George street, and purchased beer bottles full of the cheapest, draught ale, and at once hustled back to refresh the women and babies. One of the men, asked by a Times representative, whether the crowd was sent out by the Salvation Army assumed an injured look and as Rockefeller might show if asked whether he had paid his statute labor taxes.

The majority of them said their baggage had been shipped through to Port Hope, as "I say, you knaw, we cawn't stay in a little taown like this, we've got to go to Port 'Ope, you knaw, to get work."

Whilst in the city some of them heard that Mr. Thos. Marshall the local lumber employer, was looking for men, hunted him up at his boarding place, the Queen's Hotel, and applied for work in the woods. When Mr. Marshall seized them up, a lot of undersized, poorly nourished Cockneys, he said, "Well boys you don't look like you could make much progress through a pine forest, but if you want $1 a day and board to shovel and make roads, come along.

One of them, Private J. Brooks, who was through the S.A. campaign showed The Times man, his medal with three clasps won in the Boer war. It is likely that some of them on capturing their baggage at Port Hope, will return and take Mr. Marshall's offer to go to Sault St. Marie and work in the lumber camps.

Women with weak nerves should never forget Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. This magic-like local treatment, is used at bedtime, all night while the system is at rest, it is constantly building up the weakened tissues, soothing the inflamed and sensitive surfaces and will surely clean up all catarrhal and local troubles. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—THE—

WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.

JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.

JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.

DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. P., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.

JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq. Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Send for full particulars to

DANIEL SIMPSON,

Address for next 60 days, Queen's Hotel, Toronto

BUTTER LEGS

Are Really Unfit for a Hot Climate

A sarcastic one said, "A person who won't quit the coffee habit when heart and nerves are crying for relief, has less stability of character than a pair of butter legs in hades." Truly a melting remark.

It seems hard hearted to poke fun at the coffee "crank" who "Just can't give up my coffee" for the habit sometimes becomes a disease just as truly as the whiskey habit, but it is easy for the worst old coffee toper to shift over to Postum Food Coffee provided it is well made.

Postum has the deep, seal brown color of drip coffee and a certain snappy flavor, not of the rank, strong, bitter coffees but much like the mild and high grades of Java.

It supplies in liquid form the needed food elements required to rebuild the nerve centres, hurt or destroyed by coffee. What do we mean by "nerve centres"? These are found in various parts of the body and each little nerve sack or envelope is filled with a soft, pulpy, gray substance that is really the life and energy of the nerve. Coffee and other stimulant narcotic poisons tend to destroy this gray matter and when enough is broken down, nervous prostration or other form of disease will set in. The trouble may show in weakened heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, eyes or any other organ, for the lack of life power or nervous energy is likely to attack the weakest part first.

The remedy is, (and get to work in time) to quit the drug and therefore stop the daily destruction Then take a liquid food such as Postum and go to rebuilding.

That is a sure and dependable road to Wellville.

"There's a Reason."

Your 'Fagged' Feeling is Spring Sickness

This Unhealthy Weather Will Intensify Your Exhaustion Unless You Have Good Medicine.

Time won't help; matters grow worse instead of better if your system isn't rid of its poisonous burden.

Your blood is not only thin, but is contaminated with a whole winter's accumulation of wastes.

A stimulating blood tonic is required.

What's it going to be?

No bitters or alcoholic dope, but concentrated cure in the form of "Ferrozone" which is known as the best of all spring rejuvenators.

It creates keen appetite.

Produces prodigious digestion.

Converts food into nourishment.

Gives richness and vitality to the blood.

Makes strong nerves and hardy muscles.

Ferrozone possesses power that can't be doubted. It will do for you what it did for Walter Wood, of Beaufort Car Co., N. B., who writes. "I can say that Ferrozone has given me a new lease of life. A year ago I suffered much from nervous weakness. I was really scarcely able to drag myself around. My appetite was gone. I had no color or ambition and felt generally used up. The first box of Ferrozone started me back to health. I took a number of boxes, but it was worth while as my health was completely restored."

Get back to health with Ferrozone. Your druggist sells it, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

LAW THAT BITES

Five well-to-do business men, prominent citizens of Toledo, Ohio, have been fined $5.00 each and sentenced to the workhouse for a year at hard labor for "conspiracy in restraint of trade."

They are ice-dealers, who combined to raise the price of ice 50 to 100 per cent.

The year's imprisonment may not be enforced. The court intimated that that part of the sentence would be suspended if the dealers restored the extra part of the price to their customers.

This is lively going, for justice. It is one of the many illustrations that the people of the United States are very much waked up to the impositions of the trusts. The convictions were under an anti-trust law recently passed by the Ohio Legislature.

As to crimes of violence, the courts across the line may be now compared with Canadian ones, but as to crimes of imposition upon the people there is some reason to suspect that either the law or the legal machinery in the United States is considerably in advance of ours in courage and efficiency.—Ottawa Evening Journal.

Combines that extort immense profits out of consumers, that are in restraint of trade and, therefore, illegal, exist in every live centre in this country. Unfortunately, Ontario is not in possession of representatives of the Crown alive to the situation and anxious to do their duty. The average County Crown Attorney is a somnolent, well satisfied individual, who absolutely refuses to get away from beaten paths. His dignity would be outraged by anything partaking of the character of an exploitation of Combine Work, such as Currie, of Toronto, and Washington of Hamilton, who ran a group of greedy plumbers and builders to earth recently understood to the people's advantage. In Canada the consuming public has grievances, but until we get a little of the Yankee spirit as exemplified in the actions of a District Court at Toledo, the men in the game will snap their fingers at their victims.

THOSE HORRIBLE COLORED SUPPLEMENTS

Commenting on the proposition to petition the Postmaster-General to prohibit the importation of comic supplements such as the Buster Brown and the Katzenjammer sort, the Brockville Times says:

We can cordially endorse what our [illegible] in denunciation of the "comic supplement" abomination. These pictorial iniquities have not one redeeming feature that we know of. They laud the mischievous pranks of that social pest, the spoilt "smart" child. Instead of being held up for the example and admiration of Canadian children, Buster Brown and his fellows ought to be soundly spanked and put to bed. There is neither good art nor good behavior taught by these vulgar colored sup-plements, and the P. M. G. would win public approval by barring these monstrosities from Canada. Early impressions sink deep into the child's mind. Common sense should tell parents that it is better to educate the artistic tastes of a child by looking at pictures which are technically artistic and whose motive is good. The mental palate can be educated to delicate tastes, just as the physical palate can be taught a keen perception.

In their evil effects upon young minds the horrible comic supplements have distanced the dime novel of a generation or two ago. They teach the boys and girls among other things to use bad English, and they fill the reader with thoughts of deviltry. They make for an education of our youth that is deplorably bad, and their exclusion would be approved by every moral agency in the country.

FREIGHT TRAIN STRUCK A SHED

Heavy Freight Crashes into Shed at Niagara Falls

Niagara Falls, July 8. A big freight wreck occurred about three o'clock yesterday afternoon at Niagara Falls station. A heavy freight was coming at a good rate of speed from Buffalo, and when crossing Third street, just east of the depot, the third car on the train mounted the rail at a frog, and with seven other cars following, plunged into the train shed.

Hod no. Mr. Weber, city fire commissioner, who was on Third street at the time, promptly cried out a timely warning to the crowd, some one would certainly have met instant death, as the derailed cars plunged in all directions through the shed, and the waiting passengers who heard Mr. Weber's cries of warning scattered to places of safety from the tumbling cars that pulled the long train shed roof and supports almost down on the heels of the fleeing passengers.

The cars tore through the Miller and Brundage cabin office on the platform under the train shed, and smashed it with the roofing of the shed into matchwood. Some of the derailed cars in their mad rush ran the full length of the platform to Second street and crashed into the north-west end wing of the station proper, demolishing the stone wall of the conductors room. Luckily no one was in the room at the time. The hundred or more passengers and train crew escaped without a scratch. Some of the passengers who had suit cases and grips standing at their feet fled and left them in their hurry to get away; these they lost in the wreck.

One car, turning northward from the shed, ran into the side of an R. W. and O. passenger train filled with passengers standing. Three tracks away, striking one of the coaches broadside, but did no damage beyond denting the side of the car, and breaking the window glass with the heavy force of the impact, the passengers escaping with a bad fright. Wrecking crews from Buffalo and Suspension Bridge were at work clearing the three tracks of the wrecked and derailed cars all afternoon and evening. Trains are running over the outside tracks, north of the passenger tracks, to and from Buffalo with but little delay.

WAS AFTER THE EMPEROR

Altona, Prussia, July 8.—An alleged anarchist, named Rosenberg, who is reported to have left Seattle, Washington, for Germany recently, was arrested here Saturday.

New York, July 8—A despatch from Seattle on July 3rd reported that the police of that city, acting at the instance of the German Government, had raided the house formerly occupied by August Rosenberg, a bricklayer, and had found a plant for making bombs and infernal machines. Rosenberg left Seattle for Hamburg, Germany, on May 1. At that time the German Government received a warning from Seattle that an attempt would be made to assassinate the German Emperor. The German Consul at Seattle subsequently received a cablegram from Hamburg instructing him to investigate. The articles seized included more than 200 bottles of acids and explosives, crucibles, mortars, molds, and a furnace, and considerable scrap iron.

INTERESTING FACTS FOR INVESTORS

The place to mine is where good mines are found. Investigate before investing. THE EL PASO-PARRAL MINING COMPANY, owning three-quarters of a mile of one of the historic veins of Mexico, as well as one of the rich veins of the famous bonanza mine of Pedro Alvarado, offers a limited number of its Treasury Shares at 15 cents each—par value one dollar. A careful investigation will show you beyond all question that this is the best opportunity for large and quick returns ever brought to your notice. The district of Parral is not one-half the size of the smallest county in Colorado, yet each year it produces more than one-third of the amount produced by that entire State, making it the richest mining camp in the world for its size. It has more paying mines for the number located than any district in America. New and rich discoveries are being made each year. Here Alvarado and scores of others found their bonanzas. From this district many are receiving life incomes. Here bankers and conservative business men invest. Why not you? Buy these shares, and buy them while they are cheap! But buy only after you have investigated the men interested. WE ARE MINING FOR COMMERCIAL RESULTS, NOT SPECULATION. There is not a dollar of "promotion" in the enterprise—every member of the Board of Directors invested his own money. No expensive machinery for reduction of ores required. The property is near the railroad, and the ores will be sold for spot cash to the smelters. No salaried officers except the Superintendent. This proposition is open to the strictest investigation. Highest references furnished; correspondence solicited.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world to-day are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

Hearts Courageous

BY... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

The old woman made her way gingerly past the groups across the yard. "Mis' Anne," she said as she came back, all her teeth gleaming, "one ob dem Britishers call to me jes' lak folks.

"Run, you splendid boy! Run!"

'Hopes yo' got sumpin' good fo' us, too, auntie,' he say. Lawd, honey, I reck'n dee's pow'ful hongry ter smell dis yere!"

Anne heaped a great platter high from the dripping grids and flanked it with a pyramid of corn bread.

"Now, Aunt Daph'," she breathed excitedly, "take this. Hold it high and fall not on the steps. When you come to the milk room door you are to tell the soldiers that the colonel in here says they are all to have their breakfast at once. Do you understand?"

"Yas'm. Yas'm. But dis yere chick'n's er heap too good fo' dem low down nosin' debbles!"

Anne watched her through the door in a quiver of apprehension. Would they go? She prayed frantically that they would smell that savory odor. She heard the laugh of the officers in the next room and above it the tones of the cook outside, now scornfully belligerent:

"Yore cun'l in dar say yo' is ter eat dis yere up gnighty quick er yo' don' git nuttin' 'tall."

There was a murmur among the troopers. It was a fearful temptation. Then they succumbed before that delicate aroma, and while Anne held her breath the last guard had overcome his scruples and vanished into the milk room.

She did not wait an instant, but slipped out hatless and was away like a flash to the outer ring of horses. Her eye picked the speediest with the unerring judgment of the born horsewoman. She leaped to his back, took the yard paling and flew across the soft down field to the highroad.

When Lieutenant Colonel Banistre Tarleton entered the kitchen smilingly to see why breakfast delayed he found the room empty, and sounds from the outhouse told him the rest. The petulant lipped lad became instantly a raging demoniac, and the crestfallen men tumbled out, mouthing with a speed increased by threats and revilings.

A sight of the horseless trooper sent the leader's passion leaping to knowledge. "'Tis the g'irl!" he cried. "The deuce! She's off to warn them!"

And his curses suddenly mixed themselves with steel sharp orders.

Mrs. Walker wrung her hands as the last trooper galloped off after the rest on a horse impressed from the stables.

"God grant they don't catch her!" she prayed.

As Anne sped along the curving stretch of road over the low hill spurs she leaned to the horse's mane, crying to him: "Run, you splendid boy! Run! 'Tis to save the assembly!" And the great creature, slim, lustrous blood bay, snorted and settled to action, his limpid eye catching the terror-white as if he, stolen from some Virginia stable, knew what the words meant.

Gallop and gallop; she heard the red clods patter on the road behind as she went. One mile—two miles. The wind-warped trees stretched by in a whirling, drunken race of foliaged derrishes. Three miles—they must surely know by now.

She passed two riders and noted their glances of wonder. One called out to her, but she did not stop. The terrific pace made her breath come jaggedly, and it was only by a supreme effort that she kept her seat on the pommelless saddle.

The last two miles flung away in a dulled red roar.

There were groups upon the courthouse steps when she pulled up her frothing horse, and Henry himself pushed forward to her side.

"Tarleton," she panted, "at Castle Hill—coming to—take the assembly!"

Henry turned and repeated the message. It was caught up on all sides and handled up and down the corridors. There was a rush for the shields and hurried mounting. Then another cry spread: Jefferson he was at Monticello!

"How much time?" asked Henry briefly of Anne.

"Ten minutes," she answered at hazard.

"Too little. They will be upon him before this." He brought his horse and vaulted into the saddle. "Will Tarleton know you have come?"

"Yes."

"Then you must not stay," he said firmly. "You shall ride with me."

Before she could answer a horseman came clattering in from a bridle path. It was Colonel Carter, and he took in the preparations at a glance.

"Good!" he shouted. "Lose no time, gentlemen. Captain Jouett has warned Monticello. The assembly stands dissolved, to meet at Staunton three days hence."

About noon hoofs rang behind them in the flinty road, and Henry and Anne reined their horses into the brush. Two more riders galloped by, to wheel and come back at Henry's hallloo. They were Mr. John Tyler and Colonel Harrison. Fatigued and hungry as they were, both essayed to smile.

"Is Jefferson safe?" cried Henry.

"Aye," Colonel Harrison assured him. "The family are gone to Colonel Carter's, and all of the gentlemen who were at Monticello are in the mountains. 'Twas a narrow [illegible]."

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

ABOUT FEMALE AILMENTS

Not Hard to Cure if Properly and Promptly Treated.

Ask any intelligent physician what causes nine-tenths of all female disease, even including anaemia, nervousness and consumption.

Back comes the answer quick and sharp "Constipated Bowels."

There is scarcely a single female ailment that had not in its earlier stages symptoms of constipation.

How much better off the system is without the poisonous accumulations caused by constipation. How much clearer the complexion, how much fresher one feels when the system is pure and clean.

Think it over yourself.

Isn't it apparent that a bowel regulator and liver stimulant like Dr. Hamilton's Pills is sure to do good?

Gay spirits, good looks and happy health have returned to many a sick woman through Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Better get a few boxes today; purely vegetable, free from injurious ingredients, healthful and antiseptic. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will assist you in a thousand ways.

As delay is always dangerous, your plain duty is to follow the example of Mrs. F. Rowe, who sends the following letter from Gravels, Port Au Port, Newfoundland. "Four years ago I got kidney and bladder trouble. I thought it was female trouble and treated it accordingly. Even my doctor in St. John said it was so.

"In reading about Dr. Hamilton's Pills I noticed symptoms like mine and I bought six boxes. These pills went right to work on my sick condition and helped me from the first. My supposed female trouble, which was bladder disease, was cured. My weight increased eight pounds and never before was I as well as today. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

—The Pet. Rainbow will bring up a large party from Hastings and other Rice Lake ports on Wednesday. The party will go straight through over the lift lock to Stony Lake, returning on Friday.

—Ald. Duncan had a narrow escape from being upset out of a canoe near the G.P.R. bridge. He collided with two other canoeists, who were evidently green at the business and did not keep the proper course.

—Messrs Weir & McIntyre, the east ward coal dealers yesterday concluded a large contract for hardwood to be brought via Trent Canal for Keene and Kawartha Lakes. This firm has secured a large vacant lot adjoining their weigh scales at the corner of Mark and Hunter streets east, for storing the wood on arrival.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative brings lasting relief in Stomach, Kidney and Heart troubles through the inside nerves. No matter how the nerves became impaired this remedy will rebuild their strength, will restore their vigor. Remember it does no good to treat the ailing organ—the irregular heart, rebellious stomach, diseased kidneys. They are not to blame. Go back to the nerves that control them—treat the cause—use a remedy that cures through the inside nerves. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Fine Cattle For Mr. J. Denoon.

Yesterday morning eighteen fine fat cattle arrived in the city from South Monaghan for Mr. J. Denoon, the Hunter street butcher. These cattle, which on arrival were taken to the marked weigh scales, were fattened by Messrs. Steve Thorn and W. McClennan of South Monaghan. They were one of the finest bunches of cattle that have come into the city for many a day.

Citizens Are Welcomed Home

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Denniston have arrived home after an extended trip through Great Britain and the Continent. They are looking well and had a most enjoyable time. When Mr. and Mrs. Denniston got home they registered at the Hotel National, where they will remain for a few days while their summer home at Chemong is being opened up.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Denniston were accompanied by Miss J. F. Denniston, the Misses Denniston, Miss Halliday and Miss Kirkpatrick. Mrs. J. F. Denniston and the Misses Denniston, Miss Halliday visited in Montreal for a couple of days, with her sister Mrs. Robt. Ross, and will arrive home today, while Miss Kirkpatrick went through to Kingston.

Mrs. R. M. Denniston, Miss Kirkpatrick and Miss Halliday left Peterborough in April and sailed on the 23rd returning to Canada per the new C.P.R. steamer Empress of Ireland, on her first trip, this steamer sailing on June 29.

These returned travellers will be heartily welcomed by their scores of warm friends.

Baltimore Citizens in Town.

The steamer Rainbow arrived in the city yesterday morning with an excursion party of about 150 on board from Baltimore. The outing was under the auspices of the Presbyterian Sunday school. The excursionists embarked at Harwood and Gore's Landing. They sailed for home during the afternoon.

A Rare Chance For Investment

Place Your Money in One of Mexico's Promising Mines.

As is generally known Mexico, since before the days of Montezuma, has been the gold producing country of the world, and now a good opportunity is presented to get in on the ground floor in a mine situated in Mexico's richest district.

The El Paso-Parral Mining Co., own three-quarters of a mile of one of Mexico's richest veins, as well as one of the rich veins of the famous bonanza mine Pedro Alvarado. In speaking from an independent stand point, after examining the mine, the Chihuahua Enterprise says: "We find that it is entirely legitimate and that the company's claims are quite true. The property consists of three denouncements on the San Patricio vein, to the north of the property of that name, and that this vein can be traced into the Palmilla hill, and undoubtedly has some influence on the formation of the Alvarado bonanza, together with other veins which also center in the Alvarado property. We believe it is worthy of investigation."

It might be noted that the shrewdest financiers, bankers and investors in the United States are now pouring money into this district, and that small investments made on the ground floor return hundreds per cent. in dividends.

One great feature of this mine is that no great expense from machinery is involved. The mine is near the railroad and the ore will be sold direct to the Smelters. For a limited time stock par value $1 is offered at 15 cents per share.

For particulars address El Paso-Parral Mining Co., Commonwealth Trust Building, St. Louis, Mo.

James, M.A., rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Toronto, will officiate at St. Luke's next Sunday.

North Country Visited By Hail

On Sunday afternoon the country round the north-west of this city including Selwyn, North Smith, part of Ennismore, Harwey, etc., was visited by a very heavy rain storm, which was accompanied by hail. The storm lasted nearly four hours and proved one of the most disastrous that has visited that district in years. It was not the electrical part of the storm that caused the damage, but it was the rain, which fell in torrents, and the hail. The hail stones were quite large and wrought great havoc to the crops, beating them flat to the ground and destroying the most of them.

The hail stones were particularly destructive as the recent heavy rains have made the stalks of all grain largely water and consequently very weak.

A Trite Saying.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free, on receipt of request therefor by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday there was a deadlock in the police court proceedings. It seems that when Geo. Chausse, a well dressed man who was represented by Mr. O'Connell, was charged with being drunk in Flynn's hotel, Hunter street, some of the chief witnesses in the case, who had been told to appear in court, but were not subpoenaed, failed to attend.

Mr. Flynn the proprietor, gave evidence, but the main witness, Miss Flynn was not present. P. C. Adams went down to the hotel, and returned to the court saying that the lady promised to come. She did not however attend, so the magistrate enlarged the case until Wednesday, and ordered subpoenas to be issued.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Congress Opened In London Yesterday

Chambers of Commerce From All Parts of the Empire Send Representatives---The Imperial Preference.

London, July 11.—With a record attendance the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire was opened yesterday by Lord Elgin. Lord Elgin said that he had learned in the Colonial Office to look on both sides of these questions. He wished to commend discussion from every side. He would not venture to advise the Congress as to its course, but hoped that they would attain the ambition of all, a United Empire.

T. N. Blackwell, chairman and Chas. Charlton, the deputy chairman, both spoke highly of the hospitality which had been received at Montreal at the last congress.

A motion congratulating Mr. Jos. Chamberlain was passed amid cheers.

Mr. George Drummond of Montreal, presented the first resolution, which combined the Canadian resolutions urging preferential trade between the United Kingdom and the Colonies. He said that he spoke for all the leading Canadian Boards of Trade and the Manufacturers Association maintaining the present practical importance of calling the Colonial Conference of 1907 was to give effect to the desire to make Canada an independent nation, permanently allied with Great Britain.

DANGER IN RECIPROCITY.

To this ideal the encroachments of the United States trade and the growth of the reciprocity party across the line constituted a grave danger. Within two generations Canada would have a population as great as the British Isles. This market was worth capturing. In Canada they do not accept the verdict of the last elections as against the proposition. He asked for the appointment of a commission going into the question. Canadians would not ask a preference if it would make bread dearer in the United Kingdom.

W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., seconded the resolution, urging it on behalf of the Empire, and not of any particular part. He said Canada had sacrificed five million dollars duty because of the preference.

Francis Ashworth, Manchester, opposing the resolution, said that after two years of education, tariff reform had been overwhelmingly defeated. The election cries had been "No Chinese labor." The loyalty of the Colonies was not dependent on any zollverein bonds.

Chas. J. Wilson, South Scotland, supported the resolution. He said that he had been converted from free trade.

INDIA OPPOSED.

Sir Ernest Cable, Bengal, and C. H. Armstrong, Bombay, opposed the resolution on behalf of Indian, which desired to avoid tariff walls.

They claimed India and Canada were the most important part of the Empire.

Lord Avebury, opposed the resolution, said that it was difficult to get a reciprocal basis. He thought that the prosperity of Canada had been greater since free trade had been adopted. The only thing that would benefit would be entire free trade within the Empire.

Octavius Beale, Australia, supported the resolution on the same lines as the representatives of Canada.

Lieut.-Col. Denison made a vigorous and patriotic appeal, answering the quotations of the previous speaker from the Laurier speech to the Colden Club. He said Sir Wilfrid Laurier had changed his mind and had made distinct offers. Loud dissent greeted the remark that England was going backward.

The resolution was supported by H. Beauchamp, New Zealand; G. Hirst, Birstall; Sir S. B. Samuel, London; and G. Parkes, M.P., Birmingham; and opposed by A. J. Hobson, Sheffield; Geo Wight, Sunderland.

CANADIAN RESOLUTION.

The resolution moved by Mr. Drummond was as follows:

"Whereas, in the resolution of the fifth congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, held in Montreal in August, 1903, it was stated that the bonds of the British Empire would be materially strengthened by a mutually beneficial commercial policy, it is the opinion of this congress that it is in the interest of the component parts of the Empire that steps should be taken towards consummating such an arrangement. There are in the United Kingdom, her colonies and dependencies, natural resources and industries which, if developed, would be sufficient to provide the British Empire with its food supply supply and all other necessaries and requirements of life.

"Be it therefore resolved, That this congress urges upon his Majesty's Governments in the United Kingdom and in the various colonies and dependencies the granting of preferential treatment in their respective laying down the law as to Customs duties."

Motives That Actuated Thaw

Stead Discusses Incisively the Slaying of Architect White.

London, July 8.—In an article in the Manchester Despatch, William T. Stead, the noted English editor, writes of the killing of Stanford White by Harry K. Thaw, as follows.

"The tragedy which occurred in New York's millionaire set will undoubtedly focus attention on the doings of this particular class of society. The curtain has been withdrawn for the moment by the hand of Fate, and the general public has had to look behind the scenes. The revelations which will doubtless be made at the trial will be astonishing. The people will realize that, so far as these millionaires are concerned, the country has reverted to the decadent days of the Roman Empire. 'These be thy gods, oh Israel.'

UPHEAVAL OF PRODUCERS.

"The same condition prevailed in France before the great revolution. The possession of fabulous wealth, without any ideas of human responsibility, has led up naturally to some such culmination as we see displayed in the actions of these people. If things are allowed to go on as they are, we shall doubtless witness an upheaval of the producers of wealth against those who lavishly spend it without toil and without responsibility.

"Stanford White's death at the hands of Harry Thaw opens for discussion some most fundamental principles of human nature.

WHEN HOMICIDE JUSTIFIABLE.

"There are undoubtedly times in a man's life when he seems justified in slaying one of his fellow beings. It is generally conceded, among even highly civilized nations, that one man has a right to kill another who is concerned in betraying his wife. Another case where killing appears to be justified is in such situations as have existed in the Chinese affair of Virginius, where the law afforded no redress, and again we have the situation portrayed in the incident of Tarquin and Lucrece, all of which in the general opinion of mankind are justifiable homicides.

"Coming the matter to more modern times, I might cite the case of the Irish landlord who was killed by one of his tenants because of his ill-treatment of their wives and daughters. Though this was technically considered a case of clear murder, still the general opinion was that in killing this man the earth was well rid of a monster.

PREYING ON FEMALE VIRTUE.

"Personally, I would be very glad to see quick justice meted out to all men who prey upon female virtue. They are in a measure beyond the reach of the law in many cases and unless some such fate befalls them as to be suddenly killed by another man, who feels he is ridding the earth of a moral leper, they go absolutely unscathed.

"At the same time when a man undertakes to slay another, he should be perfectly willing in committing that act to lose his own life. Unless he feels that, in killing another man, he is quite prepared to lay down his own life for the one he is sacrificing, then his motive is not an honorable one.

"In killing White perhaps Thaw felt he could be ridding the world of a man who well deserved to be slain as White was killed. Whether Thaw had any such notion, or whether he had been carried away by insane jealousy is not a matter that, in the present phase of the case, I could adjudge correctly."

Valuable St. Bernard Shot.

A new phase of the cowardly dog killing that has put so many valuable canines hors de combat lately in this city occurred on Monday morning when a fine thoroughbred St. Bernard belonging to Mr. Overend, was shot. The poor creature managed to drag itself home during the morning. Blood marks were traced for about a mile. The perpetrators of this cowardly act if discovered will be severely punished, as the dog was a valuable one, and was highly prized by his owner.

Handsome Present to Col. Edwards

Silver Tea Pot Given to Old Resident of the City Who Leaves for the West.

Yesterday morning a most interesting ceremony was held when the local law association met in the library at the court house, to bid farewell and make a presentation to Col. E. B. Edwards, K.C., Col. Edwards is one of the oldest legal men in this city. He has spent nearly all his life here, and is known throughout the whole district. The colonel has always had a large practice.

Col. Edwards has always taken a prominent part in military circles. As a church worker he occupied a high station, and was interested in all branches of the church's work.

It was, therefore, with some surprise, that the public of Peterborough learned a few weeks ago that he had moved to Edmonton, Alta., and intended to make that western city his home.

Yesterday morning all the local members of the bar in the city, together with some of the court officials, gathered in the law library at the court house. President E. A. Peck occupied the chair, and he called for Col. Edwards to come forward. As the colonel stepped up to the table Mr. Peck announced on behalf of the Association, the intention of the gathering. In a brief address, he expressed the regret of the association at the step Mr. Edwards had taken. The colonel, he said, had been so long in the city, that he had no idea but what Mr. Edwards intended to end his days here.

On behalf of the association Mr. Peck requested the colonel to accept the slight memorial which they hoped would in after years recall to himself and Mrs. Edwards pleasant memories of their many friends in Peterborough.

The presentation was made by Mr. J. W. Bennet, secretary of the Association. It was a handsome silver tea-pot and was beautifully engraved, as follows:—

Presented to
E. Burritt Edwards, K.C.
By the
Peterborough Law Association
On the Occasion of his Removal From Peterborough.
1st of June, 1906.

Col. Edwards was completely surprised. He, however, replied to the many kind words of the president and heartily thanked the Association for their thoughtfulness.

To Rush Electric Line.

Hamilton, July 11.—Mr. Frederick Nicholls will make application at once for a right of way through the city for the Toronto Niagara and Western Electric Railway. Mr. Nicholls was in the city yesterday and said the line would tap the main line near Stoney Creek and the company intended to build through to St. Thomas and to Detroit later.

DEATH IN ARCTIC FEARED FOR PEARY

Naval Officers Worried by Failure to Get Any Tidings of Explorer.

WEATHER IN FAR NORTH BAD

Unusual Storms and Heavy Ice Cause Apprehension for Safety of His Ship.

Washington, July 11.—That Captain Robert E. Peary has sacrificed his life in the effort to discover the north pole is the fear of naval men here, who are worried by the failure to get any tidings of the ship Roosevelt, which sailed for the Arctic regions July 8, 1905.

Advices from the American Geographical Society add to their fears. Reports are that the weather in the far North this spring and early summer was more than usually rigorous, that severe storms have been frequent and that the ice is heavy. Consequently it is feared that Peary's ship may have been ground to pieces by the drifting floes.

DASH TO POLE PLANNED.

The explorer's plans, when he left last summer, were to proceed to the farthest possible point of land north of Cape Sabine and within 500 miles of the pole. There he was to establish a winter base, and make all preparations for a dash across the ice this summer as soon as weather conditions would permit. This he expected would not occupy more than six weeks, and, according to his calculations, he would reach home not later than October of this year.

Esquimaux and dogs, it is supposed, were taken aboard the Roosevelt last summer, for it is on the hardy inhabitants of the polar regions that Peary always relied. It was thought, however, that a whaling vessel might bring some tidings of the Roosevelt, and the failure of any news of the expedition to reach the outside world for so many months is arousing the keenest anxiety.

YEARS SPENT IN ARCTIC.

It is now just thirty years since Peary began his work as an Arctic explorer, and since then, when he made his first journey, his great aim in life has been to reach the one spot on earth which ever has been considered unattainable. He has not forgotten, however, to make complete scientific observations on his trips, and has contributed as much as, if not more than, any other explorer to knowledge of the polar regions.

Peary's trip of 1886 was made in the Eagle, which traversed much of the northern coast of Greenland, and encountered many difficulties. In 1891 he made another journey to the far North, and proceeded far inland over the snow fields of Greenland. He was deserted by his companions; however, met with an accident, in which he broke both his ankles, and finally was forced to return.

CHILD BORN IN NORTH.

In 1893 he started out again to go over the route of his Greenland march. He took Mrs. Peary with him, and on September 12, 1893, their child was born far within the Arctic circle. Peary wintered in northern Greenland, intending to make a dash for the pole the next year. He met with insurmountable difficulties, however, and was forced to return to his winter quarters.

Funeral of Mrs. Wm. Brickley

Today the last mortal remains of the late Sarah Edmison, relict of the late Wm. Brickley, will be taken from her residence, 130 Rubidge street, at 2.30 o'clock and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

The deceased was sixty-five years of age. The unfortunate lady was found lying senseless on the floor by her brother when he returned home from work Saturday night. She never recovered, although she rallied slightly.

New C.P.R. Route Not Yet Settled

Ald. R. F. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers and Railway Committee as noted in The Times has been in communication with Mr. Leonard of the C.P.R., in reference to the new route from Victoria Harbor. It will be remembered that a large number of people who reside in Monaghan, and through whose property a survey was made, made a protest to the city council.

Ald. McWilliams held a conversation with Mr. Leonard over the phone. He was told that it is yet premature to discuss this matter with the council. At the present time the company does not know where the road will run. The surveys have just been completed, and nothing can be definitely stated as to results as yet.

Mr. Leonard also stated that it is quite possible that the road will not come into Peterborough. They are making every effort at the present time to see if a line can be brought here, but so far the result has been anything but satisfactory.

Carried Red Flags Fought the Police

St. Petersburg, July 10.—Political demonstrations during which the crowds carried red flags and sang revolutionary songs occurred in many places in St. Petersburg yesterday afternoon and night, necessitating the interference of the police and military patrols. Street cars were held up and their occupants were compelled to uncover and salute the red flags.

The guards on the mail wagons are now armed with rifles, owing to the increasing number of attacks made upon these vehicles. Six more newspapers of this city have been confiscated;

Landlords from the Provinces where agrarian disorders are occurring are flocking into Moscow and St. Petersburg, appealing for troops to protect their property, without which, they declare it is impossible for them to live on their estates.

Some of the papers regard General Trepoff's pronouncement in favor of a Ministry composed of constitutional Democrats as a sham death-bed repentance, designed to give the Emperor and Court a breathing spell, while others consider it to be a confirmation of the report that Trepoff has fallen from favor and is trimming his sails to the prevailing breezes.

The Holy Synod has issued strict instructions forbidding the printing establishments of monasteries from publishing political tracts or in any way taking sides in the present struggle.

Courted in Italy Married Here

Yesterday morning a little romance, which had its origin in Italy, culminated in the marriage of Mr. Florendo De Carrlo to Miss Maria Almola. The ceremony took place at St. Peter's Cathedral at eight o'clock and was performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien. Mr. De Carrlo has been a resident of Peterborough for about three years but his bride only arrived here on June 23rd. Both are from the town of Rocca S. Giovanni. The happy couple were engaged when the groom left for America. His sweetheart remained true, and a few weeks ago left sunny Italy and came to Canada.

The happy couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Minicolo. They will reside on Bethune street.

Y.M.C.A. Camp Opens Today

Everything is ready for the ninth annual Y.M.C.A. camp which opens today at Clear Lake.

The applications are pretty well in and over 30 will go — perhaps the number will be nearer 40.

Great interest centers in the excursion of the Fellowship Club on the 20th of July.

All the boys should be at the station at 11.45 on Wednesday, with their baggage.

DOCTOR'S SHIFT

Now Gets Along Without it.

A physician says: "Until last fall I used to eat meat for my breakfast and suffered from indigestion until the meat had passed from the stomach.

"Last fall I began the use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and very soon found I could do without meat, for my body got all the nourishment necessary from the Grape-Nuts and since then I have not had any indigestion and am feeling better and have increased in weight.

"Since finding the benefit I derived from Grape-Nuts I have prescribed the food for all my patients suffering from indigestion or over-feeding and also for those recovering from disease where I want a food easy to take and certain to digest and which will not overtax the stomach.

"I always find the results I look for when I prescribe Grape-Nuts. For ethical reasons please omit my name." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The reason for the wonderful amount of nutriment, and the easy digestion of Grape-Nuts is not hard to find.

In the first place, the starchy part of the wheat and barley goes through various processes of cooking, to perfectly change the starch into Dextrose or Post Sugar, in which state it is ready to be easily absorbed by the blood. The parts in the wheat and barley which Nature can make use of for rebuilding brain and nerve centres are retained in this remarkable food, and thus the human body is supplied with the powerful strength producers so easily noticed after one has eaten Grape-Nuts each day for a week or 10 days. "There's a reason."

Money Given and Taken for Bribery

Judge Winchester Arraigns a Former Alderman, Architects and Contractors--Loans to Lennox Termed Gifts to Secure Favors

Toronto, July 11.—Judge Winchester's report on the civic investigation presented to the city council yesterday afternoon, while making no recommendation as to what proceedings should be taken, dealt at great length with every branch of the investigation on findings reached by his Honor, in connection with every case.

CONCLUSIONS IN BRIEF.

The judge's conclusions in brief were as follows.

Puddy Bros. charges—

That Puddy Bros. paid George B. Elliott large sums of money for the purpose of corrupting aldermen, if Elliott considered it necessary.

Dr. Lynd charges—

That Dr. Lynd met Elliott at Scholes' Hotel, and accepted $100 or less from him.

That the charge that Dr. Lynd demanded money from A. D. Harris was not sustained.

Architect Lennox charges—

That Mr. Lennox issued two false certificates to Mr. Hunter as clerk of the works; that $100 was paid on each of these certificates, and charged to Mr. Hunter's account, as earned by him in the city's service.

That payments were made by Mr. Dinnis and Mr. Rogers, on the suggestion of Mr. Lennox, on behalf of Dr. Lynd.

That presents were made to Mr. Lennox before the contractors had received their final certificates or payments.

Bennett and Wright charges—

That moneys paid by Bennett and Wright to Lennox were not loans, but gifts, in return for favors shown in connection with city contracts.

That increased charges were allowed Bennett and Wright by Mr. Lennox, in connection with city hall contracts.

Civic Contractors' charges—

That the St. Lawrence market roofing contract was let by fraud through the combination of contractors that the city was compelled to pay the bonus paid unsuccessful tenderers by the successful tenderer, amounting in all to $3,205.

That the contractors, Douglas Bros., paid $200 or $300 to Mr. Siddall and Beaumont Davis, architects, in connection with St. Lawrence Market contracts.

That the Metallic Roofing Co., obtained a city contract by fraud, causing the city to pay out $2,205 without receiving any consideration therefor.

That the Metal Shingle Co. added $850 to their tender for Exhibition Manufacturers' Building roof, in addition to profits.

MR. ELLIOT, LOBBYIST.

His Honor's observations re Puddy Bros. are in part as follows:

"In my opinion the evidence establishes the fact that Puddy Brothers, being in a desperate condition with reference to their pork-packing establishment, decided that it was necessary to obtain the assistance of a man capable of using such influence, improperly or otherwise, with aldermen as would enable them to obtain the permit from the city council; that having known and heard of George B. Elliott as a professional lobbyist, and one that would suit their purpose, they employed him in March, 1905. He was paid moneys from time to time by Henry and George Puddy, the two active members of the firm. In my opinion the two Puddy Brothers, who are men of good business ability, made payments to Elliott in a manner that justifies a finding that they were willing to allow Elliott to use same improperly if he thought fit, and that they were aware that his expenses were not for legitimate purposes. I, therefore, find that Puddy Brothers paid Elliott at least $908 before the investigation was entered upon, and a large sum since then, to be used by Elliott in corrupting the aldermen in connection with the vote that was taken on the 7th day of July, 1905, if he considered it necessary.

Dealers to Fight Bylaw

Local Tobacconists Hold Mass Meeting Against Cigarette Tax.

Yesterday morning a meeting of the local tobacco and cigar retail merchants was held to protest against Ald. Hall's legislation whereby a tax of $200 per annum is demanded for all who wish to sell cigarettes.

The unanimous opinion of the meeting was that the bylaw was a mistake and an injustice and the dealers will use strenuous efforts to have it repealed. A special meeting of the council will in all probability be held this week to discuss the situation and a deputation will be present to support their claims.

Some of the dealers yesterday advocated the licensing of all tobaccos, compelling tobacconists to pay $200 for their store in which case the license would cover the sale of cigarettes, cigars and all other forms of the weed. The proposers of the measure point out that such a bylaw would drive the tobacco trade where it belongs, into tobacco stores, and cut off all the promiscuous selling in corner groceries, confectionery store and such places. A bylaw such as proposed will keep the trade in the hands of men who would be responsible, and under the control of the authorities. Many of the dealers are said to favor the measure, which would effectually serve Ald. Hall's purpose of preventing the sale of cigarettes to minors. It was generally considered throughout the city yesterday that the dealers should have woken up and taken action sooner. Only one dealer, Mr. Pappas, of George street, has taken out the $200 license, and he yesterday told a Times representative he was willing to stand by the other dealers, provided the tobacconists are protected from every business butting in on that of the legitimate tobacconists.

Local Lawyers To Enjoy Life

Yesterday morning the members of the Peterborough Law Association gathered in the law library to bid farewell to Col. E. B. Edwards, when some one brought up the matter of a Thursday half holiday. The lawyers decided that they might as well enjoy a holiday and also to allow their assistants a half day off. The question was not debated at all, as everyone seemed quite willing.

Mr. Geo. Edmison moved and Mr. D. W. Dumble seconded, that during July and August, starting on Thursday, all law offices in the city close at one o'clock, Thursday afternoon.

The motion was carried unanimously. The offices will also close at four o'clock other business days of the week.

Guards' Band for Toronto Fair.

Toronto, July 11.—After having been withheld for a long time, His Majesty's consent has been granted for the visit of the Second Life Guards' Band to the Toronto Fair.

LORD KITCHENER'S SUCCESSOR

Believed That Sir John French Will Succeed Him in India Next Year.

London, July 11.—It is believed that Lieutenant-General Sir John French will succeed Lord Kitchener in command of the army in India next year, when the latter completes his five years' appointment. It is stated that Lord Kitchener does not desire to discuss the tension of his tenure, as the basis of his work of reconstruction can be completed by 1907. General French completes his four years' tenure of the Aldershot command in September, and he will probably be succeeded by Major-General Sir Francis Howard, now commanding the western area. The latter has had half a dozen campaigns in India, Egypt, and South Africa. He formerly commanded the Second Rifle Brigade. Major-General J. M. Grierson, director of Military Operations, will succeed Lieut.-General A. Paget in command of the First Division at Aldershot.

Conservatory Pupils Do Well

The following pupils of Mr. Gilbert Markle, of the staff of the Conservatory of Music, have successfully passed their examinations at the Toronto Conservatory of Music:—

Primary, with first-class honors—Master F. Halpany and Miss E. Dorris.

Junior violin, with honors — Miss Ethel Girvin, Miss K. Wallis.

Coal Barons Take a Trip

Some of the local coal barons have taken a rest from their arduous labor of gathering in what coin the public can spare and still get a good living, by taking a free trip in conjunction with all the coal buyers of Western Ontario. The operators and mine capitalists are taking the party over to the Pennsylvania mines to show them through the district. The train left Buffalo yesterday and the party will return on Friday.

Ald. Robert Hicks, Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald and Mr. Wm. Scott are among the Peterborough merchants who took in the outing. They are the guests of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway and they expect a most pleasant journey.

Rockefeller Summoned.

Findlay, Ohio, July 11.—Judge Banker, of the Probate Court, has issued a summons for John D. Rockefeller in connection with the suit recently filed here against the Standard Oil Company and Mr. Rockefeller, in which it is alleged that the Valentine anti-trust law has been violated by the Standard or its subsidiary companies. The summons was turned over to Sheriff Groves, who states that he will make service upon Mr. Rockefeller as soon as the latter returns from Europe. Sheriff Groves has gone to Cleveland to serve summons upon the Standard Oil Company through one of its officers.

—THE—
WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock, $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES R. TUDHOPE, Esq., M.P.P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M.K., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark, McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Send for full particulars to

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

To impart quickness and great vitality to the entire system nothing acts like Ferrozone.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and braces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Utopia, Ont., Mr. H. H. Postle, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that everyone requires medicine in the spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, narrous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form,—that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE NEW FARMING IN CHINA

China will Apparently soon be fully awake. She is now going in for scientific farming. In many of the provinces agricultural colleges are being established, which are generally under the direction of the Japanese, who are introducing American ways and methods in the teaching of scientific farming. The Governor-general at Mukden has recently engaged as his agricultural adviser a Japanese, Sojiro Yokoyama, who is also a director of the Industrial Bureau of Formosa, and has recently returned to the Far East from a visit of eight months in the United States, which he spent in visiting agricultural colleges and in the study of scientific farming in various parts of the country. Much has been done at Mukden to interest the natives in modern agricultural machinery. It was found that they are already discussing this subject among themselves and many of them have become extensive holders of farm lands and are inclined to branch out into the farming of large tracts—that is, a number of small farms under one manager. While the Chinese agriculturists lack initiative, as a rule, many of the ultra-reform officials are active in urging modern methods.

Success to the new China. Perhaps when she is fully civilized she will show us how to get something besides baking powder that is pure.

THE BREAD WE EAT

Aside from the results at which it directly aimed, the exposure of the American packing houses has had a wide beneficial effect. It has spurred the health and sanitary officials all over the country to a more painstaking discharge of their duties.

The sanitary inspection department of Chicago, naturally, has been busy since the conditions which prevailed in Packingtown were laid bare. It has bethought itself to look after the bakeries. In view of what was discovered it is apparent that they have needed official attention for a long time.

Many of the shops were found to be operated with as little regard for health and decency as the packing houses ever were. Men were found sleeping on the tables used for kneading bread and making pastry. The floors and walls were not clean. The ventilation was poor. The employees, in many cases, bore every appearance of aversion to soap and water. Their clothing, usually too dilapidated for street wear, had evidently never been in a washtub. Their habits of person were, as a rule, uncleanly. Often there were no means by which the men could wash their hands. In many cases toilet rooms, entirely unaired-for, opened directly into the rooms where the bakers worked.

Chicago will at once give the proprietors of the bakeries a shaking up. Would it not be well for cities and towns in Canada to follow its example? It is possible that some of the Peterborough bake shops are not as wholesome as they should be.

Large Land Deal In the West

Winnipeg, July 8.—One of the largest farm land deals that has taken place in the west has just been consummated, and as a result the Western Canada Settlers' Colonial Land Company, Limited, of which the Hon. W. H. Montague is president and general manager, has disposed of all their large holdings along the Canadian Northern Railway and the line of the Grand Trunk Railway east of Saskatoon which is now being constructed, to belgian capitalists.

The price paid is about $9.00 per acre, and the total investment is, therefore, about a million and a half dollars.

The company taking over the land is called the Lands and Agriculture Company of Canada, and its business is announced to be that of improving as well as retailing lands. It will not sell lands en bloc, but will confine its sales to retail.

The company does not propose to confine its operations to lands already purchased; but will probably buy large quantities of good lands, providing it can secure them at fair prices.

The gentlemen composing the company are among the largest capitalists in Belgium.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SASKATCHEWAN WHEAT YIELD.

Expected That Will Reach 50,000,000 Bushels in Province Alone.

Toronto, July 9.—Mr. J. F. M. Stewart, secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has arrived from Winnipeg, where he was perfecting arrangements for the annual convention of the association, which will be held in the western metropolis from August 17 to 19. At the conclusion of the convention the delegates will proceed to the coast by special train. The Manitoba members are enthusiastic over the excursion, and have chartered a Pullman in which to accompany the delegates. The convention will be held at the new C. P. R. hotel, Royal Alexander, which will be completed in time to accommodate the visitors.

Mr. Stewart says he was much impressed with the evidence of expansion and prosperity everywhere to be seen in Winnipeg and Manitoba. The people there are all optimistic and talk in the superlative degree of the future of the west.

The prediction is freely made that in the new Province of Saskatchewan the wheat yield this year will total over 50,000,000 bushels.

Heavy Freight on Lakefield Line.

Yesterday morning the freight train for Lakefield was so heavily loaded that two engines were necessary to haul it. The "double-heads" attracted considerable attention and was talked of considerably among the railway employees.

Coal comprises a large amount of the freight for Lakefield, the dealers there apparently are putting in large supplies. At the present time too, a large amount of furniture, etc., is being taken to Lakefield for cottagers up the lakes.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Buxton capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appointments. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Whither think you we had best ride?" Colonel Harrison asked as they started.

"Lafayette is nigh the Rapid-Ann," said Henry. "I' faith"—with a smile at the girl beside him—"the man who named it should have seen you ride! Best to reach our own lines for the night, and tomorrow we will off for Staunton. Ely's house should be near our troops, and Mistress Tillotson can get safe escort to Fredericksburg."

At midafternoon they stopped at a small hut in a gorge and asked for something to eat.

After the meal and rest the four rode some hours through shaggy ravines strewn with wrack of storm, where the green veins of every growing thing ran flush with frenzied sap, then to the low valleys of the Rapid Ann. And here at last spirals of smoke showed them where Lafayette lay encamped, waiting a junction with Wayne to march against Cornwallis.

The first challenge they met came from a detachment of Virginia riflemen, and, finding an old friend in their commander, Major Call, Colonel Harrison and Mr. Tyler elected to go no farther. Ely's house, Henry learned, was but a few miles beyond the picket lines, and as to the morrow's escort for Anne the major sent a lieutenant with them a mile down the river to headquarters to ask it.

It was a picturesque encampment through which they passed. There were few tents—mere wigwams of fresh cut boughs to shed the dew. Here and there fires of blazing fence rails glowed yellowly in the gathering twilight.

The tent of the acting colonel of the Virginia Continental regiment was pitched apart on a patch of beaten grass. Stools and a light folding table holding pen and paper sat just outside the open flaps, from whose angle a lantern hung, already winking in the dusk.

Benches were on one side, and here, while their horses were cared for, Henry and Anne seated themselves to wait. Near by the dusty silver of sycamores swayed against the shredded carnation of the sky, and from the distance through the warm evening came the hum of the camp, noises of mess preparing and the tramp and neigh of horses.

They sat awhile silent, Anne's every nerve tired. Henry watched her. How softly white her cheeks, how deep the longing in her eyes!

"'Twas a quick plan and a splendid ride," he said at length. "A brave act, as are all of yours!"

She cringed suddenly. "I hate that word so!" she implored, and he knew of what she was thinking.

All at once she looked at him, speaking earnestly: "Do you believe I shall ever see him? Oh, if he could but know—but know that I was not false to him in my heart! At first I thought I would be content to know he was alive, even if I never saw him again—if he hated me! But now now, I would give my life to hear him say that he forgives me!"

It was as if all the pent up longing of the past time burst out in a flood. Her voice had sunk very low with the last words, for the lieutenant had approached again.

A horse pulled up before the tent, and its rider dismounted. He wore the uniform of a colonel of the line, and even in the half light both the watchers saw how strangely pallid his clear cut features showed beneath the straight black perruke he wore.

An orderly sprang from the tent to lead away the dancing horse, and the lieutenant saluted:

"A gentleman to see you, colonel. He requires escort tonight for a lady to Ely's and tomorrow to Fredericksburg."

The colonel had seated himself at a table and was spreading out a parchment map in the glow of the lantern. "Where are they?"

"They are here, sir."

As they came forward into the light the seated figure settled back in the shadow, and shaded his eyes with his hand. The lieutenant saluted and withdrew a little distance.

When the colonel spoke, it was in a muffled voice. "Your name, sir?"

Henry told him.

"For what lady do you wish this escort?" The black perruke was bent over the table. The quill was scratching.

"For this lady."

Anne had been staring, breathless, fascinated, her eyes wide in a timid pain. She took a step nearer, stretching out her arms, her lips trembling to a sob.

"Louis!" Her breath clung about the name. Henry swallowed an exclamation.

At the whisper the head lifted, and Armand's deep eyes looked at them out of a granite pale face. They went past her as if she had been the air and rested again on Henry.

"Her name?" he asked with an effort.

Anne drew back as if from a tangible blow. She flushed, and her eyes iced with a glint of the old, undying pride. She drew herself up and answered for Henry.

"Anne Tillotson," she said. But in spite of herself a throb of pain beat through the clear words.

A moment's silence, through which the pen wrote slowly. Then Armand rose unsteadily as the lieutenant came forward and thrust the order he had written into his hand.

"Conduct them," he said in a choked voice, and with his salute the tent flaps fell behind him.

"I warrant you found Colonel Armand a brusque cavalier," said the lieutenant as they pounded out of camp. "He is somewhat of a mystery, they say. No one knows where he came from. He joined the army in '75, and Washington took him up because he fought the militia brigades the drill like a French guardsman. He was at Valley Forge, too, and in New Jersey under Lafayette. He enlisted a legion of his own. It was cut to pieces at Camden. He's young, too, but he fights like Mad Anthony Wayne."

Anne had no reply to make. In the darkness she leaned her head to her horse's mane and wept with a rage of tears.

"He is fighting for us," she told herself over and over with a thrill, and ended it as often with a mental wail.

"But he will never forgive me—never—never—never!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

HENRY contrived to send early news of Anne's safety to Castle Hill, so that when she returned there she found the household undisturbed.

The sound of war had moved eastward down the peninsula. Lafayette, the "boy," who the British commander

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Cold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Pale Faced Girls

Thousands Using Successful Cure For Paleness and Anaemia.

The pallid girl always lacks appetite. What little she eats is badly digested.

At night she is restless, she dozes, but doesn't sleep soundly.

Vital force must be increased, new blood must be supplied and a general rebuilding take place before she will feel like she ought.

Dr. Hamilton had invaluable experience in these cases and found nothing so prompt in building up the young women as his vegetable pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills begin by cleansing the system and purifying the blood; they also improve digestion and render food ready for absorption. Additional nourishment is quickly supplied and the patient is fast strengthened and invigorated.

Full of spirit, ruddy and strong is the girl that assists her system by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The following recent letter from Miss Etta McEwen, of Haliburton, speaks for itself:

"In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills I find my system is wonderfully built up. It is certainly the most effective remedy I ever used. I have now a good appetite, sleep more soundly, and awaken in the morning feeling quite refreshed. "Formerly I felt tired and depressed. I looked as if a severe illness was hanging over my head.

"Nothing could give quicker results than Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I strongly advise every young woman to use them."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1, by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Wm. Duncan Sues For Damages

Mr. Wm. Duncan has entered an action in the High Court of Justice against the Peter Hamilton Company for $1,500, for personal injuries received while in their employ. The writ was taken out yesterday through his solicitors, O'Connell & Gordon.

Mr. Duncan was employed by the Peter Hamilton Company, and last spring received injuries to his hand and arm while at work on some machinery. He alleges that the company was negligent in providing proper precautions for the prevention of accidents.

The case will come up at the fall sitting of the court if a settlement is not reached.

Dangerous Speed of Auto.

Yesterday evening a prominent citizen called at The Times office and noted that a local gentleman who recently purchased an automobile, every evening breaks the speed bylaw of this city, and endangers the lives of men, women and children. A Times representative both Monday and yesterday evening noted that the gentleman referred to, drove his machine at a dangerous rate of speed. A word to the wise, etc.

Police Should Turn on Light.

It is now up to the city fathers, in the interests of our young girls and women to insist that Victoria Park be lighted at night. The lights are there, the current is ready to be switched on, and the police last year did the rest. To save scores of women from insult, if not worse, it surely behooves the commissioners to see that the police attend to this duty they performed last year, with one less on the force than at present. Keep pan—man's daughter insulted whilst passing through this park by night is surely worse than five minutes a night work by the police.

It might be noted that, possibly owing to an article in The Times of yesterday's date, the lights in Victoria Park were burning last night. It is to be hoped that this will be continued every night.

Jimmy McGrath Saves a Life

Plucky Act Whereby Mrs. Jas. Jellings' Life is Saved.

A boy named Jas. McGrath, 12 years of age, on Monday afternoon plunged into the Otonabee river, and rescued from death a woman, by name Mrs. Jas. Jellings. The woman saved from otherwise certain death lives at the foot of London street. It seems that she lost her balance and fell into the water. Just at the point where Mrs. Jellings fell in is about fifteen feet deep, and the current is strong. Her cries were heard by little Jimmie McGrath. The lad plunged in the water, and succeeded in rescuing the woman.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial digesters for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak heart—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 500 times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organs—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disorders be cured. Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that these inside nerves were the power nerves—that through them only was it possible to cure indigestion, heart burn, belching, insomnia, backache, heart weakness, Bright's disease, nervousness and all other affections of these nerves. For all of these ailments are not separate sicknesses and never to be treated. They are merely symptoms of inside nerve weakness, and when the nerves are restored the symptoms and the sickness disappear. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailing nerves is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It relieves the pain and distress of kidney, stomach and heart trouble quicker even than these medicines designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative can now be had of druggists everywhere. For sale and recommended by

J. D. TULLY.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings In Court Room and Station.

There was a fair attendance at yesterday's police court of the Labor Lonthing and Easy Hours Clubs.

Two local young men were charged with being drunk and disorderly in a public place and pleaded not guilty. The proprietor of a lunch counter on Charlotte street, said that a dispute had arisen over payment for a meal. The men were allowed to go but told not to "do it again."

Jeremiah Vanorman was charged with creating a disturbance near Roger street. It was a family affair and he explained matters to the magistrate and was discharged.

INTERESTING FACTS FOR INVESTORS

The place to mine is where good mines are found. Investigate before investing. EL PASO PARRAL MINING COMPANY, owning three-quarters of a mile of one of the historic veins of Mexico, as well as one of the rich veins of the famous bonanza mine of Pedro Alvarado, offers a limited number of its Treasury Shares at 15 cents each—par value one dollar. A careful investigation will show you beyond all question that this is the best opportunity for large and quick returns ever brought to your notice. The district of Parral is not one-half the size of the smallest county in Colorado, yet each year it produces more than one-third of the amount produced by that entire State, making it the richest mining camp in the world for its size. It has more paying mines for the number located than any district in America. New and rich discoveries are being made each year. Here Alvarado and scores of others found their bonanzas. From this district many are receiving life incomes. Here bankers and conservative business men invest. Why not you? Buy these shares, and buy them while they are cheap! But buy only after you have investigated the men interested. WE ARE MINING FOR COMMERCIAL RESULTS, NOT SPECULATION. There is not a dollar of "promotion" in the enterprise—every member of the Board of Directors invested his own money. No expensive machinery for reduction of ores required. The property is near the railroad, and the ores will be sold for spot cash to the smelters. No salaried officers, except the Superintendent. This proposition is open to the strictest investigation. Highest references furnished; correspondence solicited.

Plans for Isolation Hospital Too Costly

So Thought the Finance Com. Last Night. Matter Left in Abeyance for a Month or Two---Cigarette Bylaw May Be Repealed.

The Finance Committee of the city council met last night when there were present: Finance Minister, Ald. Mason and Aldermen Elliott, Wilson, Adams, McWilliams, and his Worship the mayor.

Medical Health Officer, Dr. Bingham, Wm Eyres, chairman Board of Health, and Dr McNulty, representing the local medical association, waited upon the committee and discussed jointly the proposition for an isolation hospital.

Architect Blackwell submitted three plans for the proposed hospital, the last drawn being the one recommended by the medical association. This shows a two-storey building 80x35 feet, with accommodation for 28 patients, kitchen on the basement and lavatory on each floor. The building would be divided into two parts, one for diphtheria, and the other for scarlet fever patients, thus practically isolating the two classes of patients. The cost of such a hospital, would be $10,000.

The first plan drawn provided for a 2-storey building 32x50 feet, divided as the above one, with basement. The cost would be $6000, and accommodation would be available for 20 patients, with plumbing on first floor only.

The second plan drawn very much resembled the third, accepted by the medical fraternity, its dimensions being 80x35 feet, and differing slightly in details. Such a building would cost about $8,000.

Dr. McNulty agrees with the views of a large number of British and American medical men who are not sure that isolation hospitals meet the requirements. Were an isolation hospital erected in Peterborough, he advocated it be of the cheapest nature; such a policy is now being followed in the United States, such buildings being pulled down and burned after a few years. This question will be discussed at the meeting of the British Medical Association to be held in Toronto in August.

Ald. McWilliams remarked that the council had been advised that a cheap building costing $1600 would meet all requirements.

Ald Elliott did not see the wisdom of erecting a costly $10,000 or $12,000 building, which, should a big epidemic arise, have to be destroyed.

Mr. Wm. Eyres replied to the Mayor that he alone is responsible for the plans having been ordered. He asked Mr. Blackwell to prepare rough plans so that the question could be submitted to the medical profession and the council intelligently. Should the plans be rejected by the city authorities, he (Mr. Eyres) is quite prepared to defray the cost of plans himself. He also pointed out that Dr. McNulty stands practically alone in his views as far as the local medical men are concerned.

To his Worship, Dr. Bingham replied that we have had no case since January 1st, which would have gone to the isolation hospital.

The committee offered that a caretaker and fuel would cost $500 or $600 a year. They suggested to Mr. Eyres that it would be desirable to wait until the British Medical association drive ours in Toronto in August, and exchange their views on this question. They might conclude that isolation hospitals are not desirable. Not at most they should be of the cheapest construction.

STATISTICS.

The following statistics of infectious diseases in Peterborough, as submitted by Ald. Mason, will be found of interest:—

Six months, 1906:—

Scarlet Fever—In Jan., five cases; Feb. 3, March, 3; April, 0, May, 1, June, 0. Total 12.

Diphtheria—In Jan., 0, Feb., 1, March, 1, April, 0, May, 1, June 0. Total 3.

For six months, 1905—Diphtheria cases 9, scarlet fever, 8.

For six months, 1904 — Diphtheria cases, 62, scarlet fever, 30.

For six months, 1903 — Diphtheria cases 46, scarlet fever, 80.

This shows a very satisfactory decrease in the number of cases of infectious diseases the last four years.

Ald. Mason thought the best policy for the city to pursue would be to erect an isolation building in connection with one of the present hospitals, at a cost of say $2,000, provided such institution will agree to attend to cases of infectious disease placed therein, on terms satisfactory to the corporation.

Ald. McWilliams thought it might be better to erect a cottage hospital, at a cost of say $3,000, including all equipment.

Ald. Elliott moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—In view of the fact that the British Medical Association, to meet at Toronto in August, will take this matter up, any action by this council be deferred until after such association's views are ascertained. Also that this joint meeting adjourn until after said meeting—Carried.

Ald McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald Adams,—That Mayor Beal, the chairman of the Board of Health, and the chairman of the Finance committee, wait upon the authorities of the Nichols and St. Joseph's hospitals, and ascertain their views as to all possible plans for the treatment of contagious diseases.—Carried.

CITY TO ENTERTAIN.

The matter of entertaining the delegates to the Grand Lodge of Oddfellows to convene here on August 7th, 8th and 9th, and the British Bowlers on August 1st, was next gone into.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald Elliott,— That the chairman of the City Reception Committee, arrange with the local leaders for the city to take the visiting British Bowlers over the lift lock to Nassau; and that an address of welcome be read to them at the locks; also that arrangements be made to photograph the visitors on the steamer going over the lift lock, a copy to be forwarded to each of the visitors before they leave the country—Carried.

Ald McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald Adams, That the chairman of the Reception Committee, Ald. Mason, be authorized to arrange for a steamer on August 8th and 9th, to take the visiting Oddfellows over the lift lock, and that an address of welcome be read to them at a convenient hour.—Carried.

AGAINST CIGARETTE BYLAW.

Nine city tobacco dealers, petitioned against the enforcing of the cigarette bylaw, prohibiting the sale of cigarettes, unless under a license of $200. The dealers declare that as the law does no prohibit or decrease the sale of cigarettes, but simply secures the trade to the boys. They claimed it is in the interests of the anti-cigarettists, who asked that the bylaw be repealed. Four of the petitioners are tobacconists and five hotelers who also deal in tobacco and cigars.

Ald Atkins pointed out that if the hotels ask to selling cigarettes to boys, which he did not believe to be the case, such a course would result in local option coming into force in Peterborough. He did not credit that any reputable hotel would sell cigarettes to boys.

Ald Mason said this bylaw was passed under a misapprehension. It was understood that the hotels would no handle cigarettes. The boys get cigarettes to and from hotels. They do so by indirect means, through the medium of unprincipled men.

Ald. Wilson argued that the bylaw would never be effective, as it does not prohibit the sale of cigarette paper and tobacco to boys.

Ald. Mason suggested that the bylaw be repealed and another one passed, providing a license fee of $200 for the sale of all tobaccos and cigars. This would have the desired effect, inasmuch as it would stop the sale of tobacco and cigarettes by grocers and small dealers.

This matter was left over for a regular meeting of the council, unless circumstances arise to warrant the calling of a special meeting.

The council then adjourned.

Sewer Contracts Now Awarded

City Engineer Endorses Mr. Robt. Sheehy's Tenders.

Our readers will remember that the five tenders for local sewers were opened on Monday afternoon. Mr. R. Sheehy's tender being the lowest, was referred to the city engineer. Mr. Hay has now gone over the various tenders and now Mr. Sheehy has the contract for sure.

Mr. Sheehy's total price was 39,095. This was the lowest total cost. Is thought Contractor J. E. Hayes was lower than Mr. Sheehy on certain sections. All the figures, with the total cost of each tender will be submitted to the Board of Works in a report from the engineer. In the meantime Mr. Sheehy will be given the contract.

Aid Asked in a Good Cause

Rev. Father McColl, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral has just issued a circular letter asking aid for St. Joseph's hospital. This appeal is one that is made and largely responded to annually.

One great feature of St. Joseph's hospital is that, whilst managed under a denominational control it is strictly irrespective of denomination as regards the good the institution does.

St. Joseph's hospital is open as freely and extends as hearty a reception to Protestant as to Catholic. The Times hopes that this appeal towards a deserving charitable institution will meet with popular and general favor.

Large Crowds at Jackson Park

Last night there were at least 2,000 people at Jackson Park. This popular resort seems to grow more in popularity and patronage. The merry-go-round was a continual boom (not to make a pun) of hilarity and music. The moving pictures given under the able management of Mr. G. Henderson, included as the most appreciated features, Love's Tragedy, The Strike, San Francisco Disaster, Paris Apaches, and Alarm. The street car service was excellent and every car was crowded on the outward trip. Mr. Larmouth, the energetic and successful manager, has certainly won the praise of the citizens for the cheap and enjoyable amusement he has supplied at a low price.

G. Matthews Co. Have Pork Awash

The Toronto papers of yesterday contain despatches from Montreal to the effect that the Steamer Cervona, which left Montreal on Saturday for London, Eng., had gone aground five miles west of South Point, on the Island of Anticosti.

Messrs. Geo Matthews Co., pork packers, are among the heaviest losers, as they have over $50,000 worth of bacon on board the Cervona. The cargo is bound for London and was made up from the firm's three factories at Peterborough, Brantford and Hull.

The Cervona was built of steel on the Clyde in 1896, and is of 3,780 tons gross register, length 368 feet. She was bound to London with a general cargo and cattle.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE VISITS CANADA

Noted Publisher Declares Chamberlain Movements by No Means Dead

IS TEMPORARILY OBSCURED

Young Men of Brains are on His Side Old Derelicts Largely Composing His Opponents.

Montreal, July 12.—Lord Northcliffe, better known to the Canadian public perhaps as Sir Alfred Harmsworth, publisher of the London Daily Mail and numerous other newspapers and magazines, is in Montreal today, on his way to visit the immense pulp properties which he has recently acquired in Newfoundland.

He reached Montreal from Boston, and called on Mr. Robert Meighen, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and other acquaintances, afterwards visiting the Bank of Montreal and the financial district.

To a reporter, Lord Northcliffe, who is still a young man, and looks more like a hustling American than the conventional British nobleman, spoke interestingly of affairs in England, and the relations of the Old Country with Canada.

CHAMBERLAIN'S CAMPAIGN.

Naturally, the question of the Chamberlain propaganda was broached, as Lord Northcliffe is the leading publisher in England to espouse the cause of the man from Birmingham.

"I am a Chamberlain man down to the ground," exclaimed his Lordship, "because I think he is right, and I believe it is bound to come that the policy he champions will triumph.

"I find here in Canada, in talking with Canadian friends, that they believe there is some abatement in the movement in England, on account of the agitation over the Education Act. There is no such abatement, however. We have all the young men with brains on our side, while the other people have the old derelicts.

"For the moment, matters are obscured by local politics, and we are unfortunately face to face with a hostile government with a large, though divided majority, but Mr. Chamberlain has practically every leading newspaper in England on his side, and he is far and away the greatest statesman of our time. As you may have seen, his birthday, on Saturday last, was celebrated all over the world. I, myself, took part in the celebration in Boston."

FREE TRADE IS DEAD.

"All kinds of interested people and cranks, some of whom have visited Canada, have talked a great deal of nonsense about supporting free trade, but in my humble judgment it has been dead for twenty years, and will be buried after the next general elections,—much too late, I admit."

"Do the people in England continue to take an interest in Canadian affairs?"

"Yes, indeed, the people at home are greatly interested in everything Canadian, and especially in the new methods of reaching Canada, which have already attracted a vast amount of tourist travel. After visiting my properties in Newfound I am returning to England by one of the new C. P. R. boats, of which everyone I meet has something good to say."

Local Presbytery Was in Session

A meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough was held in the Mill street church, Port Hope, with Rev. A. K. Camp, of Harvieock, moderator, in the chair. Rev. Peter Duncan, of Colborne, was elected moderator for the ensuing six months, and as he is ill, Mr. Camp will continue in discharge the duties of the office until Mr. Duncan's recovery.

The call from Lakefield and North Smith Presbyterian congregation to Rev. S. S. Burns, of Stirling, was presented. Messrs. Fairbairn and Tanner, of Lakefield, supported the call, which was ordered to be forwarded to Mr. Burns. If the call is accepted by Mr. Burns a special meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough will be held to arrange for the induction of Mr. Burns in his new charge.

Aftermath of Forged Cheque

Our readers will remember that about two weeks ago, a young Englishman passed out forged cheque signed "T. A Hayes" on a Lake street resident, from whom, with the cheque, he purchased a cow and calf.

This cow and calf was purchased in good faith, from the forger by Mr. J Mongraw, the Charlotte St. tonsorial artist for $30. Mr. Mongraw putting up $2 to bind the bargain, he to pay the balance, $28 next morning. Mr. Mongraw got the downer but the forger that night left for, and still is in, parts unknown.

On Tuesday as Mr. Mongraw was walking towards his house in the east ward, he met the original seller of the animals, Mr. J. Kelleher, of Lake street, driving the cow and calf along. Mongraw at once stopped the procession and wanted to know what Kelleher was doing with his live stock. An altercation arose, when, to quote Mongraw's words, the latter came "nearly landing one" on the abductor of his cow. The local bailiff, however, who accompanied Kelleher, stepping up to Mongraw allowed a writ of replevin for the goods.

Mr. Mongraw yesterday told a Times representative that to get this writ, Mr. Kelleher had to deposit some $90 as security and that he, Mongraw still owns and will insist of having the cow. Mongraw says that he has kept count of the daily average of the cow's milk and will also demand payment for the same when he gets, what he claims a his own cow back. A local hotel man also has an account against the animal for feed during the night the forger sold them. Taken altogether here is a case the would puzzle the proverbial "Philadelphia lawyers."

Will Benefit Canada.

Washington, July 12.—Brazil has just announced a new tariff which reduces the duty on flour and many other exports 20 per cent. and is designed to promote the development of commercial interchange between the United States and Brazil.

"Condensed milk, rubber seals, watches, varnishes, typewriters, pianos, ice boxes, scales, windmills and inks (excepting writing inks) and other articles on which the twenty per cent. reduction on tariff be granted. But flour is the most important commodity in the list. Failure to reduce the duty on flour almost caused a breach of the relations between the two countries many years ago and because of the exportation of large quantities of flour to Brazil the change in duty favorable to this country is of great importance.

The Victor of Marathon Here

The biggest sporting event of the season here will be held on Saturday, July 21, when the fast Port Hope baseball nine will be here to play an exhibition game with the locals, and the famous William J. Sherring of Hamilton, champion long distance runner of the world, and winner of the great Marathon road race, will give an exhibition of running.

Women with weaknesses should never forget Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. This magic-like local treatment, is used at bedtime, all night while the system is at rest, it is constantly building up the weakened tissues, soothing the inflamed and sensitive surfaces and will surely clean up all catarrhal and local troubles. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Ottawa Asks Power From the Commission

Toronto, July 11.—The first application asking the new Hydro-Electric Power Commission to exercise its powers was made yesterday by the City of Ottawa when Mayor Ellis and Ald. Hopewell and Brudreaut met the members of the commission, Hon. Adam Beck, Hon. J. S. Hendrie and Mr. Cecil B. Smith, and laid the city's case before them.

It appears that a year ago the city purchased the distributing plant of the Consumers Electric Company, under the powers given in an Act passed in 1898, for the sum of $200,000, and began leasing power from the Ottawa and Hull Power Company, and distributing it to the citizens. No sooner did they commence business however, than the Ottawa Electric Company, an opposition concern, brought an action for an injunction to prevent them from leasing power, alleging that while the Act gave them the right to produce and distribute power, they had no right to lease it. The action was heard by Chancellor Boyd, who decided in favor of the city, but, on appeal, his judgment was reversed, and the city is now in the position, as Hon. Adam Beck put it, of having "a bakery without flour, unless they buy a farm and raise the actual wheat themselves."

Pending further appeal, proceedings the council have decided to place their case in the hands of the commission. Their application quotes the actual words of the Act, "to procure for use and supply as power."

Under the Act, the Commission are empowered to do one of three things (1) Build and operate a plant (2) expropriate an existing plant, or (3) lease power, and it is the latter which the city asks.

The Commission instructed them to have the necessary resolution formally passed by the council, upon which they will prepare estimates, etc.

There is no doubt but a satisfactory arrangement can be made, and the matter will probably be taken out of the courts at once.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Disease Prevalent Now but Can be Cured Quickly with Hyomei.

Until very recent years, it was thought that catarrh was a disease of the blood, but now modern science has proved that catarrh is a germ disease, and can be cured only by a treatment that will kill the germ and heal the mucous membrance of the nose and throat.

Therefore, when you have catarrh, you can readily see that if you want to cure it, you should use Hyomei, which medicates the air you breathe, thus killing the catarrhal germs and healing the smarting and raw membrane of the passages through the nose and throat. In breathing Hyomei you are really treating your catarrhal troubles with the only natural method, for it will make the air you breathe as pure, healing and antiseptic as that found on the mountains where the pine forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper, costs only $1, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Sunday Bill is Passed at Last

The Senate Read it for the Third Time Yesterday. Is it the Same Measure? Senator Lougheed's Attack.

Ottawa, July 12.—When the Senate met yesterday morning the Secretary of State moved the third reading of the Sunday observance bill.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell remarked that the measure had been so murdered, mangled, and emasculated that the Government would not know what it meant. There had been blundering and division among the members of the Government itself, and the measure was now so unintelligible that he would not attempt the task of reforming it. The Government was responsible and must bear the odium.

Senator Lougheed, leader of the Opposition, said the bill might be weak and inconsistent, but it was neither as weak nor inconsistent as the Laurier Government. The Government had made a great splurge about the Lord's Day. It had introduced this bill substantially as drafted by the Lord's Day Alliance. It then began to undermine and practically to kill it. The bill was kept away from the Senate until the last week of the session. The minister of justice up to a certain point had protested against delegating any authority to the provinces over criminal law. Then on the 29th he had turned a somersault and accepted the Roche amendment.

The secretary of state in the Senate the day before had accepted an amendment that the Government had voted down on the other house when proposed by Hon. R. E. Bordon. The Commons today would no recognize its own child when it came before them again. Then its name had been changed.

HAD BROKEN FAITH.

In conclusion Senator Lougheed insisted that the Government had not kept faith with the Lord's Day Alliance, at whose instance it was introduced, and he waited with considerable interest to see how the situation would be explained in the Toronto Globe, the Government organ.

The secretary of state answered that the Globe was not the Government organ, indeed was sometimes actively opposed to it. There had been no undue delay in the construction of the Lord's Day Act. It had come down early in the session, and was fully considered in the Commons. He denied that the changes made by the Senate in the bill were of a revolutionary character. The measure had been pressed upon the Government by excellent men from Ontario who sought to enforce their views upon the whole Dominion.

No doubt they were all in the right direction, but when the public opinion on the question found expression, was the Government going to tear counter thereof. He did not think they would be justified in so doing, and the Government had to recognize that the views that were sought to be pressed upon them were not sound, and so the measure was made to conform to the views of the country as a whole.

MEASURE VALUELESS.

Senator MacDonald, of British Columbia, gave the Prime Minister full credit for the earnestness with which he had stuck to this bill through thick and thin. The Senate amendments, however, left the whole measure valueless.

Senator Dandurand, of Montreal, took exactly the contrary view, and insisted that instead of being disappointed with the Senate amendment, the other house would be happy to find its child much improved in value and justice.

Senator Wm. Ross of Nova Scotia, asserted that the bill in its present form was utterly destroyed and useless. The whole thing as it stood was framed in the interest of the railway, steamboat, and other corporations of the country.

The bill passed third reading.

Britishers for Western Missions.

Toronto, July 12.—Rev. James Woodsworth, D.D., corresponding secretary of missions in the North-West, is in Toronto on his way to England to bring out more young men for work in the Methodist missions of Western Canada. Last year he brought out forty-five, who all stayed and have all proved successful. This year Dr. Woodsworth hopes to obtain fifty more young Britishers.

Sir George French Visits Canada

Major-Gen. Passes Through En Route Home From Australia.

Montreal, July 11.—Major-General Sir George French, accompanied by Lady French, arrived at the Windsor from Ottawa. The general and his wife are en route home from Australia. The general is well known to Canadians. To his untiring energy and great executive ability was due the formation of the North-West Mounted Police, of which he was commissioner from 1875 to 1878.

General French is a native of Roscommon, Ireland, and has had a brilliant and varied career. He joined the Royal Artillery in 1866, and coming to Canada was stationed at the Royal Military College, Kingston, from 1867 to 1868. He received the appointment of inspector of artillery for Canada with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and held this position from 1870 to 1873.

From 1885 to 1891 he was commandant of the forces in Queensland, Australia, with the rank of colonel. For his brilliant work in this connection he received the thanks of the House of Lords and House of Commons. After occupying several other positions in England he was sent to Bombay, India, with the title of brigadier-general, where he remained until 1896. He was then sent to New South Wales to command the forces there, receiving the title of major-general. He remained in this position until 1902, when he was retired on full pay.

General French was decorated for services in Canada, and especially with reference to an expedition from Red River to the Rocky Mountains while in command of the North-West Mounted Police in 1874. He is a well-known hunter, and while in the North-West was an ardent devotee of this branch of sport. He received his title of knighthood in 1902.

Major-General and Lady French will return to the Old Country by the Empress of Ireland on Thursday next.

High Birth Rate In Montreal

Montreal, July 12.—A great deal of interest has been aroused among the city aldermen over the deliverances that have been made by ministers and health officials in Toronto in regard to the decreasing birth rate of that city.

In this connection facts have been got from the city medical health officer, which shows that the birth rate in Montreal, among French-Canadians, is much superior to what it is among the citizens in Toronto. On the other hand, the vital statistics in Montreal show that the birth rate among Protestants in Montreal is even less than in Toronto.

For instance, the vital statistics in Toronto, show the birth rate for last year, as 23 per thousand.

In Montreal, the statistics were as follows:—

|---|---|
| Births among French-Canadians | 44.19 |
| Births among other Catholics | 35.45 |
| Births among Protestants | 18.73 |

Speaking of these remarkable figures a member of the civic health board said today: "Our figures prove that so far as the French-Canadians of Montreal are concerned, the vital statistics prove that they bring up more children than any other peoples in the Dominion. While this state of affairs lasts the French-Canadians of this province have everything to be proud of."

Being asked to about the low Protestant birth rate in the city, the official said: "I prefer not to discuss this subject. There are things that are very difficult to explain, and I guess this is one of them."

COBALT
THE
WORLD'S RICHEST SILVER MINING CAMP

THE COLUMBUS COBALT SILVER COMPANY, Limited

Authorized Capital Stock $450,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M.P.P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMMONS, Esq., M.P., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS: Clark McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Are You Often Bilious?

Read This and Learn How To Prevent Attacks.

Biliousness is merely a term applied to a condition that exists when the body is over-loaded with bile.

The complexion turns yellow, eyes look dull, pimples, itching and eczema break out, headaches are ever present.

Biliousness has two great causes, constipation and defective liver action.

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are taken they not only correct the bowels, but act directly on the liver, regulating its bile secretion.

Unlike ordinary medicines, which purge and give temporary relief, Dr. Hamilton's Pills remove the condition which causes biliousness; thus permanent cures are effected.

Dr Hamilton's Pills do cure biliousness and liver ills under all circumstances.

We prove this by the statement of Mr. Fenwick Luddington, of New Harbor, N.S., who writes "Three months ago I had no expectation of ever getting free from periodical bilious attacks. They were preceded by dizziness and dreadful headaches. If I stooped over my head would swim and a nauseous feeling crept into my stomach.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills fixed up my liver, drove all the bile out of my blood and made me a well man in a few months. Today I enjoy a good appetite, excellent digestion, and the best of good health. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills today. Sold by all dealers; 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

HOW MUCH LONGER?

The serious statement made by Sir Edward Grey with respect to the situation in Egypt will be received with regret throughout the Empire. It seems to be the fate of the Liberal Governments to get into trouble in Egypt. It was under the great Gladstone Administration that the rebellion of Arabi Pasha broke out in 1882; and Gordon perished at Khartoum three years later when the same Liberal Administration was just tottering to its fall.

It will be a thousand pities if any serious uprising in Egypt should at this date imperil or even impede the splendid work which the British have been and are doing for the re-establishment of the ancient prosperity of Egypt. Every visitor bears eager testimony to the benefits of British rule in the land of the Pharaohs. The Egyptian "fellah" has been raised from the status of a serf, his labor at the command of his rulers, to that of a freeman with educational opportunities and the prospect of financial success.

The recent trouble with the Sultan of Turkey may probably have something to do with the affair, though Sir Edward says that the fanatical feeling has been spreading throughout North Africa. The interference of the Powers in Morocco may have helped on the movement: for it is not surprising that all these Moslem people should resent Christian rule, no matter how beneficial in a wordly sense it may promise to be. Christiand would be equally ready to fight against the imposition upon them of what the Moslems would call better conditions.

But the effect of any such contest is inevitable. The power of Europe is not to be defied by the fringe of settlement along the north coast of Africa. Many splendid men on both sides will be killed—possibly the terrible work of the machine guns at Omdurman will be repeated—and the old work of Europeanizing the Orientals will be begun where it was laid down. Such an uprising would probably rivet French control on Morocco, and it might lead to the formal annexation of Egypt by the British Empire.

TROUBLE IN EGYPT

With the progress of the ominous struggle between the imperial government and the revolutionists in Russia the probability that the Czar will be forced to the wall becomes stronger. Though the smoldering revolt appears to lack national organization it has not been stopped by the ruthless measures taken for that purpose. On the contrary, it seems to be growing. The anger of a large part of the people against the government which has kept them down for centuries is seemingly deeper and more intense than ever.

The signs most ominous for the Czar and those who rule under him are most marked in the latest news. If the loyal support of the army be lost they will be helpless. And the revolutionary spirit, to all appearances, is spreading among the soldiers. The first few instances of refusal by troops to obey orders might well have been considered sporadic. But such cases have become a frequent occurrence. The men of the Emperor's own guard, the most pampered regiments in the army, have expressed sympathy with the people's branch of the national parliament and protested against doing police duty. Punishment seems to have no effect and the hitherto mighty bureaucracy is disloyalty spreading among the soldiers and are seemingly powerless to prevent it.

The group of toilers in the Douma, radicals all, are boldly and directly retaliation by the Czar and his ministers, hoping that thereby the issue will be forced. The burning of manor houses and attacks on land-owners are still daily occurrences in the agricultural districts. In Warsaw no effort is being made to exterminate revolutionists by assassination.

Unless there is a decisive change in the course of events, the only question is, How long before its end? When the soldiers refuse to use bullets and bayonets against the people of their own blood, the Czar's power vanishes. If they join in actual revolution the ancient Muscovite empire will crumble into dust.

Has Speed of a Passenger Train

Cunarder Lusitania Will Drive Ahead at 25 Knots an Hour.

Montreal, July 9.—The mammoth Cunarder Lusitania, which was launched on the Clyde on the 7th of last month, and is now being equipped with her engines, cabin equipment and all that goes to make up one of these great floating palaces, marks an epoch in the history of marine architecture, for no only is she the largest vessel that ever came off the stocks, but the most powerful as regards machinery and the swiftest afloat.

The Lusitania, named after one of the old Roman provinces, has a length of 790 feet, or longer than a long passenger train. Her breadth is 88 feet, the top of her funnels are 155 feet from the water, and her gross tonnage is 72,500. Three "laps" of her promenade deck measures a mile and one-quarter. Her bunker capacity is 7,000 tons, equal to the total capacity of the largest colliers coming to the port of Montreal; while her turbines will drive her ahead at the rate of 25 knots or 24 land miles per hour, about equal to the speed of the average passenger train.

The marine giant is fitted with four screws and her engines will have approximately 70,000 indicated horsepower. There will be two electric passenger lifts and accommodation will be provided for 3,000 people, including the officers and crew. A complete telephone system will be installed, the man on the lookout making his report by 'phone, just as the chief steward will order from the stores department by the same instrument.

The Lusitania is fitted with 175 watertight compartments, and it is claimed by the builders that she is practically unsinkable. Some idea of the strength of the craft may be gained from the fact that there entered into her construction no less than four million rivets, aggregating in weight, 500 tons.

The new ship is one of two which the Cunard Company is building for the United States-British trade.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay enormous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating, have paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

By MALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

wrote could not escape him, without sufficient men to meet his adversary went playing chase the fox. He hung on Cornwallis' flanks, covering the American stores, anticipated his moves, harassed him, worried him with a thousand pin pricks. In return Tarleton and Simcoe played their wanton mischief, slaughtered the cattle, cut the throats of the young horses, destroyed the growing corn and tobacco and burned the barns. The path of the British front remained a trail of ruin and desolation.

Anne's sight of Armand at the river camp had seared her heart with a wish to be less far from him. She dreamed of battlefields on which he lay dying—and she still misunderstood, still unforgiven.

Letters meantime came from Betsy Byrd. Her father had been failing in health, was taking no part in the struggle, and so far Westover had been in no way molested. Francis was a captain in Weedon's regiment.

"Only think, dear," wrote Betsy, "'tis the same old man who kept the tavern at Fredericksburg. To think of Frank serving under him!" An unconscious indication of the maternal leanings.

If other were needed, it was easily to be found. General Arnold had stopped for dinner on his raid upon Richmond, and Cornwallis had crossed the river at Westover and had been entertained. Pages were devoted to a description of Tarleton, over whom Betsy went into raptures.

Spurred by her craving for nearer news of the armies than reached Charlottesville, Anne answered in person the invitation the letters held, rode to Richmond with Henry when he returned from the assembly at Staunton, and from Richmond came in two hours' sail to Westover.

The war had touched Mrs. Byrd lightly. She was as handsome and as peppery as ever and exhibited a certainty of British plans which Anne had occasion to remember later when there were no gentle whispers of investigating the self satisfied lady's conduct. She treated the visitor, however, on this occasion with consideration and refrained from using the word "rebel" oftener than she deemed necessary. Nor did she gibe at Francis' commission in the Continental army.

A week spent at Westover, the Byrd pinnace took Anne down the river to Burwell's, a proceeding at which Mrs. Byrd feebly protested, as the place was within a half dozen miles of Williamsburg, now the center of activity of both armies. But Anne reminded her that Colonel Tillotson was with Governor Nelson's militia in the neighborhood and would not be disturbed.

The first hours of her arrival at Burwell's were gilded by two bits of news—one that her uncle was daily expected there, the other that Gladden Hall was as yet undisturbed.

But this latter gleam was soon to be clouded. Mammy Evaline appeared the morning after Anne's arrival, half crazed with grief and fear that was not appeased by the unexpected sight of her mistress.

She threw herself in a quivering heap and clasped Anne's feet.

"Lor' bress ye', honey!" she sobbed. "Dee come at las'! Co'nwallis done ransack Gladden Hall las' night, en he sojers kyar'd meh po' boy ezway wid 'em. Whut's we'er do, honey? Dee's dar now. Yo' reck'n dee done kill him yit?"

An hour later Anne took the Yorktown highroad, mounted on the least toppling of the horses the Burwells kept hidden in the woods. Opposite Williamsburg she climbed a knoll, but could see little sign of life in its deserted streets. Small wonder, for Cornwallis was only a handful of miles away. Here she turned to her left into an unused bridle path leading by a short cut to Gladden Hall.

She went boldly enough, with many self assurances, and so, a bare half mile from the gates, rode full tilt upon a group of British soldiery resting in the shade.

They sprang to their feet as her horse went back upon his haunches, and two of them seized his bridle, but dropped it at a word from an officer. The latter came forward.

"Your pardon, mistress," he said courteously, but firmly. "You cannot pass farther in this direction."

"Why not?" she asked calmly. "'Tis the first time I was ever denied entrance to my own home."

He bowed now, with hat in his hand. "General Cornwallis occupies the house at present as his own quarters."

"I know it. I have personal business with his lordship."

"In that case," he responded, "you may pass. I shall take pleasure in escorting you. I am one of the general's aids."

He mounted, and they rode in silence to the gates. Here and there a picket stepped from the roadside, but saluted as he saw her guide.

The aid stood aside as she entered the hall. Through the half open door of the drawing room she saw braided uniforms grouped about a table from which floated out the sound of laughter and the clink and tinkle of glasses, filled from the cellars.

"And they tell me," rolled a full voice, with a deutering chord in it, "that you would have snared the lot of them at Charlottesville were it not for a girl. Fie, colonel! A dragoon should have a sterner heart! Come, now, make a clean breast of it. Who was the light breed damsel?"

"Mistress Tillotson of Gladden Hall," announced the aid at the door.

Anne went red and white at this contretemps, and Tarleton sprang up with such an exclamation that Lord Cornwallis, who had risen also, looked astonishment from one to the other. Then the commander caught the situation and laughed, as did the whole company.

The merriment sent resentment to Anne's face, and the general sobered instantly into courteous contrition.

"You bear easy honors, mistress," he said, "therefore overlook our hilarity, which, I do protest, was yet ill timed in the pain which the hard usage of such a noble mansion must bring. I regret," he added, "that such things must be. War is not a tender game, and beauty must suffer with the rest."

"You mistake," she told him quickly. "I come not to complain, but to ask a favor. A negro was taken on this property and is now held by your men. He has been my own body servant all my life. Surely you cannot lack for servants. I ask you now to give him back to me."

Montreal, July 10.—A telegram from Vancouver says: The officers in charge of the operation of the Pacific division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, being that portion of the line between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific coast, are able to say that during the twenty years since the line was opened for passenger traffic, they have not been required to record the death of a single passenger by accident on a train. It is doubtful if this can be said of any similar section of railway in the world.

The undersigned has, after much effort, secured a block of stock of the

Chloride Gold Mining Co.

I believe, one of the best mining propositions ever placed on the Canadian market. The capital stock of the Company is $1,000,000, divided into one million shares, par value of one dollar each. All stock fully paid and non-assessable, with no personal liability whatever. The Company is splendidly officered, the President and Manager being an experienced practical miner.

The property is situated on Shrum Shrum Mountain, 3 1-2 miles east of the Town of Chloride, Arizona, and the Jumbo Group, 25 miles distant, 160 acres in all.

I unhesitatingly recommend this stock to my clients, and will be pleased to furnish further information on application. In a few days a full description of the property will appear in these columns. Watch for it.

INTERESTING FACTS FOR INVESTORS

The place to mine is where good mines are found. Investigate before investing. THE EL PASO-PARRAL MINING COMPANY, owning three-quarters of a mile of one of the historic veins of Mexico, as well as one of the rich veins of the famous bonanza mine of Pedro Alvarado, offers a limited number of its Treasury Shares at 15 cents each—par value one dollar. A careful investigation will show you beyond all question that this is the best opportunity for large and quick returns ever brought to your notice. The district of Parral is not one-half the size of the smallest county in Colorado, yet each year it produces more than one-third of the amount produced by that entire State, making it the richest mining camp in the world for its size. It has more paying mines for the number located than any district in America. New and rich discoveries are being made each year. Here Alvarado and scores of others found their bonanzas. From this district many are receiving life incomes. Here bankers and conservative business men invest. Why not you? Buy these shares, and buy them while they are cheap! But buy only after you have investigated the men interested. WE ARE MINING FOR COMMERCIAL RESULTS, NOT SPECULATION. There is not a dollar of "promotion" in the enterprise—every member of the Board of Directors invested his own money. No expensive machinery for reduction of ores required. The property is near the railroad, and the ores will be sold for spot cash to the smelters. No salaried officers except the Superintendent. This proposition is open to the strictest investigation. Highest references furnished, correspondence solicited.

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A. and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Proper Medicine For The Blood

Drives Away That Tired Feeling; Makes You Feel Brisk.

To every one is sure to come that tired, exhausted feeling.

When the blood is weak, thin and debilitated, circulation is slow, and in consequence the system is congested with poisons and wastes that should be driven off.

The sensible person sets to the teachings of experience and cleanses his system with a course of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

No medicine can be more certain to quickly cure. Convenient to take, just one pill at bedtime; safe, because entirely vegetable; unfailing, because proved by thousands that Dr. Hamilton's Pills set you up in a few days.

From Chebogue Pt., N.S., comes the following from Mrs W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings under my eyes. I really felt as if the charm of life had left me and when spring time arrived I was in the "Blues." I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and got five boxes at once. Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenance and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Third Dragoons Take Notice.

Recent militia orders contain the following announcement:—

Third Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons—Major W. T. Hallis transferred to the corps reserve; to be quartermaster, with honorary rank of captain, William Hunter Smith, vice Garvin, who resigns.

Attempted to Shoot His Wife.

It seems that a real live sensation has stirred the residents some 10 miles from Apsley. It has developed that a resident of that district has recently shown traces of being non compos mentis and threatened to shoot his wife. He procured a rifle and had he not been restrained by his friends would have fired at his wife. The county officials were notified, but as a warrant has not been sworn out against the man, they do not feel warranted in taking action. In the meantime the man is kept away from that section of the county by friends.

Fire, Water, Light Committee Meet

No Action Taken Regarding Sale of Lot at Cor. of Stewart and Murray Streets.

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of opening tenders for the purchase of the city's lot at the corner of Murray and Stewart streets. It will be remembered that some time ago an application was received to buy the property, but the price offered was not considered sufficient. The property is very little use now to the city except as storage grounds. After some discussion, it was decided to take no action in the matter.

Large Excursion Coming July 20th

A large number of excursionists will come to Peterborough on Friday, July 20th, when the Sons of England and the Ancient Order of Workmen will run an excursion here, and hope to bring nearly a thousand people. ## POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday Geo. Clausse, a young man who was arrested by P. C. Metsiny on Sunday evening, for being d. & d., was treated in practical manner that Sunday jags come higher than those gained on working days.

It will be remembered by our readers that Clausse was tried on Monday, but owing to an important witness not being present, was remanded until yesterday.

It seems that the original charge against George was "being drunk." To this he pleaded, on Monday, not guilty. At yesterday's session the information had been changed by Chief Ruzzel to read "drunk and disorderly." To this complaint the accustomed, George, per Mr. O'Connell, his lawyer pleaded guilty and was assessed a $5 fine with costs amounting to $11.5 more. The whole amount was paid.

His Worship remarked that those Sunday drunks will come high after this date. It just amounts to this, that a common week day jag costs the offender $2 while a little of common sense in handling alcoholic stimulants on the Sabbath, means several hundred per cent. more, and quite right at that.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. David Guthrie, of Montreal, was in the city yesterday on business.

—Mr. Ernest Tovey left yesterday for a two weeks' visit to Cobourg.

—Mrs. Mulholland of the Knitting Works' staff, is visiting in St. Catharines.

—Mr. A. J. Grant, superintending engineer of the Trent Canal, is in Gamebridge on business.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Might and family went to Burleigh Falls yesterday on a two weeks' vacation.

—Mr. Frank Turner, left last night for Lindsay to take a position in the Grand Union Hotel there.

—Mr. D. D. Elliott, of Port Hope, who has been visiting his son, Mr. T. C. Elliott, has returned home.

—Messrs. Thomas Evans and C. H. Shields, Peterborough, transacted business in town yesterday.—Lindsay Post.

—Mr. W. J. Allen, Ottawa, a brother of Mr. Jas. Allen of the Allen House is visiting the latter for a few days.

—The Misses Clark, of Stratford, who have been guests for a few days of Miss Stanger, Stewart street, returned home.

—Mr. Charles Cornell, travelling representative of the London and Lancaster Insurance Co., of Montreal, was in the city yesterday.

—Mr. F. Jacobs, traveller for Messrs. Fortier & Co., Montreal, was in the city yesterday, calling upon W. J. O'Brien, the George street cigar man.

—Mr. and Mrs. Baxendale, England, are registered at the Grand. Mrs. Baxendale is a sister of Mr. W. C. P. Heathcote, the well known local engineer and architect of Messrs. Belcher and Heathcote.

—Miss Margaret Brooks, who has been home with her parents at the Palace Hotel for the past two weeks, left yesterday at noon via G.T.R. to resume her course of studies at the Rochester, N.Y. hospital.

A Perfect Bowel Laxative for constipation, sallow complexion, headache, dizziness, sour stomach, coated tongue, biliousness. Lax-ets act promptly without pain or griping. Pleasant to take—Lax-ets—only 5 cents. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Orangemen Give to the Shelter.

As noised in a former issue the Orangemen of this district attended service in St. Andrew's church last Sunday. A collection was taken up by the Orangemen for the benefit of the Children's Aid Society. The amount received was $15, and yesterday Mr. George Cochrane, Asst. for the society, was handed a cheque for the above amount.

Sudden Death in Norwood.

Mr. Alex. Baptie of Norwood, died unexpectedly early last Saturday morning. He and his wife had retired the preceding evening, with no premonition of any immediate trouble, Mrs. Baptie waking up in the dim morning hours noticed that Mr. Baptie was not acting as a man in sound slumber, and thinking his sleep was troubled by bad dreams, shook him. However her husband had passed away before medical aid could be procured.

Boys Leave For Y. M. C. A. Camp

Thirty boys left at noon yesterday via the G.T.R. and steamer Stony Lake for the Y.M.C.A. camp at Sandy Point Clear Lake, where they will encamp for the next two weeks. This is the ninth annual outing of the Y.M.C.A. and this season's vacation promises to surpass any former camp.

The following are the names of the boys who left yesterday.

Mr. G. H. Williamson, leader; Mr. Manning of Victoria College; Gordon McClellan, Sean. Madill, Art Hall, Alfred Gilbert, Thomas Arnott, cook, Grant Potter, A. Clements, Elmer Sanderson, W. Forrester, Norgan, Chas. Dean, Frank Patterson, H. E. Saxby, Max Perkin, W. Saxby, L. Stevens, G. C. Drummond, R. Dutton, Douglas Layfield, Wilfrid Scatton, George Morton, Stanley Pringle, M. Turner, H. Jobb and H. Thomas.

Are You Tired, Nervous and Sleepless?

Nervousness and sleeplessness are usually due to the fact that the nerves are not fed on properly nourishing blood; they are starved nerves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and thereby the nerves are properly nourished and all the organs of the body are run as smoothly as machinery which runs in oil. In this way you feel clean, strong and strenuous—you are toned up and invigorated, and you are good for a whole lot of physical or mental work. Best of all, the strength and increase in vitality and health are lasting.

The trouble with most tonics and medicines which have a large, booming sale for a short time, is that they are largely composed of alcohol holding the drugs in solution. This alcohol shrinks up the red blood corpuscles, and in the long run greatly injures the system. One may feel exhilarated and better for the time being, yet in the end weakened and with vitality decreased. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol. Every bottle of it bears upon its wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in a full list of all its several ingredients. For the druggist to offer you something he claims is "just as good" is to insult your intelligence.

Every ingredient entering into the world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" has the unanimous approval and endorsement of the leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice. No other medicine sold through druggists for like purposes has any such endorsement.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only produces all the good effects to be obtained from the use of Golden Seal root, in all stomach, liver and bowel troubles, as in dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, ulceration of stomach and bowels and kindred ailments, but the Golden Seal root used in its compounding is greatly enhanced in its curative action by other ingredients such as Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure triple refined glycerine.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. For 50 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, biliousness and headache.

Ambulance Was Requisitioned

Mrs. Adam Davidson Faints After Undergoing Dental Operation.

The Dan Spence ambulance was called yesterday morning to take Mrs. Adam Davidson to her house, after she had fainted in Mr. F. Mason's green house on Water street. She had had some work done on her teeth at a local dentist's during the morning, and it is thought that the fainting spell resulted from the excitement. She was removed to her home on Sheridan street. Mr. Davidson on learning of his wife's illness at once left The Royal Cafe where he is employed and went to Mrs. Davidson's assistance. At a late hour last night The Times ascertained that Mrs. Davidson was doing well.

Bill Remains of Little Use

Commons Regrets Some of Senate's Amendments to Lord's Day Act--Concurs in Others.

Ottawa, July 13.—The Commons, ing the transportation of express under Mr. Aylesworth's guidance, matter from the operations of the took up last evening the Senate amendments to the Lord's day Bill Of the twenty odd amendments Mr. Aylesworth rejected seven. The remainder he accepted. The most important Senate amendments, those which most thoroughly emasculate the measure, remain untouched.

The changes which the Commons insists on making are fairly important; they refer mainly to the transportation interests and the door which the Senate opened so wide is swung a little closer to.

The amendments in which concurrence was refused are,

1. The Change from "Lord's day" to "Sunday" was rejected.

2. The definition of "Provincial Act" was amended by the Senate by dropping the word "public," thus allowing Provincial private acts to override the measure. Mr. Aylesworth compromised by adding to "public act" the words "charter of any municipality," thus making the point ostensibly aimed at by the Senate.

3. The Senate's amendment excepting the transportation of express matter from the operations of the Act was rejected. It would have made the entire operations of express companies immune from the operations of the Act.

4. The amendment adding the word "cars" to the exception as to trains started on Sunday, was not concurred in. This would have allowed all freight business to go ahead on Sunday.

5. The exception in favor of storm-bound vessels was again limited to ocean-going ships, notwithstanding Mr. Conmee's pleadings.

6. The amendment as to the use of ferrys by electric railways designed to cover a case at Sault Ste. Marie was rejected.

7. The section inflicting penalties on corporations which permit their employes to work on Sunday was restored to its original form.

On the other hand, the Government acquiesced in the amendments putting the execution of the law under the control of the Attorneys-Generals of the Provinces, making the operation of the Act subject to Provincial laws, and weakening the force of the section giving a substitute day of rest.

The bill remains of very little use

Glorious 12th Well Celebrated

Hundreds of Local Orangemen Parade the City.

Yesterday morning about 1030 George street was a lively spot. With the sounds of stirring music, the roar of drums vigorously and scientifically beaten, the steady tramp of hundreds of sturdy members of a patriotic order, the bright regalia, and gaudy silken banners, our main thoroughfare presented a scene long to be remembered.

The clerk of the weather was in the best of humor and handed out a glorious sunshine, quite in keeping with the occasion.

Early in the morning the fife and drum resounded in the city and district and the brethren gathered from far and near. Shortly after nine o'clock the local lodges assembled at the Orange Hall on Simcoe street and marched to the intersection of McDonnel street and the G.T.R. tracks where the Lakefield lodges were met and given a hearty welcome.

A procession was then formed and marched to the G.T.R. station by the following route — McDonnel, George and Charlotte. The streets were lined with spectators and the parade was an attractive one.

Following was the order of the procession,

George Bartley, District Master of Ceremonies, mounted.

W. H. G. Armstrong, District Secretary Mounted.

A large number of citizens boarded the special train which left Peterborough for Lindsay at eleven o'clock. The Peterborough and Lakefield lodges returned shortly after six o'clock.

The procession in Lindsay was made six men deep and was over two miles in length. Lindsay was crowded to its utmost capacity, but very little complaint was heard over that town's catering abilities, as the hotels and restaurants had made good precautions towards giving meals to the thousands of visitors.

A Very Delightful and Successful Picnic

Was That Held Under the Auspices of St. John's Sunday School Yesterday Afternoon.

St. John's church Sunday school excursion over the lift lock and on through the picturesque upper reaches of the Trent canal to No. 5 dam, yesterday afternoon, was a very pleasant and successful event. The well appointed steamer Water Lily, under the capable and courteous command of Captain White, left the Wolf street wharf at 1.15 sharp, with 250 or more pleasure seekers on board and after an extreme delightful and still novel trip, reached its destination at three o'clock. The afternoon was an ideal one for picnicing, and the spot chosen for the occasion at, and contingent to, No. 5 dam, was eulogized by one and all as a very desirable situation to spend an afternoon. There is plenty of shade, the river and surrounding county is charmingly picturesque, and the addition of a few tables and seats, would, unquestionably convert this spot into a popular resort for picnic parties.

The pleasure of the trip was considerably enhanced by a plentiful supply on board of much appreciated ice water, soft drinks, fruits, etc.

The grounds afford ample opportunity for sports, of which a very acceptable program was run off for the indulgence of the little folk.

Mr. W. H. Wilkey, superintendent of the Sunday school, and his staff of teachers, are to be congratulated on the commendable executive skill displayed in planning and carrying through to a successful conclusion one of the most delightful afternoons ever spent by St. John's Sunday school and those who kindly patronized the event.

Returning the Water Lily left the dam at six o'clock, and reached the Wolfe street wharf at 7 o'clock.

Peterborough Won By Score of 9 to 0

The Ontario's Cannot Play With the Locals Successfully.

The result of yesterday's game at Riverside Park demonstrated that the Port Hope lacrosse players are not in it with the locals.

The line-up was as follows:—

| Peterborough | | Port Hope |
|---|---|---|
| | Goal. | |
| Gilmar | | McMillan |
| | Point. | |
| White | | Nixon |
| | Cover. | |
| Devlin | | Sleeman |
| | 1st defence. | |
| Doris | | Hanz |
| | 2nd defence | |
| Dusty | | Rinkin |
| | Center | |
| Fennie | | Huston |
| | 3rd home | |
| Saunders | | Walker |
| | 2nd home. | |
| Bassitt | | Frear |
| | Inside home. | |
| McNicholl | | |
| | Outside home. | |
| Dobson | | Hudson |

Referee—Church Tyner.

Score 9—0 in favor of Peterborough.

A fair-sized crowd was present. The ball was all the time in the enemy's territory. A large number of the players were penalized. Rinkin of Port Hope, at the end of the third quarter, deliberately hit Dobson over the head with his stick, and Dobson naturally retaliated with his dukes. A general mix-up then took place, and the aggregation from the "Village by the sea," left the field.

Cossacks Will Not Bolobize.

St-Petersburg, Territory of the Don, July 12.—The Cossacks of the second reserve, who had been ordered mobilized for police service, have refused to join the colors.

Killed By a Kick.

Hamilton, July 13.—Andrew McGalvin died at the hospital here yesterday as a result, the police allege, of being kicked in the head by Alex. McDonald. Both men worked at the Sutton Canning Company. A warrant has been issued for McDonald's arrest, and an inquest opened.

The Strenuous Life

Results in Stomach Troubles and Physicial reakdown.

The strenuous life of modern times forces people to rush through their meals hastily, hurrying from the table in the mad rush after the almighty dollar.

The result is incomplete digestion, inflammation of the walls of the stomach, and lack of secretion of the gastric juices, ending in chronic stomach trouble and nervous breakdown.

How much better would it be to eat more slowly, cure the stomach trouble with Mi-o-na and soon regain perfect health. The headaches, sleeplessness, nervous troubles, pain after eating, specks before the eyes, backaches, melancholy and gloomy forebodings would be soon overcome and perfect health and strength would be restored.

Proper treatment of the weakened digestive system with Mi-o-na will cure every case of stomach trouble. The results of this treatment are so astonishing and so pronounced, that those who have tried it never fail to appreciate its value as a healing agent.

Each box of Mi-o-na sells for 50 cents, and is invaluable to anyone who sufferers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

REVOLUTION NOW ON IN RUSSIA

French Authority Defines Russia's Condition

A COMPLETE TRANSITION

Which May or May Not Overturn the Throne But Will Not Cease.

Paris, July 13.—Anatole Leroy-Beaulieu, director of the Institute of France and foremost French authority on Russian affairs, said today to The Associated Press: "It should be understood that the Russian situation is one of actual revolution. It is no crisis which can be measured by days, weeks or months, but is a vast and complete transition, resembling that of the French revolution.

"When I say revolution, I do not mean that the monarchy is to be overthrown, although it is possible that this may follow. The greater part of the leaders of the constitutional democracy desire to save the throne from wreck, but they recognize that they are not masters of the future. If the government does not satisfy the nation's demands, catastrophies of the gravest nature are ahead for Russia.

"All that the present monarchy can save at the best is power within constitutional, or well defined limits. The Emperor has good intentions, but he knows very little of his own country outside of the limits of the palaces. He is always hesitating and is himself terrified by the example of the French revolution.

"It is difficult to foresee the final results of such a vast upheaval, but I expect results to come about through slow processes. The results of your American revolution were realized quickly because your people were prepared, but the people of Russia are far different. I am inclined to believe that this revolution will continue in various stages of intensity for ten or perhaps twenty years, owing to the magnitude of the questions involved and the dangers along the way."

WAS CURED OF CONSUMPTION

An Interesting Development at An Ottawa Post Mortem.

Ottawa, July 13.—The case of William Mitchell, Bay street, drowned in the water works aqueduct on July 5, will be of great interest to the friends of the anti-tuberculosis movement throughout Canada. His left lung, as found in the post-mortem examination, showed traces of an attack of tuberculosis, which had been cured. The indications of this were very evident, though the other lung had never been affected. The physician who made the examination was Dr. R. P. Robinson. He expressed the opinion that Mitchell's outdoor active life had materially assisted in effecting the cure. Dr. Robinson at the time of the post-mortem called the attention of Coroner Baptie to the mark on the lung, which to a medical man indicated the place affected had healed, and the coroner agreed with him that it was marked with tuberculosis. Here, apparently, is proof that consumption can be cured, and a strong argument in favor of the outdoor treatment.

Big Nugget Worth $6.000.

Toronto, July 12.—According to a despatch from the mines a rich vein of calcite has been discovered on the Nipissing group, from which one nugget was taken weighing 250 pounds, rich in silver, and showing an assay value of $6,000.

Speculate in Northern Lands.

Ottawa, July 12.—According to reports received here, speculators have begun to buy up lands in the neighborhood of Fort Churchill in the expectation that this will be a big day will become an important ocean port. Some Ingersoll discoveries are also reported to have been made along the projected line of the Canadian Northern to Hudson Bay.

Labor Wanted in the West.

Winnipeg, July 13.—Last year about 17,000 men were required to assist farmers of the West in reaping the crop. This year, it was stated by a Provincial Government officer that the number required probably would be twenty-five thousand. The wages of last year, $35 to $40 per month and board, will prevail this year. There is only one story from the wheat fields, a magnificent crop.

Lost His Nerve on Lift Lock Chamber

Dangerous Trick Undertaken By An American Gentleman Yesterday.

On board the steamer Water Lily yesterday afternoon, were an American gentleman from Rochester, and his 14 or 15-year-old daughter, who simply desired to make a trip over the lift lock, and land there to meet friends. After the ascension of 65 feet had been made, the American, either wishing to emulate the agility and nerve of the lock tenders, or afraid a more favorable opportunity for landing would not be given, told his daughter to follow him, and stepping on to the edge of the elevated chamber at the tower, and commenced his perilous journey to the quay beyond, clinging with both hands to the network of iron and with none too secure a foothold; of course the girl followed her father, who on being remonstrated with for thus endangering her life replied, "Oh, she can climb, she can."

When the couple reached a point where the chamber's inclined iron suspension side dips sufficiently on its course from the tower to the chamber's extreme end to allow of one's climbing up on to its broad top, they found their passage barred by the steamer's moving ropes. At this juncture the girl seeing the stupidity of their venture, exclaimed, "Oh, papa, suppose we fall!" Her father, glorying perhaps in his temerity, laughingly replied, "Keep quiet, or I'll send you back to Rochester," and clambered on top of the suspension work, to which point of vantage his daughter was assisted by a lock-tender. The girl was lucky enough to walk with the assistance of the lock tender to the broad elevated pathway to safety; but her father, he who laughed at the expostulations of the excursionists, where was he? On his knees, clinging desperately with both hands, and creeping backward from the appalling gulf of 65 feet on his right. On reaching his dangerous position his glance had rested upon the chasm below him where the lower chamber had descended, and apparently he had lost his nerve, and was all but paralyzed with fear. Another lock tender came to his assistance, but he could not be persuaded to raise to his feet, nor loose his grip with both hands on the iron work until he had humbly crawled backward in safety to the quay in his rear.

Peterborough lift lock is no mean structure, even when the mighty achievements of Americans are taken into consideration. And it is a perfectly safe piece of mechanism when its advantages are used in the manner intended; but the Rochester gentleman's experience yesterday should prove a lesson to "plucky" people not to court danger by climbing along and on top of a water chamber at an elevation of 65 feet, because there is such a thing as "One loosing one's nerve," which might in some cases result more disastrously than did the little episode of yesterday.

The Chemong Auto Has Been Shipped

Mr. Isaac Eastwood, who is in Buffalo, in connection with the big automobile, for the Chemong route was heard from yesterday. He says the car has just been finished and would have been placed on a car Wednesday night had it been possible to do so. However, at eight o'clock yesterday morning it was loaded on a flat car and is now on its way to the city.

On saturday morning Mr. Holmstead, secretary of the Auto Car Company and his chaffeur will arrive in Peterborough and the first trip of big car will be made during the day.

Toronto's Surplus This Year.

Toronto, July 11.—The civic auditors have presented their final report for the year 1906. The total receipts of the city were $8,816,198.12, and the disbursements $8,065,574.85, leaving a balance on hand of $750,563.28, including $289,654.45 of sinking funds moneys.

London Packing Houses.

London, July 12.—Conditions in the packing houses here are said to equal those in Chicago. The inspector of factories and workshops states that dirty factories and workshops seem to be the rule rather than the exception. Jam factories, bakeshops and sausage makers are no exception to the rule.

A Thousand For Library.

Kingston, July 12.—Mrs. George J. Ham, of Mexico City, a native of Odessa, a village 12 miles from here, has announced her intention of presenting the village authorities with $1,000 with which to erect a new public library building. Miss Ham's maiden name was Breden.

Girl Wanted Soma Clothes.

Ingersoll, July 13.—Leatha Porter, sixteen years old, daughter of Freeman Porter, pleaded guilty to housebreaking and stealing articles of wearing apparel valued at $20. The girl confessed and directed Chief Wright to where she had buried the stolen property in the garden. She was sentenced to three months in jail.

Largest Span in World.

Vancouver, B. C., July 13.—An aerial tramway four miles long has been completed at Conrad City, Yukon, by the Conrad Consolidated Mining Company in which Mackenzie and Mann are largely interested. It contains the largest span of any aerial tramway in the world, two thousand nine hundred feet. Work on another tram has begun, and two others are to be built.

DIFFERENT NOW

Since the Slugger Coffee Was Abandoned.

Coffee probably causes more biliousness and so-called malaria than any one other thing—even bad climate. A Ft. Worth man says:

"I have always been of a bilious temperament, subject to malaria and up to one year ago a perfect slave to coffee and at times I would be covered with boils and full of malarial poison, was very nervous and had swimming in the head.

"I don't know how it happened but I finally became convinced that my sickness was due to the use of coffee and a little less than a year ago I stopped coffee and began drinking Postum. From that time I have not had a boil, not had malaria at all, have gained 15 pounds good solid weight and know beyond all doubt this is due to the use of Postum in place of coffee as I have taken no medicine at all.

"Postum has certainly made healthy red blood for me in place of the blood that coffee drinking impoverished and made unhealthy." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum makes red blood.

"There's a reason."

Dreyfus at Length Gets Tardy Justice

Condemnation Annulled Without Re-trial--Some Facts Relating One of the Greatest Scandals in Military History.

Paris, July 13.—The Supreme Court yesterday announced its decision, annulling the condemnation of Dreyfus without a retrial. The effect of the decision is a complete vindication of Dreyfus, entitling him to reinstation to his rank in the army as though he had never been accused.

GENESIS OF DREYFUS CASE.

Stripped of the entangling yarn of tragedy and comedy, of perjury, forgeries and murders, the true thread of the Dreyfus story is not difficult to trace. In the summer of 1894, when General Mercier was Minister of War a member of the French "Contre-Espionage" was caught near the German frontier, and released by the minister's order. Mercier, never popular with the Liberal press, thereby brought down upon his head a heap of unjust, insulting denunciations. His maligners could not know the true character of the man released. An opportunity was offered Mercier to rehabilitate himself, when a bordereau or list enumerating articles that had been transmitted to a foreign power, was intercepted and taken to him. The character of the contents showed that the writer was a treasonable member of the French general staff. If Mercier could detect the criminal there would be no more cries heard from the Liberal press that he was in the habit of freeing traitors.

AUTHOR OF BORDEREAU.

Mercier called to his aid one Du Paty de Clam, and ordered him to find the author of the bordereau among the officers of his various bureaus. The hand-writing of an Alsatian Jew, Captain Dreyfus resembled that in the bordereau. Experts were of varied opinions. The man was arrested, and a curious "acte d'accusation" or indictment was drawn up against him in which various charges were made on less than hearsay. He was tried on the charge of having committed to a foreign power—obviously Germany — the documents mentioned in the bordereau. From the very beginning the prisoner's counsel, Maitre Demange, swept away all charges with the exception of that implicating Dreyfus in the writing of the bordereau.

The court retired to deliberate on this point. A hurry call was sent for Mercier announcing that the prisoner was about to be acquitted. Mercier hurried to the Ecole Militaire and entered without ceremony the secret chamber of the court. He said he would read to the court a telegram which had been intercepted while passing from the military attache of one embassy to that of another. This document, he added, was in cipher, but he would translate. He read, "Decidedly this rascal Dreyfus has become too exacting." The document was not in cipher nor did it contain the name Dreyfus — merely the letter D. The judges, however, never questioned their generals word, nor did they resent being made his criminal partners by accepting evidence which was introduced without the accused's knowledge or the knowledge of his counsel. They found Dreyfus guilty and sentenced him to death—a sentence later changed to imprisonment for life on Devil's Island. This was in December 1894, and January, 1895.

CONVICTION WAS ILLEGAL.

A book might be written — books have been written—showing how the conviction by the court-martial had been illegal—how this illegality was made public. The names of Georges Picquart and Emile Zola and a host of others should always be mentioned in the story which tells of the three years struggle to bring the illegality to the attention of the Supreme Court of Appeal. This court was finally reached. During the winter of 1898-99 it heard witnesses, and finally gave its opinion that Captain Dreyfus might be sent before the Rennes court-martial to be tried on the charge of having transmitted to a foreign power certain documents mentioned in a list which, it, the Supreme Court of Appeal, had overwhelming evidence, had been written by another man. As the proceedings of this court had been daily published, there was no doubt as to who the other man was. He was the notorious Esterhazy, the real traitor. The Supreme Court, it will be seen, thus left the Rennes tribunal an absurdity to establish.

Big Dipper Mine Finds Good Vein

Yesterday Mr. J. S. Waldron, secretary of the Big Dipper Mines of Frontenac Co., whose office is on Water street, received a most encouraging letter from Mr. J. A. Johnson general manager of the company, who is constantly at the mine, and showed the same to a Times' representative.

The letter reads in part, as follows:

I quit the shaft men to work on another vein a little north of where we were working, and have opened up a very large body of quartz, 12 feet wide without any waste rock at all. This is the finest showing yet. We are down ten feet. The ore is well mineralized, full of sulphurets, and silver galena, the best ever I ever saw. The ore is right on a granite wall. I wish your friends could come and see this strike as it is the best I ever saw in this country.

The mill test made on 2 1-2 tons of ore ran $186 per ton, and 22 karats fine.

The writer then then went on to say that the newly discovered vein will run very much richer than anything they have yet found on the Big Dipper property.

Dowielite is Pardoned and Released.

Toronto, July 12.—Marshall Harmon, a disciple of Dowie, who was sentenced to one year in the Central Prison for allowing his wife to die without medical attendance, has been released after serving six months, by order of the Minister of Justice.

Will Climb No More Steeples.

Chicago, July 13.—After twenty years experience as a steeple climber, the rigging to which James H. Glenn was holding on the top of a smokestack at 36th and Butler streets, gave way and he fell 165 feet to his death. Glenn was 40 years old.

Trouble Over Pavement.

Ottawa, July 12.—Yesterday the city engineer, Mr. Newton Ker, ordered the Canadian Asphalt Company to take up a block of pavement on Rideau street, claiming that it was not up to specifications. He said the city has enough rotten pavements. The company refuse to comply and a lively bout is expected at the meeting of the Board of Works.

Big Arsenal for Canada.

London, July 12.—The Coventry correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says that arrangements are about completed by which the Coventry Ordnance Works will start a factory near Ottawa for the manufacture of artillery field guns and general machinery. It will be carried by skilled workmen from England aided by Canadian labor. The scheme is important to both Canada and the United States. This matter was referred to by Sir Fred Borden recently in the House.

Knox Church Sunday School Picnic

The annual outing of Knox Church Sunday School held Wednesday was patronized by about 130 scholars, teachers and friends of the school. The steamer Water Lily took them over the lift lock, up the canal to Lakefield and then on to South Beach, Clear Lake. Here a pleasant two hours were spent and dinner partaken of.

Those winning in the various competitions were:

Boys' foot race, 25 yards.—1 Jarold Goodfellow, 2, John Moss, 3, C. Powell.

Boys under 12, 50 yds.—Ald. Taylor, Harry Carr, Garnet Tovey.

Boys under 16, 75 yards, — Alf. Taylor, G. Tovey, C. Powell.

Girls foot race — Verda Watt, Jessie Miller.

Boys' 3-legged race, 25 yards. — G. Tovey, and A. Taylor, C. Powell and M. Lee.

Girls under 7.— Helen Brooks, Edna Allen, Grace Allen.

Girls under 12, 25 yards. — Jessie Miller, Verda Watt, Geraldine Byers.

Girls under 16, 50 yards — Effie Jackson, Bertha Coon, Mabel Bartley.

Young ladies, 70 yards.—Miss Winnie Mines, Miss Winnie Anderson, Miss Maud Bartley.

Lawlessness of Laborers.

Toronto, July 13.—The government will appoint ten or twelve additional provincial constables to preserve order in the Thunder Bay and Rainy River districts, where there has been considerable lawlessness among the thousands of laborers engaged in railway construction.

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly the bursting point. Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibres. Then there's pain, and finally that excruciating, semi- less ache. This new Reduction Method disperses the blood, distributes the congestion, and dispossesses the pressure in the proper channels. It frees the nerves from all irritation—the pressure and pains and aches disappear because their cause is removed. You may try a thousand remedies and physicians may drug and stupefy the nerves into submission—but the remedy which brings prompt relief and permanent cure will be successful because it reduces the congestion—it must embody the Reduction Method. Medicine has thus found away—simple and sure, yet the only way—to thoroughly overcome these attacks of Headache and Neuralgia. The effect of Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure is prompt—perfectly suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely positive in every temperament. For sale and recommended by

SOLICITORS—Clark McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Gireux Lake," nearby the rich Lewson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well to silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

Terror of Spring is Sickness

What Are You Doing to Protect Your Weak Body Against Spring Fevers?

A delay gives the germs and weakness a better chance to take hold.

Don't wait, think of your small resisting powers, and begin building up today!

For weakness, overwork and debility the doctors prescribe Ferrozone: let it help you now.

Vitality and power are instilled into the blood; this means new strength for all weak organs.

The fire of youth will dance in your veins, and new found energy will increase your desire to work.

Ferrozone supplies the nourishment and tissue-building material your system lacks. Isn't this a reason why.

From Combermere, Ont., Mrs. Jno. Oram writes as follows: "For a number of years I was sickly in the springtime. I felt tired, nervous and had headaches. My blood was weak and damp days brought on rheumatism. My nervous system was unstrung, and I felt utterly worn out. Ferrozone revived me in a short time. In two days my appetite increased and I could feel a building up process going on. This great tonic made a new person of me, and I don't think a more strengthening medicine for the spring can be found."

Wouldn't it be just fine to get back your old time spirits and vigor? Easily done with "Ferrozone;" commence today. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

SPEED MADNESS

The responsibility for the fatal accident at Salisbury a few days ago is charged against speed madness. The desire to beat the record of another steamship line carried with it the need for a train running at a high rate to make 118 miles in so many minutes. And so death came in horrible form to those who were rejoicing in their escape from the terrors of the sea and were hurrying forward with buoyant spirits and bright hopes for an enjoyable outing among the treasures of another continent. Two or three hours more to make the journey would have made little difference in the plans of any one. But speed madness suggested the hurry which brought death.

For nearly every automobile accident which adds its record to the constantly increasing list of casualties the credit is given to speed madness. The possession of the power to make a fast journey is too great a temptation for the average man. Speed madness seizes him and nothing but good luck saves the nonriding citizen who has to cross the main traveled roads. The old folks and the children alike suffer, and the ablebodied man needs all his faculties to escape the reckless chauffeurs.

The same thing crops out everywhere—hurry to make a train when another is to go in a few minutes, hurry to finish a course of study when the thing most needed is thought and reflection, hurry to complete a new building by day, and night shifts, which leaves no moment lost as the old is demolished and the new rises; hurry everywhere until there is charge of want of thoroughness in preparation, want of care in fashioning, and, consequently, want of perfection in the so-called finished product. It is the greatest evil of the age, this speed madness which manifests itself in every walk of life.

Not that any one would go back to the good old days when everything was slow and deliberate. The carelessness and inefficiency were just as clearly marked then as they are now. The lack of need for haste brought with it carelessness, consequent upon the thought that there was no special occasion for care at the moment because the work would not receive inspection for some time. Neither does slowness necessarily mean better construction. The present day methods are based upon modern machinery. Where electricity turns night into day there is no reason why work should cease when the evening shadows fall. If men can be secured to work in shifts and adapt their habits to the need of their working hours no efficiency need be lost where an enterprise is pushed night and day, Sundays and holidays.

But the machinery wears out when it is driven at such a tremendous rate. In the power house duplicate machines are installed to be used in emergency or to be used alternately. But there is no chance for relief in the case of the human beings. If the high rate of speed is maintained it means fewer years of activity, even if, in those fewer years, an active man can do nowadays, with modern methods and modern helps, many times more work than his father was able to do with a longer range of years of active service. The result must be certain, a weakening of the power of the race, a net loss in the next generation if not in this, and all fairly to be charged against the omnipresent mania for speed.

New Phone Wonder Records Wire Talk

Washington, D. C., July 12.—A syndicate of Washington capitalists is erecting a factory at Wheeling, W. Va., for the manufacture of the "telegraphone," the latest wonder of electricity. It is an apparatus by which conversations over a telephone may be permanently recorded upon wire, tape, or plates of metal. Time will not efface them. They cannot be rubbed out, and like the records of a phonograph they will at any time give back the secrets they contain in the exact voice of the sender. By the apparatus a man may repeat a poem or make a speech or say anything he pleases to a strip of wire. He can then wind it around a spool and put it away in a tin box with a safe deposit company, where a hundred years from now his descendants may take it out and receive the message in the very low tone of voice in which it was given. If a man made his will that way I suppose it would be legal. Certainly the testimony of a human voice cannot be impeached. We know that those who cannot distinguish us by our faces or our manner can always do so by the voice, and that no two human beings in all the world have been known to speak exactly alike. There is always a difference in the sound of their utterances just as there is in the size and shape of their noses.

The telegraphone is in many respects the most mysterious and weird of all the wonders that electric science has produced. It has not yet reached what is termed the commercial stage of development. It was invented by Dr Poisen, a Danish electrician, brought to this country and sold to a Washington syndicate. There is only one sample on this side of the water. There are several in Denmark, but they are used for experimental purposes only. Over there it has not been a commercial success because it required Yankee ingenuity to supply cheap, light, mechanical apparatus for adapting it to practical purposes. That adaptation is said to have been accomplished. The company is erecting the plant at Wheeling, where it is proposed to manufacture the apparatus for sale to the public, but the company has not yet decided how it shall be introduced.

Various uses are suggested for this wonderful machine. Any one can dictate a message or a speech and send it any distance. Or a man can dictate his mail from his home to his secretary at his office and have it taken down on an ordinary wire which his typewriter can remove and copy like an ordinary phonograph record. Brokers can use them to record in permanent form orders received from their customers over the telephone. Managers who send instructions to their subordinates over the wire can have them recorded automatically. Train dispatchers can apply it to their work, especially since several progressive roads have adopted the telephone instead of the telegraph for directing the movement of trains. In sending news dispatches it will be found of great convenience. As a central office at New York or Chicago, for example, an operator may dictate an article which can be recorded as it leaves his lips by a thousand different telegraphones in as many different cities. The imagination can furnish other suggestions ad infinitum.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land as $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Buildings," will be received at this office until Thursday, August 16, 1906, inclusively, for the supply of Coal for the Public Buildings throughout the Dominion.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application at this office.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the check will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

"It's the nigger named John the Baptist, I presume, sir," suggested one of the officers. "Colonel Dundas has him."

Cornwallis bowed, with an easy, good humored smile on his big, confident, masterful face. "We who enjoy the hospitality of this mansion can scarce refuse so light a favor to her who, under happier circumstances, should be our hostess. You shall have your body servant, mistress."

"I thank your lordship," said Anne, with dignity.

Seating himself, Cornwallis wrote a hasty line, folded the paper and handed it to her.

"Colonel Dundas' brigade lies with Simcoe at Spencer's ordinary on the Williamsburg road," he said. "He will give you return passes."

The officers rose as she swept a low courtesy from the threshold. The aid held her stirrup with deference, and she cantered down through the gates and took the west road with a joyfully beating heart and the written order in the pocket of her gown.

But she did not finish the journey. She had fared scarce half the way when a far popping came from the distance. The next hill showed puffs of smoke hanging above the trees, and she knew that the sound was the rattle of engaging musketry. Could her eye have pierced beneath that foliage she would have seen the first skirmish of Lafayette's campaign, the brilliant charge of McPherson's dragoons upon Simcoe's rangers.

She had pulled up, startled at the sound, when a low but familiar voice called her from the thicket.

"John the Baptist!" she cried.

"Yas'm, Mis' Anne, et's me," he responded, with a moist grin, parting the bushes. "I warn' gwinter carry no Britisher hosses long! 'Twarn' no use'n 'em wallopin' me—meh hide's tougher'n whit leather."

"They let you go?"

He threw back his head like a baying hound and laughed loosely.

"Norm! Dem squinch eyed scoun'ls nuvver let nuttin' go. I kep' meh eyes skunt on tuk ter de brush dis yo'y mawnin' slicker'n er weasel. Greased lightnin' couldn't ketch me! What yo' doin' heah, Mis' Anne? Whar yo' been?"

"At Burwell's."

"Yo' jes' ride lickety cut down dar ergain. Dat's de hes' place. 'Speck Mars' John be down dar 'reckly."

* * * * * * *

For a fortnight Burwell's heard the grind and rush of the armies so near. At length this lulled. Cornwallis had withdrawn sullenly into Yorktown.

Then in early September a momentous message flew from lip to lip. Washington was coming! The wary commander in chief, pretending plans against New York, had led Sir Henry Clinton to recall part of his force from the Chesapeake and then, turning front, had marched with speed for Virginia, where Cornwallis lay with all his army in the elbow of the bay, leisurely fortifying.

Back of this swift march of 400 miles lay vital tidings. A new French fleet was on its way to the Chesapeake. Lafayette drew his troops between the British and a retreat into the Carolinas. The patriot army was hastening down upon them from the north. Would Clinton scent danger and send ships to snatch Cornwallis from the closing jaws, or would the French fleet come in time to block the sea way out?

But Virginia knew nothing of this at first. She only knew that Washington was coming.

One night Anne was awakened to an unusual sight. Out on the Jasper colored river came a succession of huge barges, and from them, above the plash of oars and creak of cordage, rose the hum of a multitude. She leaned far from the window to listen. How like phantom shadows the bristling floats swept past! "What can it be?" she cried.

"'Tis the French, come in the fleet of De Grasse," said Mr. Burwell. "It must now be at anchor in Hampton Roads. Thank God! Thank God!"

There was a thrill of rejoicing in his tone, but Anne's heart beat painfully. Hope and help were come to her land—to Virginia the beautiful, the tragic, the tender. The first promise of this help had come to it when strong arm called to counsel and counsel to strong arm and both feared to answer. And he who bore that message? Denied by her lips that called to him, dishonored by her hand that ached for a touch of him, what thought now had his heart for her?

The dark shapes passed on to the notch of Jamestown island that night and disgorged an army. Silently they filed up Archer's Hope creek and drew, with Lafayette's troops, the fatal cordon about Yorktown.

The fleet that brought them lay in the river mouth below, and when the British ships which Cornwallis had been promised hove to that same day, with fourteen hundred guns, De Grasse's watchful frigates battered them away.

The would be rescuers sailed back, and Cornwallis woke to find himself entrapped.

On the day Washington's allied armies marched into Williamsburg, Anne stood with Colonel Tilloteon on the steps of the capitol to see them pass.

Labor Troubles in Chicago.

Chicago, July 12.—A flurry of labor troubles broke out here yesterday. The cement workers' strike swelled beyond all calculations, and involved before sundown 2,200 men employed in constructing sidewalks and concrete walls in buildings. Two other disturbances in the building industry were reported and a walk-out of drivers and grain shovellers occurred.

This marked the largest number of men on strike in Chicago since the teamsters' strike of last summer.

Chloride Gold Mining Co.

I believe, one of the best mining propositions ever placed on the Canadian market. The capital stock of the Company is $1,000,000, divided into one million shares par value of one dollar each. All stock fully paid and non-assessable, with no personal liability whatever. The Company is splendidly officered, the President and Manager being an experienced practical miner.

The property is situated on Shrum Shrum Mountain, 11-2 miles east of the Town of Chloride, Arizona, and the Jumbo Group, 25 miles distant, 190 acres in all.

I unhesitatingly recommend this stock to my clients, and will be pleased to furnish further information on application. In a few days a full description of the property will appear in these columns. Watch for it.

INTERESTING FACTS FOR INVESTORS

The place to mine is where good mines are found. Investigate before investing. THE EL PASO-PARRAL MINING COMPANY, owning three-quarters of a mile of one of the historic veins of Mexico, as well as one of the rich veins of the famous bonanza mine of Pedro Alvarado, offers a limited number of its Treasury Shares at 15 cents each—par value one dollar. A careful investigation will show you beyond all question that this is the best opportunity for large and quick returns ever brought to your notice. The district of Parral is not one-half the size of the smallest county in Colorado, yet each year it produces more than one-third of the amount produced by that entire State, making it the richest mining camp in the world for its size. It has more paying mines for the number located than any district in America. New and rich discoveries are being made each year. Here Alvarado and scores of others found their bonanzas. From this district many are receiving life incomes. Here bankers and conservative business men invest. Why not you? Buy these shares, and buy them while they are cheap! But buy only after you have investigated the men interested. WE ARE MINING FOR COMMERCIAL RESULTS, NOT SPECULATION. There is not a dollar of "promotion" in the enterprise—every member of the Board of Directors invested his own money. No expensive machinery for reduction of ores required. The property is near the railroad, and the ores will be sold for spot cash to the smelters. No salaried officers except the Superintendent. This proposition is open to the strictest investigation. Highest references furnished, correspondence solicited.

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

He is Correct

Dr. Hamilton Proves That Piles Are Caused by Constipation and Strong Catharties

Knowing the frequency with which people suffer from this ailment, Dr. Hamilton made an exhaustive study into the cause of piles.

He found that the lower part of the bowels is like a network of blood-vessels, and if subjected to persistent pressure, a section will bulge out and form what is commonly known as piles.

The only effective mode of curing this trouble is the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which can be taken before retiring. Next day will bring wonderful relief.

"I suffered up to about the limit of human endurance with piles," writes Miss Lueders, from Cornwall, Ont., "I was employed in a factory here, but for a while had to give up work till I got better of this trouble. I read in the Montreal Herald about Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and after using them for two weeks was cured. I can recommend these pills very highly; there are none better. They at once relieve and prevent a constipated condition of the bowels, and from my experience can be depended upon as a perfect safeguard against piles. Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, I am sure, would be a benefit to every girl or woman."

Take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and your system will be regenerated, revitalized and made proof against disease.

Good for men, excellent for women, and most effective for children. All ages and both sexes find Dr. Hamilton's Pills a marvelous medicine. Although active, they do not grip or cause inconvenience, still they cleanse and purify the system, thereby maintaining a high standard of health. Sold by all dealers, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail, from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

News From Norwood Register.

Norwood Register: Miss Cox, sister of Senator Cox, and the Misses Campbell of Peterborough were visitors at Hillside Cottage, the home of Mrs Wm. Bailey, last week. — Miss Helen Davies, A.T.C.M., of Peterborough, returned home last week after a few days visit with Miss Sherry.

Dr. Montgomery Going to Belleville.

Dr. Montgomery, the eye specialist who, as advertised in another column is still in the city, has been engaged to deliver a course of lectures in Belleville this week here in Peterborough, has been very satisfactory. Messrs Sanderson & Co., opticians, have learned this great system of correcting imperfect sight by "looking into the eye."

Mr. Cavanagh Will Stay.

As there has been some talk about Mr. T. Cavanagh, in connection with his present hotel on Simcoe street, to the effect that this veteran hotelman would probably retire, we might say that Mr. Cavanagh has completed arrangements whereby he has secured a year's lease of the property with an option to buy it the end of his lease. This will settle the rumor that have been too prevalent of late.

—The St. Paul's church choir enjoyed an outing down the river yesterday evening, on the private launch of a member of the congregation.

—Two hundred and twenty stands of colors were counted in yesterday's Orange procession at Lindsay. This is probably a record in this district.

—It was rumored yesterday that a good gold discovery has been made near Apsley. Mr. Z. Tucker has, it is said, discovered gold on his property.

—Lindsay has a deputation in Toronto calling upon Hon. Dr. Pyne, trying to get a normal school in that town. Lindsay is ambitious, even if slow.

—The George street church choir had an outing yesterday afternoon at Chemong. Two bus loads left the corner of George and McDonnel streets at two o'clock for the park.

—Mr. Fred Taylor set up his merry go round for 12th of July on the vacant lot next to the post office last week. On Saturday afternoon he gave the children of the town a free ride.—Norwood Register.

—Housewives not particular as to shade, wanting to dye clothing will find the cheapest way is to let the local city water run through such goods and catch the sediment.

—And still the crowds poured into Jackson Park last night. The kind benefactress of this city, Mrs. Nicholls has been the means of giving unlimited pleasure to limitless numbers of beneficiaries.

—On August 13th, Peterborough's Celtic Holiday, the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Catholic Order of Foresters, of Peterborough, will run a large excursion to Lindsay and Sturgeon Point.—Lindsay Post.

—Mr J. Gordon Moffat, son of the late Dr. Moffat, Norwood, has been appointed manager of the Smithville and Fenwick branches of the Union Bank of Canada, to succeed Mr Jas. Anderson, who goes to Crysler.

—Master Tom Allen, son of the Rev. W. G. Allen, rector of Cavan, has passed the midsummer examinations at Trinity College School, Port Hope, in a most creditable manner, ranking as head boy, and winning the Chancellor, Classical and French prizes.

—Yesterday the local lawyers shut down all professional business at one o'clock. These manipulators of justice during the afternoon went out of the city after everything from fresh air and fish to that fifth club, etc., and has a number of men at work prospecting.

Local Students Are Clever

The Belleville Intelligencer says: In the Peterborough schools 169 pupils wrote on the entrance examinations, and 105 were successful. When these figures were quoted to local school teachers they jumped the other eye. It was strange, they thought, that Peterborough pupils did so well while the pupils of other places found the papers unusually tricky. They must have exceptionally bright young-sters in Peterborough.

How to Make Nervous People

"America has become a land of nervous emotionalists, largely owing to our sins against the dietetic health laws of nature.

Only outdoor exercise in a cold climate would enable vigorous individuals of our species to digest the viands forced upon alimentary organs enfeebled by sedentary occupations," writes Dr. Felix Oswald.

Brain workers must have different food than day laborers, because brain work uses up parts of the brain and nerve centres, while physical labor uses up other parts of the body. A food for brain workers has been prepared by scientific food makers and called Grape-Nuts. It is a pure, natural food made from selected parts of field grains known to contain the natural phosphate of potash and other elements used by the system in rebuilding and repairing the brain and nerve centres. This food is skilfully cooked at the factory and is ready to be served instantly either cold with cream, or as a hot breakfast dish with hot milk or cream poured over it. All first-class grocers sell Grape-Nuts, and the Postum Co., at Battle Creek, Mich., make it.

Local Goods to Be Made in Tent

Mr. H. Dunston, proprietor of the factory on Edinburg street, where Peterborough's show cases are made, yesterday told a Times' representative that owing to rapidly increasing orders, he will have to erect a new and larger factory whilst will be built on Dublin street.

The present factory on Edinburg street is not spacious enough to handle the growing trade Mr. Dunston has, decided to have a tent erected and the necessary machinery installed so as to handle the business until such time as the new factory is finished.

Local Contractor Gets Order.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Nicholas Renzetti, the Charlotte street contractor, received a telegram from Pompeo Bianco, Montreal's largest contractor in the same line of business asking for 30 men to go to work on the C.P.R. in British Columbia at $1.75 per day. Mr. Renzetti has already got 15 men ready but does not know whether he can fill the complete order.

Horse Killed By Careless Drivers

On Wednesday evening a young man hired a horse and buggy from Mr. J. M. Bygott, the Lakefield livery man. As he was driving along Water street, just near the G.T.R. tracks, he met a rig containing three young men. By some mistake a collision occurred between the horses drawing these rigs, and the shaft of the local rig ran into the Lakefield horse, puncturing its lung. The poor animal was taken to McCollum Bros.' livery and was there looked after. Dr. Poole and Dr. McKercher, veterinary surgeons, were called in, and did all in their power to relieve and save the horse. However, the horse had received its death blow and expired shortly after.

The young man from Lakefield did everything to prevent the collision, and was nearly upset trying to get out of the way, but the three young fellows kept up their celerity pace, thus not only endangering every driver on the streets, but causing the death of a valuable animal.

Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weaknesses, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weakness, derangements and debility which are aggravated by the many household cares, and the hard, and never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce, the maker of that world-famed remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ills—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the poor, over-worked housewife can not get the needed rest from her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in Diseases of Women, that those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to obtain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion of the uterus or other displacement of the womanly organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription" they abstain from being very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much out-door air as possible, with moderate, light exercise is also very important. Let the patient observe these rules and the "Favorite Prescription" will do the rest.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Did a Young Man Fish on Sunday?

Fishery Inspector Watt has received an anonymous letter notifying him that a young man well known around the city, caught over one hundred bass on Sunday afternoon, July 8th, and that most of them were undersized. The letter describes the event as a "wholesale killing of fish," and hopes that the inspector will be able to get a conviction.

Mr. Watt is inclined to think that the letter is a practical joke.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL XXXIV, NO. 168 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1906. — PRICE TWO CENTS

THE CZAR'S GOVERNMENT WILL MAKE FINAL STAND

Against the Revolutionists Who Are Bent On its Total Destruction.

St. Petersburg, July 14—The preparations which the War Office has been making at all the principal cities to meet armed revolutionary movements are elaborate. The plans for the defence of Riga were today published by the revolutionary paper, Mirslau.

The garrison is divided into three divisions of two battalions of infantry, half a company of Cossacks and three machine guns each, to prevent the invasion of the city from its three open sides, the canal, the dam and the river Duna. Two battalions of infantry, 200 Cossacks and four machine guns constitute the reserve.

Similar plans, it is understood, have been drawn up by every commander of a garrison or city. In addition, special troop trains, equipped with machine and field guns, are in constant readiness at St. Petersburg, Moscow, Kiev, Warsaw, and other strategic points.

GOVERNMENT'S LAST STAND.

The Government's last alternative, if it fails to induce the Duma to come to its assistance, is to revive ex-Minister of the Interior Durnovo's plan of drawing all the military forces, whose loyalty is reliable, from the west of the Empire, to protect the lines of communication between St. Petersburg and Moscow, St. Petersburg and Warsaw, and St. Petersburg and the German frontier, leaving the rest of the country to anarchy.

This plan is already beginning to be put in operation. As a result, deputations of land-owners have arrived in St. Petersburg from the provinces of Veronez, Kursk, Tula, Saratoff and Simbirsk to ask for armed protection. Their appeal is foredoomed to failure, as the bureaucratic hierarchy blames the land-owning classes for not coming to its rescue.

Members of the labor group in the Duma declare that they possess proof that orders have been sent from St. Petersburg to the police authorities of the Government of Saratoff to fire upon any gatherings addressed by deputies who may return to their constituencies when the Duma is prorogued. The instructions were that the deputies should be singled out, so that afterwards it might appear that they had been accidentally shot.

The newspapers of this city continue to comment on the prominent part played in court circles at Peterhof by the spiritualist, Papus. It is stated that the medium has the closest relations with General Trepoff.

WHAT DUMA WILL DEMAND.

Complete control of the administrative machinery of the empire is what the leaders of the groups composing a majority in the Duma will demand. This decision was reached after a series of conferences.

Deputy Jilkin, of Caramff, chairman of the Peasant and Labor combination in the Duma, assured the parliamentary committee of the Constitutional Democrats that his party would accord confidence in the latter provided they would adhere to the programme they had declared before the opening of the members of the Lower House. This programme demanded complete political amnesty and "demesnification" question by compulsory expropriation.

RESIGNATIONS IN CZAR'S HANDS.

Finance Minister Kokovsoff has given authority for the statement that the resignation of the entire cabinet is in the hands of the Emperor, so far as can be learned, however, His Majesty is not yet ready to consult Constitutional Democrats with the task of forming a ministry, and is still seeking to compromise the issue by forming a coalition cabinet composed of the more solid of the Conservative and Liberal elements, in the Lower and Upper House of Parliament under the leadership of Count Heyden, and M. Stakovich.

Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, commander of the guards corps and the troops in the military district of St. Petersburg, has tendered his resignation to the Emperor on account of the Probrakensky affair, but His Majesty has declined to accept it.

Windsor Hotel Has Been Sold

Mr. E. Cassidy Sells Out His Business to Mr. A. Johnston of Toronto.

Yesterday afternoon a comparatively important business transaction was effected in this city.

For some days Messrs. Ed. Cassidy, who about nine months ago purchased the Windsor Hotel business on Brock street, from Mr. J. Conroy, and Mr. Arthur Johnston, of Toronto have been in correspondence regarding the sale of this hotel.

Yesterday at noon, Mr. Johnston, who has managed the Melbourne House, near the Don river, Toronto, arrived in the city, and at once called upon License Commissioner Dr. Morrison and License Inspector Jos. Stewart, relative to a transference of the license.

Mr. Johnston put up a deposit of $200 to bind the bargain, and will, in all probability, within the next month be proprietor of this flourishing business.

Women with weaknesses should never forget Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. This magic-like local treatment, is used at bedtime, all night while the system is at rest, it is constantly building up the weakened tissues, soothing the inflamed and sensitive surfaces and will surely clean up all catarrhal and head troubles. Sold by J. D. Tully.

IDENTIFIED HIS SLAYERS

Dying Policeman Recognizes Union Men Who Attacked Him.

New York, July 14.—Special Constable Michael Butler is dead as a result of an attack by union iron workers, on the eighth story of a hotel building on Fifth avenue yesterday. Three special policemen were on duty to prevent trouble between the union and non-union men. About noon they were set upon by the ironworkers, and Butler was thrown through an open space. He would have fallen the whole eight stories, but for a few planks laid across the framework of the sixth floor. He sustained a fracture of the skull, a broken leg and internal injuries.

Nearly a hundred union men are said to have taken part in the attack upon the police. Constables John Cullen and William O'Toole identified four men as Butler's assailants, and they were taken to the bedside of the dying man, who, under powerful restoratives, revived and identified them. He died a few minutes later. Fifty policemen are now guarding the non-union men at work on the building.

Another New Factory for Peterboro'

The German Cardboard Company, which is composed of local men, will occupy a portion of the new factory being erected by the Peterborough Show Case Co. on Dublin street. The company will employ about fifteen hands at the outset. The latest machine in cardboard and photo mounts will be made.

Is There Local Race Suicide?

The statistics for this city for the first half of 1906 have just been issued, and demonstrates that a considerable decrease in the birth rate over last year is in evidence, while the death rate has increased by 16 over the first six months of 1905. There were 24 more marriages this year up to June 30th than last year. The statistics are as follows:—

1905—The first six months ending June 30th—Births 172, marriages 61, deaths 112.

Second six months ending December 31st—Births 147, marriages 116, deaths 112.

1906—For the first six months ending June 30th—Births 161, marriages 86, deaths 128

Insurance Plan Near Completion

Mutual Scheme Fathered by Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Montreal July 14.—The project by which the manufacturers of Canada will be able to insure their plants in mutual companies, patterned after the mutuals of New England, is materializing.

The project was taken up originally by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the idea being to organize three companies, the Eastern Manufacturers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, with headquarters in Montreal; the Industrial Mutual Fire Insurance Company, with headquarters in Toronto, and the Manufacturers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Canada.

The plan is that the last-named corporation take the standard risks of the very highest class throughout Canada, the preferred lines-ones, as it were, while the two first-named corporations will write other and less high class risks in their own respective neighborhoods.

Some time since a circular was sent out to the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association throughout Canada asking what the various members would be willing to insure in these mutuals if organized. Up to the present times replies have been received pledging $1,000,000, and two hundred members of the Canadian Manufacturers Association have signed agreements pledging to go into the concerns.

It is expected now that a circular will be issued calling together those who have so pledged themselves and it will be left for them to perfect the organization, it being part of the idea that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, after the preliminary work, ceases to be interested in the companies. The pledged members will therefore elect their own officers and perfect their organization as they see fit. It is expected that within a few weeks these companies will be in full working order.

Mosquitos Bad Down the River.

Yesterday a local merchant and his family spent the day down the Otonabee a few miles. On returning last night they reported that the mosquitoes are something terrible. When they landed to take lunch, on a place clear of trees, those pests positively drive them back to their canoes. The only way they could get any peace at all was to keep in the center of the current. Even then these savage little blood-suckers would chase them in swarms. The mosquito plague is due to the present high water.

Russia Wants No Behring Tunnel.

London, July 14.—According to the Westminster Gazette, the council of ministers has refused the offer of a French engineer, representing an American syndicate, to build a railway under Behring Strait from Alaska to Irkutsk.

MARVELS SHOWN IN BIG BUILDINGS

Monster Pennsylvania Station to Eclipse Anything of Kind in World

TOTAL COST OF $30,000,000

Numerous Skyscraper "Freaks" Which Will Overtop Washington Monument.

New York, July 13.—The other day in New York Mr. Isador Saks took his up on the roof of his new store at the corner of Broadway and Thirty-fourth street, and showed me a strange and interesting sight—several hundred men busily at work in an enormous pit between Seventh and Eighth avenue and Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets where the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is building its new station. They are digging the cellar, a great hole in the ground 1,900 feet long, 760 feet wide and 40 feet deep; for all the trains are coming in through tunnels under the Hudson and East Rivers, to feet below the surface.

Nearly all of that section of the globe is composed of rock which has to be blasted out and the fragments, with the earth, are shoveled into trucks and hauled by tiny locomotives on an elevated railway track over the streets to the foot of Forty-fourth street, on the bank of the Hudson, where their loads are dumped into barges by automatic apparatus. The barges are then towed down to States Island and Bay Ridge at the mouth of the Bay of New York, where the earth and stone are used for filling in the new terminals which the Pennsylvania Company has been constructing for its New England business at a cost of several millions of dollars. The preparations for the excavation of the cellar of the new station cost as much as 5 per cent. of the other railway depots of the world, for the elevated railway is nearly a mile long on steel and wooden trestles and the machinery for handling the earth is both extensive and expensive.

But you have doubtless read that this stupendous passenger terminal of the Pennsylvania Company will cost $25,000,000, which seems to be a fabulous sum. It will be one of the largest buildings ever constructed by human hands and will have 2,500 running feet of granite wall sixty feet high above the ground and forty-five feet below ground. There will be more than a thousand columns on the exterior and more than a thousand pillars in the interior, and more than 5,000 windows. Under the windows inside on the walls of the great waiting-room will be a frieze 800 feet long and forty feet wide representing a map in colored relief of the Pennsylvania system of railroads.

The proportions of some of the rooms seem almost incredible. The main waiting-room will be as high as the dome of St. Peter's at Rome, 427 by 110 feet in size and 150 feet from the floor to the roof. There are several other rooms of smaller proportions which would be considered great in any country in any age.

All the trains, as I have said, will enter through the tunnels forty feet below the surface and the passengers will be lifted by elevators and moving stairways, or if they prefer, they can climb ordinary stairs.

The outside dimensions of the building will be 730 by 430 feet.

The company has recently bought 260 feet frontage on Thirty-fourth street in order to give its passengers access to the city subways, and it is supposed to be buying up the entire block between Sixth avenue and Seventh avenue and Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets, which will give it access to Broadway and the elevated station at Thirty-third street. At least somebody is buying the property in that block, and the purchaser is giving the tenants notice that they must move as soon as their leases expire.

Altogether the Pennsylvania Company will have invested about $50,000,000 in these improvements, which are simply intended to serve the public convenience. I do not believe they will attract a sufficient number of additional passengers to pay the interest on one-tenth of that sum, but the patrons of the road, who now are required to leave the cars at Jersey City and cross the river by a ferry, will then be landed in the heart of New York.

More To Wed in Local Barracks

There will be another Hallelujah wedding at the Salvation Army barracks on Wednesday evening next. The contracting parties will be Miss Maud Froom and Mr. Wesley Boorman, both of Peterborough. The young couple came to Canada from Tunbridge Wells, Wales, and have made many friends here.

Staff-Captain McAmmond will officiate.

On the same evening there will be a welcome meeting for the Cadet Corps, who have been absent during the past two weeks.

Canada Wins the Kolapore Cup

Bisley Camp, July 14.—The Canadian team won the Kolapore Cup yesterday with a score of 1,222.

This competition is open to one team of volunteers from the Mother Country, one team from the militia, local forces, or volunteers from Canada, Australia, or any other British colony, protectorate, or dependency, or from any group of colonies, dependencies or protectorates; and one team from members of the National Rifle Association home on leave of the Indian army or of the covenanted or uncovenated Indian service or Indian volunteers in all forces.

The official name of the trophy is the "Rajah of Kolapore's" Imperial Challenge Cup, and it was given in 1871 by his Highness the late Rajah of Kolapore.

It is shot for at 200, 500, and 600 yards, seven shots being allowed to each of the eight members of each team.

Negro Lives in Three Centuries.

Centralia, Ill., July 14.—Peter White, a negro, has reached his 107th birthday. He was born in Virginia, a slave, and remained a bondsman until freed at the time of the civil war. White saw a large part of the war of 1812, and recalls many incidents of that day. He says he has seen Harrison, Polk, Tyler and other great men of early times.

Dreyfus Now to Be Rewarded

Paris, July 14—Yesterday was the closing day of Parliament, and it was largely devoted to the rehabilitation of Alfred Dreyfus, so that the national holiday today may witness his return to the army and the official effacement of the stain placed upon his good name.

The Chamber of Deputies met at nine in the morning for the purpose of hastening the Parliamentary procedure, and War Minister Etienne immediately presented two Government bills, one raising Capt. Dreyfus to the rank of Major of Artillery, and the other promoting Col. Picquart to that of Brigadier-General.

M Etienne asked for speedy action, adding that it was the Government's intention to inscribe Dreyfus' name on the list of candidates for the Cross of the Legion of Honor. This announcement brought out a storm of applause.

The bills were referred to the Army Committee, which at once went into session, approved them and drafted strong, favorable reports, which will be debated later.

It is expected that both bills will become law before the close of the day.

The Radical supporters of Dreyfus are seeking to force the Government to prosecute the many generals colonels and high functionaries responsible for his condemnation.

The amnesty law protects them, but a movement is on foot to repeal this law for the purpose of reaching Generals Mercier and Gonse, Col. Du Paty de Clam and others who were prominent in the prosecution of Dreyfus.

The Government newspapers declare that the affair is closed, but others, notably Figaro and Echo de Paris, assert that fierce reprisals are about to begin.

Figaro however, appeals to those who were prominent in obtaining a revision of Dreyfus' trial not to attempt to obtain vengeance.

The Eclair asserts that the acquittal of Dreyfus means that politicians have seized the judiciary.

The prevailing tone of the press testifies to the scrupulous integrity of the court and hails its decision as a triumph of justice.

Avenged the Death of Her Prophet

Seattle, Wash., July 14. — Esther Mitchell, who shot and killed her brother, George Mitchell, in the Union Station on Thursday, made public a statement last night in which she describes the murder as deliberately planned.

George Mitchell had recently been acquitted of the murder of Franz Edmund Creffield, a "Holy Roller Prophet," on the plea of insanity. He claimed that Creffield had wronged his sister, Esther, who was a "Holy Roller."

Esther later planned her brother's death.

In her statement she said,

"Mrs. Creffield and I talked over the matter of killing George. The one that had the best chance was to do it. Mrs. Creffield bought the gun. That afternoon I thought I would have a better chance to do it than Mrs. Creffield, as my brother wanted to see me, and Mrs. Creffield gave me the gun. We agreed that it must be done as soon as possible.

"My brother Fred was up to my room today and said that Perry and George were going to Portland this evening. I went to the depot and saw Perry get his ticket. At last I saw George and I shook hands with him. He and Perry were walking in front and Fred and I were walking behind.

"I was walking to the door and George was in front of me. That was the chance I wanted and I shot him. My brother Fred grabbed me and I sat down on his lap and put my arms about his neck. I sat there and the officer came. I intended to follow him to Portland if I did not get a chance at him here. I am not sorry I did the shooting. I am glad of it."

Mrs Creffield, the widow of the dead prophet, was arrested last night and admitted having entered into a compact with Esther to kill the slayer of her husband.

Fortune for Toronto Man.

Toronto, July 14.—B. F. Gregory, familiarly known as "The Count," is reported to have fallen heir to 5,000,000 francs from an uncle, an Austrian noble.

Drowned at Sandy Bay Yesterday

Mr. W. Dandy, of Toronto, Dies in Kawartha Lakes Whilst in Swimming.

Yesterday afternoon a pleasure party in the form of amusement was suddenly turned into a group of sincere and grieved mourners.

Mr W Dandy and family, of Bernard avenue, Toronto, have been camping at Sandy Bay.

Yesterday as a happy family group were in bathing at this beautiful spot, Mr Dandy while swimming out towards a scow, but is sunken some distance from the shore; was either overcome by cramps or exhaustion and suddenly sank beneath the water.

Those present immediately did all in their power to rescue the submerged man. One gentleman dove down at the spot where Mr Dandy was seen to go down, and discovered him at the bottom of the lake creeping on hands and knees beneath the scow. By exercise of great work he succeeded in getting Mr. Dandy to the surface, but unfortunately too late to save life.

Two of Mr. Dandy's boys at once went to Mr. Darcy's hotel at Burleigh Falls, and telephoned to Dr. Fraser at Lakefield. The doctor on ascertaining full particulars decided his going to Burleigh would be of no use as life was extinct.

Mr. Dandy was accompanied at Sandy Bay, by his wife, and a boy four years old.

Particulars as to funeral arrangements were not available last night.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR

BASEBALL.

Mr. Chris Graham yesterday morning received a telegram from Mr. Ed. Ed. Gould, of Midland, asking for a game here on the 24th or 25th of July. Mr. Gould said that on those dates a big excursion is being run from that town to this city, and that he would like to arrange a game with the locals. It is altogether likely that his offer will be accepted.

Last night at the Riverside Park the George street team won out from Charlotte street in the continuation of Monday night's game, the full score being 12 to 7. After the conclusion of Monday night's game, four innings was played in the final game for the championship, resulting in a lead for the Charlotte street team by a score of 3 to 1. Both pitchers did good work, but the winning team done better work, the George street team playing a loose game, and made some costly errors, which favored the winning team in the scoring.

YACHTING.

This afternoon the first of the series of Saturday afternoon sailing races for the flag emblematic of the championship, will be sailed at Chemong Park, at four o'clock. The race will begin at the starting buoy in front of the club house.

Claim to Sanity Is Made By Thaw

New York, July 14.—The formal statement handed out by Harry Thaw in typewritten form, in which he denies, with the concurrence of his counsel, that he is insane, has proven a great surprise. It has been generally deemed that if he is brought to trial he must either plead insanity or go to the electric chair. The one justification must be self-defence, and there never has been allegation that Mr. White attacked Thaw on the Madison Square Garden roof, and that Thaw had reason to fear he was in bodily danger. On the contrary, the proof is very clear that Thaw approached Mr. White and killed him without saying a word.

THE UNWRITTEN LAW.

In order to attempt to show any palliating circumstances, any provocation under the "unwritten law" or to appeal to the sympathy of a jury, unless Mr. White was the aggressor, Thaw's plea must be insanity. His counsel may contend that his mind was clouded when he slew the man whom he had deemed his rival in the affections of Evelyn Nesbit and that he is actually sane.

It was stated at the outset that the contention would be that he was afflicted with emotional insanity, and that while there had been no provocation since the marriage his hatred for Mr. White had grown so intense that he had lost control of his mind at the sight of him in a public resort. The general plea of insanity would cover this particular form of mental aberration which alienists may explain to a jury. The fact that he would try to establish by expert evidence that his affliction had been temporary or momentary would not precludes his attorneys from submitting testimony to show other irrational acts or that there was an inherited taint.

HE'S A STUBBORN CLIENT.

Thaw has been the most stubborn of clients, and has insisted upon doing as he saw fit despite the advice he has received. He appears to hope for acquittal upon the ground of emotional insanity, and he would not tolerate a defence which might involve his being sent to the "asylum for the criminal insane in Matteawan. As he said in his statement, there has been no question of a lunacy commission. It has been pointed out that in his case there would be no advantage in applying for such a commission before his trial, especially as the alienists who have seen him have not deemed his actually insane. The issue must remain whether he was capable of distinguishing between right and wrong, of determining the consequences and of weighing the effect of his act when he fired the three shots that killed Mr. White.

While his lawyers must be bound by his decision in a general way, his statement would not hinder them from putting in all the evidence of insanity they are able to collect. It has been suggested that before the prosecution is ready to try Thaw an application may be made for a change of venue on the ground that a fair trial could not be had in this county.

Fined an Intimidator.

Toronto, July 14.—Patrick Wilson, of the Teamsters' Union, was found guilty of intimidating teamsters in the employ of Henry B. Cho. Wilson was fined $50 or three months in gaol. In commenting on the case, Magistrate Kingsford said that this was worse tyranny than any tyranny that could be.

Turkish Baths Insanity Cure.

Philadelphia, July 14.—City Health Director Coplin today took steps toward the installation at the Philadelphia hospital of a plant for hydro-therapy treatment of insane patients. The system is patterned after the principle of the Turkish bath, and Director Coplin says the cures effected have been in hundreds of instances truly marvelous.

Authorized Capital Stock $150,000. Shares $1 each.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT, President, Director of the Ontario Bank, and formerly Treasurer of the Province of Ontario.
JOHN FLEET, Esq., Vice-President, Head of the firm of Fleet, Lowndes & Co., Director of Ontario Bank.
JAMES B. TUDHOPE, Esq., M. P. P., Head of the firm of Tudhope Carriage Co., Limited, Orillia, Ontario.
DANIEL SIMPSON, Esq., M. E., Managing Director, Cobalt, Ontario.
JOSEPH COLUMBUS, Esq., Explorer, Haileybury, Ontario.

SOLICITORS—Clark McPherson, Campbell and Jarvis.

This Company owns the famous Columbus Mines, being a quarter section in Coleman Township, near "Giroux Lake," nearby the rich Lawson, Hargraves, Jacobs, Drummond, and other great mines, also joining near the famous Gillies timber limit, which is so rich in silver that the Ontario Government decided to develop it for the benefit of the public. It has four veins so far discovered, one of them has been known as the "Great Columbus Vein" for months, which is nearly seven feet wide almost all ore; containing Cobalt Smaltite, and Galena, running well in silver. It is predicted by the best and oldest mining Engineers that this mine will soon become a very great producer. There is now a large force of miners sinking the big main double working shaft, working night and day.

It is a foregone conclusion that the price of this stock will greatly advance as the sinking progresses, therefore, the undersigned personally offers for sale at par only a limited number of shares.

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to "brace up" with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but it's uselessness is plain to everyone.

Better follow Nature's plan; it's always a sure one.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie E. Hislop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50 By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

A SAD SHOWING

Again the question is asked, What shall we do with our girls? Perhaps it will never be answered, but it will, we suppose, always be interesting. The Massachusetts bureau of labor statistics has been conducting an inquiry to see what becomes of the girl graduates of Boston's grammar schools. Of 2,116 girls graduated a little over half entered the girls' high schools, and of the remainder 152 are at home, 102 left the city, 107 were not found; five were dead, and 512, or 25 per cent, went to work. To the last-named the investigation was practically confined. To the question, "Has your school instruction been of practical value to you in your employment?" 231 of the 512 answered No. Of these graduates 159 had studied bookkeeping, 147 drawing, 126 dressmaking, 151 plain sewing, and 128 had studied cookery. Although 128 had studied cookery, only five had entered domestic service. The weekly wage of these 512 well-informed girls was $3.25 at the start, and in the second year was only $4.99. Allowing ten cents a day for car fare and ten cents for lunch, these Boston girls have $2.79 per week with which to clothe and feed themselves.

This isn't very encouraging, when one considers that Massachusetts is the most civilized State in the Union. But perhaps civilization doesn't do as much for woman as it ought to.

NOT EASY.

It is so easy to be a Christian in this country, if one really wants to be a Christian, that perhaps we do not appreciate what it means to be a Christian in some countries. Dr. H. Martyn Clark tells about the difficulties which beset some British Indian converts. A worker in brass, let us say, has become a Christian. All the springs of the trade, all the wealth and standing of it, are against him. The mighty power of the members of the craft down to the smallest child grinds him hard through every relation of life. There is but one will and purpose through the hundreds of thousands of his people. His touch is defilement, his presence a curse. He has left the religion of his fathers. He is an abomination. The rest of the world is leagued against him. In hating the Christian men of different faith find a strong bond of union.

No wonder that Christianity makes slow progress among such heathen. And a great wonder that it doesn't make much rapid progress among such free and enlightened people as there are in this Christian country.

Czar Is Still Trying to Make a Compromise

St. Petersburg, July 13.—Finance Minister Kokovsoff has given authority for the statement that the resignation of the entire Cabinet is in the hands of the Emperor. So far as can be learned, however, his majesty is not yet ready to change the constitutional democrats with the task of forming a Ministry, and is still seeking to compromise the issue by forming a coalition Cabinet composed of the more solid of the Conservative and Liberal elements in the lower and upper houses of parliament, under the leadership of Count Heyden and M. Stakovitch.

Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, commander of the guards corps and the troops in the military district of St. Petersburg, has tendered his resignation to the Emperor on account of the Prochajensky affair, but his majesty declined to accept it.

The police have not found any trace of the men who robbed Assistant Cashier Gasperovitch of the Admiralty yesterday, but there is reason to believe that they were former workmen from Port Arthur who turned revolutionists on account of the treatment to which they were subjected there.

RIGGS SHOOTS HIMSELF

Accused of the Murder of Mollie Ellison at Minneapolis, Ends Life

Elroy, Wis., July 13.—Conductor N. M. Riggs who was arrested here yesterday in connection with the murder of Millie Ellison at Minneapolis, shot himself early this morning, dying instantly. Riggs, when arrested, asked to be taken to see his wife and daughter, who are visiting in the country. He returned last night, and talked with many friends, being apparently cheerful, but somewhat pale. Shortly after midnight Riggs asked permission to go to the hotel to his room. With the officer outside, and without locking the door, Riggs shot himself through the temple. When searched just after his arrest Riggs had no weapon.

Mackenzie and Mann Busy.

Toronto, July 12.—There seems to be no limit to the schemes to draw Canadian capital to the South.

Mackenzie & Mann are the principals in a company just incorporated at Ottawa, to be known as the "Port of Para Docks Company, Limited." The capital stock is $1,500,000.

The powers granted the new company under the charter just issued are privileged to operate and construct railways, docks, generate power for heat, light and other purposes, and for the construction of hotels. The field will be confined exclusively to operations in Brazil, South America. The headquarters of the company will be in Toronto.

To Consolidate Public Utilities.

Brockville, July 13.—Some time ago an inspection of the plants of the electric light and pumping stations was made with a view to ascertaining the advisability of consolidating the same. The report has been made by Mayor Stewart, and it is understood to be favorable towards consolidation. The cost of the work is estimated at $20,000, and the saving to be gained is placed at $1,500 annually.

Are at War With Unions.

Montreal, July 13.—The managers of the Star Cap Company have decided to fight the union to a finish, and no more union men will ever be employed by the firm. The management stated that several of the strikers had made application for work, but that they had been refused, as their places had all been filled, and the factory was running in full swing. The manager also claimed that the cost of production was from 10 to 15 per cent. less than under the union conditions, which formerly existed. "All orders, it was stated, are being promptly filled.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH RESTORED BY PE-RU-NA.

Mrs. Emma Fleissner, 1412 Sixth Ave., Seattle, Wash., Worthy Treasurer Sons of Temperance, writes:

"I suffered over two years with irregular and painful periods. My health was in a very precarious condition and I was anxious to find something to restore my health and strength.

"I was very glad to try Peruna and delighted to find that it was doing me good. I continued to use it a little over three months and found my troubles removed.

"I consider it a splendid medicine and shall never be without it, taking a dose occasionally when I feel rundown and tired."

Our files contain thousands of testimonials which Dr. Hartman has received from grateful, happy women who have been restored to health by his remedy, Peruna.

SHERIFF HAS WARRANT

Findlay, Ohio, July 13.—A warrant for the arrest of John D. Rockefeller, which is now in the hands of the sheriff of Hancock county, is accompanied by a copy of the information and affidavit which was filed last Thursday in the Probate court here by Prosecutor Dodd, and charges Mr. Rockefeller with violation of the anti-trust laws in organizing and maintaining a monopoly of the oil business.

The warrant directs the sheriff to "take the said John D. Rockefeller, if found in your county, or, if he shall have fled, that you pursue him into any other county in the State, and take and safely keep the said John D. Rockefeller, so that you have his body before this court to answer the said complaint and be further dealt with according to law."

The warrant is signed by Judge Parker, of the Probate Court of Hancock county.

The New Gospel Fragment.

Some further particulars have been made public in London regarding the interesting find of a portion of an uncanonical Gospel at Oxyrhynchus by Drs Grenfell and Hunt. They are sure that the vellum fragment cannot be more recent than 150 A. D. It is of light biscuit color, measuring rather less than three inches along the top and the same down the left side. About an inch from the top right hand corner the fragment has crumpled away to the bottom of the left corner, so that it is triangular in shape. The writing on both sides is very close, but is perfectly clear and legible and is in neat, cursive Greek.

Two things are mentioned on which Drs. Grenfell and Hunt have been unable up to the present to get any light thrown. They are "the pool of David" and a description of the white costume worn by persons when they were bathing therein. They conjecture that the pool of David may be the same as the pool of Siloam, but they do not as yet assert any definite conclusion, for they have not been able to study their find thoroughly. They hope, however, that leading rabbinical scholars may be able to throw some light on points such as those mentioned above.

Poor Sight an Advantage.

An Austrian scientist, says a London magazine, is inclined to think that shortsightedness is not an unmixed evil. He doubts if school work causes it. With the aid of a large staff of enthusiastic medical helpers, the eyes of more than 15,000 school children were examined, and a great mass of information was collected and studied. The professor finds that among the most extreme cases of short sight hand workers greatly outnumber the eye-workers. The majority of these cases declared that their defective sight had existed from birth, or as long as they could remember. He declared that his investigations prove that school work never produces extreme shortsightedness, but only a slight myopia, which, far from being a disadvantage, may even be regarded as a benefit. For, he says, persons with normal sight, although they can see distant objects quite clearly, cannot read or write without the aid of glasses when they reach the age of 50, whereas the slightly shortsighted individual can always read and write quite comfortably, and requires glasses only for distant objects—a much happier state of things.

AFRICA'S BLACK PERIL

REPORTED DEATH OF BAMBAATA MAY HAVE GOOD INFLUENCE.

Rider Haggard's Prediction of When the Final Clash Between the Zulus and the Natal Colonists Will Come—The Danger of the Race Struggle—The Blacks Are Consolidating—Indirect Influence of the White Man.

In the interest of peace it is to be hoped that the reported death of Bambaata, the Zulu outlaw chief, is true, says a writer in The Mail and Empire. The revolt in Natal is likely to be suppressed unless some ferocious Elisha is found to don the red mantle of rebellion. Ever since it was realized that serious fighting was to be done, the successes of the British troops have been unbroken. Time after time the Zulus have been defeated and driven out. It now appears that in the last battle the chief received wounds that have proved fatal.

Rider Haggard's Prediction.

But those who know the South African peoples best are most pessimistic concerning the black peril. "They are firm in the belief that sooner or later there will be a great war in South Africa. In his book, "Cetewayo and His White Neighbors," Rider Haggard wrote these words.

"It is obvious that, sooner or later, these two races (i.e., the Natal colonists and the Zulus) must come into contact, the question being how long the present calm will last. To this question I venture to suggest an answer—I believe a right one. It will last until the native gets so cramped for room that he has no place left to settle on except the white man's land."

The Danger of a Race Struggle.

This opinion was given 20 years ago, and, in an interview since the present revolt broke out, he says: "To-day the state of affairs which I foresaw seems to be at hand, and the solution of the problem is one that must cause anxiety not only to Natal and South Africa, but to the Imperial power, whose forces may be called upon to determine what might become a very dreadful war. If once their blood is up, the Zulus, whether of Natal or of Zululand, are not a foe whom it is possible to despise. Moreover, once begun, such a struggle would very possibly become a race struggle, and blaze across South Africa like a grass fire over its veldt and hills."

The Blacks Consolidating.

Another authority who believes a great struggle to be impending declares that hitherto the greatest safeguard of the whites has been the innate and implacable jealousy and hatred of the various tribes, which have made a serious combination impossible. Of late, however, the blacks have come to understand each other better by working side by side on the railways and mines. The spirit of conciliation and consolidation has been zealously preached by the missionaries, apparently blind to the danger of their doctrine when held by the narrow minds of their disciples. Some missionaries have done ineffable mischief in promoting the doctrine of "Africa for Africans." Taking advantage of their religious calling, which renders them practically immune from interference by the authorities, they have introduced a political aspect into their movement, and have frequently fired the ambitious yearnings of the untutored savage by telling him that beyond the great waters, where they came from, is a country where all men, white or black, possess equal privileges.

Germany's Black War.

The writer who takes this view continues:

"Unrest has been increased by the pathetically futile efforts of the German Government to put down the Herero rebellion in German Southwest Africa. There for two and a half years a small and insignificant tribe of Hottentots and Hereros, poorly armed, and looked upon with contempt by the Bantu tribes, have successfully defied the Kaiser's mailed fist and fought an astonishingly successful campaign, in which reverses to the German troops have occurred with a monotonous regularity. After the expenditure of $150,000,000, the sacrifice of 7,000 lives, and the constant arrival of reinforcements to augment the already large army in the field, the end is yet as far from sight as it was two years ago. The Herero, fighting with a chivalry totally unexpected, is far from being discouraged, and quite recently their chief, Marengo, sent a message to 'the mighty general of the great Emperor,' in reply to a demand to surrender, saying that the war had just begun, and that he had better take the German troops home if he did not wish them hurt."

Boutes and Zulus.

If the despised Hottentot jackals can thus defy the most highly-trained soldiers of Europe, what would be the effect of a combination of forces between the unconquered Basutos and the Zulu lions? It is not comforting to the whites to contemplate Letsea, the Basuto chief, and Dinizulu, head of the Zulus, in friendly communication. The colonials now freely blame the British Government for having let the latter return to South Africa from St. Helena, whence he had been banished as a disturber. Mistaken philanthropists in England persuaded the Government to restore the king to his people, and, though he has taken no part in the present trouble, it is felt that he means no good. By some it is suggested that Dinizulu has secretly encouraged Bambaata with a view of testing the strength of the English.

Seven Campaigns in a Generation.

Rider Haggard is of opinion that at bottom the natives like and respect the English, but hate and fear the Boer, who deals with them savagely after their savage nature. Notwithstanding the supposed liking, it must be remembered that in less than 30 years the British have fought seven important campaigns against the blacks, not including the Bambaata and many smaller risings. The situation is one of gravity, irrespective of the fate of Bambaata. To the whites, as to the lion tamer, there is always danger.

The following letter from Mdlle. Nadya Sharabanian, an artist who has had experience in all makes of instruments, is one of the latest comments on the New Scale Williams Piano.

Gentlemen,

It is with much pleasure that I express my opinion of your New Scale Williams Piano. I find it in every way an artist's Piano, as it never fails to reveal the art of pianoforte playing. The tone is rich and full throughout the whole compass of the instrument and this, in combination with a beautiful and sensative touch, allows one to obtain the finest effects.

I cannot speak too highly of the beautiful instrument and its success is assured.

Yours very truly,

NADYA SHARABANIAN.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

INTERESTING FACTS FOR INVESTORS

The place to mine is where good mines are found. Investigate before investing. THE EL PASO-PARRAL MINING COMPANY, owning three-quarters of a mile of one of the historic veins of Mexico, as well as one of the rich veins of the famous bonanza mine of Pedro Alvarado, offers a limited number of its Treasury Shares at 15 cents each—par value one dollar. A careful investigation will show you beyond all question that this is the best opportunity for large and quick returns ever brought to your notice. The district of Parral is not one-half the size of the smallest county in Colorado, yet each year it produces more than one-third of the amount produced by that entire State, making it the richest mining camp in the world for its size. It has more paying mines for the number located than any district in America. New and rich discoveries are being made each year. Here Alvarado and scores of others found their bonanzas. From this district many are receiving life incomes. Here bankers and conservative business men invest. Why not you? Buy these shares, and buy them while they are cheap! But buy only after you have investigated the men interested. WE ARE MINING FOR COMMERCIAL RESULTS, NOT SPECULATION. There is not a dollar of "promotion" in the enterprise—every member of the Board of Directors invested his own money. No expensive machinery for reduction of ores required. The property is near the railroad, and the ores will be sold for spot cash to the smelters. No salaried officers except the Superintendent. This proposition is open to the strictest investigation. # Strange Deaths near Grand Rapids, O.

Chicago, July 13.—A despatch to the Record-Herald from Toledo, Ohio, says: Following the supposed suicide of 15-year-old Clara Strayner in the Maumee River Monday, was the discovery yesterday by the body of Katie Winsor, housekeeper for the girl's father, whom the daughter believed upon as a stepmother, locating in almost the same place as was the corpse of Miss Strayner when discovered Mondays returning from the girl's funeral found the housekeeper's body.

Lincoln Strayner, the girl's father, is a farmer, living near Grand Rapids, Ohio, a few miles up the Maumee. His wife died when the girl was a babe in arms, and since that time Katie Winsor has been the family housekeeper.

On the river bank this note was found "I am buried in the old Maumee. I am going to mother. Good-bye—Clara."

A search then revealed the body. Tuesday there was found in almost the same spot a note in an entirely different handwriting, which read; "Dear Papa,—I want to bid you and all the friends good-bye. I expect to go and live with mamma, for you know how I am treated by Katie. Your loving daughter, Clara."

The two notes, which experts say were written by different persons, and the death of the housekeeper, who might have supplied the key to the mystery, are puzzling the police. The housekeeper disappeared on Tuesday night.

MRS. MARGARET RHOADS.

The Oldest Tollgate Keeper In the United States.

The oldest tollgate keeper in the United States in point of service is said to be Mrs. Margaret Rhoads, who lives in Montgomery county, Pa. Surely she is the oldest in years.

For more than fifty years Mrs. Rhoads has been the faithful attendant of the gate of the Springhouse and Sumneytown turnpike at that point, but her experience in collecting fares extends over five additional years. Now, at the age of eighty years, she is still attending to her duties there.

In 1849, when the Springhouse and Sumneytown turnpike was completed, Mrs. Rhoads and her husband, John Jenkins Rhoads, were induced to take charge of the tollgate about one mile above Springhouse. Mrs. Rhoads collected the first toll ever paid upon the pike. After five years' service there the couple resigned and removed to Philadelphia.

Not being favorably impressed with city life, however, they returned to the country and took charge of the tollgate half a mile west of North Wales, at the junction of the West Point and Springhouse and Sumneytown turnpikes.

This was on March 31, 1855, and Mrs. Rhoads has remained there in continuous service since, a period of over fifty years.

Mr. Rhoads died in 1902, leaving his widow as sole guardian of the gate. The turnpike officials are proud of her record and think that, in point of continuous service at least, she is the dean of tollgate collectors in America.—Philadelphia North American.

The Best Way to Figure.

In a discussion of household economy a club woman said the other day: "The late Susan B. Anthony once threw a new, strange light on this subject. She was talking to me about the allowances that husbands make their wives, and I can't help thinking that there was a good deal in what she said.

"She said that an average man and his wife, an average woman, were discussing their receipts and disbursements. The man, a bookkeeper, had had his salary reduced. It was now $1,000. He wanted his wife to tell him on what weekly allowance she could hereafter run the house.

"'Well,' said the wife, 'there are a good many things to consider.'

"'I know it,' said the man. 'But just figure them up.'

"She began to calculate. 'There are the clothes for the three children,' she murmured. 'There's the servant's wages. There's the butcher, the grocer, the baker and the milkman. There's the rent, the'—

"'Well, figure it up! Figure it all up, can't you?' the man interrupted rather impatiently.

"The woman looked up suddenly. 'I could figure it up,' she said, 'but I have thought of a much simpler plan.'

"'All right. What is it?' said he.

"'It is,' she answered, 'that you figure up instead what it will cost you for car fares, luncheons and tobacco and hand over the rest to me.'"—New York Press.

How to Air the Cellar.

A grave mistake is sometimes made in ventilating cellars. The object of ventilation is to keep the cellar cool and dry, but this often fails of being accomplished by a common mistake, and instead the cellar is made both warm and damp.

A cool place should never be ventilated unless the air admitted is cooler than the air within, or at least as cool as that or a very little warmer. The warmer the air the more moisture it holds in suspension. Necessarily the cooler the air the more this moisture is condensed and precipitated.

When a cool cellar is aired on a warm day the entering air, being in motion, appears cool, but as it fills the cellar the cooler air with which it becomes mixed chills it, the moisture is condensed, and dew is deposited on the cold walls and may often be seen running down them in streams. Then the cellar is damp. To avoid this the window should be left opened at night and late, the last thing before retiring. There is no need to fear that the night air is unhealthful. It is as pure as the air of midday and is really drier. The cool air enters the apartment during the night and circulates throughout.

Rules For Baking.

Beans, 8 to 10 hours. Beef, sirloin, rare, per pound, 8 to 10 minutes. Beef, sirloin, well done, per pound, 12 to 15 minutes. Beef, rolled rib or rump, per pound, 12 to 15 minutes. Beef, long or short, fillet, 20 to 30 minutes. Bread, brick loaf, 40 to 60 minutes. Biscuits, 15 to 20 minutes. Cake, plain, 20 to 40 minutes. Cake, sponge, 45 to 60 minutes. Chickens, 3 to 4 pound weight, 1 to 1½ hours. Cookies, 10 to 15 minutes. Custards, 15 to 20 minutes. Duck, tame, 40 to 60 minutes. Fish, per pound, 10 to 15 minutes. Gingerbread, 20 to 30 minutes. Graham gems, 30 minutes. Halibut, per pound, 15 to 20 minutes. Lamb, rare, per pound, 10 minutes. Lamb, well done, per pound, 15 minutes. Pie crust, 30 to 40 minutes. Pork, well done, per pound, 30 minutes. Potatoes, 30 to 45 minutes. Pudding, bread, rice and tapioca, 1 hour. Pudding, plum, 2 to 3 hours. Rolls, 10 to 15 minutes. Turkey, 10 pound, 3 hours. Veal, well done, per pound, 20 minutes.

A Square Lace Centerpiece.

The corner of a curtain pattern formed a quarter of an effective lace centerpiece. The girl who made it couldn't find what she was looking for—square centerpieces are unusual, yet a square centerpiece was what she wanted, and she set her wits to work to get it. Among her patterns was one for curtains—a deep border with a prettily turned corner, and that corner proved an inspiration. She traced it off four times, joining the corners until the prettiest sort of a square was the result. The design has been admired and borrowed and copied a dozen times, and made up into every sort of braid. For there are certain times when a square centerpiece or little table cover suits a particular purpose as nothing else does.

Consult Your Dressmaker.

A dressmaker, it is said, is the best person to consult when a lady wishes to have a photograph of herself taken. This is so because a dressmaker knows her customers better than any one else can know them. Even the photographer himself, artist though he may be, may turn the sitter's head in all directions without being able to seize the pose which is the most becoming to her. A thorough acquaintance with the sitter is necessary to give the right pose required to make the photograph a success, and a dressmaker who knows every line of her customer's figure may really be a most precious adviser on the subject.

A Monthly Clearing Out.

"One of my best friends," says a writer, "who, with six young children and only one servant, keeps a spotless house and a soul serene, told me once how she did it. 'My dear, once a month I give away everything in the house that we do not imperatively need. It sounds wasteful, but I don't believe it really is. Sometimes Jeremiah mourns over missing old clothes or back numbers of the magazines, but I tell him if he doesn't want to be mated to a gibbering maniac he will let me do as I like.'"

Scar Marks.

Scars are caused by the destruction of tissue. When this destruction is complete nothing in the world will remove the white blemish. When the injury is only partial much can be done by anointing the spot with zinc ointment every night and bathing it with a saturate solution of boric acid every morning. Electric massage treatments are helpful for the reason that they bring the blood to the surface and encourage a thoroughly healthy action of skin and glands.

Library Table Covers.

The most popular cover for a library table is of dressed calfskins in the Russia leather finish. The skins are lapped together with no attempt at straight lines and stitched flat on the machines, and the part that hangs over the table is left in the original shape, legs, neck and tail coming wherever they will. Usually the decoration is of burned wood, and they are slashed around for a couple of inches by way of a fringe.—Philadelphia Press.

A Colorless Cement.

For a good cement mix the best powdered rice with a little cold water, slowly add boiling water till the right consistency is obtained, then pour into a saucepan and boil it for a minute. This paste is almost transparent and well adapted for fancy paper work, for which a strong and colorless cement is required.

Emergency Screen.

Sometimes a screen is needed in case of illness or other emergency. A common clothes horse and two sheets serve excellently until something better can be procured. Of course, if a darker drapery is available, so much the better, but in a sickroom something washable is absolutely necessary, no matter what the color.

To Lay Carpet.

Put on overshoes next time you are helping to lay a carpet, then smooth out the wrinkles and stretch the carpet by dragging your feet along it. The rubber seems to take hold of the carpet and makes the work a lot easier.

Don't mind if your hair shows a few gray threads here and there. As long as you can smile and be happy you will keep young. A few gray hairs can't cut you away from the joys of being alive.

When making jam pour a small quantity of the syrup in the bottom of the jar in which it is to be kept before putting in the jam. It will prevent air bubbles.

An unsanitary refrigerator is often the cause of serious sickness, yet few housekeepers think of laying the blame to this source.

When using carbolic acid as a disinfectant mix it with boiling water.

Too Far Away.

There is a sign nailed against a Deadwood thirst parlor so that he who runs may read that it is "five miles to the next saloon." A short time ago the colored porter of a rival sample room down the street borrowed a beer pump from his competitor with the misleading sign, but did not return it according to agreement.

Becoming impatient one morning and seeing the colored porter standing in the doorway of his saloon, the owner of the loaned article yelled in a loud voice, "Why in thunder don't you return that beer pump?"

After a little hesitation the porter replied, "If you're talking to me I can't hear you, because you are five miles away."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Tried to Do His Duty.

"Remember you have sworn to tell the whole truth," said the lawyer fiercely.

"Here goes, then. You are an impertinent, incompetent, overbearing"—

At this point the lawyer appealed to the court.

"Well," resumed the witness, smarting under judicial rebuke, "the whole truth is considerable, and I began in the hindmost place."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Annoying.

Mr. Gardner—Well, dear, how are the tomatoes you planted?

Mrs. Gardner—Oh, John! I'm afraid we'll have to buy what we need this year.

Mr. Gardner — Why, how's that, Mary?

Mrs. Gardner — I recollected today that when I did the planting I forgot to open the cans!—Puck.

The Aftermath.

"Talking of that banquet last night," said Holmes, "I suppose you heard some fine language."

"Yes," replied Lushman; "I heard some fine language this morning that affected me very much."

"This morning?"

"Yes. It was, Ten dollars and costs."—Philadelphia Press.

A Satisfactory Condition.

"My invention will increase your income by millions," said the mechanical genius.

"I don't want my income increased," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "It is exactly right as it is, big enough to buy everything I want and small enough to keep grand juries from being inquisitive."—Washington Star.

Amateur Dramatics.

Dora—How is it the play you gave was not so well attended as the one you gave awhile ago?

Dolly—Well, you see, we went around and sold tickets to all our friends for the first performance, and—er—after that we had no friends.—Judge.

An Explanation.

Hewitt—I understand that you said that I was the biggest liar that you ever met.

Jewett—Well, you must remember that I never knew Ananias.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Then They Eloped.

He—Come, fly with me, dearest. But I trust your father won't catch us.

She—It's perfectly safe. Father flew into a lighted candle last night and singed both his wings off.

At the Bargain Sale.

"See," said his wife proudly, "I saved 39 cents by coming here today."

"Yes," growled her husband, "and I lost $5 worth of time coming with you."—Detroit Tribune.

A Hindustan Era.

The "era of Salivahana Saka" began A. D. 78. He was a famous ruler of the Deccan and a liberal patron of the arts, sciences and literature. Throughout the south of Hindustan this era is very generally employed.

Vanilla Extract.

To make one's own extract of vanilla secure five Tonquin beans and a vanilla bean, clip them and put them into a bottle with ten ounces of alcohol, six ounces of water and three of sugar. Let the mixture remain from six to eight weeks, shaking it frequently; then strain, and it is ready to use.

Mississippi.

Mississippi has been called the Bayou State from the long stretches of almost stagnant water back water of the Mississippi river found within the limits of the state.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $225,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

The Continentals were ragged, worn with painful marches in heat and rain, with stained rags covering old wounds, but with the unquenchable resolve in their faces. Rochambeau's French were uniformed in white, with rose colored facings, eager, debonair, carrying gold wrought standards that caught the sun.

Anne watched through smarting eyes. Somewhere, waiting there, among those other troops lying panting against the hills nearer Yorktown, was the one face which meant the whole war—the whole world to her.

Steadily, under the enemy's fire, batteries rose along the parallels. From one to another of these rode Knox, placing his gunners, his round, jovial face creased in smiles, in his element at last. And these gunners for five days, from sunrise to sunset, hurled iron and flame upon the defenses.

The inner parallels crept toward the river bank, tightening the line. Here their advance was stayed by a redoubt on the high bank, thirty feet above the river. It had resisted all the force of the gunners.

"If we take that redoubt," said Washington to Knox on the afternoon of the fifth day of the bombardment, "Cornwallis must surrender."

Colonel Armand, with a handful of his troopers, reconnoitered that afternoon on the right, came near the river and in advance of the foremost American battery. From the redoubts far to the left came a scattering whistle of grape and now and then the grinding belch of a carronade. The air was full of the heavy, pungent smell of burned powder and the reeking scent of fresh turned earth.

His gaze had sought the wide river for a moment and turned up the stream with a look that was fixed and far away.

"A prisoner, coming from the town, captured under the river bank, sir."

The voice recalled him. "Bring him here."

The man brought before him looked with a start, then smiled with a gleam of mockery on his ruddy lips. Armand's face was immovable.

"Still the same, colonel," the newcomer flaunted, with a glance at the other's uniform. "Still Captain Jarrat. My Philadelphia wound, as you see, proved not so bad. I am on my way now out of the precious rat trap yonder. I have small liking for these peculiar delays. Suppose you scribble me a pass through the lines."

"Sergeant," said Armand, "take this man to the trench and give him ten minutes to go back to his own redoubts."

A swarthy red came to Jarrat's face. "I would speak with you alone a moment. I have a communication to make."

At Armand's nod the others fell back. "What is your communication?" he asked sternly.

"You have covered your past very well, but I know you. Do you remember that day at the congress? Well, I am not dumb. Now, will you let me go?"

For answer Armand recalled his sergeant. "Give this man ten lashes," he commanded, "before you start him from the trench."

Jarrat leaped back, snarling like a fox at bay. "You would dare?"

"Aye," said Armand slowly. "One for each stroke you gave the bondwoman at Gladden Hall."

The prisoner multiplied imprecations as they prepared his punishment, but took the blows in stony silence. Then he walked to the trench, tied a kerchief about his arm and, shaking his fist with a last fiery curse at his captor, fled toward the fortifications.

That evening General Moses Hazen sat in his tent, the headquarters nearest the firing line on the right rear of the investing trenches, reading a closely written note. The handwriting, though unfamiliar to him, was that of Captain Jarrat. As he read and reread it, lines of perplexity came into his strong Canadian face.

"How was this brought?" he asked his orderly.

"With a dispatch flag from the eastern redoubt, sir," was the answer.

He was still perusing it when the orderly entered the tent to announce Colonel Armand. The general swore softly, crumpled the letter in his hand, hesitated, then nodded assent. His eyes were sharp gray, inset, and they fixed themselves intently on the officer as he entered.

"I am informed, General Hazen," said Armand saluting, "that you have in charge the makeup of a column that will storm the enemy's tenth redoubt tonight."

"Yes."

"I wish to volunteer."

The general's keen eyes looked into Armand's steady ones. Then he rumpled his wig in thought.

"I accept your services," he said at length, "Colonel Alexander Hamilton will be in command. You will report to him at the right of the first parallel at dusk."

As the other passed out the general unfolded the letter again. "And yet," he said slowly to himself, "Benedict Arnold was also a brave man."

* * * * * * *

At dusk in the muck-black trenches lay 300 men, compact, wide eyed, waiting the signal for storming. The earth there was profound, and through it their breathing swelled like a ghostly tide. The hanging sky formed a whitish arch under which all movements seemed at a distance vague and formless. A spattering rain was dropping, and fitful jags of lightning knifed the low clouds. From the rear an occasional mortar was grumbling, and from time to time a fiery rocket trail passed with a raucous shrieking overhead—a shot from the British batteries.

Nearest the open lay a little group of twenty. It was the forlorn hope, volunteers all, who were to lead the column. One of these was Colonel Armand.

At the signal the twenty rose as one man and hurled forward on a run. A hundred paces and a challenge rang out; then the parapets opened in spurting gusts of death.

The handful stayed for no sappers, but scaled the abatis, leaped the ditch and rushed upon the works with their spontoons. Above them, as they climbed, were hammering oaths, stabbing steel and leaping, thrusting forms.

The first point blank discharge had gone to waste, and Armand, dragging a grenadier headlong down by the shoulders, leaped the wall and cleared a space between two guns with his saber, a space filled a moment after by the hurrah of the supporting battalion. The fight became a pandemonium of cries, grapples and yellow flashes. The bleeding shadows swelled instantly full of a vast, red smoke, of yells, of curses, of men trampled, struggling, grunting, underfoot.

Armand, lunging, turned suddenly upon a snaky form creeping in the shadow of the gun. When seen, the man pressed back into the human surge. Armand trailing him panther-like. To the latter's saber he opposed a sword and used it well, but gave way steadily before the fury of Armand's attack, retreating across the space between the rear of the redoubt and the river bank, scarce ten yards in width—an acre now a necke of hand to hand encounters with sword, clubbed musket and bayonet.

"Surrender!" cried Armand.

For answer the other avoided a thrust and twisted to one side, and Armand, with the rush, feeling loose ground crumble under his feet, realized suddenly that he was on the very marge of the high bank.

At the instant a new uproar arose. Through and over the space plunged the third detachment sent to attack the redoubt in reverse.

The impact sent a soldier tumbling at Armand's feet as he sprang to regain his footing, and, taking advantage of the instant, his assailant hurled himself upon him.

As they toppled in the clinch Armand recognized his foe.

"Now, curse you!" shrieked Jarrat. Then they fell.

The rush had carried the position, and within two hours tireless Continental

WAS CURED OF CONSUMPTION

An Interesting Development at An Ottawa Post Mortem.

Ottawa, July 11.—The case of William Mitchell, Bay street, drowned in the water works reservoir on July 5, will be of great interest to the friends of the anti-tuberculosis movement throughout Canada. He left lungs found in the post-mortem examination, showed traces of an attack of tuberculosis, which had been cured. The indications of this were very evident, though the other lung had never been affected. The physician who made the examination was Dr. H. P. Robinson. He expressed the opinion that Mitchell's outdoor active life had materially assisted in effecting the cure. Dr. Robinson at the time of the post-mortem called the attention of Coroner Hapkie to the mark on the lung, which to a medical man indicated the place affected had healed, and the coroner agreed with him that it was marked with tuberculosis. Here, apparently, is proof that consumption can be cured, and a strong argument in favor of the outdoor treatment.

Chloride Gold Mining Co.

I believe, one of the best mining propositions ever placed on the Canadian market. The capital stock of the Company is $1,000,000, divided into one million shares par value of one dollar each. All stock fully paid and non-assessable, with no personal liability whatever. The Company is splendidly officered, the President and Manager being an experienced practical miner.

The property is situated on Sirrum Shrum Mountain, 11-2 miles east of the Town of Chloride, Arizona, and the Jumbo Group, 25 miles distant. 160 acres in all.

I unhesitatingly recommend this stock to my clients, and will be pleased to furnish further information on application. In a few days a full description of the property will appear in these columns. Watch for it.

A GOOD CANADIAN REPRESENTATIVE WANTED

100% ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE.

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A. and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

$5.00 DOWN

NATURE'S COURSE

By NORA BRYANT

Copyright, 1906, by Ruby Douglas

Mrs. Humphrey shelled the peas in silence, waiting for the outburst. She was a meek little woman accustomed to listening to her beautiful, tall daughter and obeying her behests unquestioningly. Alice possessed all the independence of spirit which her mother lacked.

"No, mother," said Alice, seizing viciously on a pea pod and breaking it open, "no, you can't. It just isn't born in you. I've got to do it alone."

"Why, Alice!" exclaimed her mother with hurt inflection.

"Oh, I know it, mother. I'm a horrid cross girl, but I can't help it. Father's gone off again and left us with no wood. This has been going on for three years now. Sometimes he remembers to buy a load, but when he does we have to split it. And in the meantime we have to scratch and scramble for wood just as if we were as poor as poverty. Just look, we've burned most of the fences till the place looks more ghastly than ever, if possible."

"Alice, Alice," sighed Mrs. Humphrey, "you shouldn't talk so of your father."

Alice's face flushed deeper and she shelled a handful of peas before replying. Then she looked out of the door at the jimson weeds.

"Everything is all wrong, and it's all father's fault. Why shouldn't I marry Bob Phillips? Tell me that? Just because he is a college man and his people live in town father has set himself against him. Now, why does father send me to college if he expects me to settle down to chopping wood and cooking for the rest of my life? No, mother. I'm a sophomore now and I know more than I did once. I am going to marry Bob and father is going to agree to it too."

Alice looked at her mother sternly. "See your hands, blistered and hard. You creep out and chop wood every time I turn my back. Look at my hands." She held up slender fingers. "Nice things to carry back to the college this fall! Now, I'm going out to chop enough to get dinner with." And, pulling a shade hat over her eyes, Alice walked out into the hot harvest sun and picked up the ax.

Straight up to the new brooder house she went and with a neat swing of the ax began battering up the brooder house door. In a few moments the door had disappeared and in its stead on the ground near by lay a neat pile of stove wood. Still not quite satisfied, Alice looked about her. A hayrack lay on the ground waiting for the afternoon trip to the oat field. A few firm blows from the broad of the ax, and the side boards showed signs of weakening. Half a dozen clever cuts with the blade, and the boards dropped to the ground. In five minutes the pile of wood by the brooder house was augmented by a pile of heavy sticks, and before Mrs. Humphrey could catch breath to inquire the source a brisk blaze lighted up the front of the old cooking stove.

A little after 12 Mr. Humphrey appeared at the door.

"Mother" — Mrs. Humphrey paused, with a bit of bacon poised on her fork —"mother, can you tell me what has happened to the old hayrack and to the brooder house door?"

Mrs. Humphrey looked at Alice. "Why — why, father, I don't know. Alice, do you know?"

Alice poured the steaming peas into a china dish and then glanced at her father. "Well," she said calmly, "you will find part of the door still in the wood box, but the last of the hayrack is just going up the chimney." Then she carried the dish of peas into the dining room and set it carefully down on the table.

Then Mr. Humphrey began: "Alice, if you were not grown up I'd send you to bed for two days."

Alice squared her shoulders, looking into her father's eyes with an expression strangely like his own. "Father," she said, "you are not fair. You give your men the best sort of implements with which to do their work. You keep the horses and cattle in buildings that are for their greatest comfort, but you expect mother and me to find our own means for doing work that neither of us is strong enough to do and to live in a building that scorches us in summer and freezes us in winter. To say the least, you are not fair."

The great veins swelled in Mr. Humphrey's forehead, and he took a single step toward Alice and then stopped as if controlling himself by a physical effort.

"Alice," he said, "I forbid you to destroy any more of my property. Just how to punish you for what you have already done I don't know. I shall wait until tonight."

That afternoon Alice was left alone, as her mother was called away to see a sick neighbor. For awhile she sat quietly, then suddenly she flushed a little. Far down the road she could see the figure of a man and a horse moving leisurely through the heat. Alice smoothed her hair and glanced down at the dainty whiteness of her gown. Then she waited. Soon the rider turned into the yard, with an eager shout at the sight of Alice. A fine looking young fellow was Bob Phillips in his natty riding togs, sitting his saddle with the ease of a westerner. And a charming figure was Alice in the doorway with the color deepening in her cheeks, her great dark eyes brightening and the dimples coming to the corners of her mouth.

"Oh, Bob," she cried as he dismounted and tied his horse, "I've been wishing for you. Everything is so topsy turvy in this horrid place!"

Bob looked anxious. "Is it your father again?" he asked as he drew her down on the step beside him. Alice told him of her morning's experience. Bob's face darkened.

"Look here, Alice," he exclaimed, "I'm not going to stand this. I knew things were pretty bad, but I never knew you had to do this sort of work." He took her hand, looked at the pretty pink palm with the row of blisters across it. "I'm not going to say any of the things to you that I think about your father. But this is going to stop! This architect business is slow in starting, but I've got enough to keep the pot boiling. I'm on my way out to the Scotts' summer home now. They want me to plan an addition for them. But tonight I'm coming back to tell your father that we are going to be married at once."

Alice shook her head a little fearfully. "No, Bob, dear," she said. "I can't leave mother that way, and I want to finish college first. No; father has got to change. There is no sense in his acting so to such a dear as you."

Bob grinned appreciatively as he drew her to him, but he lost none of his look of determination. "That's all very well, Alice, darling, but I've a few rights, and after supper I'm coming back and read the riot act to your father."

Alice sighed. Then she nodded her head. "Yes, come back. I don't know just how, but some way I'm going to shame father."

"Don't you worry," said Bob. "I'll fix him."

As Bob disappeared Alice's glance wandered toward the broad stump of a tree that stood in the dooryard. As she looked her eyes lighted with a mischievous smile. Then she began her preparations for supper. In a short time she appeared in the yard with two covered dishes in her hands. These she placed on the top of the old stump where the sun blazed down on their shining covers. Then she returned to the house to set the table.

The hay wagon rattled into the yard.

"Well," called Mr. Humphrey, seeing Alice in the door, "isn't supper ready?"

Alice looked anxiously toward the old stump. "I'm afraid things have not begun to boil yet," she answered.

Mr. Humphrey looked at the strange array of utensils on the stump. "Alice," he said, "what nonsense is this?"

"It means just this," answered Alice bravely. "You refuse to buy wood for us, and this noon you forbade me to destroy any more of your property. So when it came time to get supper the stump seemed the hottest place at hand, and I put the vegetables out there to let nature take its course. It is much easier for me."

Mr. Humphrey stood in silence. Alice watched him anxiously. Slowly the angry flush died away, and the corners of his mouth twitched. He turned to the man who had been an interested spectator.

"Jim," he said, "you might as well finish up the old hayrack. Split up enough wood to get supper with." Then he walked into the house with never so small a twinkle in his eyes.

That evening, as Alice and her father sat on the steps waiting for Mrs. Humphrey's return, Mr. Humphrey broke the silence.

"I've been thinking it over, Alice," he said, "and—and—well, I guess father has been negligent of his two girls. You see, I didn't realize how hard some things are for women folks. Now, do you suppose you could plan a—a porch or a—a window or something?" he asked vaguely. "And we'll surprise your mother on her birthday."

For a moment there was silence; then he heard a low sob beside him. He reached out an awkward hand and drew his daughter toward him.

"Why, little girl," he said, "I didn't know it meant so much to you."

Alice nestled against his shoulder. "It means more than a porch," she sobbed; "it means that, after all, you are nice, like other fathers."

Mr. Humphrey cleared his throat. "And I've been thinking, Alice," he went on, "that I've been hard on Bob. A rough old fellow like me gets prejudiced against these college chaps. When you finish school and Bob gets a start — well, you'll find that father wants you to be happy after all."

Indians Are Poor Shots.

During a residence of many years among four different tribes of Indians I found, with very few exceptions, they were poor shots, either with the gun or rifle. When one considers that from young boyhood they have been in the habit of using a gun almost daily and their very living depends in a great measure on accurate shooting, their poor marksmanship is to be wondered at; nevertheless such is the case. A good wing shot is a rarity among the Indians. The Montagnais of the Labrador and north shore of the gulf of St. Lawrence are no exception, and this in a country where most of the wild fowl are killed flying. It is admitted they kill wild geese and ducks while on their passage north and south, but this is only possible from the immense numbers of birds and a lavish expenditure of ammunition.—Forest and Stream.

Goldsmith's Obituary Notice.

It would be difficult to find a more quaint announcement of death than that published in an old newspaper in 1774, at the time of Oliver Goldsmith's demise.

"1774, April 4. Died, Dr. Oliver Goldsmith. Deserted is the Village; the Traveller hath laid him down to rest; the Good-natured Man is no more; he Stoopse but to Conquer; the Vicar hath performed his sad office; It is a mournful task from which the Hermit may essay to meet the dread tyrant with more than Grecian or Roman fortitude."

Lame Monarchs.

Agesilaus of Sparta was known in his time as "the Lame," on account of a slight physical deformity. For the same cause Albert II. of Austria, Charles II. of Naples and Heinrich II. of Germany received a similar designation.

Found Murdered in Hotel Room

Georgia Bryan' Dead Body Was Lying on the Bed in H. W. Todd's Bedroom.

Winnipeg, July 13.—The Imperial Hotel tragedy, which cost Miss Georgia Bryan her life yesterday, is developing sensational proportions. The coroner's investigation reveals the fact that the victim had been seriously compromised, and either took her life in the presence of her betrayer, when she realized that he was a man and unable to afford her honorable relief, or was put to death by Harry Wilson Todd, in whose room the corpse was found.

In the meantime Todd is a fugitive from justice, and the police have been authorized to arrest him on the charge of murder. It is said trace of the fugitive has been secured in St. Paul, and that he fled from there southward. As the girl's body was found in the room with the door locked, and the key gone it is regarded as certain that she was dead before Todd fled.

HOW IT WAS DISCOVERED.

The clerk of the Imperial Hotel yesterday received a message over the telephone to examine the room occupied by Harry Wilson Todd, a grain buyer from Brandon. He did so, and made a most gruesome find, which has created a great sensation in this city.

On the bed in the room was the dead body of Georgia Bryan, a young woman recently arrived in this city from Montana. The girl had been dead probably about twelve hours. Nothing was at hand to indicate how she had come by her death, nor were there any signs of violence.

A glass containing a little whiskey was standing on the washstand. The glass was broken around the edge, as though it had been bitten by some one during a fit, and on the bed were pieces of glass corresponding to those which had been bitten from the tumbler. A piece of cotton batting was in the mouth, and a towel had apparently been held to the mouth. Bloodstains were on the pillow and towel.

Some believe that the cause of the girl's death was a fit, and that Todd in his alarm fled.

Leper Travelling In Private Train

El Paso, Texas, July 13.—Traveling on a special train because his disease prohibits him from obtaining accommodations with other passengers, J. M. Bringas, of Guaymas, Mexico, passed through El Paso yesterday en route to Europe, seeking relief from leprosy. He has a family and is wealthy, but is dying gradually.

To prolong his life as long as he can he is now seeking European specialists, those of his own country having failed to help him. To go to Vera Cruz, where he will take a European steamer, he had to pass through Arizona and New Mexico, re-entering his own country here.

To do this he had to make arrangements with the marine hospital service, representatives of which traveled on his train and guarded him as he passed through the United States.

A Strange Dilemma.

A curious confusion of identity bids fair to prevent a young workgirl of Paris from marrying, says The London Mail.

Two years ago her elder sister wrote on the eve of her marriage to the mayor of her native village for a copy of her birth certificate. For some reason the official failed to find the entry, and accordingly had the extraordinary idea to send the girl the certificate of her younger sister, stating that he thought it would do as well.

The girl was married, and now her younger sister, in her turn, on the eve of marriage, has offered the same certificate to the Paris officials, who on verifying the document have discovered the facts.

Josephine Dansart is now in the position of being unable to marry unless her sister consents to annul her own marriage, and by so doing place her name on the official registers as "free to marry."

Irving's Carefulness.

Sir Henry Irving was accustomed to visit at the home of Miss Friswell, author of "In the Sixties and Seventies," in which volume appears the following anecdote: "My mother often used to point out little details that had been overlooked. I remember one in 'The Bells,' which my mother told Mr. Irving on the first night, when he returned to our house to supper. People who have seen the play may remember that the first scene is a small inn, and that there is supposed to have been a deep fall of snow. The innkeeper, Matthias (Irving), walked in on that first night in ordinary black boots, with no snow upon them. My mother spoke of it, and afterwards Matthias wore high black boots, and stood on the mat while the snow was brushed off them. Remarks were made as to Mr. Irving's attention to the minutest details, and this was cited as an instance."

A Long Lived Wheat Stack.

There is a wheat stack in Aisby, a village in South Lincolnshire, that is making history. It has been standing in the farmyard of Mr. Philip Selby for twenty-seven years. The grain is said to be in excellent condition, and there are many stories as to why the owner has kept it intact for so many years. One is that he determined never to sell the corn for less than a certain sum, which was never offered.

The Parthian Cavalry.

The most famous cavalry of antiquity were the Parthians. Their invasion of Judaea, 40 B. C., resulted in such terrible devastation of the country that 100 years later the terrors of the Parthian invasion gave the apostle John the idea for one of his most vivid pictures.

Ivan the Terrible.

Ivan II. of Russia was known as the Terrible from the barbarous character of the warfare he made upon the surrounding nations and the severity with which he dealt with rebellious subjects.

Salt.

Salt was first boiled in this country at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1787.

The "Bay Psalms Book."

The first book printed in the limits of the United States was the "Bay Psalms Book," which was issued in Cambridge, Mass., in 1640. Specimens of this publication are extremely rare and command very high prices.

Perpetual Sunshine.

Perpetual sunshine occurs on the coast of Peru, where, although it may be misty occasionally, the blue sky is always visible through this whitish veil. Perpetual sunshine when the sun is above the horizon also exists in the Sahara, the great desert of Africa, and in the other rainless regions of the earth.

Creaking Timbers.

The creaking of the timbers in a building is a tolerably sure indication of coming rainy weather.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

A MIRROR TRICK.

Example of the Odd Illusions That Can Be Produced.

A good deal of amusement may be had out of a little experiment with a long mirror if you have one in the door of a bookcase or a wardrobe. Let a boy stand by the side of the wardrobe in such a way that only one-half of his body may be seen, the other half being concealed by the wardrobe.

To persons standing at the other side at a certain distance it will seem that they see his whole body, for the half that is visible will be reflected from the glass so as to produce that illusion.

A MIRROR ILLUSION.

If he raises the arm that is in sight, another arm will appear to rise in the glass, and thus it will seem that both his arms are raised.

That is not at all extraordinary, for anybody can lift both arms at once. Let him raise the leg that is in sight, however, and the illusion becomes somewhat remarkable, for it represents a person with both feet in the air at the same time. Even that feat may ordinarily be accomplished at quick intervals, but this illusion gives the spectators the image of a person who remains in that suspended condition for a long time.

You see now how easy it is for the boy to imitate the acrobatic performance of a jumping jack, for if he moves his visible leg up and down the reflection of it from the glass makes it appear that his act includes both legs.

SHOES IN JAPAN.

They Are Queer Ones and Only Cost About a Cent a Pair.

I wonder what the poor bootblacks, if there are any, do in far away Japan, where all the people wear bamboo shoes and wooden sandals, footwear which never needs blacking?

In fact, the Japanese are a great deal of the time without shoes, as they never wear them in their houses.

One of the queerest sights in the streets of Japan is the collection of old and new, the large and the small shoes, which are seen outside the doors of the houses where they are left. These shoes have a separate place in them for the big toe, but the wearer is so used to them that he steps in and out of them so quickly that they hardly stop to do it. In the house the Japanese sit or lie on the floor when they rest and never walk unless with very clean feet.

When they travel they take several pairs of shoes in case the old ones give out. This sounds extravagant to us, but it is not, for their shoes cost only a cent and a half a pair. Of course, there are more expensive ones in the shops, but the middle class wear the cheap kind.—Exchange.

Road and Officials Heavily Fined.

Chicago, July 13.—Judge Landis, in the United States District Court yesterday sentenced the Chicago and Alton Road, which was recently convicted of granting illegal rebates at Kansas City to pay a fine of $20,000 on each of two counts. John Faltborn and Frederick A. Wann, former officials of the road, who were also convicted, were sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000 each on two counts.

Do You Seek Health?

Consult Dr. Hamilton And You Will Be Shown the Way.

Thousands are in the same boat — all sickly, bilious and feeling far from well.

Trouble is, the system is clogged with impurities which need to be cleared away.

Before downright sickness arrives you should cleanse and purify the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

At once you'll feel their mighty influence building up weak spots, clearing out disease, and putting you again on your feet.

These purely vegetable pills change your tired, worn-out condition to one of health and vigor, because they supply the body with nourishing blood that builds up and enlivens the entire system.

Mr. John Whitley, of Stanwood, P. O., Ont., knows the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and says: "I wouldn't be alive today had it not been for Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Last winter I was sick with grippe, and when spring came I was weak, bilious and rheumatic. I used enough medicine to cure twenty times, but I didn't get any help till I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They purified my blood, took the yellow color out of my face, put new tone in my stomach, and increased my appetite. The bilious attacks and rheumatic pains gradually departed, and Dr. Hamilton's Pills made a new man of me. I proved their merit, and proclaim them a medicine for all men."

If better health and prompt recovery are important, get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut today. At all dealers, 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Millbrook Follows Our Lead.

The Millbrook Reporter says: Our merchants have decided to close their places of business on Thursday afternoon during July and August. Peterborough, Port Hope and Lindsay, and most towns take a half holiday during these months and if the public keep the fact in mind it will cause no inconvenience.

Heavy Operations at Gas Works.

Great work is being done on the new and enormous gas holder at the local works. The floor has been completed and now the first section of the iron work is about finished. The connections are being made between the store tanks and the gas plants. For the purpose of carrying the gas large pipes are being laid several feet underground and imbedded in a solid wall of stone and cement so that there will be no danger of the pipes breaking or of gas escaping.

Great Crowd at Victoria Park

The 57th Regiment Band Gives Our Citizens a Rare Treat.

Last night Victoria Park was crowded almost to its fullest capacity by thousands of our citizens seeking fresh air conjointly with good music.

There was a regular program drawn up by the band, but with their proverbial large-heartedness this favorite musical organization gave several impromptu selections.

The regular program was as follows:

PART I.

March—Heimkehr.
Overture—Martha.
Characteristic—The Jolly Coppersmith.
Concert waltz for euphonium solo —Mr. Edward Crook.
March—Spandau.

PART II.

March—Yonge Battalion.
Selection from Floradora.
Anvil Chorus from Il Travator.
Descriptive, Hunting Scene.
March, Avec Aplomb.

THE GRANT DECLINED

Oddfellows Will Not Accept the $250 Voted By the City Council.

Last night at a largely attended meeting of the general committee in connection with the Grand Lodge of Oddfellows, which meets in Peterborough next month, Col. J. W. Miller presiding, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

"The Reception Committee of the Oddfellows find after due consideration, that they do not require a grant from the city for the purpose of entertaining the delegates to the Grand Lodge, and are able to bear all the necessary expense in connection with the forthcoming gathering."

A grant was asked from the city council, not for the purpose of giving the delegates a pleasant time, as alleged in certain quarters, but with the object of advertising extensively the advantages and attractions of Peterborough, which were so prominently set forth by the local delegates to the Grand Lodge meeting at Brockville last year.

As this feature of the request does not seem to have impressed itself upon the city fathers, but appears to have been viewed in a wrong light, the Oddfellows, while tendering their thanks to the council, respectfully withdraw the recent request and decline the grant of $250, which apparently was regarded more in the nature of hospitality and benevolence, rather than as an effort to more widely make known the residential, commercial and industrial advantages of Peterborough."

Local Citizens Visit Lakefield.

Lakefield News: Miss Halpin of Peterborough, was the guest of Miss Kennedy a few days this week.—Miss Ethel Quinn of Peterborough, was the guest of Miss L. Quinn a few days this week.—Miss Armstrong and Miss Davidson of Peterborough, were the guests of Miss Sherrin a few days this week.—Miss Rae of Peterborough, was the guest of Miss Mabel Gray this week.—The Misses Young of Peterborough, were visiting in the village this week.—Miss Lawless of Peterborough, spent a few days in the village this week.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

It now seems that a local cop will have to go "on the carpet" to answer to a charge of having gathered in a drunk, perhaps a little previously.

It seems that the constable in question saw a man sitting on a door step with his hat pulled down over his face and to all outward and visible sign dead to the world. The officer naturally ordered the man on, and whilst "talking business" with him got the full force of the latter man's heel of his shoe just in the right spot to create one of those black eyes that gave their owner room "thinking to explain."

The color of this particular policeman's eye after contact with that heel reminds one seeing it of a painting by a novice of the "Impressionist school," that is supposed to depict a dead world seen in a flash of lightning.

The colors of that eye were something outside the ordinary prismatic colors and were of a fluid Gustave Dore Dante Inferno suggestion.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, the defendant's counsel, said that his client was in Lindsay celebrating and had got a little the worse of liquor. When the defendant arrived in Peterborough, he sat down to rest on a Charlotte street door step. The constable who arrested Vincent did not, said Mr. Kerr, handle him very gently, as Vincent's face was rubbed on the sidewalk. Mr. Kerr added that he understood that one of Peterborough's most respectable citizens, who was present, had had a complaint against the officer.

The prisoner was dismissed, but it is expected that the arresting officer will have to show why and how he arrested or called assistance to help arrest the man who put his optic into mourning.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. T. H. G. Denne is in Montreal on business.

—Miss Laura Gray is visiting friends in Orillia.

—Dr. McFall of this city is away on a two weeks' vacation.

—Miss May Dunoon, of Chicago, is the guest of Mrs. Gibbs, Brock St.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Atwood will leave for Montreal today on a trip.

—Children's two and three piece garden tools on sale at 19c and 25c Times Bookstore.

—Messrs. Spencer Howland and W. Winsor of Ottawa are registered at the Oriental.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McWilliams left yesterday morning for a visit to Stony Lake.

—Mr. E. J. Davidson, one of the travellers for the Peterborough Cream Co., is home for a week's holidays.

—Mr. S. E. Sills, Toronto, district manager of the Canada Life Assurance Company, is in the city on business.

—Among the recent visitors to the London, England offices of the Globe were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stratton of this city.

—Miss Clara Belleghem, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. E. Walden, Markham street, Toronto, for two weeks, has returned home.

—Mr. A. H. Kingsbury, of Deseronto, has decided to become a resident of the city, having entered into partnership with Mr. G. A. Williamson, the George street barber in business.

—Mr. Samuel Baker of Marathon lodge, No. 39, Knights of Pythias, returned yesterday from attending the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, which was held in Sarnia this week.

—Messrs. C. Dye and G. W. Conley of Medina, N.Y., and G. Stewart and J. W. Fletcher, of Buffalo, N.Y., are registered at the National. They are on their way to the Big Dipper mine.

—Ottawa Journal says: Bishop O'Connor, Peterborough, in the C. Pacific Kingston, undergoing treatment for his eyes, is recovering, and will likely be able to leave for Peterborough this week.

—The Millbrook Reporter says: We regret to hear that Miss Bella Parr had to undergo an operation in Peterborough on Tuesday for appendicitis. She has been quite unwell for some weeks, but it is hoped that she may now be assured a speedy recovery.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative brings lasting relief in Stomach, Kidney and Heart troubles through the inside nerves. No matter how the nerves became impaired this remedy will rebuild their strength, will restore their vigor. Remember it does no good to treat the ailing organ—the irregular heart, rebellious stomach, diseased kidneys. They are not to blame. Go back to the nerves that control them—treat the cause—use a remedy that cures through the inside nerves. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Printers' Outing On Civic Holiday

The local printers' excursion, which it is needless to say is one of the Events of the season is this summer billed for August 13th, Civic Holiday, and it promises to be the best excursion this season. The typos are making preparations for a big day's outing. Two steamers have been chartered for the day. They will leave the Wolfe street wharf and go down the river to Idle Wyld. Here a program of sports will be run off. The committee in charge have already nearly completed arrangements. There will be foot races, jumping, etc., besides a regular old fashioned pie-eating contest which would bring smiles to the face of a brazen image.

The printers' picnic this year will be a record breaker. It is just one month from yesterday.

A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful, habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English.

Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

DISTRICT NEWS

CHANDOS

—The crops are looking well. It rains almost every day. The farmers will soon begin to cut their hay and fall wheat.

—Mr. John Selkirk and son are here prospecting, and they say there are indications of gold on Mr. Zack Tucker's farm. Two other men passed through the settlement on a mining expedition. We hope they may find gold and lots of it; surely there must be something good in the rocks and caves of this wild country.

—The cottage built by Mr. Kennedy is finished. A good cook and canoes and boats of all kinds are there. The fishing is good, the lake beutiful, and guides are always there to paddle the campers to the lovely islands in the south bay of the lake.

St. Paul's Choir Have Outing.

St. Paul's church choir had a most enjoyable trip down the river per steamer Monarch, per kindness of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill. They went to Jubilee Point, stopping on the way home at Highland Park for supper. Mr. John Crane, whose talents are given towards advancing the interests of that congregation, moved a vote of thanks towards the genial host and hostess.

Sad Blunder re Mr. W. Stewart

We Are Glad to Say That the Absurd Rumors of Yesterday Are Wrong

Yesterday there were most absurd rumors current, which unfortunately adopted as fact by an evening local contemporary, regarding the alleged death of Mr. Wm. Stewart, formerly of Otonabee.

This "hot air" story said that Mr. Stewart, who was with Col. Sanderson Lodge, Otonabee, in the walk on Thursday had been instantly killed at the G.T.R. station by the Peterborough-Toronto flyer shortly after nine o'clock, whilst the station was packed with Orangemen ready to entrain for home. When the fictitious news became generally known throughout the town, deep regret was expressed by everyone.

We are pleased to say that among others enquiring, as to the accuracy or otherwise of these unfounded rumors, Mr. Levi Bowle yesterday telephoned to 164, and ascertained that the supposedly dead man was well and prepared to turn out for many a 12th to come.

Statements made yesterday evening to a Times representative, who kept the telephone busy to get at the truth of these rumors showed that no one at Lindsay on Thursday was able to swear to any one having been killed. We called up the Lindsay press and civic officials, but could get no corroboration of anyone having been killed by the G.T.R. on Thursday.

It is a cruel matter, just for the purpose of sensation, for people to start such rumors all that a great cause for worriment to the relatives of those said to be killed or hurt.
